Money-For-Troops Pact Is Revealed

U.S. Gives Thailand $200 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has released testimony disclosing a secret money-for-troops agreement between the United States and Thailand under which Bangkok sent 10,000 men to Vietnam in exchange for $200 million.

The pact, according to an extensively censored summary of hearings seven months ago, was signed on the ambassadorial level Nov. 9, 1967.

Although existence of the accord was denied at the time, Thailand announced Nov. 14, 1967, it was meeting a Saigon request and sending a division of volunteers to fight in South Vietnam.

NOTE TO ROGERS

Missouri Democrat Stuart Symington, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that held the hearings, coupled disclosure of the agreement Sunday with a letter to Secretary of State William P. Rogers asking for details of American aid to Thailand in exchange for sending troops to Cambodia as well as to South Vietnam.

Symington wrote to Rogers that "facts supplied the subcommittee by officials of your department—previously kept secret from the American public—clearly show the U.S. not only encouraged the Thais to send forces to Vietnam but also paid a very large amount in dollars—in excess of $200 million—for their training, equipment and individual allowances."

CLOSED HEARINGE

The testimony during a week of closed hearings last November indicated the United States would cover the cost of training, equipping and overseas allowances for a Thai division in South Vietnam. This included providing logistic support and mustering-out bonus for the soldiers.

The aid provided a Thai lieutenant general with $450 a month in allowances over his $370 monthly base pay. A Thai private got $39 a month extra from the United States over his base pay of $26 a month.

Besides such aid, the United States also agreed to send Bangkok a battery of Hawk antiaircraft missiles and to increase the military assistance program by about $30 million during fiscal 1968 and 1969 to speed the modernization of Thailand armed forces at home.

INTO CAMBODIA

Bangkok announced last week it was sending volunteers to Cambodia, along with other as-announcement said at the time, sistance, to be paid for, at least in part, by a U.S. military aid program.

Demo Praises Finch's Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says Elliot Richardson will have no trouble being confirmed as President Nixon's secretary of Health, Education and Welfare—and he has praised the switch that is sending Robert H. Finch to the White House high command.

"I'm very happy that a real pro is going to be in the White House very close to the President," Mansfield said after Nixon announced Finch is leaving HEW to become a counsellor to the President.

To head that vast and troubled agency, save for the Pentagon the biggest in government, Nixon chose Richardson, undersecretary of State and a man with a reputation as a top administrator.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Finch would tremendously strengthen the White House staff "and open new channels of communication and cooperation between the President, the Congress and the country."

Javits said Richardson "is a splendid public servant and should be able to head this vital, complex department admirably well."

Richardson, 49, is a former lieutenant governor and attorney general of Massachusetts. He served as an assistant HEW secretary during the Eisenhower administration and was named the top State Department official under Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

"Richardson is an excellent choice for HEW, but a loss to the State Department," Mansfield said.

He said he foresaw no controversy over confirmation. "I can't see them raising any objection to a man who had done a good job at State and has been a good right hand for Rogers there," Mansfield said.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Richardson's appointment "assures a continuation of dynamic leadership of the highest competence. I believe in Elliot Richardson. He will do a fine job."

Richardson skirted newsmen's questions about the future of HEW at a news conferance Sunday. "I don't have any thoughts about it anyway," he said, adding that it would be "imprudent and premature" to talk about it.

He said he felt qualified for the job on the basis of his past experience.

One Senate dissenter to the administration move — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said Finch had been demoted.

"I hate to see Bob Finch go, to be demoted this way," said Yarborough, chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. "I see in this hard days ahead for health and education programs."

Finch himself said of his new job "it's a higher calling, but a lower salary."

A counsellor to the President receives $42,500 a year; a Cabinet secretary $60,000.

Finch had faced administrative problems and public controversy at HEW, and there had been speculation he might leave the government entirely.

"I welcome his willingness to continue his service as a close friend and adviser to the President," said Scott. "His compa-

Planning Director Bemoaning Budget

Girls in the county planning department are so overworked that without a new Xerox copying machine and an IBM typewriter, the present operations will fall apart, Acting Director Albert Solnit declared today at a meeting of the Marin County Planning Commission.

"We've managed to survive by having the girls work nights," said Solnit. With labor saving machines like the Xerox copies, Solnit said the department can operate, but the administrator has deleted the new machines by cutting back on the office equipment rental budget.

"What we have here is an Ebeneezer Scrooge type of budget when we need computerized operations," said Solnit. "It would not be an overstatement to say we are just falling apart."

The planning department's request of $426,990 was recommended cut to $398,100 by the county administrator.

Solnit said the administrator wants to delete a senior typist, who is now in the staff, and fill the vacant position of a transcriber typist. "It's ridiculous to demoralize the clerical workers by saying somebody on the staff is going to be canned when we have a position vacant." The difference in pay between a senior typist and a transcriber typist is only about $49 per month, said Solnit.

Chairman Walter F. Freitas and Jack G. Nixon said they do not have enough information on the planning department budget and on the overall needs of the county to vote intelligently on the administrator's recommended cutbacks.

But Hugh Dougherty and Margaret Azevedo disagreed. "I'm surprised to hear you say that the planning commission doesn't have the knowledge to make recommendations on the planning department budget," said Mrs. Azevedo. "If we don't, I don't know who does."

Dougherty said the planning commissioners are certainly as well qualified as the county administrator or the county supervisors to make recommendations on the planning department budget.

Since the budget hearing before the board of supervisors is set for June 19 and will come before the next regular planning commission meeting, Freitas appointed a four-man committee to study the budget and make recommendations to the

Guerrillas Kidnap, Free U.S. Envoy

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—Arab guerrillas said today they kidnaped and later released the first secretary at the U. S. Embassy in Amman, Morris Draper.

A statement by the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) said its members seized Draper as hostage for the release of guerrillas held by Jordanian authorities.

A PFLP spokesman later told UPI, "We are sending him back now. We are letting him go on orders of PASC (the guerrilla-coordination body, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command.)"

The spokesman refused to say where Draper was at that moment.

The U. S. embassy in Amman refused immediate comment.

(In Washington, the State Department said that as of noon EDT today Draper had not returned to the embassy at Amman.)

Draper has been in Amman since June, 1968.

The abduction came in the wake of clashes Sunday in which guerrillas claimed 104 persons were killed or captured.

A statement by the PFLP "Central Committee for the Peoples Militia" said originally Draper would not be released until specific demands were met.

These included dismissal of "undesirable" Jordan Army and political leaders including the commander-in-chief of the Jordan army, Sherif Nasser Bin Jamil, King Hussein's uncle.

Draper was assigned to Amman in 1968 and is head of the political section of the embassy there. He speaks French and Arabic. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California.

According to the report Draper has been missing since about 9 p.m., Amman time, Sunday. He was going to a dinner party at a Jordanian home in Amman and never arrived there.

Others at the party, reports to the State Department said, spoke of having been stopped at Fedayeen check points en route to the dinner and U.S. officials assumed that Draper had also been stopped by the Fedayeen but. instead of being passed through had been held.

Divergent Views On Marin Logging

By MICHAEL A. SMITH

The smoldering Righetti Ranch logging controversy in West Marin flared again briefly Saturday when professional foresters were told that the logging operation was both satisfactory and unsatisfactory.

Paul Zinke, Proefssor of Forestry at the University of California at Berkeley, told approximately 200 members of the Northern California Section of the Society of American Foresters: "From a professional forester's viewpoint, it was the best operation I have seen in the redwoods. But, as a member of the Sierra Club I found it repugnant."

The double edged comment came on the second day of a two-day gathering of the foresters in Marin.

The foresters, meeting at the Audubon Canyon Ranch, had been scheduled to tour the Righetti Ranch logging operation, but attorneys for Matthews Humbert and Walker Timber Co. of Coos Bay, Oregon, notified the foresters that the tour would have to be cancelled.

The reason given was that many of the foresters might be called in the future to testify in court as to the condition of the property. At present, litigation is pending on whether extra silt dumped into Bolinas Lagoon this spring was caused directly by logging operations on the Righetti property.

John Calahan of the California Forestry Protection Association, said that he had found logging practices at the ranch "reasonably acceptable by forestry standards."

Howard Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, sia dhtat the Righetti controversy was "really water under the bridge for the time being. But what we want to know," he continued, "is what about the next logger? I for one would like to have an ordinance on the books restricting logging operations in Marin County, an ordinance written by and enforced by Marin County residents."

Gregg pointed out that what happened at the Righetti Ranch should not be allowed to happen to other forested areas of Marin. "This is a tourist area. We just don't have time to wait for 40-to-60 year yccles", he said referring to the time for timber to mature and cover the scars of logging.

Instead, he suggested leaving a 300-foot wide corridor along a 3 mile stretch of the Bolinas Ridge running through the Righetti property for use as a hiking trail.

"I really think that when the loggers get done it should look like a park," Gregg concluded.

That may be the wish of the Marin Conservation League, but a tour of the ranch property by the Independent-Journal later Saturday afternoon revealed, besides the usual dustry roads for logging trucks, piles of slash and burned logs, acres where standing trees were no longer green, but brown, burned-out, upright monuments to a forest of the past.

Argentine Junta Ousts President

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—the commanders of Argentina's armed forces today announced they have ousted President-Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, the military man they put in power nearly four years ago.

"This junta of commanders-in-chief (of the army, navy and air force) has resolved to resume immediately the political power in the Argentine Republic," a communique said.

It added: "Consequently, it (the junta) invites Lt. Gen. Ongania to resign the post he has held until this date by mandate of this junta."

Cambodian Troops Overrun Red Units

PHNOM Penh (UPI)—Cambodian troops have driven North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces out of the outskirts of the city of Siem Reap and its ancient city of Angkor Wat, ancient city of Zangkor Wat, military spokesmen said today.

Military officials said government forces had also recaptured the town of Kompong Thom, 65 miles north of Phnom Penh.

An official spokesman said the Cambodian troops counterattacked Sunday and retook Siem Reap airport, which had been in Communist hands since Friday night, then ousted Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops from barracks on the outskirts of Siem Reap.

Cambodian commanders today poured reinforcements into the Siam Reap Airport and the city itself to consolidate the government hold.

Siem Reap, 150 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, is the gateway to the Ninth Century ruins of Angkor Wat and Angkor Thom, visited by thousands of tourists annually.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese spokesmen said a 5,000-man South Vietnamese task force had finished a drive to clear the east bank of the Mekong River but was remaining inside Cambodia to link up with government marines operating nearby. The U. S. Command in Saigon reported today that a helicopter gunship of the 1st Air Cavalry Division Sunday accidentally opened fire into allied troops in the Cambodian Fish Hook region killing two South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding 17, one of them an American adviser.

Last Thursday, four Allied troops including two Americans, were killed when a 101st Airborne Division gunship strafed ground forces near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The U. S. command said today U. S. troop strength in Vietnam was at its lowest level in more than three years with 425,450 U. S. servicemen in the war zone, down 2,600 from the previous week and the lowest since the week ending March 31, 1967, when there were 420,900 men on duty there.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency uses the U.S. foreign aid program as a cover for its operations in Laos, admits U.S. foreign aid chief John A. Hannah.

"Certainly, our preference is to get rid of this kind of operation," Hannah said Sunday, adding that Laos is the only place where the program is used in such a way.

Hannah, administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development, said he was sure President Nixon would recommend soon that Congress sever intelligence work from overseas economic assistance.

Hannah was questioned on the Metromedia radio program "Profile."

Third Party Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., says a third party may hold the balance of power in the 1972 election.

"If there is an issue in 1972 comparable to that of the war in 1968, and if neither Democratic nor Republican party takes a clear position, it is almost certain that a third party of some strength and substance will emerge," the senator said in an article in the New York Times magazine Sunday.

Attend Mass

De Gaulle, 79, received a bronze bust of himself from the mayor, Joaquin Fole. The sculpture was made by a local artist, J. Penede.

Remaining Neutral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Swedish Prime iMnister Olaf Palme says his country remains neutral no matter how critical it may be of U.S. military operations in Indochina.

"We have not taken one side or the other," he said Sunday. "Neutrality, which we pursue consistently, does not prevent us from having our opinions."

Palme was questioned on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press."

He said Sweden sheltered 400 U.S. military deserters to help "people in distress" and not to take a side.

"It was difficult to take up the issue of Vietnam mainly because we were so closely attached to the United States in the first place," he said.

To Keep 'Guests'

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Switzerland's voters, all of them men, have firmly rejected a proposal to evict more than 300,000 foreign "guest workers" from the country.

Nineteen of Switzerland's 25 cantons and half cantons voted 645,588-557,714 Sunday on the proposal, which the government warned would imperil the Swiss economy because it is heavily dependent on foreign labor. Fourteen of the 19 districts voted against the proposal and only five in favor of it.

James Schwarzenbach, the sole independent member of the federal parliament, had put forward the idea, backed by his action committee against "overforeignization of people and homeland."

Hit Long Hairs

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Police rounded up more than 400 long-haired youths Sunday night and forced them to have their hair cut.

The Formosa Provincial Assembly passed a law banning long hair and "hippie-like dress" last August. Officials said Sunday's sweep was the start of a crackdown on long hair and beards that will include foreigners on the island as well as Formosans.

Police said most of the arrested youths were on dates when they were nabbed. Each was fined the equivalent of $3 and charged 12½ cents for his haircut. Second offenders will be jailed for three days, police said.

$272,700 In Jewels Reported Stolen

NIMES, France (UPI)—Six pieces of jewelry designed by cubist painter Georges Braque worth $272,700 were stolen from Nimes Museum, police said Sunday.

The stolen pieces were part of a museum exhibition insured for $2.7 million. Police said the only clue was an auto jack handle left by the thieves.

Novelist Forster Is Dead At 91

LONDON (UPI)—E. M. Forster, whose novel "A Passage to India," became a classic in his lifetime, died Sunday. He was 91.

Friends said the cause of death was believed to have been a stroke. Forster died in Coventry where he had been staying with friends while recovering from a heart attack.

Forster had little use for orthodox morality. "I do not believe in belief," he once said. "I distrust great men. If I had to choose between betraying my country and betraying my friend, I hope I should have the guts to betray my country."

A shy, slightly built man with an elfish grin, Forster wrote only five novels. The first was "Where Angels Fear to Tread" in 1905. "A passage to India," published in 1924, was his last fiction work.

He also wrote 36 short stories, a biography, two volumes of collected essays and a handful of other writing.

Critics, who early disagreed on the value of Forster's work, later came to regard him as one of Britain's greatest novelists.

Born in London Jan. 1, 1879, Edward Morgan Forster traveled widely to continental Europe, Egypt and the Orient. It was in India in 1921—at the age of 42—that he found what he called "peace, happiness and an inspiration to write."

He spent six months in India as private secretary to an Indian ruler for whom he had a strong private attachment. He completed "A Passage To India" three years after returning to England.

A theme of separateness runs throughout the novel, the human barriers that cut people off from each other. It hits at British imperialism and the conflict between the Indian people and the privileged class of English governors.

Forster said the book "caused people to think of the link between India and Britain and to doubt if that link was altogether of a healthy nature."

Near A Decision

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — R. Sargent Shriver says he will decide this week whether to run for governor of Maryland.

Shriver, who is married to the former Eunice Kennedy and retired recently as U.S. ambassador to Paris, told a news conference before the West Virginia Democratic party's annual Jefferson Day dinner Saturday:

"I haven't made any final decision . . . but I probably will next week."

The incumbent governor of Maryland, also a Democrat, is Marvin Mandel.

$30 Million Safeguard Hike Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today recommended $365.8 million in construction money for the next year of the embattled Safeguard antiballistic missile program.

It is $30 million more than has been appropriated for the past three fiscal years and is for use during the year starting July 1. It is separate from weapons procurement money, which amounts to hundreds of millions more dollars.

The Safeguard money was included in a $1.99 billion military construction bill sent to the House floor for consideration later this week. This is $435.7 million more than was provided for the current year but $137.7 million less than was requested.

Critics of the Safeguard program contend it is unneeded, too costly and is goading the Soviets into a renewed arms race.

More Fires, Arrests At Isla Vista

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Young demonstrators set small fires at an oft-besieged bank and larger trash fires in surrounding streets early today in the Isla Vista campus community of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Officers riding in trucks and on foot swept back and forth through the square-mile community and threw scores of tear gas canisters to disperse small groups of youths. The protesters pelted the officers with rocks and other missiles, then fled and regrouped on other streets.

By 3 a.m. most of the demonstrators had dispersed on their own. A squad of about 100 officers holding hard plastic riot shields made a final sweep of the streets. Then most of the officers left.

Sheriff's Capt. Joel Honey said about 15 gasoline bombs were confiscated but he did not elaborate on the circumstances.

For the fourth straight night Sunday, a crowd of chanting youths surged to the Bank of America branch, target of repeated attacks since February by youths who said they were protesting the establishment. About 250 sheriffs deputies and state highway patrol officers dispersed the crowd of about 800 young people and quickly put out small fires on the roof and in the lobby of the one-story prefabricated bank. Damage was minimal.

The original branch building was burned down by protestors last winter.

The youths broke up into smaller groups and began hit-and-run tactics, setting fires in the streets with trash and lumber—even furniture dragged from their apartments near the bank. A car also was burned.

Deputies reported 29 arrests Sunday night and early today. As with 32 arrests through Saturday, most were for failure to disperse and violation of a dusk-to-dawn curfew in force since Saturday night.

Chavez, Big Melon Grower Reach Pact

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UPI)—Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Organizing Committee and a major Imperial County melon grower reached agreement in a secret weekend meeting halting a $30,000-a-day melon picking strike by field workers.

The agreement, ironed out during a private seven-hour peace talk Saturday, marked the first time an Imperial Valley grower had agreed to a workers' vote on union representation. It also marked the first negotiations between an Imperial grower and the AFL-CIO union.

The union pledged to withhold for one year further attempts to unionize workers of the Abatti Brothers Produce Co., should the union lose the vote.

Abatti, whose firm accounts for about 10 per cent of the valley's $11 million-a-year melon crop, signed an agreement with Chavez' younger brother, Manuel, which calls for a contract if his workers vote to be represented by the union.

when 200 workers left their jobs at the Abatti field and UFWOC pickets appeared. Picketing was halted Friday by a superior court restraining order, but only 15 workers returned to the fields. Abatti was losing $30,000 a day because of the strike, since melons, unlike grapes, cannot be stored for any length of time. Ripe melons will rot if left in the fields after three days.

Also during the weekend, some 4,000 members and supporters of a Mexican-American youth group called Mecha rallied at Indio, Calif., at the National Date Festival fairgrounds. The young persons began arriving in the Coachella Valley Friday and held speeches, a barbecue and a dance at the fairgrounds during the weekend.

A spokesman for the group said they had planned an all-out effort to halt picking and packing of Coachella Valley table grapes.

Police reported no incidents during the weekend. The Desert Grape League had asked for national and state protection from the militant youths.

Concern Over Quake

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope paul VI said Sunday no one is too far away to aid the victims of last week's killer earthquakes in Peru. The Pope told tourists and pilgrims during his regular Sunday blessing he was praying for the victims and had sent a special blessing to them.

Indian Tribe Takes Over Camp Again

BIG BEND, Calif. (AP) — Pit River Indians late Sunday night reoccupied a utility company owned campground where 34 of them were arrested Saturday morning while cooking breakfast.

They claim the land belongs to them and is held illegally by Pacific Gas & Electric Co., the world's largest utility firm. Of the 34 arrested, 19 remained in Shasta County Jail at Redding on trespassing charges, while 15 posted bail bond of $315 each.

At a tribal council at Hat Creek, 50 miles southeast of Big Bend, the Indians approved a motion to try again to occupy Lassen National Park just south of Hat Creek. On Friday, the Indians were turned back at the park gate by rangers and sheriff's deputies. They then switched plans and occupied the PG&E campground 10 miles southeast of here and roughly 270 miles northeast of San Francisco.

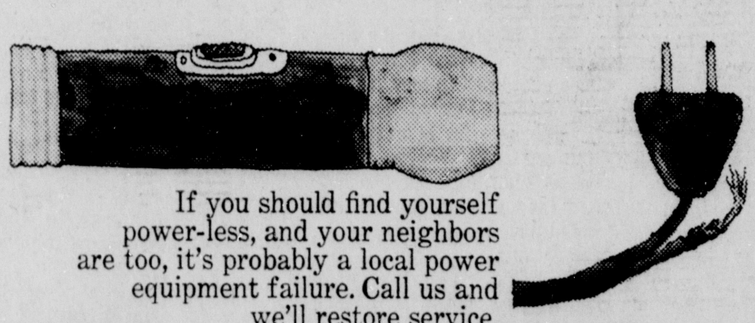
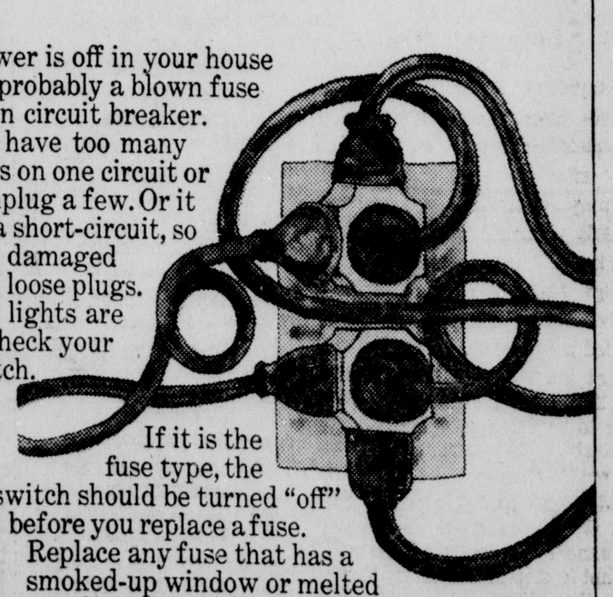
Every girl should know how to re-fuse.



If you should find yourself power-less, and your neighbors are too, it's probably a local power equipment failure. Call us and we'll restore service.

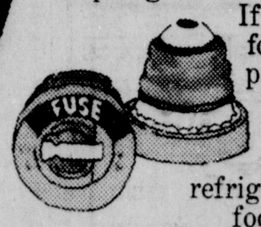
If the power is off in your house only, it's probably a blown fuse or an open circuit breaker. You may have too many appliances on one circuit or outlet. Unplug a few. Or it could be a short-circuit, so check for damaged cords and loose plugs.

If your lights are still off, check your main switch.



If it is the fuse type, the switch should be turned "off" before you replace a fuse.

Replace any fuse that has a smoked-up window or melted metal strip. (Make sure new fuse is the same amperage as the old one—no more, no less.)



If you have circuit breakers, follow the instructions on the panel. Many homes have both fuses and circuit breakers.

If your electricity is off for any period, don't open your refrigerator or freezer, so frozen foods will stay frozen longer. If the food starts to thaw, add dry ice.

Still in the dark? Call us.

LITTLE PEOPLE'S PLANT IN

Four members of the ecology club at Henry C. Hall school are dwarfed by trees in Larkspur's Dolliver Park as the plant flowers, ferns and ivy as part of a park beautification project. They were among 40 students who participated in the project Saturday. The plants — all native to redwood forests — were donated by Marin businesses. The project will continue throughout the summer with the city repainting and a resident adding a mural to the restrooms, another resident building a redwood bridge, and the city installing a new merry-go-round.

Peru Tragedy Stuns U.S. Pilots

ABOARD A USAF C130 OVER PERU (AP) — A grandstand view of death and destruction swept beneath a big U.S. C130 cargo plane as it dropped supplies to survivors of earthquake-torn North Central Peru Sunday.

"Unbelievable," said the pilot, Capt. Bill Hudspeth, a Vietnam veteran, as he guided the big Hercules up the 80-mile Huaylas Canyon. "Worse than anything I have seen in my life."

Hudspeth shook his head in disbelief as the transport passed over what was left of Huraz, once a city of 50,000 at the southern entrance to the canyon, 180 miles north of Lima. Half the buildings had crumbled. Not a single roof remained intact.

The government says the earthquake a week ago may have killed 30,000 or more people; a United Nations observer says the count more likely will exceed 50,000. An estimated 100,000 more are homeless, injured or both.

Hudspeth reached for the throttle and headed his giant craft 21 miles up the gorge to Anta, the target of the airdrop. Anta, a village of about 2,000 was devastated, but by some freak of terrain enough of the town's tiny airstrip was spared from avalanches that hurtled down the 18,000-foot Andes to leave it still useable by small aircraft.

A quarter ton of sleeping bags, blankets and food rations was packed in plastic-wrapped survival kits and stapled into 12 large crates. The back bay of the plane lifted open as Anta came into view and the crates were shoved out, two at a time, as the Hercules made six passes over the runway.

Carhuaz, another town of about 10,000 people, came into view as the plane pulled out of its last drop run. "Incredible, unbelievable," was all the crew could say as they looked down on the shambles.

A few miles further up the canyon was Yungay, which used to be home for some 33,000 people. All that could be seen of it were the tops of four palm trees where the town square had been and a statue of Christ, with arms outstretched, which marked the hilltop cemetery.

A slide of rocks and mud two to three miles wide had hurtled clear across both banks of the Santa River at the bottom of the canyon, buried Yungay and smashed against a mountain ledge on the other side. Only about 2,500 residents of Yungay are believed to have survived.

The C130s fly twice a day, dropping supplies over the canyon then picking up survivors at the evacuation center in Chimbote. They are brought there by helicopters and vintage C47s that can just manage to land and take off at Anta.

More than half of Chimbote, a thriving industrial port of 80,000 people is gone. Its fishmeal processing plant is partly ruined. Engineers estimated it will take many months to get Peru's only steel plant there to operate again.

But the undamaged airfield has been turned into headquarters for planes and rescue teams from fourteen nations.

The air drops into Anta are part of a multimillion dollar U.S. relief effort. In addition to more than $1 million spent on the drops during the first week after the quake, the United States has pledged $10 million to help rebuild the shattered areas.

A big American Chinook helicopter was going into service between Chimbote and the Huaylas Canyon today, and a second Chinook was to arrive in Lima later in the day. Another 14 helicopters are due Thursday aboard the carrier Guam, now in the Panama Canal zone picking up 150 huge tents and as many crates of cereal and other food as can be loaded.

Two 100-bed field hospitals with medical teams also were expected later today. Many of those who survived the quake with injuries are dying as their wounds become gangrenous.

Crews of the big C130s that carry supplies from Lima to Anta, then ferry injured survivors from Chimbote to hospitals in Lima, report many of the injured have little chance of living after a week of exposure without food and medical attention.

Cuba has flown five planeloads of supplies from Havana although the Peruvian government broke off diplomatic relations with the Castro government along with other members of the Organization of American States. One of the American C130s was to carry a consignment of medicine and other goods from Cuba to Huaylas Canyon today.

Officer Struck, Suspect Held In Sonoma Jail

Raymond D. Miner, 19, of Santa Rosa, was arrested on suspicion of assault on an officer after Petaluma Police Sgt. Jimmy J. Matthews said he was nearly struck while trying to make an arrest.

Sgt. Matthews and two other officers said they had investigated a complaint of a loud party at 506 West Street Saturday at 12:24 a.m. and were attempting to arrest a young man for disturbing the peace when a crowd formed.

Matthews said a group of 10 or 12 persons from the party streamed into the street to attempt to stop the arrest by jeering the officers. He said the group attempted to restrain Miner, but he broke loose and attempted to strike the officer in the left eye.

Miner was booked into the Sonoma County Jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

LITTLE PEOPLE'S PLANT IN

Four members of the ecology club at Henry C. Hall school are dwarfed by trees in Larkspur's Dolliver Park as the plant flowers, ferns and ivy as part of a park beautification project. They were among 40 students who participated in the project Saturday. The plants — all native to redwood forests — were donated by Marin businesses. The project will continue throughout the summer with the city repainting and a resident adding a mural to the restrooms, another resident building a redwood bridge, and the city installing a new merry-go-round.

Peru Tragedy Stuns U.S. Pilots

ABOARD A USAF C130 OVER PERU (AP) — A grandstand view of death and destruction swept beneath a big U.S. C130 cargo plane as it dropped supplies to survivors of earthquake-torn North Central Peru Sunday.

"Unbelievable," said the pilot, Capt. Bill Hudspeth, a Vietnam veteran, as he guided the big Hercules up the 80-mile Huaylas Canyon. "Worse than anything I have seen in my life."

Hudspeth shook his head in disbelief as the transport passed over what was left of Huraz, once a city of 50,000 at the southern entrance to the canyon, 180 miles north of Lima. Half the buildings had crumbled. Not a single roof remained intact.

The government says the earthquake a week ago may have killed 30,000 or more people; a United Nations observer says the count more likely will exceed 50,000. An estimated 100,000 more are homeless, injured or both.

Hudspeth reached for the throttle and headed his giant craft 21 miles up the gorge to Anta, the target of the airdrop. Anta, a village of about 2,000 was devastated, but by some freak of terrain enough of the town's tiny airstrip was spared from avalanches that hurtled down the 18,000-foot Andes to leave it still useable by small aircraft.

A quarter ton of sleeping bags, blankets and food rations was packed in plastic-wrapped survival kits and stapled into 12 large crates. The back bay of the plane lifted open as Anta came into view and the crates were shoved out, two at a time, as the Hercules made six passes over the runway.

Carhuaz, another town of about 10,000 people, came into view as the plane pulled out of its last drop run. "Incredible, unbelievable," was all the crew could say as they looked down on the shambles.

A few miles further up the canyon was Yungay, which used to be home for some 33,000 people. All that could be seen of it were the tops of four palm trees where the town square had been and a statue of Christ, with arms outstretched, which marked the hilltop cemetery.

A slide of rocks and mud two to three miles wide had hurtled clear across both banks of the Santa River at the bottom of the canyon, buried Yungay and smashed against a mountain ledge on the other side. Only about 2,500 residents of Yungay are believed to have survived.

The C130s fly twice a day, dropping supplies over the canyon then picking up survivors at the evacuation center in Chimbote. They are brought there by helicopters and vintage C47s that can just manage to land and take off at Anta.

More than half of Chimbote, a thriving industrial port of 80,000 people is gone. Its fishmeal processing plant is partly ruined. Engineers estimated it will take many months to get Peru's only steel plant there to operate again.

But the undamaged airfield has been turned into headquarters for planes and rescue teams from fourteen nations.

The air drops into Anta are part of a multimillion dollar U.S. relief effort. In addition to more than $1 million spent on the drops during the first week after the quake, the United States has pledged $10 million to help rebuild the shattered areas.

HILL COMES DOWN, DIVERTS RIVER

The Yakima River was diverted yesterday afternoon when the hill above the old Ellensburg-Cle Elum highway, U.S. 10, about 6½ miles west of Ellensburg gave way, sending tons of earth across the roadway and into the river. No one was injured in the slide. (AP Wirephoto)

MONEY

called on Rogers for fuller disclosures—how much will it cost and which government can initiate the withdrawal of Thai forces from Cambodia.

The role of Thailand in other Southeast Asian nations, and the part played by the United States, has been a going controversy in the Senate for several years.

On Nov. 14, less than a week after the secret U.S.-Thai agreement was reached, Bangkok announced it would send a division of volunteers to South Vietnam at the request of the Saigon government.

"IS COMPELLED"

"Thailand is compelled," the announcement said at the time, "to join forces with South Vietnam and other free world allies in halting the Communist danger while it is still at a distance from our homeland."

The full complement of Thai troops didn't reach South Vietnam until February 1969, but has been maintained at about division strength since.

Published reports in late 1967 that Washington and Bangkok had reached a secret accord for exchanging money and other aid for Thai troops were denied on both sides.

Thai officials said the reports were "malicious and scandalous" and allegations that the United States was sending Hawk missiles to Thailand as part of a troop exchange were lies.

In December 1968, Thai Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachord said, "That's not true at all," when asked if the United States gave money to pay for Thai troops in Vietnam.

CONTINGENCY PLAN

Related to the troop-money exchange has been a controversy over a so-called contingency plan under which the United States has agreed to help defend Thailand from aggression.

The Nixon administration, as the previous Johnson administration had done, maintains the 1967 agreement does not extend U.S. commitments in Thailand past the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization pact—the basis for all U.S. involvement in the area.

Senate criticism of this agreement and the refusal of the administration to disclose details of the accord, led to passage of an amendment prohibiting the use of U.S. ground forces in Thailand and neighboring Laos.

Tent For Crusade To Be Considered

A request by Rev. Tod W. Ewald of Holy Innocents' Episcopal Parish to erect a tent in Corte Madera Center for an evangelical crusade Sept. 13-26 will be considered by the town planning commission today at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

Also on the agenda are two applications for free-standing signs, one by the Copper Penny Restaurant, 71 Casa Buena Drive, and the other by Motorcycles Unlimited, 5768 Paradise Drive.

'Customers' Damage 40 New, Used Autos

Four San Rafael auto dealers and one in Novato suffered damage to about 40 new and used cars Saturday by men and women posing as customers.

Larry Dervin, owner of Dervin Ford of Novato, said today 15 men and five women swarmed into his agency Saturday about 11:30 a.m., asking to have new cars demonstrated.

While Dervin's salesmen pointed out new car features to some of the "customers," Dervin said, others began milling arond new autos parked on the outside lot.

After the "customers" left, Dervin said, his salesmen found 21 new cars with exteriors sprayed with paint, nine cars with slashed tires, and eight of the 30 cars with full length scratches along their sides.

When salesmen returned to the showroom after surveying the damage, Dervin added, they found the floor's carpeting soaked with water. Investigation revealed someone using the restroom adjacent to the main showroom had stopped the wash basin's drain and left the water running.

Dervin could give no explanation for the vandalism, but said one "customer" told salesmen she wouldn't purchase a car from the agency because it advertised in the Independent-Journal.

In San Rafael, dealers told police variations of the same story.

Annex Motors of 535 Francisco Boulevard told police about 12 persons entered the agency at noon and climbed in and out of autos parked on the used car lot.

William H. Beedle, sales manager, reported he knew something was amiss when that many people arrived.

While some of the group kept salesmen talking, others continued to prowl around the cars. When the crowd left, 12 sets of keys were found missing, a Porsche's seat slashed, and the wiring cut in several autos.

Collins Buick of 502 Francisco Boulevard said salesmen discovered two convertible tops and several tires slashed at its lot. The agency told police only one man had been seen in the lot prior to discovering the vandalism at 11:30 a.m. The damage occurred at about 11:30 a.m.

Felton Volkswagen at 601 Francisco Boulevard reported a seat slashed in one vehicle at about 11:10 a.m. Salesmen reported seeing two men in the lot prior to discovering the damage.

Marin Dodge at 1075 Francisco Boulevard told police two men entered the showroom about 11 a.m., told salesmen they were not interested in purchasing but rather were just looking. When the men left, salesmen found the front seats of two new autos slashed, police reported.

Petaluma Budget Talks On Tonight

The Petaluma City Council will begin deliberations on the 1970-71 budget today at 7:30 p.m.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer last week presented a preliminary budget of $3,119,473 which included a tax rate increase of 22 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Merchant Group To Meet Tonight

The Sausalito Businessmen's Association, a new merchant group, will hold an organizational meeting today at 8 p.m. in the Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, according to Robert D. Bauerle, acting president.

He said the group will elect permanent officers and make further plans to fight a city parking ban on Bridgeway, between Princess and Anchor streets.

Selection Of Engineer Due

The Ross Town Council will appoint a town engineer to replace the late Philip B. Lygren when it meets Thursday at 8 p.m. at town hall.

The council also will adopt a commemorative resolution to be forwarded to Lygren's family.

Also on the agenda is further consideration of a request by the Ross School Parent-Teacher Association for a $900 subsidy for an after-school community recreation program.

The council considered the subsidy May 14 but referred it to its finance committee because of a lack of funds.

sion, understanding and his integrity are enormous assets to the administration."

Finch joins a White House staff hierarchy which has drawn complaints among some Republican senators who have been saying privately they have trouble getting through the staff to the President.

H. R. Haldeman, the chief of staff, and John D. Ehrlichman, an assistant to the President and top man in the domestic affairs field, are rated as the most powerful among Nixon's aides.

"This may break through the Berlin wall," said one Senate Republican aide, whose boss has complained bitterly but off the record about communications problems with the White House.

Finch, who resigned as lieutenant governor of California to enter the Cabinet, has been a close friend of Nixon for more than 20 years.

"I regret losing him at HEW, but I need him here," Nixon said at the White House Saturday.

Nixon said Finch now will fill a major advisory role, counseling him on domestic matters and also on some foreign policy areas.

supervisors. On the committee will be Nixon, as chairman, and Dougherty, Mrs. Azevedo, and John F. West.

The commissioners also asked Solnit to see if the budget hearing can be changed from June 19 to June 22. Since June 22 is the next regular meeting of the planning commission, commissioners could leave a part of the agenda open so that they can attend the supervisors' budget hearing en masse on June 22.

Park Is Due Consideration

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider a use permit for a public park to be built at 1005 Canal Street when it meets tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

A nonprofit corporation, R.E.C., hopes to use volunteer help to develop the 6,-100-square-foot minipark and then deed it to the city as a public improvement.

Also on the agenda is consideration of a site plan for a Sears and Roebuck Co. department store in the Northgate Shopping Center. Plans for a seasonal sales building and an auto service building also will be considered.

Pay Increase To Be Studied

San Anselmo City Council will consider a 6 per cent across-the-board pay increase for city employees tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The pay hike has been included in Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel's proposed $1,365,475 budget for 1970-71.

Other items on the agenda are appointments to the citys' design review committee, Marin County Economic Opportunity Council and city parks and recreation commission, and consideration of the county's request for continued cost sharing in its animal control program.

Parks-Recreation Meeting Canceled

Tomorrow's meeting of the Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission has been canceled because a Little League parents' meeting is scheduled for the same time.

No new date has been set for the meeting.

OBITUARIES

Joseph Jensen Dies At 70

Funeral for Joseph Jensen, a retired bakery company salesman, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Greenbrae. Interment will follow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Jensen, 70, died Friday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Niba, Denmark, he had lived in California and in Marin for 17 years. He lived with his wife, Arlyne I. Jensen, at 202 Railroad Avenue, Woodacre.

He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Bakery Wagon Drivers and Salesmen's Union Local 484 of San Francisco and he was a high priest in the San Rafael ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

In addition to his wife, Jensen is survived by two sons, David R. Jensen of Novato and Richard Gaisford of Murray, Utah; two sisters, Marie Poppe of Forest Knolls and Anna Petersen of El Verano, and six grandchildren.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the building fund of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, in care of Bishop Edward Nimer, 8 Alasdair Court, San Rafael.

JESSIE BILDERBACK

Funeral for Jessie Bilderback, a 39-year resident of Marin, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be at 2 p.m. in Boonville, Mendocino County.

Mrs. Bilderback, 84, died Saturday following a long illness at the home of her son, Robert W. Bilderback, 8 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael.

A native of Oak Mills, Kan., she and her late husband, Leslie, came to California and Marin County in 1931. He was in the contracting business.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Bilderback is survived by a step-daughter, Kathryn J. Slattery of San Francisco, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

MADELINE GANO

Private graveside service for Madeline (Mimi) Gano, 18, Fairfax, will be held at the Sutter City Cemetery in Sutter County.

Miss Gano died unexpectedly Friday in Sao Paulo, Brazil, where she had been visiting the Stanley Aylesworth family for the last month. She had been expected to return home yesterday.

She was born in Maryland, while her father, Cmdr. (ret.) Paul Gano, was stationed in Virginia and lived in many cities across the country before moving with her parents to San Francisco five years ago. The family moved to 121 San Gabriel Drive two years ago.

She attended Bishop's School in La Jolla and was a graduate of the Drew School in San Francisco. She was a debutante in 1969 bowing at both the Marin and San Francisco cotillions.

NONA FARLEY

Nona G. Farley, 75, of Santa Rosa, formerly of West Marin, died yesterday after collapsing at her home.

Mrs. Farley was born and reared in Mayetta, Kan., but moved to Petaluma as a young woman. In 1921 she married the late William Farley who operated a ranch and was a livestock dealer in West Marin until his retirement in 1948. She had lived in Santa Rosa since 1948.

She is survived by two sons, Howard Farley of Santa Rosa and Gerald Farley of Ironside, Ore.; two brothers and a sister in Kansas, and a grandchild.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Petaluma. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

HOWARD JACOBSEN

Funeral for Howard R. Jacobsen, 65, of Cotati, a retired tavern owner, was held today at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Inurnment was at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Jacobsen died Friday in a Santa Rosa Hospital after a long illness. A native of Parker, Colo., he lived in Nevada before moving to Southern Sonoma in 1926.

For many years he owned and operated the Buckhorn Tavern in Petaluma and later owned and operated the Eight Ball Tavern and Apartments in Cotati.

Jacobsen, who retired for several years, lived at 590 West Cotati Avenue.

He is survived by his wife, Mildred; a daughter, Kathleen Jacobsen of San Rafael and two sisters, Mabel Petersen of Petaluma and Lucille Newton of Napa.

Contributions may be made to the Campfire Girls or Boy Scouts.

THELMA WHITTINGTON

Funeral was today for Thelma A. Whittington of Mill Valley, who retired in 1967 after teaching kindergarten at Manzanita School in Marin City 15 years.

Mrs. Whittington, of 8 Laurel Street, died Friday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 68.

A native of El Paso, Tex., she was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles and began her teaching career at a state demonstration school in Cucamonga, San Bernardino County.

After working as director of adult education at Oxnard, Ventura County, Mrs. Whittington moved to Mill Valley with her late husband, William, a civil engineer with the U.S. Coast Guard, in 1941.

She returned to teaching in 1951, heading a special class at Manzanita School for one year. She then taught kindergarten until her retirement.

She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, Mill Valley Chapter 219; the California Retired Teachers Association, and the National Teachers Association.

Mrs. Whittington is survived by two sons, Richard, of Mill Valley, and David E., of Placerville, El Dorado County; a daughter, Ruth E. Whittington, of San Anselmo; a sister, Merl Stiles of Costa Mesa, Orange County; a brother, Roy St. John of San Gabriel, Los Angeles County; and six grandchildren.

Burial will be in Inglewood. Contributions to Hanna Boys Center, Sonoma, or a favorite charity are preferred.

HILL COMES DOWN, DIVERTS RIVER

The Yakima River was diverted yesterday afternoon when the hill above the old Ellensburg-Cle Elum highway, U.S. 10, about 6½ miles west of Ellensburg gave way, sending tons of earth across the roadway and into the river. No one was injured in the slide. (AP Wirephoto) called on Rogers for fuller disclosures—how much will it cost and which government can initiate the withdrawal of Thai forces from Cambodia.

The role of Thailand in other Southeast Asian nations, and the part played by the United States, has been a going controversy in the Senate for several years.

On Nov. 14, less than a week after the secret U.S.-Thai agreement was reached, Bangkok announced it would send a division of volunteers to South Vietnam at the request of the Saigon government.

"IS COMPELLED"

"Thailand is compelled," the announcement said at the time, "to join forces with South Vietnam and other free world allies in halting the Communist danger while it is still at a distance from our homeland."

The full complement of Thai troops didn't reach South Vietnam until February 1969, but has been maintained at about division strength since.

Published reports in late 1967 that Washington and Bangkok had reached a secret accord for exchanging money and other aid for Thai troops were denied on both sides.

Thai officials said the reports were "malicious and scandalous" and allegations that the United States was sending Hawk missiles to Thailand as part of a troop exchange were lies.

In December 1968, Thai Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachord said, "That's not true at all," when asked if the United States gave money to pay for Thai troops in Vietnam.

CONTINGENCY PLAN

Related to the troop-money exchange has been a controversy over a so-called contingency plan under which the United States has agreed to help defend Thailand from aggression.

The Nixon administration, as the previous Johnson administration had done, maintains the 1967 agreement does not extend U.S. commitments in Thailand past the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization pact—the basis for all U.S. involvement in the area.

Senate criticism of this agreement and the refusal of the administration to disclose details of the accord, led to passage of an amendment prohibiting the use of U.S. ground forces in Thailand and neighboring Laos.

Tent For Crusade To Be Considered

A request by Rev. Tod W. Ewald of Holy Innocents' Episcopal Parish to erect a tent in Corte Madera Center for an evangelical crusade Sept. 13-26 will be considered by the town planning commission today at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

Also on the agenda are two applications for free-standing signs, one by the Copper Penny Restaurant, 71 Casa Buena Drive, and the other by Motorcycles Unlimited, 5768 Paradise Drive.

'Customers' Damage 40 New, Used Autos

Four San Rafael auto dealers and one in Novato suffered damage to about 40 new and used cars Saturday by men and women posing as customers.

Larry Dervin, owner of Dervin Ford of Novato, said today 15 men and five women swarmed into his agency Saturday about 11:30 a.m., asking to have new cars demonstrated.

While Dervin's salesmen pointed out new car features to some of the "customers," Dervin said, others began milling arond new autos parked on the outside lot.

After the "customers" left, Dervin said, his salesmen found 21 new cars with exteriors sprayed with paint, nine cars with slashed tires, and eight of the 30 cars with full length scratches along their sides.

When salesmen returned to the showroom after surveying the damage, Dervin added, they found the floor's carpeting soaked with water. Investigation revealed someone using the restroom adjacent to the main showroom had stopped the wash basin's drain and left the water running.

Dervin could give no explanation for the vandalism, but said one "customer" told salesmen she wouldn't purchase a car from the agency because it advertised in the Independent-Journal.

In San Rafael, dealers told police variations of the same story.

Annex Motors of 535 Francisco Boulevard told police about 12 persons entered the agency at noon and climbed in and out of autos parked on the used car lot.

William H. Beedle, sales manager, reported he knew something was amiss when that many people arrived.

While some of the group kept salesmen talking, others continued to prowl around the cars. When the crowd left, 12 sets of keys were found missing, a Porsche's seat slashed, and the wiring cut in several autos.

Collins Buick of 502 Francisco Boulevard said salesmen discovered two convertible tops and several tires slashed at its lot. The agency told police only one man had been seen in the lot prior to discovering the vandalism at 11:30 a.m. The damage occurred at about 11:30 a.m.

Felton Volkswagen at 601 Francisco Boulevard reported a seat slashed in one vehicle at about 11:10 a.m. Salesmen reported seeing two men in the lot prior to discovering the damage.

Marin Dodge at 1075 Francisco Boulevard told police two men entered the showroom about 11 a.m., told salesmen they were not interested in purchasing but rather were just looking. When the men left, salesmen found the front seats of two new autos slashed, police reported.

Selection Of Engineer Due

The Ross Town Council will appoint a town engineer to replace the late Philip B. Lygren when it meets Thursday at 8 p.m. at town hall.

The council also will adopt a commemorative resolution to be forwarded to Lygren's family.

Also on the agenda is further consideration of a request by the Ross School Parent-Teacher Association for a $900 subsidy for an after-school community recreation program.

The council considered the subsidy May 14 but referred it to its finance committee because of a lack of funds.

sion, understanding and his integrity are enormous assets to the administration."

Finch joins a White House staff hierarchy which has drawn complaints among some Republican senators who have been saying privately they have trouble getting through the staff to the President.

H. R. Haldeman, the chief of staff, and John D. Ehrlichman, an assistant to the President and top man in the domestic affairs field, are rated as the most powerful among Nixon's aides.

"This may break through the Berlin wall," said one Senate Republican aide, whose boss has complained bitterly but off the record about communications problems with the White House.

Finch, who resigned as lieutenant governor of California to enter the Cabinet, has been a close friend of Nixon for more than 20 years.

"I regret losing him at HEW, but I need him here," Nixon said at the White House Saturday.

Nixon said Finch now will fill a major advisory role, counseling him on domestic matters and also on some foreign policy areas.

supervisors. On the committee will be Nixon, as chairman, and Dougherty, Mrs. Azevedo, and John F. West.

The commissioners also asked Solnit to see if the budget hearing can be changed from June 19 to June 22. Since June 22 is the next regular meeting of the planning commission, commissioners could leave a part of the agenda open so that they can attend the supervisors' budget hearing en masse on June 22.

Park Is Due Consideration

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider a use permit for a public park to be built at 1005 Canal Street when it meets tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

A nonprofit corporation, R.E.C., hopes to use volunteer help to develop the 6,-100-square-foot minipark and then deed it to the city as a public improvement.

Also on the agenda is consideration of a site plan for a Sears and Roebuck Co. department store in the Northgate Shopping Center. Plans for a seasonal sales building and an auto service building also will be considered.

Pay Increase To Be Studied

San Anselmo City Council will consider a 6 per cent across-the-board pay increase for city employees tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The pay hike has been included in Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel's proposed $1,365,475 budget for 1970-71.

Other items on the agenda are appointments to the citys' design review committee, Marin County Economic Opportunity Council and city parks and recreation commission, and consideration of the county's request for continued cost sharing in its animal control program.

Parks-Recreation Meeting Canceled

Tomorrow's meeting of the Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission has been canceled because a Little League parents' meeting is scheduled for the same time.

No new date has been set for the meeting.

OBITUARIES

Joseph Jensen Dies At 70

Funeral for Joseph Jensen, a retired bakery company salesman, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Greenbrae. Interment will follow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Jensen, 70, died Friday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Niba, Denmark, he had lived in California and in Marin for 17 years. He lived with his wife, Arlyne I. Jensen, at 202 Railroad Avenue, Woodacre.

He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Bakery Wagon Drivers and Salesmen's Union Local 484 of San Francisco and he was a high priest in the San Rafael ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

In addition to his wife, Jensen is survived by two sons, David R. Jensen of Novato and Richard Gaisford of Murray, Utah; two sisters, Marie Poppe of Forest Knolls and Anna Petersen of El Verano, and six grandchildren.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the building fund of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, in care of Bishop Edward Nimer, 8 Alasdair Court, San Rafael.

JESSIE BILDERBACK

Funeral for Jessie Bilderback, a 39-year resident of Marin, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be at 2 p.m. in Boonville, Mendocino County.

Mrs. Bilderback, 84, died Saturday following a long illness at the home of her son, Robert W. Bilderback, 8 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael.

A native of Oak Mills, Kan., she and her late husband, Leslie, came to California and Marin County in 1931. He was in the contracting business.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Bilderback is survived by a step-daughter, Kathryn J. Slattery of San Francisco, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

MADELINE GANO

Private graveside service for Madeline (Mimi) Gano, 18, Fairfax, will be held at the Sutter City Cemetery in Sutter County.

Miss Gano died unexpectedly Friday in Sao Paulo, Brazil, where she had been visiting the Stanley Aylesworth family for the last month. She had been expected to return home yesterday.

She was born in Maryland, while her father, Cmdr. (ret.) Paul Gano, was stationed in Virginia and lived in many cities across the country before moving with her parents to San Francisco five years ago. The family moved to 121 San Gabriel Drive two years ago.

She attended Bishop's School in La Jolla and was a graduate of the Drew School in San Francisco. She was a debutante in 1969 bowing at both the Marin and San Francisco cotillions.

NONA FARLEY

Nona G. Farley, 75, of Santa Rosa, formerly of West Marin, died yesterday after collapsing at her home.

Mrs. Farley was born and reared in Mayetta, Kan., but moved to Petaluma as a young woman. In 1921 she married the late William Farley who operated a ranch and was a livestock dealer in West Marin until his retirement in 1948. She had lived in Santa Rosa since 1948.

She is survived by two sons, Howard Farley of Santa Rosa and Gerald Farley of Ironside, Ore.; two brothers and a sister in Kansas, and a grandchild.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Petaluma. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

HOWARD JACOBSEN

Funeral for Howard R. Jacobsen, 65, of Cotati, a retired tavern owner, was held today at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Inurnment was at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Jacobsen died Friday in a Santa Rosa Hospital after a long illness. A native of Parker, Colo., he lived in Nevada before moving to Southern Sonoma in 1926.

For many years he owned and operated the Buckhorn Tavern in Petaluma and later owned and operated the Eight Ball Tavern and Apartments in Cotati.

Jacobsen, who retired for several years, lived at 590 West Cotati Avenue.

He is survived by his wife, Mildred; a daughter, Kathleen Jacobsen of San Rafael and two sisters, Mabel Petersen of Petaluma and Lucille Newton of Napa.

Contributions may be made to the Campfire Girls or Boy Scouts.

THELMA WHITTINGTON

Funeral was today for Thelma A. Whittington of Mill Valley, who retired in 1967 after teaching kindergarten at Manzanita School in Marin City 15 years.

Mrs. Whittington, of 8 Laurel Street, died Friday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 68.

A native of El Paso, Tex., she was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles and began her teaching career at a state demonstration school in Cucamonga, San Bernardino County.

After working as director of adult education at Oxnard, Ventura County, Mrs. Whittington moved to Mill Valley with her late husband, William, a civil engineer with the U.S. Coast Guard, in 1941.

She returned to teaching in 1951, heading a special class at Manzanita School for one year. She then taught kindergarten until her retirement.

She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, Mill Valley Chapter 219; the California Retired Teachers Association, and the National Teachers Association.

Mrs. Whittington is survived by two sons, Richard, of Mill Valley, and David E., of Placerville, El Dorado County; a daughter, Ruth E. Whittington, of San Anselmo; a sister, Merl Stiles of Costa Mesa, Orange County; a brother, Roy St. John of San Gabriel, Los Angeles County; and six grandchildren.

Burial will be in Inglewood. Contributions to Hanna Boys Center, Sonoma, or a favorite charity are preferred.

GLENN G. CLARK

Funeral for Glenn Goundry Clark, 87, of 655 Canyon Road, Novato, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Redwoody Chapel Funeral Home. He died in a local hospital Saturday following a short illness.

A native of Wisconsin, he moved to Chicago where he headed the photography department of Marshall Field Department Store. SWIMMING IS DUCK SOUP FOR SOME YOUNGSTERS

Marin's Civic Center lagoon, used for all kinds of aquatic instruction, is just the place to teach one's ducklings to swim, this proud parent has decided. Canoe lessons are the thing many a weekend on the lagoon, but this family had it all to itself Saturday. (Independent-Journal photo)

Display Of Original Folios Due

The works are part of the Folger Library in Washington, D.C. The exhibit will be in conjunction with the opening of the Marin Shakespeare Festival next month at Forest Meadows Theater at Dominican College, San Rafael.

Two early copies of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Merry Wives of Windsor" will be included in the exhibit. Some of the works are said to be in Shakespeare's handwriting and others are early reproductions of his work.

The festival troupe will appear in San Francisco July 17 at the Stonestown Shopping Center, July 3 at noon in Union Square, and July 5 at 6 p.m. at the San Francisco Jewish Center, 3200 California Street.

The festival will participate in November in the "Music of The Spheres," a program written for the Morrison Planetarium in San Francisco.

A special performance of "The Tempest' will be given at 2 p.m. Aug. 9 at Stern Grove in San Francisco, and a performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 3 at the Redwood Empire Arena in Santa Rosa.

White House Will Extend Tour Hours

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today it is extending Saturday visiting hours for tourists for two hours —from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.—from now until Sept. 5.

Normal Saturday visiting hours are from 10 a.m. to noon. The added hours will last through the summer to accommodate Washington vacationers. The regular schedule will be resumed on Sept. 12.

Criminal Investigator Paul Kirk Dies at 68

BERKELEY Calif. (AP) — Dr. Paul Kirk, pioneer in scientific criminal investigation who also functioned as a biochemist in development of the first atomic bomb, is dead at 68 after a brief illness.

Internationally known in the criminology field, Kirk founded the University of California criminalistics department in 1954 and later established police laboratories in Chicago and St. Louis.

After helping with the initial atomic bomb, he was chief of microchemical research at the Atomic Energy Commission's Hanford, Wash — nuclear laboratories.

As a criminology expert, he testified as a defense witness in the wife-murder trial of the late Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard in Cleveland in 1955.

Kirk died in Kaiser Hospital Friday.

Survivors include his widow, Reba, and two daughters, Mary Janke of Sacramento Calif., and Mrs. Anita Kaplan of Cleveland.

Pair Arrested On Pot Probe

Two Petalumans were arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana last night when police found two marijuana plants growing in their apartment.

Arrested were Doris Mae Callahan, 26, and Royce P. Lee, 24, both of 695 Petaluma Boulevard North. Police said they found the plants when they went to the apartment to investigate a report of loud noises.

They were booked into the Sonoma County Jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Nixon Fact Team Wings To Cambodia

White House communications director Herb Klein said he and Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania made the trip and met with Lon Nol and U.S. Charge d'Affaires Lloyd M. Rives. He declined to reveal what the discussion involved.

Sources said the meeting was held at Shafer's initiative, but they said they did not know whether he carried any special message from Nixon or whether any official policies were discussed.

The fact-finding group left this afternoon for Hawaii after a four-day visit to Vietnam and Cambodia.

Klein said the group would begin assembling their findings in Hawaii and present their report to Nixon later in the week.

The visitors arrived Thursday night and spent Friday attending briefings in Saigon. On Saturday, they visited pacified hamlets in the Mekong Delta and a district town in southeast Cambodia. They spent Sunday with American troops in Cambodia and at camps in South Vietnam.

In addition to Klein and Shafer, the group included Sens. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H.; George Murphy, R-Calif.; John Tower, R-Tex., and Howard Cannon, D-Nev.; Reps. Melvin Price, D-Ill.; William G. Bray, R-Ind.; G. William Whitehurst, R-Va., and O. C. Fisher, D-Tex.; Govs. John A. Love, R-Colo., and Robert E. McNair, D-S.C., and White House presidential counselor Bryce N. Harlow.

Klein said the members had not yet had a chance to examine all the facts they had gathered during the visit but they were pleased to have had an opportunity to speak with American and South Vietnamese leaders and with American GIs.

Israel, Syria Stage Big Frontier Fight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli and Syrian artillery pounded each other across the cease-fire line today while Israeli planes attacked Syrian positions along the entire frontier, the Israeli military command announced.

Eleven Israeli soldiers were wounded, a spokesman said.

The planes carried out a two-hour sortie, during which they hit Syrian gunposts from Khisfine in the south to the northern sector of the occupied Golan Heights, he added.

The spokesman accused the Syrians of unleashing artillery fire at Israeli forces at Nahal Gesher and Rafid in the central heights.

Israeli tanks and artillery "silenced the sources of fire," he said.

The planes then wheeled in on bombing runs against Syrian artillery positions and returned safely, he said. The Syrians claimed they bagged two Israeli planes.

About an hour later, the planes began hammering Syrian gun positions in the Khisfine, Rafid, Uneitra and northern Golan areas. The two-hour air strike ended "after the objectives were hit," he said.

He claimed the Syrians opened fire on Israeli troops several times Sunday and today, and noted that "in their announcements they admitted taking the initiative in these activities."

Earlier, three Israeli soldiers on the southern Golan Heights were wounded by shots fired from Jordanian territory across the Yarmuk River toward El Hamma the spokesman said.

A spokesman in Damascus claimed the Israeli settlement of Nahal Gesher was destroyed by Syrian artillery.

The spokesman said tanks and planes were involved in the fighting, apparently the heaviest in a series of clashes that flared June 1 after a 10-day lull. There was no immediate report of casualties.

Ninety minutes after the fighting began, the Syrian spokesman said, "the enemy threw in his air force...to bomb our positions." He added that Syrian antiaircraft batteries sent up a heavy barrage against the intruders.

Israeli planes pounded Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal for the eighth straight day Sunday and hit at suspected guerrilla bases in southern Lebanon. And in Jordan, fighting erupted between Palestinian guerrillas and Jordanian troops.

All Israeli planes returned safely from the air raids, according to the Israelis, although a Cairo spokesman claimed Egyptian antiaircraft fire downed an Israeli Skyhawk.

It was the third straight day of almost incessant bombing along the canal in line with Israel's new policy of "continuous military activity" against Egypt.

The raids against suspected guerrilla hideouts along the slopes of Mt. Hermon in Lebanon were in retaliation for two days of commando attacks, on the border town of Kiryat Shmona, a Tel Aviv spokesman said.

In the Jordanian town of Zerka, a pitched battle broke out between Palestinian guerrilla and Jordanian troops and then spread to Amman, the capital, 10 miles to the south. Today both areas were reported quiet.

Israeli Jet Sales Still Undecided

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers says he expects the United States will decide "fairly soon" whether to sell more jet warplanes to Israel.

"I wouldn't want to put a time limit on it." he said Sunday. "I would think it would be before a few weeks."

"It's in our best interest to be sure Israel survives as a nation," he added. "That's been our policy and it will continue to be our policy. So we have to take whatever action we think is necessary to give them the assurance that they need that their independence and sovereignty is going to continue.

"At the same time, we have to do it in a balanced and measured way so that we don't signal to the Arabs that we are so behind Israel that we will support them no matter what they do.

"The reason for that is we want to keep the door open for negotiations. And we think it is just possible, just possible that you could get negotiations started. It is just possible that this could result in a settlement somewhere along the line."

Minipark To Be Considered

A request for a use permit to allow development of a minipark at 1005 Canal Street will be considered tomorrow when the San Rafael Planning Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

The park site, owned by Robert Greene, contains 6,100 square feet. Greene hopes to develop the site with volunteer labor and materials and then deed it to the city.

Also on the agenda will be consideration of a request from the W. J. Purdy Co. to use 15 acres between Point San Pedro Road near Sea Way and Bay Way to dispose of 12,000 cubic yards of dredge fill.

Six Are Awarded Drake Scholarships

Six Sir Francis Drake High School seniors have been awarded scholarships by the Drake Scholarship Foundation, Merrill R. Convis, foundation president, has reported.

The students and the colleges they will attend are: Chris Rosene of San Anselmo, University of California at Santa Cruz; Jan Hinson of Fairfax, College of Marin; Michelle Tourte of Fairfax, University of Nevada; Margaret Mangels of San Anselmo, University of California at Santa Barbara; Craig Bukley of San Anselmo, University of California at Berkeley; and Annette Lareau of Fairfax, University of California at Santa Cruz.

Court To Decide On Housing Issue

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether voters may exercise a veto over the construction of public housing in their community.

The court will examine this controversial issue next term, a brief announcement said. The hearing was granted on an appeal by the city council of San Jose.

Low-rent housing built with federal aid was blocked in Marin County last Tuesday when voters defeated a county housing measure.

No more low-rent public housing units can be built beyond the 500 already approved unless Marin voters approve the housing in a subsequent election or if the Supreme Court upholds a ruling of federal court in San Francisco.

Last April a federal court in San Francisco struck down an amendment to the California constitution that prohibited most state-financed public housing unless a majority of the residents of the city or town approved.

The amendment, Article 34, was put to a test beginning in 1966 when the city council of San Jose voted 6 to 1 for public housing in the city. Under the amendment, a special municipal election was held in 1968 and 57,896 votes were cast for public housing and 68,527 against it. As a result the council and the public housing were blocked.

A group of San Jose welfare recipients then attacked the amendment and won last April's ruling.

In other actions today, the court:

—Ruled 5 to 2 for the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad in a tangled dispute over union picketing at the Moncrief Yard outside Jacksonville, Fla.

—Held that the foreign registering of a ship does not exempt the owner from paying damages to seamen injured in U.S. waters.

—Dismissed the appeal of a Maryland man who complained he was given a harsher sentence after winning a new trial on a robbery charge.

—Decided today to rule next term on a modified state loyalty oath requiring teachers and employes to swear support of the U.S. Constitution and to disclaim belief in overthrow of the government.

The announcement that a Florida case will be heard next fall or winter came as the Court sat for the last time in more than a year as an eight-man bench. Justice Harry G. Blackmun will be sworn in as the ninth member Tuesday.

—Appointed Federal Appeals Judge Albert B. Maris as a special master in the Justice Department's offshore land suit against 13 Atlantic states stretching from Maine to Florida. The federal government is contending that the states should have no jurisdiction over any offshore areas beyond the traditional three-mile limit.

Court Date Set On Marijuana

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Five men arrested in Mill Valley last month after selling about 180 pounds of marijuana to narcotics agents are scheduled to appear for arraignment in U. S. District Court June 18.

Indicted Friday for possession and sale of marijuana were Eric F. Millican of Long Beach, John A. Papia of Mill Valley, Thomas N. Hammer and Sheldon Levy of San Francisco and Ramon Bouchayer of Larkspur.

Bouchayer had been booked under his stage name, Raymond A. Laurent.

A sixth man, Michael McGuire of Southern California, who turned himself in after the arrest of the others is not being prosecuted now, a federal narcotics agents said today.

Certificates For World Travel

Vaccination certificates for international travel may now be validated at the county department of public health office at the Civic Center, as well as at the department's office at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Hours at the Civic Center office are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the Grand Avenue office is open from 12 to 5 p.m.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, noted there is now a $1 charge for each certificate validated.

The certificates are required to reenter the United States after travel abroad.

Funds At $700 To Fence Miwok Mound

A recently formed group aiming to preserve an Indian mound in Marinwood has raised almost $700, but will need $1,500 just to fence in the Miwok remains.

Donald R. Thieler, president protem of the Miwok Archaeological Preserve Committee of Marin, said the fence money is within reach and the group will have a public meeting from 9 a.m. to noon June 20 at Miller Creek School in Marinwood to explain plans for the mount.

Thieler said $331 has been contributed privately and at least another $360 from the sale of tickets for donuts at Hunt's Donuts in Terra Linda. However, he said he expects the group will net $1,000 from the sales by Thursday.

Although no meat has been put on the bones of the group's plan, the group decided at a Thursday meeting on some general things to explain at the June 20 meeting.

The group composed of citizens, scientists and educators from within the Dixie School District will recommend a style of fence, outline the development of the fenced area to tell the archaeological story, suggest ways to develop the whole area for nature and Indian study, and explain plants for a museum on the site, according to Thieler.

The committee doesn't have the authority to accomplish these aims, Thieler said. Actually setting up an archaeological preserve would require action by the Marinwood Community Services District and the Dixie School District. He said his group is only an advisor to them.

Protection of the mound against indiscriminate digging and vandalism and fostering appreciation of Marin Indian life and the methods of learning about it more is the goal of the group, Thieler said.

Each dollar ticket sold buys a dollar's worth of donuts, and the committee gets 50 cents, Thieler said, adding that he was optimistic about selling 2,000 tickets donated by the Marin Civic Center Lions Club — which got them free from Hunt's Donuts.

Thieler asked that the location of the mound — one of the less ravaged Miwok sites in Marin — be withheld to prevent further vandalism and "pot hunting."

Draft Refusal Charge Denied

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Leland H. Jones of Corte Madera pleaded innocent Friday in U.S. District Court to a charge that he refused induction into the Army March 17 in Oakland.

The case was continued to June 24 for setting of a trial date.

Jones faces a maximum penalty for draft refusal of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Eight Stage Skyjack Of Czech Plane

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI) — Eight hijackers, including two married couples, used guns to force the pilot of a Czechoslovak State Airlines plane to land in Nuernberg today, Bavarian Border police said.

Police said the Ilyushin 14 airliner of Czechoslovakia's CSA airline was flying a domestic route from Karlovy Vary Karlsbad to Prague when the hijackers forced the pilot to alter course.

The hijackers, who also had a 2-year-old child with them, were armed with five pistols, a knife and brass knuckles, police said.

The crew did not resist the hijackers' demands and there were no incidents on board the aircraft, they said.

Twenty-five police surrounded the plane as it came to rest on the airport apron, they said. The hijackers left the plane and surrendered without resistance.

Police said the hijackers were held at the airport for initial questioning, but none of them appeared to understand German.

The aircraft was scheduled to return from Nuernberg to Czechoslovakia at 1:30 p.m., the spokesman said.

The oldest college in New Hampshire is Dartmouth, founded in 1769 as a school for Indian boys.

Water Board Will Study Wastes In Bolinas Lagoon

I-J Special Report

HAYWARD — The Regional Water Quality Control Board is expected tomorrow to take further steps to halt the discharge of untreated wastes into Bolinas Lagoon.

The board, meeting at 10 a.m. in the Alameda County Public Works Building at 399 Elmhurst Street, is scheduled to require the Bolinas Community Public Utility District to meet stiff discharge standards.

Board staff has reported that the district is violating a discharge ban imposed last fall and that the situation first came to light in 1961.

The PUD and the Stinson Beach County Water District say they are forming an assessment district for future treatment of sewage in the two communities.

Also at tomorrow's meeting, the board is to discuss amendments to its water quality plan for San Francisco Bay.

Development Master Plan Is Due Study

Changes in the master plan for San Marin East will be considered by the Novato Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The area to be considered for changes from present recreational and business zoning to business and professional and residential lies on both sides of San Marin Drive west of Highway 101. It is owned by Standard Growth Properties.

The commission will also discuss plans for a 92-unit apartment development on South Novato Boulevard across from Fire Station No. 2. The plan was submitted by Allan Steinau.

Other items to go before the commission include plans for a pizza hut for the northwest corner of Machin and DeLong avenues for Ben Ostlind and a use permit for a Dolphin Club child day care center at 1900 Novato Boulevard for Willard F. Petersen.

Talks Set On Park System

The future of the Novato park system will be discussed by the city's parks and recreation commission when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

A $2.9 million park bond issue and $600,000 recreation center bond measure were defeated at the primary election. The commission must decide on means to complete Pioneer Memorial Park and to start work on Novato Creek Park.

Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, will present the final park budget to the commission before it goes to the ciyt council tomorrow night.

Court To Decide On Housing Issue

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether voters may exercise a veto over the construction of public housing in their community.

The court will examine this controversial issue next term, a brief announcement said. The hearing was granted on an appeal by the city council of San Jose.

Low-rent housing built with federal aid was blocked in Marin County last Tuesday when voters defeated a county housing measure.

No more low-rent public housing units can be built beyond the 500 already approved unless Marin voters approve the housing in a subsequent election or if the Supreme Court upholds a ruling of federal court in San Francisco.

Last April a federal court in San Francisco struck down an amendment to the California constitution that prohibited most state-financed public housing unless a majority of the residents of the city or town approved.

The amendment, Article 34, was put to a test beginning in 1966 when the city council of San Jose voted 6 to 1 for public housing in the city. Under the amendment, a special municipal election was held in 1968 and 57,896 votes were cast for public housing and 68,527 against it. As a result the council and the public housing were blocked.

A group of San Jose welfare recipients then attacked the amendment and won last April's ruling.

In other actions today, the court:

—Ruled 5 to 2 for the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad in a tangled dispute over union picketing at the Moncrief Yard outside Jacksonville, Fla.

—Held that the foreign registering of a ship does not exempt the owner from paying damages to seamen injured in U.S. waters.

—Dismissed the appeal of a Maryland man who complained he was given a harsher sentence after winning a new trial on a robbery charge.

—Decided today to rule next term on a modified state loyalty oath requiring teachers and employes to swear support of the U.S. Constitution and to disclaim belief in overthrow of the government.

The announcement that a Florida case will be heard next fall or winter came as the Court sat for the last time in more than a year as an eight-man bench. Justice Harry G. Blackmun will be srown in as the ninth member Tuesday.

—Appointed Federal Appeals Judge Albert B. Maris as a special master in the Justice Department's offshore land suit against 13 Atlantic states stretching from Maine to Florida. The federal government is contending that the states should have no jurisdiction over any offshore areas beyond the traditional three-mile limit.

Court Date Set On Marijuana

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Five men arrested in Mill Valley last month after selling about 180 pounds of marijuana to narcotics agents are scheduled to appear for arraignment in U. S. District Court June 18.

Indicted Friday for possession and sale of marijuana were Eric F. Millican of Long Beach, John A. Papia of Mill Valley, Thomas N. Hammer and Sheldon Levy of San Francisco and Ramon Bouchayer of Larkspur.

Bouchayer had been booked under his stage name, Raymond A. Laurent.

A sixth man, Michael McGuire of Southern California, who turned himself in after the arrest of the others is not being prosecuted now, a federal narcotics agents said today.

Certificates For World Travel

Vaccination certificates for international travel may now be validated at the county department of public health office at the Civic Center, as well as at the department's office at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Hours at the Civic Center office are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the Grand Avenue office is open from 12 to 5 p.m.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, noted there is now a $1 charge for each certificate validated.

The certificates are required to reenter the United States after travel abroad.

85 Students Due Seminary Degrees

Eighty-five students from 33 states and six foreign countries will be candidates for degrees in the 99th annual commencement at San Francisco Theological Seminary at 10 a.m. next Saturday in Baird Hall Court at the San Anselmo school.

The class is the second largest in the seminary's history. Ceremonies have been changed by the class, replacing the usual commencement speaker with seven representatives of the seminary who will tell their own visions of the ministry.

Speakers will be Rev. Howard L. Rice of the department of ministries; Rev. Francis Gebbes, adjunct professor in the Level III program; Richard M. Gray, seminary trustee; Peter T. Wyckoff, Clyde E. Griffith and Elizabeth Sykes, students in the Level III program, and Thomas B. Robb, candidate for a doctorate of theology degree.

Music will be provided by a guitar choir from Redwoods Presbyterian Church of Larkspur and the seminary singers.

Twenty advanced degrees will be given, and 51 candidates will receive master of divinity degrees as graduates of the Level III program. These will be the first master of divinity degrees awarded by the seminary.

The seminary fellowship will be awarded to Constantino V. Riccardi of Altadena, Los Angeles County; the fellowship for the pastoral ministry to Robert W. Bennett Jr., Santa Monica, and the alumni fellowship to James A. Thompson, Des Moines, Iowa.

New Jobs For Young Officers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has disclosed two young Navy officers have been switched to different jobs because they were associated with Concerned Officer Movement (COM) an antiwar group.

Lt. Gordon Kerr of Alexandria, Va., and Lt. James Pahura of Medina, N. Y., will serve as "intelligence analysts" instead of as "intelligence briefing officers," a Pentagon spokesman said Saturday.

"It was the opinion of their superior officer that their association with the COM was inconsistent with their duties involving the briefing of senior officers," the spokesman said

Principals To Give Year-End Reports

The four principals of the Kentfield School District will present their year-end reports when the district board meets at 8 p.m. today in the library of Wolfe Grade School. They will summarize the 1969-70 year and make suggestions for 1970-71.

The board also will hold a closed meeting to discuss "employment, appointment or dismissal" of a certificated employee. Supt. Anthony G. Bacich declined to specify whether hiring or dismissal was to be discussed.

Inmate Dies After Gulping Wire Hook

A San Quentin State Prison inmate who apparently tried to fish something out of his stomach with a wire hook died at the prison hospital yesterday, prison officials reported today.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Raymond S. Rivera, 33, of Santa Cruz, was admitted to the hospital May 30 with a wire protruding from his mouth. The wire cut the esophagus in several places, Park said.

What the convicted rapist was after was unknown to Park today, but he said Rivera was seen swallowing something during a routine search following a visit May 30.

Park said it was probably a narcotic.

Rivera was committed to San Quentin in 1962 for three years to life for four counts of rape. He was paroled in 1967, but was returned in 1968 for parole violation, the associate warden said.

An autopsy will be performed at the prison, Park said.

Tax Increase To Be Studied

The Lagunitas School District board will discuss the effect of a 90-cent tax increase on the 1970-71 budget today at 7:30 p.m. at San Geronimo Valley School.

Voters, last Tuesday, approved raising the tax limit from $2.65 to $3.55 per $100 assessed valuation. The board had maintained the increase was necessary to maintain the existing level of educational programs in the district.

The board will also be given a report on the district's drug abuse education program and on the natural science education resource program at the meeting.

Car Takes Out Part Of Fence

A car careening down Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross at an estimated 50 to 60 miles an hour today wiped out 25 feet of fencing at 2 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Ross police reported a car driven by Richard D. Hinkle, 33, of San Francisco left 155 feet of skid marks while crossing the center line, jumping a curb and flattening the fence of Mark H. Harman at 12:30 a.m.

Hinkle was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of drunken driving. He was held in lieu of $450 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2:30 p.m. today.

85 Students Due Seminary Degrees

Eighty-five students from 33 states and six foreign countries will be candidates for degrees in the 99th annual commencement at San Francisco Theological Seminary at 10 a.m. next Saturday in Baird Hall Court at the San Anselmo school.

The class is the second largest in the seminary's history. Ceremonies have been changed by the class, replacing the usual commencement speaker with seven representatives of the seminary who will tell their own visions of the ministry.

Speakers will be Rev. Howard L. Rice of the department of ministries; Rev. Francis Gebbes, adjunct professor in the Level III program; Richard M. Gray, seminary trustee; Peter T. Wyckoff, Clyde E. Griffith and Elizabeth Sykes, students in the Level III program, and Thomas B. Robb, candidate for a doctorate of theology degree.

Music will be provided by a guitar choir from Redwoods Presbyterian Church of Larkspur and the seminary singers.

Twenty advanced degrees will be given, and 51 candidates will receive master of divinity degrees as graduates of the Level III program. These will be the first master of divinity degrees awarded by the seminary.

The seminary fellowship will be awarded to Constantino V. Riccardi of Altadena, Los Angeles County; the fellowship for the pastoral ministry to Robert W. Bennett Jr., Santa Monica, and the alumni fellowship to James A. Thompson, Des Moines, Iowa.

'HARD HATTERS' PARADE, FIGHT ON DAY OFF

Sporadic violence marked Hard Hat parade by more than 20,000 persons Sunday in St. Louis. Several were injured as anti-demonstrators and the marchers, mostly construction workers, fought along the parade route. The demonstration in support of the Nixon policy in Southeast Asia fell short of the 175,000 turnout that had been predicted. (UPI Telephoto)

Novato Budget Due Eyeing By City Council

A budget of approixmately $2 million will be presented to the Novato City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, who is still working on final details of the budget, said he expected it to be higher than the current $1.9 million current spending program.

The council will set dates for budget hearings.

Other items to go before the council include setting a public hearing on improvement of Ignacio Boulevard, an agreement with the state Division of Highways on San Marin Drive and Reichert Avenue, improvements on Cherry Street and an appeal by Young Brothers mobile home sales on planning commission denial of a sign.

Legality Of Rent Strikes On Agenda

Nixon Asks $1.5 Billion To Ease School Desegregation Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration asked Congress today to provide $1.5 billion over the next two years to help school systems desegregate. A spokesman said the measure would deal for the first time with de facto segregation.

However, administration officials asked that funds for busing of students not be included in the special legislation designed to ease the desegregation transition of local school districts.

Robert H. Finch, who has stepped down as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to become one of President Nixon's counselors, told a House subcommittee studying the plan:

"In this bill, the federal government for the first time is establishing a policy to deal with de facto segregation." De facto refers to segregation resulting from housing patterns.

"This administration," Finch said, "is committing federal dollars to help those dstricts eliminating both de facto and de jure (by law) segregation and trying to overcome the education disadvantages stemming from racial separation in their schools."

The program, being supplemented by a presidential task force headed by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, is concentrated on helping school districts under court order or HEW pressure to desegregate.

In its prepared testimony, HEW asked for a restriction "to preclude the support of transportation services where the intent is solely to establish racial balance" in a school.

Financial aid during the two years beginning July 1 would go to school districts with three special needs:

—Those under court order to desegregate or those which are desegregating under plans approved by HEW. (The administration estimates that 861 school districts with 5.5 million children are eligible in this category.)

—Those wth one or more predominantly block schools. (About 10,360 schools in 1,840 districts would be eligible under this heading.)

—Those in which more than half of all school children are black. ("Districts in this category, with heavy concentrations of minority students, would be eligible for funds to meet the costs of additional interracial educational projects or, in exceptional circumstances where such programs are not practicable, demonstration compensatory programs," the HEW statement said.)

Nominating Report On Panel's Agenda

Directors of the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council will hear a report from its nominating committee on filling seven board vacancies Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Room 254 at Civic Center.

Four of the openings are to be filled by members of the Marin Health Facilities Planning Board, which merged with the Comprehensive Health Planning Council last week.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

Two drivers suffered pains in a two-car collision along Shoreline Highway, north of the Marin County heliport, Saturday afternoon, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Walter Joseph Miller, 34, of 1000 Ignacio Boulevard, Ignacio, collided with a car driven by Beulah W. Lund, 48, of 318 Ross Drive, Tamalpais Valley, at 4:20 p.m.

Miller, who suffered a sore neck, and Mrs. Lund, who suffered a sore shoulder, refused hospitalization, officers reported.

Vote Tally At Last In Fresno

FRESNO (AP) — After being reprogrammed, computers finally have produced results of the primary in Fresno County.

The $1 million system had been expected to process ballots within three hours of the poll closing Tuesday night.

But gremlins intervened and it wasn't until Saturday night that veteran Assemblyman George Zenovich learned he had won the Democratic nomination in the 16th State Senate District to contend in November with Republican Earl S. Smittcamp of Clovis, who was unopposed.

P. J. Camaroda of Fresno was the Democratic winner in the 32nd Assembly district, and Kenneth L. Maddy of Fresno was the Republican choice.

Fresno County results in major statewide races were:

For Republican senator — George Murphy 15,196; Norton Simon 13,993. Democratic senator — John V. Tunney 21,359; George Brown 14,928, and Kenneth Hahn 3,352.

For superintendent of public instruction — Max Rafferty 36,391; Wilson Riles 21,992, and Julian Nava 5,444.

Alaska To Siberia Air Route Opened

MOSCOW (UPI)—An Alaskan airlines Boeing 707 with 130 passengers arrived today in Khabarovsk from Anchorage to open an air route linking Alaska with Siberia, the news agency Tass said.

American tourists will be taken from Khabarovsk to other Soviet cities by Russian airlines. The new Alaska airlines route was established under a recent agreement with the Soviet air authority.

Joint Use Of Hamilton To Be Aired

A proposal by San Rafael engineer Winfield O. Salter for a comprehensive study of the joint military-civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base will be discussed by the Marin County Aviation Commission tomorrow night.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Salter, who lives at 545 Heather Way, heads an informal group of engineers and developers interested in commercial aviation. He contends that a plan should be developed for an industrial park-airport complex at Hamilton, outlining what the county wants to promote and permit.

In addition to plans for joint use of Hamilton facilities, the county should have a plan ready to implement if and when the military air base is discontinued, said Salter.

The commission will also discuss the county airport budget for 1970-71, which County Administrator Alan Bruce wants to trim from $50,123 to $35,123.

("Districts in this category, with heavy concentrations of minority students, would be eligible for funds to meet the costs of additional interracial educational projects or, in exceptional circumstances where such programs are not practicable, demonstration compensatory programs," the HEW statement said.)

Nominating Report On Panel's Agenda

Directors of the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council will hear a report from its nominating committee on filling seven board vacancies Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Room 254 at Civic Center.

Four of the openings are to be filled by members of the Marin Health Facilities Planning Board, which merged with the Comprehensive Health Planning Council last week.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

Two drivers suffered pains in a two-car collision along Shoreline Highway, north of the Marin County heliport, Saturday afternoon, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Walter Joseph Miller, 34, of 1000 Ignacio Boulevard, Ignacio, collided with a car driven by Beulah W. Lund, 48, of 318 Ross Drive, Tamalpais Valley, at 4:20 p.m.

Miller, who suffered a sore neck, and Mrs. Lund, who suffered a sore shoulder, refused hospitalization, officers reported.

Vote Tally At Last In Fresno

FRESNO (AP) — After being reprogrammed, computers finally have produced results of the primary in Fresno County.

The $1 million system had been expected to process ballots within three hours of the poll closing Tuesday night.

But gremlins intervened and it wasn't until Saturday night that veteran Assemblyman George Zenovich learned he had won the Democratic nomination in the 16th State Senate District to contend in November with Republican Earl S. Smittcamp of Clovis, who was unopposed.

P. J. Camaroda of Fresno was the Democratic winner in the 32nd Assembly district, and Kenneth L. Maddy of Fresno was the Republican choice.

Fresno County results in major statewide races were:

For Republican senator — George Murphy 15,196; Norton Simon 13,993. Democratic senator — John V. Tunney 21,359; George Brown 14,928, and Kenneth Hahn 3,352.

For superintendent of public instruction — Max Rafferty 36,391; Wilson Riles 21,992, and Julian Nava 5,444.

Alaska To Siberia Air Route Opened

MOSCOW (UPI)—An Alaskan airlines Boeing 707 with 130 passengers arrived today in Khabarovsk from Anchorage to open an air route linking Alaska with Siberia, the news agency Tass said.

American tourists will be taken from Khabarovsk to other Soviet cities by Russian airlines. The new Alaska airlines route was established under a recent agreement with the Soviet air authority.

Joint Use Of Hamilton To Be Aired

A proposal by San Rafael engineer Winfield O. Salter for a comprehensive study of the joint military-civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base will be discussed by the Marin County Aviation Commission tomorrow night.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Salter, who lives at 545 Heather Way, heads an informal group of engineers and developers interested in commercial aviation. He contends that a plan should be developed for an industrial park-airport complex at Hamilton, outlining what the county wants to promote and permit.

In addition to plans for joint use of Hamilton facilities, the county should have a plan ready to implement if and when the military air base is discontinued, said Salter.

The commission will also discuss the county airport budget for 1970-71, which County Administrator Alan Bruce wants to trim from $50,123 to $35,123.

San Anselmo Mayor In Magazine

San Anselmo Mayor James F. Reed has the distinction of being included in an article entitled "Bad Names" in the July issue of Esquire magazine.

The article features descendants and relatives of such historical names as Jesse James, Gregory Rasputin, Benito Mussolini and Pancho Villa.

Reed is a descendant of survivors of the Donner-Reed party.

His great-great-grandparents and their children were among the group of pioneers who, en route to California in 1846, became stranded in an unusually early winter storm in the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Faced with cold and starvation, the group eventually resorted to cannibalism.

The magazine says 47 of the 87 members of the party survived, including the entire Reed family.

Reed is called by the magazine a "witty and charming raconteur" and "the man who often comes to dinner in San Anselmo and only occasionally may get funny little looks."

TV Cable Franchise To Be Studied

The Fairfax City Council will again discuss the city's franchise with Clear View cable television at its meeting at 8 p.m. today.

The council last month received a written offer from the cable company for renegotiation of the franchise contract but postponed action on the offer.

An appeal by Councilman Robert R. Souza of a planning commission decision will also be considered by the council.

Souza said he attended the planning commission meeting at which a conditional zoning permit was granted for the construction of a house in an area of Fairfax reached by private road.

Souza said he is appealing because he thinks the permit is in violation of two city ordinances.

The council will also consider a resolution suggested by Mayor Frank J. Egger that two trees be planted for every one the city removes.

Today is Monday, June 8, the 159th day of 1970 with 206 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1928 a Schenectady, N.Y., station began a regular schedule of television programs three times a week.

In 1965 American astronauts Ed White and Jim McDivitt completed their Gemini journey. They traveled 1,609,684 miles in 62 orbits of the earth.

In 1969 President Nixon announced that 25,000 American servicemen would be withdrawn from Vietnam by Aug. 31. Also on that day film star Robert Taylor died of cancer at the age of 57.

A thought for the day: American writer Henry David Thoreau said, "There is no odor so bad as that which arises from goodness tainted."

Sometimes Crystal Ball Is Needed To Help In Guesswork

"You columnists are missing a good bet," a fan points out. "You should manufacture and sell crystal balls to help us when we have to guess. I'd buy one myself, and I might even get a few extra just in case one worked better on red than on black suits. Just last night, for instance, I needed help on the red kings."

THIRD CLUB

East took the first two clubs and led a third club, my correspondent reports. South ruffed with an honor, drew two rounds of trumps and then had to guess which red king was in favorable position.

"Since I didn't have a crystal ball, I guessed wrong," South admits. "I tried a finesse with the queen of diamonds. Later, I had to lose a heart trick, and that was the end of my contract. I'd have been all right if I had discarded the queen of diamonds on the last club in order to play for the king of hearts to be in favorable position."

MIGHT DO BUSINESS

Our correspondent's suggestion is a good one, and we might do business with him some year. Until we find the right manufacturer, however, this column will have to take the place of guesswork.

South should play for both kings instead of just one. After drawing two rounds of trumps he should cash the last club in order to discard a heart. Then he should take the ace of hearts and lead a heart toward dummy's queen.

HEART ACTION

As the cards lie, West would have to put up the king of hearts and lead another heart. South would discard the queen of diamonds on dummy's queen of hearts, assuring the contract.

If the king of hearts happened to be in the East hand, the play for hearts wouldn't work. East would return a diamond (or South could get to dummy with a trump to lead a diamond), and the contract would then depend on the diamond finesse. South would make his game if either red king were in favorable position.

What do you say?

ANSWER, Bid two hearts.

You count six points for the two kings and one point for each doubleton, easily enough for a raise of partner's suit.

Today is Monday, June 8, the 159th day of 1970 with 206 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1928 a Schenectady, N.Y., station began a regular schedule of television programs three times a week.

In 1965 American astronauts Ed White and Jim McDivitt completed their Gemini journey. They traveled 1,609,684 miles in 62 orbits of the earth.

In 1969 President Nixon announced that 25,000 American servicemen would be withdrawn from Vietnam by Aug. 31. Also on that day film star Robert Taylor died of cancer at the age of 57.

A thought for the day: American writer Henry David Thoreau said, "There is no odor so bad as that which arises from goodness tainted."

Parish Will Graduate 35 At Mount Carmel

Thirty-five Our Lady of Mount Carmel Parochial School eighth graders graduated yesterday during a Mass at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Mill Valley.

Rev. Thomas Burns, associate pastor of Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato, will deliver the homily and Rev. John J. Cunningham, pastor of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, will hand out diplomas.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes Crystal Ball Is Needed To Help In Guesswork

"You columnists are missing a good bet," a fan points out. "You should manufacture and sell crystal balls to help us when we have to guess. I'd buy one myself, and I might even get a few extra just in case one worked better on red than on black suits. Just last night, for instance, I needed help on the red kings."

THIRD CLUB

East took the first two clubs and led a third club, my correspondent reports. South ruffed with an honor, drew two rounds of trumps and then had to guess which red king was in favorable position.

"Since I didn't have a crystal ball, I guessed wrong," South admits. "I tried a finesse with the queen of diamonds. Later, I had to lose a heart trick, and that was the end of my contract. I'd have been all right if I had discarded the queen of diamonds on the last club in order to play for the king of hearts to be in favorable position."

MIGHT DO BUSINESS

Our correspondent's suggestion is a good one, and we might do business with him some year. Until we find the right manufacturer, however, this column will have to take the place of guesswork.

South should play for both kings instead of just one. After drawing two rounds of trumps he should cash the last club in order to discard a heart. Then he should take the ace of hearts and lead a heart toward dummy's queen.

HEART ACTION

As the cards lie, West would have to put up the king of hearts and lead another heart. South would discard the queen of diamonds on dummy's queen of hearts, assuring the contract.

If the king of hearts happened to be in the East hand, the play for hearts wouldn't work. East would return a diamond (or South could get to dummy with a trump to lead a diamond), and the contract would then depend on the diamond finesse. South would make his game if either red king were in favorable position.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player bids one spade.

You hold:
♠- 5 2
♥- K 10 6 3
♦- K 10 8 4 2
♣- 3 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER, Bid two hearts.

You count six points for the two kings and one point for each doubleton, easily enough for a raise of partner's suit.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Saturday Dinner Parties Planned

By MOLLY MARIN

Several Tiburon and Belvedere hostesses will give dinner parties prior to the Belvedere Nursery School's fund-raising evening, "Bring Your Friends to School," Saturday at the old school building on Cove Road.

Mrs. Richard Otter, president of the nursery school's board of trustees, will prepare dinner for Messrs. and Mmes. William Hambrecht, Fred Rose, Frank Greene and Dick Smith; all parents of children who will be attending the new school next fall.

Beverly and Robert Bastian will entertain couples who helped build the first school in 1950. They are Justice and Mrs. Richard Sims, Mrs. Virginia Collbran, Messrs. and Mmes. Ralph Noah, Richard Finnie, Russell Keil, E. G. Weed, John Bridgman, W. H. Brooke and MacBoyle Lewis.

Dinner will be served at the F. J. Dreyfous home to some of her committee and their spouses, who have helped with the authentic decoration of a Victorian doll house to be offered at the Marin Art and Garden Show in July. Invited are Messrs. and Mmes. Lawrence Green, Mark Mullins, Robert O. Valentine, Charles McDaneld, Stewart Barns, Cameron Baker and Robert Kahn.

MR. AND Mrs. George Moore of Rohnert Park will celebrate their 51st wedding anniversary June 22. The reception mentioned in this column on May 30 was held last year in honor of the Moores golden anniversary.

MRS. JAMES M. McKinnon of Sleepy Hollow became the bride of James Norman McLachlan of Winnipeg in a ceremony the afternoon of May 30 at St. Stephen's Church in Vancouver, B. C. Her daughter, Vicki McKinnon, was her mother's honor attendant and Margot McLachlan was the bridesmaid.

John Sigurdsen of Vancouver served as best man and the ushers were James and Guy McLachlan. The bride's son, Bruce McKinnon, gave her in marriage.

The couple are living in Vancouver.

BLANCHE LEWIS, third grade teacher at Homestead School, will be honored at a tea tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in the library of the school.

Friends, colleagues and parents of former students are invited to attend.

Mrs. Lewis, who has taught third grade at the school for many years, is leaving to teach remedial reading at Park School in Mill Valley.

LIVING IN Limestone, Me., are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Steele, who were married May 11 at the chapel at Laring Air Force Base in Maine.

The bride is the former Mrs. Noella LeClere of New Brunswick, Canada. She is the mother of Lynn, Sylvia and Denise LeClere.

Dan is the son of Mrs. Emily Steele of San Anselmo and Danley A. Steele of Australia. His sisters are Mrs. Larry Zlaczewski and Mrs. William Hart, both of Napa, and Ruth Steele of San Anselmo.

THEIR 10-DAY cruise to Hawaii, Oahu and Kauai will be a fond farewell to the Pacific by Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Everett Jr.

STEPPING OUT in fashions they made following classes in sewing with knits are Mrs. E. E. Peterson, left, in a gray polyester knit crepe dress and Mrs. Fielder Nordstrom, who is wearing a rust-brown acrylic jump suit with short overskirt that she designed. The setting is the Nordstrom home in Novato.

READY FOR a dip in the pool at the Fielder Nordstrom home in Novato are Brenda Fauss and her mother, Mrs. Byron Fauss of Petaluma wearing bathing suits made with knit material. The swim suits can be made in two hours at a cost of $6 to $7.

Learning To Sew With Knits

By DOROTHY NEWELL

"Beginning sewers can learn to sew with knits just as easily as more experienced seamstresses," sayd Mrs. Richard Winterhalder who teaches classes in the special techniques used in sewing with knits.

A Petaluman who with her husband owns a Novato fabric shop, Mrs. Winterhalder has taught over 200 women to sew with the manmade fibers such as polyester, orlon and acrylic as well as single and double knits of cotton and wool.

"The beauty of sewing with knits is the speed with which they go together. T-shirts and pants can be made in 45 minutes, alpaca sweaters in two and one-half hours and swimsuits in two hours.

Mrs. Winterhalder stresses that knits are comfortable to wear and finishing seams and hems is not necessary as there is no raveling. Instead of gathering and easing a sleeve to fit an armhole, for instance, the armhole is stretched to fit the sleeve.

Patterns are designed to be used only with knits, not woven fabrics, however, other patterns can be used with the knits. Soap is used as a marker to prevent grease marks on the material.

Basic patterns are used and in sewing with knits, the pattern can be adjusted for a person with a figure problem, Jean said. "We teach creativity in the class and if someone admires a garment in a newspaper or magazine, in most cases it can be copied with only a few minor adjustments to the basic pattern."

Special sewing machines are not required but a zigzag is needed when making a swim suit or lingerie — (girdles, brassieres and negligees are all made in the class.)

Only ⅞ yard of material is needed for a size 14, 16 or 18 swimsuit which can be made for $6 or $7. A great savings compared to swim suits bought at retail even if knits are more expensive than woven fabrics. But most knits are wider than the woven. For the children, a boys suit with a fake-fly front takes only 15 minutes to make.

Mrs. Fielder Wordstrom, an accomplished seamstress before taking the course, said she likes to sew with knits because they are so comfortable to wear working in her garden.

Recently, Mrs. E. E. Peterson and Mrs. Byron Fauss and daughter, 6, of Petaluma and Mrs. Winterhalder were guests at the Nordstrom home in Novato and modeled some of the garments they had made.

Studded Chokers

Donald Brooks, who believes in coordinating fabric and jewelry colors for his midi outfits, says he likes the choker, something done in real pearls, studded with lapis or jade. Victor Joris, one of the very first American designers to show the maxi lengths, plans to show cultured pearl dog collars and chokers in colored stones in his fall collection.

MRS. NORDSTROM, left, checks a pattern for slacks in the sewing room of her home with Mrs. Richard Winterhalder, who teaches classes in sewing with knits. Mrs. Nordstrom is wearing an acrylic two-piece suit she made and Mrs. Winterhalder is wearing a polyester slack suit. Mrs. Nordstrom said the suit she is wearing took a little longer to make because the stripes had to be matched. On the sewing machine are a pair of shorts Mrs. Nordstrom made in 45 minutes.

Together During Childbirth

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — "Giving birth is one of the great moments in a woman's--and a couple's--life. By encouraging 'family-centered maternity' we give the husband and wife a chance to be together during labor and delivery, " says Elisabeth D. Bing, who has taught thousands of parents the Lamaze method of prepared childbirth.

Prepared childbirth, pays extensive dividends physically, psychologically and emotionally, believes the Berlin-born physiotherapist who helped pioneer the Lamaze method in this country during the past decade. She still lectures extensively on the technique, which she teaches at Flower Fifth Avenue Hospital here and privately.

Because Mrs. Bing received so many enthusiastic letters from couples she has taught, she felt she should share them. The result is a book, "The Adventure of Birth: Experiences in the Lamaze Method of Prepared Childbirth," which she edited. It is a compilation of 40 first-person accounts by mothers and fathers describing the excitement of actively participating in the birth of their child.

"Educating the husband and wife and letting them work together does something for the whole family relationship you can't put in statistics," she says, enthusiasm for her "cause" showing in her soft voice. "It won't save a bad marriage but it makes a good marriage even more meaningful.

"It's better for the baby too," she adds. "Through correct training and actual participation of the mother we can reduce the amount of medication that would otherwise be used in labor. We're concerned about the condition of the fetus and it's safer to give the least amount than the maximum amount of medication."

"Natural" childbirth, she feels, is a bad term because people think it means primitive childbirth, without medication and just suffering through. Often medication is needed and it is provided.

"We don't promise painless childbirth, but reduce pain by the techniques used," explains Mrs. Bing, who authored an earlier book, "Six Lessons for an Easier Childbirth," and who cofounded The American Society for Psychoprophylaxis in Obstetrics.

ASPO, as it is known, is a nonprofit educational institution set up in 1960 to provide information, and to train and accredit teachers in the Lamaze method. Initially used in Europe in the 1950s by the late Dr. Fernand Lamaze, it differs from the "natural" childbirth advocated by the late Dr. Grantly Read. But, Mrs. Bing says, "there is no animosity between us at all. Both aim at the same goal—better obstetrical conditions and making childbirth a better experience.

"Read says having a baby is a normal physical process and shouldn't hurt; that ignorance, tension and fear cause pain which wouldn't exist if the woman is taught to relax," Mrs. Bing explains. "Lamaze says labor is a situation of stress that's likely to be painful, so let's do something about the pain."

This is done to a large extent by breathing techniques which the woman in labor synchronizes with contractions. The intense disciplinary training is given in a six-week course starting about the seventh month of pregnancy. In the weekly sessions, attended if possible by the husband, the physiological and anatomical changes during pregnancy, labor and delivery are explained.

Then come the breathing techniques used in labor and delivery—three different kinds:

—Slow, deliberate chest breathing, six to nine breaths a minute

—As contractions get stronger a shift into shallow, faster panting-like breaths in 4-4 rhythm.

—Still another rhythm six short pants and a blow.

In addition to alleviating the pain through proper breathing there's a psychological factor, since the focal point is on the mechanics of technique rather than on exploring pain.

Though ideally husband and wife should work as a team, with the husband giving commands and breathing along with his wife if she falters, it's possible to use the method without him, since nurses familiar with the procedure can give support.

"But even if a husband isn't enthusiastic at first, in spite of himself he usually gets involved and afterwards can't stop talking about the experience," Mrs. Bing points out. "We get couples back for refresher courses when they have their second and third child."

Availability of the Lamaze method is almost nationwide now, and ASPO has 16 chapters and 26 affiliates.

Mrs. Bing's businessman husband, Fred M. Bing, is "terribly involved in my work and awfully good about doing the dishes when I have to dash off to a lecture." They have ason, Peter, 15, for whose birth she used the Read method which she had studied and taught before becoming interested in Lamaze's technique.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Saturday Dinner Parties Planned

By MOLLY MARIN

Several Tiburon and Belvedere hostesses will give dinner parties prior to the Belvedere Nursery School's fund-raising evening, "Bring Your Friends to School," Saturday at the old school building on Cove Road.

Mrs. Richard Otter, president of the nursery school's board of trustees, will prepare dinner for Messrs. and Mmes. William Hambrecht, Fred Rose, Frank Greene and Dick Smith; all parents of children who will be attending the new school next fall.

Beverly and Robert Bastian will entertain couples who helped build the first school in 1950. They are Justice and Mrs. Richard Sims, Mrs. Virginia Collbran, Messrs. and Mmes. Ralph Noah, Richard Finnie, Russell Keil, E. G. Weed, John Bridgman, W. H. Brooke and MacBoyle Lewis.

Dinner will be served at the F. J. Dreyfous home to some of her committee and their spouses, who have helped with the authentic decoration of a Victorian doll house to be offered at the Marin Art and Garden Show in July. Invited are Messrs. and Mmes. Lawrence Green, Mark Mullins, Robert O. Valentine, Charles McDaneld, Stewart Barns, Cameron Baker and Robert Kahn.

MR. AND Mrs. George Moore of Rohnert Park will celebrate their 51st wedding anniversary June 22. The reception mentioned in this column on May 30 was held last year in honor of the Moores golden anniversary.

MRS. JAMES M. McKinnon of Sleepy Hollow became the bride of James Norman McLachlan of Winnipeg in a ceremony the afternoon of May 30 at St. Stephen's Church in Vancouver, B. C. Her daughter, Vicki McKinnon, was her mother's honor attendant and Margot McLachlan was the bridesmaid.

John Sigurdsen of Vancouver served as best man and the ushers were James and Guy McLachlan. The bride's son, Bruce McKinnon, gave her in marriage.

The couple are living in Vancouver.

BLANCHE LEWIS, third grade teacher at Homestead School, will be honored at a tea tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in the library of the school.

Friends, colleagues and parents of former students are invited to attend.

Mrs. Lewis, who has taught third grade at the school for many years, is leaving to teach remedial reading at Park School in Mill Valley.

LIVING IN Limestone, Me., are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Steele, who were married May 11 at the chapel at Laring Air Force Base in Maine.

The bride is the former Mrs. Noella LeClere of New Brunswick, Canada. She is the mother of Lynn, Sylvia and Denise LeClere.

Dan is the son of Mrs. Emily Steele of San Anselmo and Danley A. Steele of Australia. His sisters are Mrs. Larry Zlaczewski and Mrs. William Hart, both of Napa, and Ruth Steele of San Anselmo.

THEIR 10-DAY cruise to Hawaii, Oahu and Kauai will be a fond farewell to the Pacific by Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Everett Jr.

Learning To Sew With Knits

By DOROTHY NEWELL

"Beginning sewers can learn to sew with knits just as easily as more experienced seamstresses," sayd Mrs. Richard Winterhalder who teaches classes in the special techniques used in sewing with knits.

A Petaluman who with her husband owns a Novato fabric shop, Mrs. Winterhalder has taught over 200 women to sew with the manmade fibers such as polyester, orlon and acrylic as well as single and double knits of cotton and wool.

"The beauty of sewing with knits is the speed with which they go together. T-shirts and pants can be made in 45 minutes, alpaca sweaters in two and one-half hours and swimsuits in two hours.

Mrs. Winterhalder stresses that knits are comfortable to wear and finishing seams and hems is not necessary as there is no raveling. Instead of gathering and easing a sleeve to fit an armhole, for instance, the armhole is stretched to fit the sleeve.

Patterns are designed to be used only with knits, not woven fabrics, however, other patterns can be used with the knits. Soap is used as a marker to prevent grease marks on the material.

Basic patterns are used and in sewing with knits, the pattern can be adjusted for a person with a figure problem, Jean said. "We teach creativity in the class and if someone admires a garment in a newspaper or magazine, in most cases it can be copied with only a few minor adjustments to the basic pattern."

Special sewing machines are not required but a zigzag is needed when making a swim suit or lingerie — (girdles, brassieres and negligees are all made in the class.)

Only ⅞ yard of material is needed for a size 14, 16 or 18 swimsuit which can be made for $6 or $7. A great savings compared to swim suits bought at retail even if knits are more expensive than woven fabrics. But most knits are wider than the woven. For the children, a boys suit with a fake-fly front takes only 15 minutes to make.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Why Should Cleaning Needs Be Taxed When Food Isn't?

DEAR HELEN:

I am a housewife with three children and a budget that never quite makes it. Huge grocery bills are bad enough, but the last straw is that little charge tacked on the end and labeled tax — this for soap, detergent, cleaning needs, bleach, etc. They don't tax food because it's essential to life. If cleanliness isn't essential too, then I wasn't brought up properly.

Isn't it time we women complained? — MRS. H. H. FROM A SALES TAX STATE

DEAR MRS. H.:

If enough of you housewives sent letters of complaint to your Governor as well as the legislator from your district, you might get action. — H.

P.S. It has been estimated that the average American wage earner works from January 1 to May 9 just to pay his state, federal, local — and hidden — taxes.

P.P.S.: Okay, wise guys: Going to work on May 10 isn't the answer. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When I first went out with my future husband I told him a few silly things about other fellows trying to get fresh with me. He knows nothing serious ever happened.

Well, it's 25 years and three children later, and my husband still nags me about these fellows. Even our children get disgusted. He keeps promising he won't bring the subject up again, but he always does. It's getting worse.

I am a good and true person and have never given him cause for jealousy. How can I make him forget a past that never was? — SADIE

DEAR SADIE:

Your husband evidently doesn't want to believe "Sadie was a lady." Whether he is feeding his jealousy or his fantasies, I don't know, but he could find out with the help of a counselor.

When he explores the real reasons for his obsession — insecurity, titillation, perhaps a little of both — he'll be on the way to a cure. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

As you say, much of what the women's liberation movement stands for is needed, but why must the groups that are open for us to join be so far-out?

I don't wish to burn my bra or picket beauty contests. I wish to protest the slavery of marriage, the treatment of women as sexual objects, the archaic divorce laws which hurt men as well as women, the inequality of pay for equal jobs, and our general second-classdom.

Isn't there a sane, sensible women's lib club that we moderate liberals could join? Something that would allow us to express our feelings and still remain married to reactionary husbands? — LIB WITHOUT LIP

DEAR LIB:

How about introducing a lib study group into your local woman's club? Perhaps you quiet libs can teach the "lippy" ones it's better to persuade men than fight 'em. — H.

(Marin County has a chapter of National Organization for Women which "acts to change the conditions which prevent women from developing to their full human potential.")

DEAR HELEN:

With all the ruckus against the mid-calf skirt, why are the designers still pushing them? Their fall showings are filled with midis, while stores and streets are filled with minis. Isn't this going to hurt sales? What woman in her right senses will buy a new dress when she figures it may be out of style by fall? Why can't we choose our own length (which for me is at the top of the knee), with everything from mini to maxi to choose from — DISGUSTED DEAR DIS:

Why indeed? And we could if women weren't sheep! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Flammable Fabrics Standards Are Low

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Government officials are beginning to feel the heat from critics of delays in putting tougher regulations into effect on fabric flammability.

For almost three years, Federal agencies have had the authority to extend present minimum standards for clothing to such products as curtains, blankets and bedding. But they have not done so.

For the same period of time, the same agencies have had the authority to tighten up present standards which are so low that only the sheerest fabrics fail to pass. This, too, has not happened.

Only in recent months has the Commerce Department, which is in charge of setting standards, started to get serious about the matter by proposing standards for rugs. But they are so weak that major manufacturers say their products already exceed them.

During the same time, the Federal Trade Commission has had the authority to crack down on products that exceed limits of flammability theoretically in effect since 1953. Not until recent months has the FTC sought to apply the law forcefully and extensively.

The failure of government agencies to protect the public better was told in detail last week in a special study made for the National Commission on Product Safety, which goes out of existence June 30.

Further evidence is being added at continuing hearings of the Senate Consumer Subcommittee, which has called Federal officials on the carpet to find out why so little has been done.

Congress itself shares much of the blame because of its failure to supply the necessary funds for administering the 1967 amendments to the Flammable Fabrics Act. The same lack of funds has crippled other pieces of consumer legislation, notably the "Truth-in-Packaging" law.

The net result is that American consumers still must take their chances and sometimes expose their children to unreasonable hazards. An estimated 150,000 people continue to be injured each year, including 4,000 fatally, when clothing or home furnishings catch fire.

Yet almost all of these items would meet present low standards. Proof of that was supplied by the Commerce Department two years ago when it tested 117 garments recovered from fire victims. Every garment passed the test.

In Great Britain, children's nightgowns have had to meet strict requirements of fire-resistance since 1967. The most commonly used chemical process used there is also available but scarcely used in this country. In fact, it was first developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Meanwhile, one thing consumers can do is to be more selective when purchasing potentially flammable items.

Among the basic fibers, wool is the most resistant to flames. Among the synthetics, glass and modacrylics are the best. Nylon, polyester and acrylic are usually less flammable than cotton and rayon, which are the most flammable of all. Tightly woven fabrics are better than loosely woven ones.

One way for consumers to get better protection is by inquiring about flammability at the store. Not much is going to be done until the public itself speaks up more than it has done to date.

Lynn E. Gomberg Is Bride Of Bruce McCarl

Lynn Elizabeth Gomberg became the bride of Bruce Alan McCarl at a post-graduation ceremony in Boulder, Colo., on May 30.

Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Gomberg of Tiburon, received a degree from the University of Colorado three days before the wedding, as did the bridegroom.

Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle E. McCarl, Baltimore, Md.

Maid of honor was Shari Horowitz of San Francisco. The best man was Michael Henderson of Boulder.

After a wedding trip in the Pacific Northwest and Canada, the newlyweds will settle in Pennsylvania, where Bruce is enrolled for graduate study at Pennsylvania State University continuing his major in business.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Why Should Cleaning Needs Be Taxed When Food Isn't?

DEAR HELEN:

I am a housewife with three children and a budget that never quite makes it. Huge grocery bills are bad enough, but the last straw is that little charge tacked on the end and labeled tax — this for soap, detergent, cleaning needs, bleach, etc. They don't tax food because it's essential to life. If cleanliness isn't essential too, then I wasn't brought up properly.

Isn't it time we women complained? — MRS. H. H. FROM A SALES TAX STATE

DEAR MRS. H.:

If enough of you housewives sent letters of complaint to your Governor as well as the legislator from your district, you might get action. — H.

P.S. It has been estimated that the average American wage earner works from January 1 to May 9 just to pay his state, federal, local — and hidden — taxes.

P.P.S.: Okay, wise guys: Going to work on May 10 isn't the answer. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When I first went out with my future husband I told him a few silly things about other fellows trying to get fresh with me. He knows nothing serious ever happened.

Well, it's 25 years and three children later, and my husband still nags me about these fellows. Even our children get disgusted. He keeps promising he won't bring the subject up again, but he always does. It's getting worse.

I am a good and true person and have never given him cause for jealousy. How can I make him forget a past that never was? — SADIE

DEAR SADIE:

Your husband evidently doesn't want to believe "Sadie was a lady." Whether he is feeding his jealousy or his fantasies, I don't know, but he could find out with the help of a counselor.

When he explores the real reasons for his obsession — insecurity, titillation, perhaps a little of both — he'll be on the way to a cure. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

As you say, much of what the women's liberation movement stands for is needed, but why must the groups that are open for us to join be so far-out?

I don't wish to burn my bra or picket beauty contests. I wish to protest the slavery of marriage, the treatment of women as sexual objects, the archaic divorce laws which hurt men as well as women, the inequality of pay for equal jobs, and our general second-classdom.

Isn't there a sane, sensible women's lib club that we moderate liberals could join? Something that would allow us to express our feelings and still remain married to reactionary husbands? — LIB WITHOUT LIP

DEAR LIB:

How about introducing a lib study group into your local woman's club? Perhaps you quiet libs can teach the "lippy" ones it's better to persuade men than fight 'em. — H.

(Marin County has a chapter of National Organization for Women which "acts to change the conditions which prevent women from developing to their full human potential.")

DEAR HELEN:

With all the ruckus against the mid-calf skirt, why are the designers still pushing them? Their fall showings are filled with midis, while stores and streets are filled with minis. Isn't this going to hurt sales? What woman in her right senses will buy a new dress when she figures it may be out of style by fall? Why can't we choose our own length (which for me is at the top of the knee), with everything from mini to maxi to choose from — DISGUSTED

DEAR DIS:

Why indeed? And we could if women weren't sheep! — H.

ON THE AGENDA

Scribbling On The Walls Allowed At This Nursery School Party

The "old" Belvedere Nursery School on Cove Road in Belvedere will be the scene of a fund-raising party Saturday, from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Proceeds will be used to build a new school on its site ,to open next September.

Cocktails, dancing, games and graffiti (scribbling on the walls which are soon to be torn down) are part of the fun planned by co-chairmen Mrs. Harry Brownson and Mrs. Gardner Baldwin. "Bring your Friends to School" is the theme for the dance which will circulate from indoor playrooms to the school's patio. Children's art will decorate the walls.

Hot dogs, hand-cranked ice cream and cupcakes prepared by pre-schoolers will be on the menu.

A nature walk is also planned. Mrs. Loel Labbertson is chairman.

THE GREENOAKS Unit of Marin Foundation Friends of Arequipa will have a luncheon and silent auction Wednesday at 11:30 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Lauren Tuttle.

THE LAST meeting until September for the Femineers will be luncheon at Tiburon Tommies restaurant in Tiburon Wednesday at 11:30 a.m., followed by bridge and dominoes. Mrs. Samuel Seifert of Mill Valley is reservations chairman.

THE SLEEPY Hollow Nursery School will hold its annual spring picnic at Lake Lagunitas for the families of children currently enrolled.

THE HOME of the president of the Sleepy Hollow Guild of Sunny Hills, Mrs. Robert Toneff, will be the setting for a tea and silent auction tomorrow from noon to 3 p.m.

MRS. DIANNE Feinstein, president of the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, will speak on "San Francisco in the '70's — A Time and Place for Urban Solutions" at the 13th annual meeting of the Women's Division of the Jewish Welfare Federation of San Francisco, Marin County of the Peninsula tomorrow.

Nahum Gutman, an Israeli artist, will also be a special guest at the luncheon meeting to be held in the Pavilion Room of the Fairmont Hotel.

WOMEN OF the Mill Valley Tennis Club will hold their Ladies' Crazy Tennis Tournament tomorrow. This annual event is open to members and is a highlight of the spring schedule.

Mrs. Thomas Kearney is chairman for the tennis games, which will be followed by a luncheon.

of Tiburon. Their crew will include their son and daughter, Jim and Cathy Everett, and Dick Gates of San Rafael. The voyage on their yacht, "Faith," a Cal 34, will begin Saturday.

Upon their return to Tiburon during the first week in August, the Everetts will move to Cherry Hill, N. J. They will ship their yacht to the Chesapeake Bay.

Their son, Ken and his wife, Mary Lu, will be studying for the bar examinations at the family home this summer. Ken will be graduated from Hastings School of the Law and Mary Lu from Bolt Hall Law School this month.

THE DAN HAUSERMANS of Belvedere are very busy this week as they move their household and five of their children to their new home in Lake Tahoe and also plan the Edwardian-style wedding of their daughter, Julia, on June 21, to be held at the Mission on the University of Santa Clara Campus.

Virginia Lynn Brown Is Wed To John Dalton

Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Virginia Lynne Brown and John C. Dalton. A reception in the church hall followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug G. Brown of Greenbrae are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dalton of Oakland.

Leslie Gaddy of San Francisco was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mmes. Gordon Brown of Fairfax, Charles Kenney of Concord and Ed King of Studio City.

Ernest Dalton of Chico was his brother's best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Larry Storms of San Jose, Charles Kenney of Concord and John's brother-in-law, Robert Bechtle of Berkeley.

Virginia is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. She attended College of Marin and prior to her marriage was employed by Ross Valley Medical Center in Greenbrae.

John was graduated from Watsonville High School and California State Polytechnic College. He is employed by the U.S. Government as a civil engineer in Morgan Hill. He is also the brother of Mrs. Robert Bechtle and Stuart Dalton of Chicago.

Following a wedding trip to Montana and Canada the couple will live in Gilroy.

Vows Said At St. Anselm's

St. Anselm's Catholic Church in San Anselmo was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Cathleen Carole Colapietro and Steven Scahill.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carle Colapietro, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scahill of Fairfax.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. John Machado of San Rafael as maid of honor and bridesmaids, Mrs. John Mello of Mountain View and Carleen and Caren Colapietro of San Anselmo.

Thomas Scahill was his brother's best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Tony Iacopi, Ronald Whittemore and Ronald Paolini, all of San Anselmo.

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School, the bride is employed by Pacific Telephone in Mill Valley. Mrs. Ruth Brogdon of Mill Valley is her grandmother.

Steven was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. He is employed by a data processing firm in San Francisco.

Virginia Langford, D.A. Madden Marry

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Langford of Melbourne, Australia, had as her matron of honor Mrs. Charles English of San Rafael. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ignacio Navarro of San Rafael and Mrs. Harper Buck of Tiburon.

Best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. William Madden of Sonoma, was Irwin Rotchy of San Rafael. Ushers were the brother of the bridegroom, John Madden of Sonoma and Ignacio Navarro of San Rafael.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Tiburon Tommie's in Tiburon. The couple will live in Mill Valley.

Educated at a private school in Melbourne, the bride was employed as a typist there before she came to San Francisco last February. She has a brother, Peter Langford, in Melbourne.

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School and Santa Rosa Junior College, the bridegroom is manager of the Rathskeller Restaurant in San Francisco. He has another brother, William Madden of Sonoma.

Follow Rules

Since you must rely on instructions from the manufacturer, then why not follow the rules throughout the life of the garments. Tags and labels, carefully preserved and referred to when the garment needs washing or drycleaning, are worth their weight in gold, say the experts.

Scribbling On The Walls Allowed At This Nursery School Party

The "old" Belvedere Nursery School on Cove Road in Belvedere will be the scene of a fund-raising party Saturday, from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Proceeds will be used to build a new school on its site ,to open next September.

Cocktails, dancing, games and graffiti (scribbling on the walls which are soon to be torn down) are part of the fun planned by co-chairmen Mrs. Harry Brownson and Mrs. Gardner Baldwin. "Bring your Friends to School" is the theme for the dance which will circulate from indoor playrooms to the school's patio. Children's art will decorate the walls.

Hot dogs, hand-cranked ice cream and cupcakes prepared by pre-schoolers will be on the menu.

THE GREENOAKS Unit of Marin Foundation Friends of Arequipa will have a luncheon and silent auction Wednesday at 11:30 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Lauren Tuttle.

THE LAST meeting until September for the Femineers will be luncheon at Tiburon Tommies restaurant in Tiburon Wednesday at 11:30 a.m., followed by bridge and dominoes. Mrs. Samuel Seifert of Mill Valley is reservations chairman.

THE SLEEPY Hollow Nursery School will hold its annual spring picnic at Lake Lagunitas for the families of children currently enrolled.

THE HOME of the president of the Sleepy Hollow Guild of Sunny Hills, Mrs. Robert Toneff, will be the setting for a tea and silent auction tomorrow from noon to 3 p.m.

MRS. DIANNE Feinstein, president of the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, will speak on "San Francisco in the '70's — A Time and Place for Urban Solutions" at the 13th annual meeting of the Women's Division of the Jewish Welfare Federation of San Francisco, Marin County of the Peninsula tomorrow.

Nahum Gutman, an Israeli artist, will also be a special guest at the luncheon meeting to be held in the Pavilion Room of the Fairmont Hotel.

WOMEN OF the Mill Valley Tennis Club will hold their Ladies' Crazy Tennis Tournament tomorrow. This annual event is open to members and is a highlight of the spring schedule.

Mrs. Thomas Kearney is chairman for the tennis games, which will be followed by a luncheon.

Virginia Lynn Brown Is Wed To John Dalton

Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Virginia Lynne Brown and John C. Dalton. A reception in the church hall followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug G. Brown of Greenbrae are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dalton of Oakland.

Leslie Gaddy of San Francisco was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mmes. Gordon Brown of Fairfax, Charles Kenney of Concord and Ed King of Studio City.

Ernest Dalton of Chico was his brother's best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Larry Storms of San Jose, Charles Kenney of Concord and John's brother-in-law, Robert Bechtle of Berkeley.

Virginia is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. She attended College of Marin and prior to her marriage was employed by Ross Valley Medical Center in Greenbrae.

John was graduated from Watsonville High School and California State Polytechnic College. He is employed by the U.S. Government as a civil engineer in Morgan Hill. He is also the brother of Mrs. Robert Bechtle and Stuart Dalton of Chicago.

Following a wedding trip to Montana and Canada the couple will live in Gilroy.

Vows Said At St. Anselm's

St. Anselm's Catholic Church in San Anselmo was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Cathleen Carole Colapietro and Steven Scahill.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carle Colapietro, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scahill of Fairfax.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. John Machado of San Rafael as maid of honor and bridesmaids, Mrs. John Mello of Mountain View and Carleen and Caren Colapietro of San Anselmo.

Thomas Scahill was his brother's best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Tony Iacopi, Ronald Whittemore and Ronald Paolini, all of San Anselmo.

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School, the bride is employed by Pacific Telephone in Mill Valley. Mrs. Ruth Brogdon of Mill Valley is her grandmother.

Steven was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. He is employed by a data processing firm in San Francisco.

Virginia Langford, D.A. Madden Marry

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Langford of Melbourne, Australia, had as her matron of honor Mrs. Charles English of San Rafael. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ignacio Navarro of San Rafael and Mrs. Harper Buck of Tiburon.

Best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. William Madden of Sonoma, was Irwin Rotchy of San Rafael. Ushers were the brother of the bridegroom, John Madden of Sonoma and Ignacio Navarro of San Rafael.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Tiburon Tommie's in Tiburon. The couple will live in Mill Valley.

Educated at a private school in Melbourne, the bride was employed as a typist there before she came to San Francisco last February. She has a brother, Peter Langford, in Melbourne.

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School and Santa Rosa Junior College, the bridegroom is manager of the Rathskeller Restaurant in San Francisco. He has another brother, William Madden of Sonoma.

Follow Rules

Since you must rely on instructions from the manufacturer, then why not follow the rules throughout the life of the garments. Tags and labels, carefully preserved and referred to when the garment needs washing or drycleaning, are worth their weight in gold, say the experts.

Campaign Spending Is Scrutinized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional candidates reported less than one-fifth of their campaign spending to the federal government in 1968, a task force estimated today.

It recommended a new strict requirement to report all election-time spending and proposed new machinery to police federal elections.

It also said there should be no limits on spending or individual contributions, recommended tax credits for political contributions and urged that broadcasters be required to sell reasonable amounts of time to candidates.

The report came from a panel on congressional campaign finances set up by the Twentieth Century Fund, a New York-based foundation.

It estimated more than $50 million was spent in 1968 campaigns for Senate and House seats, but said that only $8.48 million had been reported under federal disclosure requirements.

Because of "the weakness of federal and state laws, some candidates spend more than $1 million in their campaigns without reporting anything to the public," the task force said.

It said Congress should create a permanent, bipartisan commission with broad powers to regulate election campaigns for federal office.

The task force also proposed establishment of a special committee of Congress to investigate spending during the 1970 campaign. It said that panel should assemble and publish information about 1970 spending while the campaigns are in progress.

Former Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, a Republican from Missouri, headed the task force; Neal Staebler, a former House member and the Democratic national tis, a Republican from Michigan, was vice chairman.

It said a law requiring full public disclosure of all campaign financing would be "the key to achieving honest, fair and competitive campaigns."

The task force also proposed:

—A tax credit of up to $25 for political contributions, a step designed to encourage small donors.

—A requirement that broadcasters sell reasonable amounts of time to congressional candidates, and a tax deduction system to encourage sale of the time at discount rates.

—A simple, universal system to promote total voter registration.

Resignation To Be Studied

Directors of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council are scheduled Wednesday to consider the resignation of Robert Kramer, the antipoverty agency's administrative assistant.

Kramer told the Independent-Journal he is leaving his $10,800-a-year post to enter community work that would bring him in closer touch with people. His present job entails handling of fiscal matters.

The board, meeting at 8 p.m. at the Southern Marin Target Area office at 630 Drake Avenue, Marin City, also will discuss implementation of an emergency food program.

Seven To Get Diplomas

Seven eighth graders will be graduated from Clairbourn Marin School at 8 p.m. Thursday at the school in San Rafael.

Addressing the graduates at the First Congregational Church, 8 North San Pedro Road, where the school is located, will be headmaster of Clairbourn Bay Area Schools, William Holford. He will speak on "The Three R's — Reason-Responsibilit-Respect."

Diplomas will be distributed by Laurene Jensen, director of Clairbourn Marin, and Elizabeth Schaefer, director of Clairbourn Peninsula.

The students will sing "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands."

MUSIC REVIEWS

Chorus And Soloists Display High Standards

High standards of the College of Marin Music Department were demonstrated further last night in the concert of the Community Chorus and Collegiate Chorale directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff in the Fine Arts Theater.

Two demanding works in florid style — Handel's "Ode on St. Cecilia's Day" and Haydn's "Nelson Mass" — were performed by some 130 voices, four soloists and a professional orchestra that included some of Marin's top musicians among the 20 instrumentalists plus organist.

Accompaniment by the orchestra, instead of Wolff's usual practice of playing the organ himself as the only accompaniment while also directing, freed him to devote full attention to developing potentialities of the singers and niceties of the scores.

Balance was so good that the choral fabric was seamless in its four parts, and unanimity in internal phrasing was the best I have heard in the college's chorale concerts.

Major attacks and releases were, as usual, razor sharp.

A tremendous momentum carried the chorus to electrifying climaxes, yet there was plenty of variety in dynamics.

All of this was most evident in the "Nelson Mass," which formed the second half of the program, for only in the final ensemble of the ode did the chorus have an opportunity to be heard at full capacity. Attention was focused on the two soloists for the most part in this work paying homage to Cecilia, the patron saint of music.

Soloists were soprano Marian Marsh, who handled the vocally taxing high tessitura beautifully, and Paul Raabe, a new talent to me, who proved to have a strong, flexible lyric tenor of pleasing timbre, though a few notes were insecure.

Top vocal honors in fact went to Miss Marsh, because she had by far the most of the solo passages in both works and her voice had the power necessary to soar above the chorus at top volume.

Her control of long-sustained notes was remarkable.

Joining Miss March and Raabe as soloists and in quartet for the "Nelson Mass" were Arlene White, whose mellow warm contralto I had heard before, and a singer new to me, Daniel Elias. His bass was strong and of a rich musical quality.

The tonal blend in the quartet was attractive but the balance not always perfect since Miss March's voice was occasionally predominant and Miss White's not quite strong enough at times.

Arthur Hills was the organist whose competent playing was perhaps a bit subdued, but made a subtle contribution to the orchestral sonority. — MPS.

College Band Displays Finest Of Playing In Stimulating Program

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

Thanks to very interesting programming and excellent performance, the College of Marin Community Band's spring concert Saturday night was the best I have heard by this group composed of some 65 students and Marin adults.

Whatever the reason — unusually fine musicians or extra hard work or both — John H. Myers brought the ensemble to a new peak of achievement in this concert acclaimed by a large audience in the Fine Arts theater.

Highlight of the evening was the dramatic "La Fiesta Mexicana" by H. Owen Reed. Written while he was in Mexico in 1948-49, the work evoked with stunning effect, because of its brilliant orchestration, all the flamboyant pageantry and religious fervor of a Mexican festival. Its difficulties tested the capacity of every performer, but the band's very strong percussion section was an important key to its success.

Similarly stirring, though in a much lighter vein because of its rhythmic swing, was a suit from the ballet "Pineapple Poll" consisting of music George Mackerras put together from tunes by Arthur Sullivan. It was indeed a "ballet for band" in an arrangement by W. J. Duthoit.

Of special interest because it was unusual music well performed — and conducted by a woman — was the "Toccata Marziale" by Vaughan Williams. Marjorie L. Scheffler, a Novato public school music teacher, conducted with a smooth, vigorous beat, but used the left hand hardly at all to produce finer shadings.

Apparently programmed to show the skill of trombonist David Murray, another music teacher, the concerto for trombone and band by Rimsky-Korsakov was disappointing. Whether he was nervous, having difficulties with his instrument, or for some other reason, his playing was uneven and technique not up to handling some pasages.

For novelty "The Train Ride" depicting a child's idea of such a ride for Prokofieff's "Winter Holiday" was delightful. In Mussorgsky's "Scherzo" the band's flute section was outstanding.

Of course any band concert is not complete without marches, and three were played with proper zest.

In the opening "Fortinbras" march some Shostakovich's incidental music for "Hamlet". I was especially aware of the fine tuba-baritone deep brass playing.

The other marches were "The Sousa-like "Mount Healthy" march by "Gus Beans" actually Henry Fillmore, and the "Nationay Fencibles" march by Sousa himself.

Kenneth Aflord's "Holyrood" march was a stirring encore.

Rec Commission On New Schedule

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission will not meet tonight because of its summer schedule of one meeting per month rather than two.

The next regular meeting will be June 22 at 8 p.m. in the board room of the Mill Valley Public Library, 375 Throckmorton Avenue.

Concert Set By Stage Band

"Exploration in Sound," a program of music featuring the San Rafael High School Stage Band, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at the high school auditorium.

It will be a repeat performance of the concert presented previously. Proceeds will begin a fund to buy a stage band drum set and other equipment.

Movies of the school's marching band's recent performance in Disneyland will be shown.

Kramer told the Independent-Journal he is leaving his $10,800-a-year post to enter community work that would bring him in closer touch with people. His present job entails handling of fiscal matters.

The board, meeting at 8 p.m. at the Southern Marin Target Area office at 630 Drake Avenue, Marin City, also will discuss implementation of an emergency food program.

Seven To Get Diplomas

Seven eighth graders will be graduated from Clairbourn Marin School at 8 p.m. Thursday at the school in San Rafael.

Addressing the graduates at the First Congregational Church, 8 North San Pedro Road, where the school is located, will be headmaster of Clairbourn Bay Area Schools, William Holford. He will speak on "The Three R's — Reason-Responsibilit-Respect."

Diplomas will be distributed by Laurene Jensen, director of Clairbourn Marin, and Elizabeth Schaefer, director of Clairbourn Peninsula.

The students will sing "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands."

MUSIC REVIEWS

Chorus And Soloists Display High Standards

High standards of the College of Marin Music Department were demonstrated further last night in the concert of the Community Chorus and Collegiate Chorale directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff in the Fine Arts Theater.

Two demanding works in florid style — Handel's "Ode on St. Cecilia's Day" and Haydn's "Nelson Mass" — were performed by some 130 voices, four soloists and a professional orchestra that included some of Marin's top musicians among the 20 instrumentalists plus organist.

Accompaniment by the orchestra, instead of Wolff's usual practice of playing the organ himself as the only accompaniment while also directing, freed him to devote full attention to developing potentialities of the singers and niceties of the scores.

Balance was so good that the choral fabric was seamless in its four parts, and unanimity in internal phrasing was the best I have heard in the college's chorale concerts.

Major attacks and releases were, as usual, razor sharp.

A tremendous momentum carried the chorus to electrifying climaxes, yet there was plenty of variety in dynamics.

All of this was most evident in the "Nelson Mass," which formed the second half of the program, for only in the final ensemble of the ode did the chorus have an opportunity to be heard at full capacity. Attention was focused on the two soloists for the most part in this work paying homage to Cecilia, the patron saint of music.

Soloists were soprano Marian Marsh, who handled the vocally taxing high tessitura beautifully, and Paul Raabe, a new talent to me, who proved to have a strong, flexible lyric tenor of pleasing timbre, though a few notes were insecure.

Top vocal honors in fact went to Miss Marsh, because she had by far the most of the solo passages in both works and her voice had the power necessary to soar above the chorus at top volume.

Her control of long-sustained notes was remarkable.

Joining Miss March and Raabe as soloists and in quartet for the "Nelson Mass" were Arlene White, whose mellow warm contralto I had heard before, and a singer new to me, Daniel Elias. His bass was strong and of a rich musical quality.

The tonal blend in the quartet was attractive but the balance not always perfect since Miss March's voice was occasionally predominant and Miss White's not quite strong enough at times.

Arthur Hills was the organist whose competent playing was perhaps a bit subdued, but made a subtle contribution to the orchestral sonority. — MPS.

College Band Displays Finest Of Playing In Stimulating Program

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

Thanks to very interesting programming and excellent performance, the College of Marin Community Band's spring concert Saturday night was the best I have heard by this group composed of some 65 students and Marin adults.

Whatever the reason — unusually fine musicians or extra hard work or both — John H. Myers brought the ensemble to a new peak of achievement in this concert acclaimed by a large audience in the Fine Arts theater.

Highlight of the evening was the dramatic "La Fiesta Mexicana" by H. Owen Reed. Written while he was in Mexico in 1948-49, the work evoked with stunning effect, because of its brilliant orchestration, all the flamboyant pageantry and religious fervor of a Mexican festival. Its difficulties tested the capacity of every performer, but the band's very strong percussion section was an important key to its success.

Similarly stirring, though in a much lighter vein because of its rhythmic swing, was a suit from the ballet "Pineapple Poll" consisting of music George Mackerras put together from tunes by Arthur Sullivan. It was indeed a "ballet for band" in an arrangement by W. J. Duthoit.

Of special interest because it was unusual music well performed — and conducted by a woman — was the "Toccata Marziale" by Vaughan Williams. Marjorie L. Scheffler, a Novato public school music teacher, conducted with a smooth, vigorous beat, but used the left hand hardly at all to produce finer shadings.

Apparently programmed to show the skill of trombonist David Murray, another music teacher, the concerto for trombone and band by Rimsky-Korsakov was disappointing. Whether he was nervous, having difficulties with his instrument, or for some other reason, his playing was uneven and technique not up to handling some pasages.

For novelty "The Train Ride" depicting a child's idea of such a ride for Prokofieff's "Winter Holiday" was delightful. In Mussorgsky's "Scherzo" the band's flute section was outstanding.

Of course any band concert is not complete without marches, and three were played with proper zest.

In the opening "Fortinbras" march some Shostakovich's incidental music for "Hamlet". I was especially aware of the fine tuba-baritone deep brass playing.

The other marches were "The Sousa-like "Mount Healthy" march by "Gus Beans" actually Henry Fillmore, and the "Nationay Fencibles" march by Sousa himself.

Kenneth Aflord's "Holyrood" march was a stirring encore.

Rec Commission On New Schedule

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission will not meet tonight because of its summer schedule of one meeting per month rather than two.

The next regular meeting will be June 22 at 8 p.m. in the board room of the Mill Valley Public Library, 375 Throckmorton Avenue.

Concert Set By Stage Band

"Exploration in Sound," a program of music featuring the San Rafael High School Stage Band, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at the high school auditorium.

It will be a repeat performance of the concert presented previously. Proceeds will begin a fund to buy a stage band drum set and other equipment.

Mishaps Hurt Four On Main Highways

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in two accidents on Marin highways yesterday, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said his car failed to make a curve on San Geronimo Valley Drive just east of eMadow Way and hit a power pole at 1:30 p.m. A passenger, Linda Leonera, 18, of 78 Toyon Drive, Fairfax, was treated for bruises and cuts on both arms.

David B. Crispell, 22, a sailor stationed on the USS Ranger at Alameda, was treated at Marin General Hospital for undisclosed wrist inpuries after his motorcycle skidded on a patch of loose gravel on Shoreline Highway near Muir Beach overlook and hit a guardrail at 1:25 p.m., officers said.

A passenger, Rusty A. Weers, 22, of Alameda, was treated for bruises of both knees.

Gallinas Creek Sewage Plans Gain Approval

Plans for an 18-inch sewage force main across Gallinas Creek proposed by the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District has drawn no objection from state agencies, an Army Corps of Engineers spokesman said today.

To gain final approval of the permit from the Army, the sanitary district must agree to about 20 conditions including no pollution, no variance from announced plans, compliance with all regulations and proper maintenance, he said.

The corps must approve the main because it crosses the north fork of Gallinas Creek approximately 400 feet upstream from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad bridge near Gallinas Village, the spokesman said.

He added that no objection was received from the public.

Two Arrested For Burglary

Two men were held in lieu of $1,250 bail apiece to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on suspicion of burglarizing a Mill Valley house.

Arrested Saturday and booked into Marin County Jail were Steven Joseph O'Brien, 21, of 1171 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, and Robert Donzill Price, 18, of 72 Cole Drive, Marin City.

Police said the two were caught at 9:28 p.m. inside the Robert H. Bradley residence, 28 Vasco Drive. The house had been ransacked according to police, but nothing appeared to be missing. A third man fled when officers arrived.

Dispute Stalls Search For Body

A Kentucky youth was reported drowned in the Petaluma River late Saturday afternoon, but a jurisdictional dispute apparently has hampered the search for his body.

Police said they believe Neval Skaggs Jr. of Jefferstown, Ky., drowned when a small boat capsized in the river below the Union Oil Co. dock at 5 p.m.

Companions of the youth told police at 5:45 p.m. that their 14-foot homemade boat was being towed in the river when it overturned.

Four youths in the boat managed to cling to the side, they said, but Skaggs, who could not swim, slipped away. Thomas Basch, 17, of 4335 Bodega Avenue, Petaluma, told police that many dives were made to save Skaggs, but all failed.

Police said Roy Graham of Petaluma, a reserve officer in the Marin County Sheriff's department, assisted with his boat in a 90-minute search.

Police Capt. Henry Eslick said evidence was found that a body had washed up on the east bank, but had drifted away again.

The search was not continued yesterday and Eslick said the department had no plans to do so today. The Coast Guard was called, he said, but refused to send a search team until the body had been approximately located.

Eslick said that since the drowning was the result of a boating accident, that the Coast Guard should retrieve the body.

U.S. Copters Will Aid In Quake Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials have announced the aircraft carrier USS Guam will arrive off the coast of Peru Tuesday night or early Wednesday with a fleet of 15 helicopters to aid earthquake relief efforts.

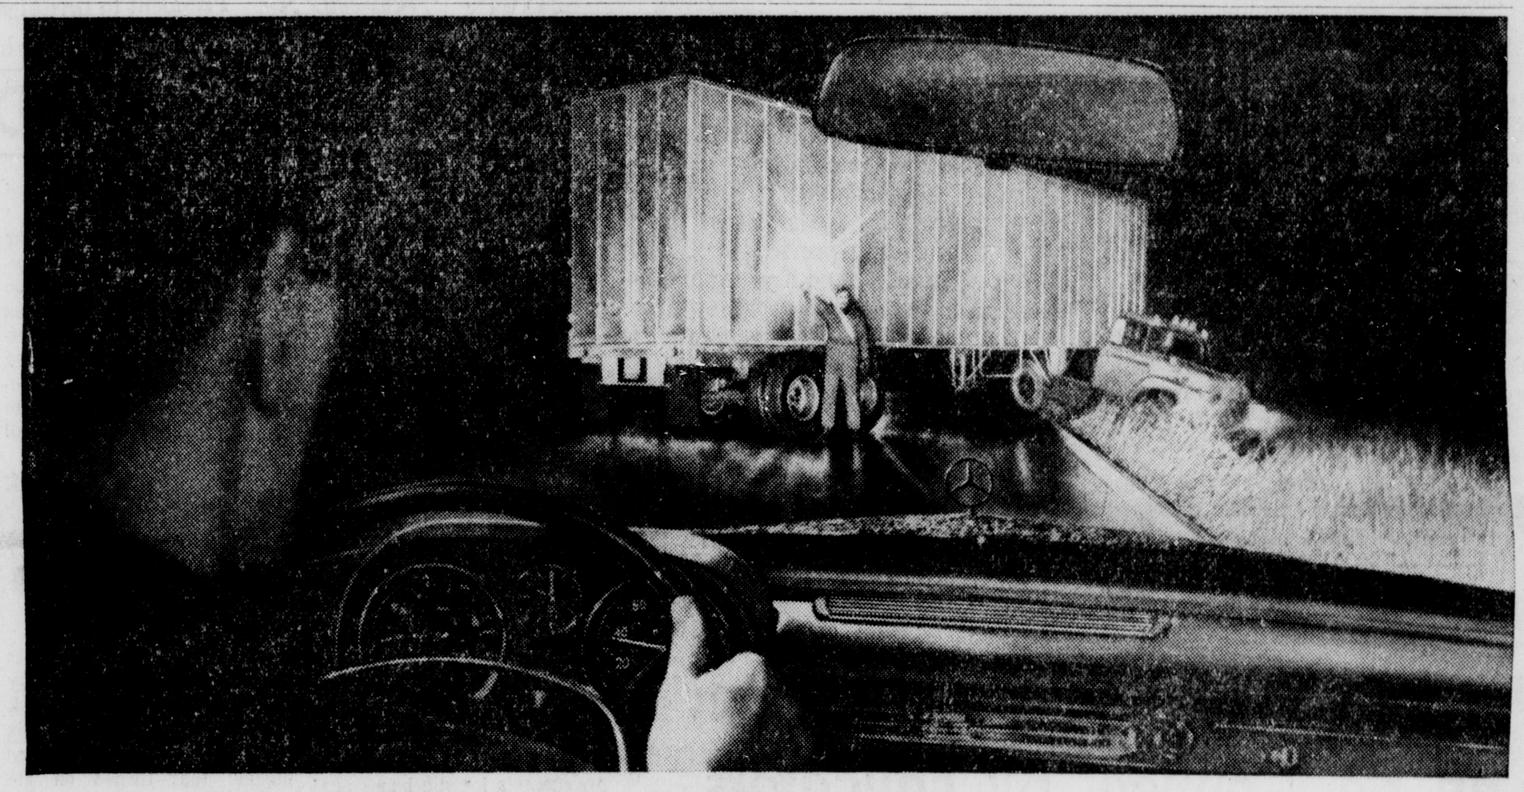
The carrier and helicopters are being sent, despite tense diplomatic relations with Peru over offshore fishing boat seizures, to ease transportation and communication bottlenecks that have developed because of earthquake damage.

Talmadge Turns Dove On Vietnam

ATLANTA (UPI)—Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., once a hawk on Vietnam, said Sunday the withdrawal of U.S. troops should be stepped up with the goal of having "all of them out by the end of the year."

Talmadge said the United States is "overcommitted militarily, economically and politically throughout the world.

"The burdens of trying to carry on a war alone in Southeast Asia are too great on the country, too disruptive and too costly," he said.



"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

There's more to a Mercedes-Benz than just stopping. After all, the joy is in the driving.

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Slam a door. It sounds like a vault's.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

Green of 18 Paloma Drive, Corte Madera, has been named as Redwood High School's representative at Girl's State July 6 to 13 at the University of California at Davis. Claire Fogley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fogley of 3235 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, was chosen as alternate for the week-long experience in government.

Mishaps Hurt Four On Main Highways

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in two accidents on Marin highways yesterday, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said his car failed to make a curve on San Geronimo Valley Drive just east of eMadow Way and hit a power pole at 1:30 p.m. A passenger, Linda Leonera, 18, of 78 Toyon Drive, Fairfax, was treated for bruises and cuts on both arms.

David B. Crispell, 22, a sailor stationed on the USS Ranger at Alameda, was treated at Marin General Hospital for undisclosed wrist inpuries after his motorcycle skidded on a patch of loose gravel on Shoreline Highway near Muir Beach overlook and hit a guardrail at 1:25 p.m., officers said.

A passenger, Rusty A. Weers, 22, of Alameda, was treated for bruises of both knees.

Gallinas Creek Sewage Plans Gain Approval

Plans for an 18-inch sewage force main across Gallinas Creek proposed by the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District has drawn no objection from state agencies, an Army Corps of Engineers spokesman said today.

To gain final approval of the permit from the Army, the sanitary district must agree to about 20 conditions including no pollution, no variance from announced plans, compliance with all regulations and proper maintenance, he said.

The corps must approve the main because it crosses the north fork of Gallinas Creek approximately 400 feet upstream from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad bridge near Gallinas Village, the spokesman said.

He added that no objection was received from the public.

Two Arrested For Burglary

Two men were held in lieu of $1,250 bail apiece to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on suspicion of burglarizing a Mill Valley house.

Arrested Saturday and booked into Marin County Jail were Steven Joseph O'Brien, 21, of 1171 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, and Robert Donzill Price, 18, of 72 Cole Drive, Marin City.

Police said the two were caught at 9:28 p.m. inside the Robert H. Bradley residence, 28 Vasco Drive. The house had been ransacked according to police, but nothing appeared to be missing. A third man fled when officers arrived.

Dispute Stalls Search For Body

A Kentucky youth was reported drowned in the Petaluma River late Saturday afternoon, but a jurisdictional dispute apparently has hampered the search for his body.

Police said they believe Neval Skaggs Jr. of Jefferstown, Ky., drowned when a small boat capsized in the river below the Union Oil Co. dock at 5 p.m.

Companions of the youth told police at 5:45 p.m. that their 14-foot homemade boat was being towed in the river when it overturned.

Four youths in the boat managed to cling to the side, they said, but Skaggs, who could not swim, slipped away. Thomas Basch, 17, of 4335 Bodega Avenue, Petaluma, told police the many dives were made to save Skaggs, but all failed.

Police said Roy Graham of Petaluma, a reserve officer in the Marin County Sheriff's department, assisted with his boat in a 90-minute search.

Police Capt. Henry Eslick said evidence was found that a body had washed up on the east bank, but had drifted away again.

The search was not continued yesterday and Eslick said the department had no plans to do so today. The Coast Guard was called, he said, but refused to send a search team until the body had been approximately located.

Eslick said that since the drowning was the result of a boating accident, that the Coast Guard should retrieve the body.

U.S. Copters Will Aid In Quake Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials have announced the aircraft carrier USS Guam will arrive off the coast of Peru Tuesday night or early Wednesday with a fleet of 15 helicopters to aid earthquake relief efforts.

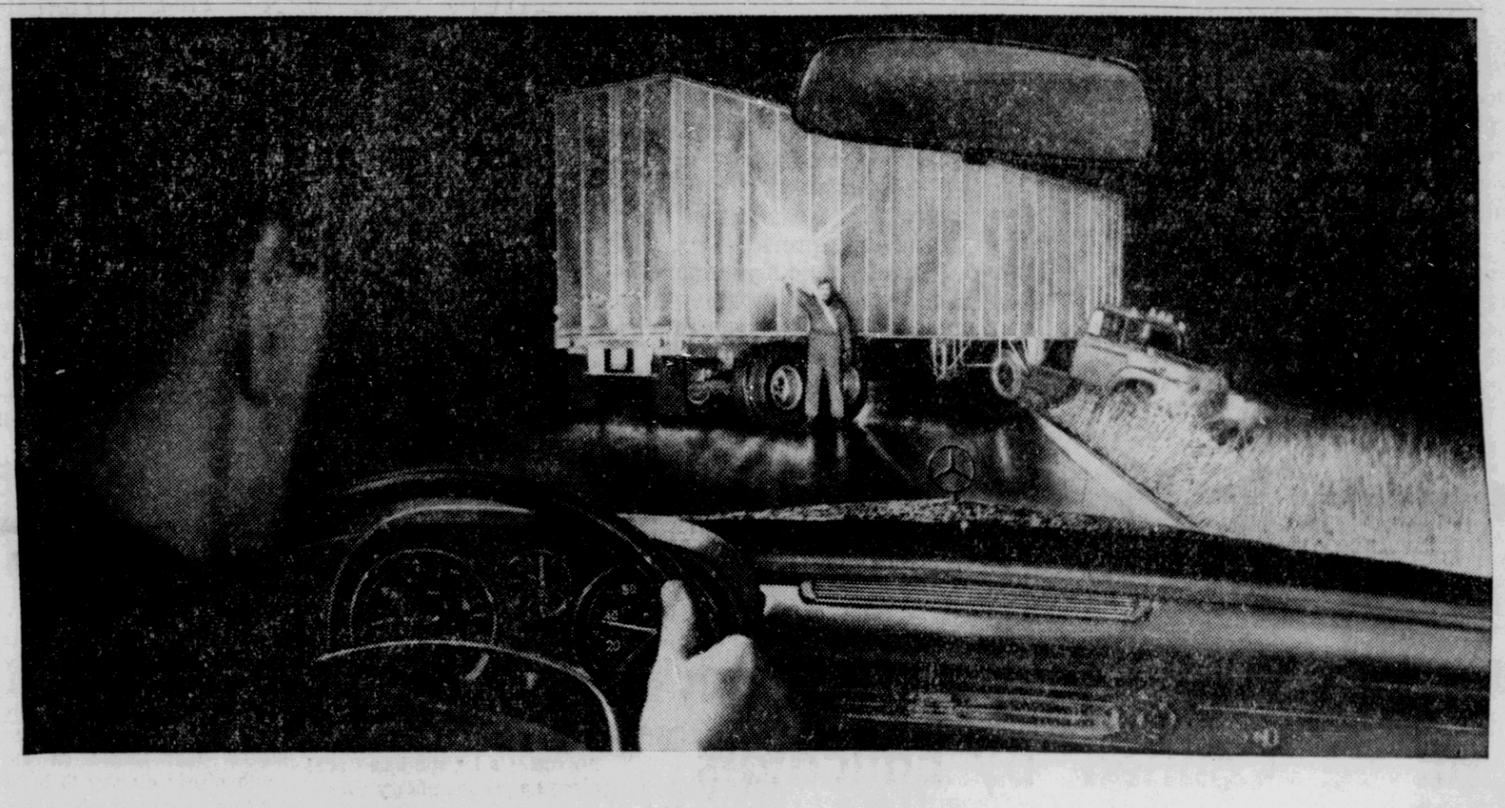
The carrier and helicopters are being sent, despite tense diplomatic relations with Peru over offshore fishing boat seizures, to ease transportation and communication bottlenecks that have developed because of earthquake damage.

Talmadge Turns Dove On Vietnam

ATLANTA (UPI)—Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., once a hawk on Vietnam, said Sunday the withdrawal of U.S. troops should be stepped up with the goal of having "all of them out by the end of the year."

Talmadge said the United States is "overcommitted militarily, economically and politically throughout the world.

"The burdens of trying to carry on a war alone in Southeast Asia are too great on the country, too disruptive and too costly," he said.



"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

There's more to a Mercedes-Benz than just stopping. After all, the joy is in the driving.

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Slam a door. It sounds like a vault's.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

Something For Graduating Classes To Think About

This is Graduation Week.

At high school and college graduation exercises in Marin and Sonoma counties, the young people receiving diplomas will hear many speeches about the problems facing the world — which they, presumably, are expected to solve.

THEY ARE UNLIKELY to hear the sort of address which was delivered at a commencement program last year by Eric A. Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University.

Noting that commencement was a time of pride for the graduates, President Walker commented that "no one has more pride in your accomplishment than the older generation." Then he told the graduates:

"IF YOU of the graduating class will look over into the bleachers to your left or right, I will re-introduce you to representatives of some of the most remarkable people ever to walk the earth. People you might want to thank on your graduation day. These are people you already know — your parents and grandparents . . .

"These . . .are the people who have given you a healthier world than they found. And because of this you no longer have to fear epidemics of flu, typhus, diptheria, smallpox, scarlet fever, measles or mumps that they knew in their youth. And the dreaded polio is no longer a medical factor. . .

"LET ME REMIND YOU that these remarkable people lived through history's greatest depression. Many of these people know what it is to be poor, what it is to be hungry and cold. And because of this, they determined that it would not happen to you, that you would have a better life . . .

"Because they gave you the best, you are the tallest, healthiest, brightest, and probably best looking generation to inhabit the land.

"And because they were materialistic, you will work fewer hours, learn more, have more leisure time, travel to more distant places, and have more of a chance to follow your life's ambition.

"THESE ARE ALSO the people who fought man's grisliest war. They are the people who defeated the tyranny of Hitler, and who, when it was all over, had the compassion to spend billions of dollars to help their former enemies to rebuild their homelands. And these are the people who had the sense to begin the United Nations.

"It was representatives of these two generations who, through the highest court in the land, fought racial discrimination at every turn to begin a new era in civil rights.

"They built thousands of high schools, trained and hired tens of thousands of better teachers, and at the same time made higher education a very real possibility for millions of youngsters — where once it was only the dream of a wealthy few.

"And they made a start — although a late one — in healing the scars of the earth and in fighting pollution and the destruction of our natural environment."

THESE TWO GENERATIONS, he noted, have had some failures.

"But," he concluded, "they made more progress by the sweat of their brows than in any previous era, and don't you forget it. And if your generation can make as much progress in as many areas as these two generations have, you should be able to solve a good many of the world's remaining ills."

We commend President Walker's observations to this week's graduates of schools and colleges in Marin and Sonoma counties.

An Educated Public No Longer Can Be 'Conned' By Educators

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — If the June 2 primary proved anything at all, or emphasized a point, it was that the forces of education are growing more and more in disfavor with the public.

Education originally built its high priority for the lion's share of the taxpayers' money many years ago, when the bulk of the taxpayers were not so well educated as the educators.

NOT BEING "educated," the taxpayers were subject to "con" jobs by the educators, who adopted a supercilious attitude toward the people who paid the bills, and convinced them that the way to save the world was to spend more money than they could afford to educate the young people.

Questions by the ordinary public on the feasibility of some of the proposals were shunted to one side, and the questioner made to feel his queries were out of order, his lack of education being the excuse to degrade his protests.

But the educators outsmarted themselves, for a new generation has grown up, almost as well-educated as the educators themselves. And this new generation can recognize the fallacies and the foibles perpetrated on a long-suffering and gullible public.

Recognizing these, the public is beginning to deny the educators complete right, title and interest to tax funds.

WITNESS what happened to Proposition 8, sponsored by the top educational organization of the state, the California Teachers Association, defeated by a three-to-one vote.

Witness what happened to Proposition 1, sponsored not only by educators, but also by top state officials, defeated.

Witness what happened to a good many local requests for tax increases, one of them being in the state capital city, refused passage.

The voters of the state are getting smart and turning against educational frills, needless expenses, over-sold administration which as well is over-staffed, idiotic busing of children to fulfill the impractical desires of wild-eyed anti-segregationists, and all manner of costly procedures which could well be done without.

THIS IS NOT to say that the public has turned against education itself, which it never will do ,but it is beginning to recognize that there are two sides to the educational coin; one that the educators want and demand, and the other that the taxpayers can afford.

There will be ways and means for the legislature to give education reasonable support, probably without the necessity for an increase in taxes.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Cambodia Move Military Success

Disregarding the political polemics of the entry of the United Station into Cambodia it is becoming increasingly evident that the operation is an outstanding military success.

An open flank is an anathema to the military. It has to be denied to the enemy and this takes manpower and firepower. Elimination of the open flank permits the troops protecting it to be used elsewhere or, as in the case in Vietnam, to be withdrawn entirely . . .

The success of a military operation is directly related to its logistic support. A breakdown in the logistic system from any cause reduces the troops ability and will to fight. An enemy's logistic bases are always a prime military objective . . .

The operation of the South Vietnamese Army in Cambodia gives rise to hope that it is an improving military force. Probably it is too early to determine just how effective a fighting force it is but undoubtedly engaging in successful offensive operations will have a salutary impact upon its future morale.

Turning points in the course of a war often go unrecognized at the time. History may well record that we have now reached such a turning point. Victories in this war have been few and far between. Now that we have such a victory it deserves a rousing round of applause in an otherwise long, frustrating and costly military operation.

Commissions Not Necessarily Expert

May I make a few comments regarding the column written by George Nevin with respect to the relationship between the Mill Valley City Council and the various city commissions.

Commissions are advisory bodies and commission members are not necessarily more "expert" in their particular Commission responsibility than city council members. Commissions may advise and recommend but there is no reason for the city council to blindly "rubber stamp" any commission recommendation.

It may be reasonably assumed that city council members are intelligent, have an "ear to the ground", and are aware of factors not necessarily considered by a commission which will effect the thinking of the council and their ultimate decision for which they and not the commission are responsible.

The basic issue at the Mill Valley City Council meeting wherein the Vietnam war was discussed was not the war itself and its effects, but whether or not a local governing body should speak for all the people within its local area of responsibility on national and international issues. . .

Perhaps the greatest danger to our democratic form of government is the tendency of too many people not to express their feelings so that the efforts of a few people gifted with superior abilities of rhetoric and prose are assumed to represent the feelings of all the people.

Place For Youth —If Youth Learns

One of the major tenants upon which the American Way of Life was built, dating back to the earliest settlers in this country, was the old "yankee hustle" that turned on the youth of our country to build for themselves and others that way of life that promoted dreams into realities.

Is it possible the technological advances, and speudo sociological approach to problems of the day have drained off that individuality earlier inherant in our youth that spawned this country's greatness?

The only absolutely limited value in this life is "time". To drift, through days, months, years, putting off any sense of direction, "doing your thing" seems to be severely compounding the fractures of youth, promoting extreme frustrations not as common in earlier days as today. It is a matter of the young people wanting a lot out of life, but unwilling to pay the price, as in earlier times, by doing their homework with direction, building on understanding of the past, and thus earning the right to exercise the options of "doing one's thing" . . .

If the youth of America wish to call the turns in their country they have to join forces with those who take advantage of educational values, social environmental conditioning, and those things offered at a point in time of their youth worth familiarizing themselves. It's hard work, which is why it is so important to lay the groundwork when you're young.

J. Walter Blair of Mill Valley defeated incumbent Vera L. Schultz and George H. Ludy of Inverness defeated incumbent James A. Marshall of Tomales for seats on the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Marin County's population showed a 70 per cent gain in 10 years, reaching 145,545, announced James C. Hammons, census supervisor, First Congressional District.

20 YEARS AGO

June 8, 1950

North Marin Water District directors filed condemnation proceedings to obtain a 640-acre ranch near Burdell School along Novato Creek for a dam site.

Police Commissioner Sylvester McAtee urged an end to factional bickering about the Sausalito Police Department.

What's the cause of all the decorations, Mrs. Monahan?" asked Mrs. Hogan. "It's me boy Pat," explained Mrs. Monahan. "He's comin' home this very night. They sent him up for 10 years, but he got two years off for good behavior."

"Faith," approved Mrs. Hogan, "and what a comfort it must be to you to have a fine boy like that!"

An elementary school teacher, carrying over 100 examination papers in her hand, tripped on the doorsill. As she fell to her knees, the papers scattered in all directions. She began to gather them up one by one, then turned angrily to her class of 30 and asked,

"Isn't anybody going to give me a hand?"

Immediately all 30 devoted students burst into sustained applause.

THE DRUMMONDS

Right To Freedom Of Majority Basis Of Ohio University Suit

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Haven't the nonviolent, including students, got some civil rights, too? They have, and it's time something adequate be done to protect them.

Remember that school desegreation began and was won in the courts. One-man, one-vote began and was won in the courts.

And now a group of students at Ohio State University known as Students for Majority Rights are taking a new test case to the courts and it may well turn out to be another landmark judicial victory.

THE PURPOSE of the suit, brought by a senior in journalism and eight others, is to affirm the right of the students to pursue their education "free of intimidation and violence."

To give the suit some bite, the nine are asking $1 million in damages and an injunction barring further disruption by the defendants, who include one professor, one non-student and seven students.

Here it is — a valuable and timely test.

ONE MIGHT ASSUME that the rights of the majority would be automatically assured. But we have seen that they aren't. And there's a reason.

The reason is that traditionally we have been long on protecting the rights of the minority and short on protecting the rights of the majority.

The very premise of the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and freedom of assembly is that they are needed primarily to protect the rights of the minority from being denied by the power of the majority.

But the pervasive violence of recent years — on the campuses and in the streets — shows that the need today is to secure the right of the majority to be free from intimidation and violence through the misuse of these rights on the part of a minority.

HERE ARE SOME concrete example of the way the constitutional rights of the majority have been damaged and denied by the minority:

1 — In New York City, a mob of picketers surrounded a hotel to prevent people from entering to listen to Sec. of State Dean Rusk. Thus they were misusing the guarantee of the right of free assembly to deprive others of the right of free assembly. But shouldn't free assembly be protected for the majority?

2 — At Columbia University, students invited the New York state director of Selective Service to address them on student aspects of the draft, but others disrupted the meeting. Shouldn't the majority who want to listen have the right safeguarded against those who want to prevent them from listening?

3 — At the University of Wisconsin, two members of President Johnson's cabinet were jeered so raucously by antiwar protesters that they were unable to finish their addresses. Instead of deploring this denial of the right of free speech and free assembly, Sen. Eugene McCarthy remarked: "The President's spokesmen can find other places to expound their views." What disdain for the Bill of Rights that one who is elected to defend the Constitution should imply that its protection need not apply to the college campuses!

4 — This year many colleges have had to throw away weeks of education and to terminate the spring semester ahead of schedule because of violence, destruction of buildings and threats by militant minorities. This is why the test suit brought by the Ohio State students is so timely and so crucial.

IT IS CRUCIAL because as the Milton Eisenhower Commission on the causes of violence discovered, there is very little law providing for the protection of the constitutional rights of the many when they are jeopardized by the few.

The purpose of the Ohio State suit is not to curtail one whit the constitutional rights of the minority, but only to insure equal protection of the law to those students who want to pursue their education free of intimidation and violence.

It seems to us that these Students for Majority Rights have started something.

Too Late, Senate Tries To Regain Decision Power

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Very, very late, perhaps too late to matter, the Senate has decided to retrieve its vanishing role in the decision to make war.

As it is want to do, the Senate has grumbled and griped greatly but has never come to grips with the erosion of its powers.

But the Vietnam war in general and the Cambodian incursion specifically has finally forced the Senate into at least trying to reassert its authority.

THE SO-CALLED Cooper-Church amendment, which cuts off funds for the retention of U.S. troops in Cambodia after July 1, is a first step.

It will be followed by the so-called antiwar amendment. This proposal would choke off money for military operations in Southeast Asia by the end of the year, leaving just enough to bring U. S. troops home by July 1, 1971.

The proposals are negative and symbolic.

Symbolic because, despite strong support in the Senate, they have no chance in the House. Negative because they are a retreat to the only possible recourse left to the Congress—the power of the purse.

WHAT POSES an even greater dilemma is the realization by a good many senators that — regardless of what the constitution says — the power to make war can no longer be vested in Congress.

The founding fathers, in writing the Constitution, could not visualize the day when a president would just not have the time to come to Congress.

As Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., put it, "If there are circumstances, extreme circumstances where American lives or interests are threatened and it's necessary to make some move, it may just not be possible to come to Congress."

In the nuclear age, Dole said, decisions must be made in minutes, or hours, or a few days.

"Sometimes we are very lengthy in the discussions," Dole said. "The war could be over before we get around to a declaration."

THE REPUBLICAN senator conceded that Congress' power to declare war before action is taken may be "fairly near the age of obsolescence."

In scouting for an alternative, Dole suggested some arrangement —similar to the one President Franklin D. Roosevelt had on the Manhattan Project —where key congressional leaders are brought into deliberations at the earliest moment.

"I think this relationship may be necessary," Dole said. "I mean just as a matter to protect American interests.

"We don't give up our rights under the constitution," he added. "But we go one step further. We make certain that in any event that the American people and the American interests are protected."

UNDOUBTEDLY, the Senate would not consider this an ideal situation.

It would be, however, an advance over the staging of the Cambodian incursion when apparently the enemy knew before congressional leaders that the U. S. would strike.

Education originally built its high priority for the lion's share of the taxpayers' money many years ago, when the bulk of the taxpayers were not so well educated as the educators.

NOT BEING "educated," the taxpayers were subject to "con" jobs by the educators, who adopted a supercilious attitude toward the people who paid the bills, and convinced them that the way to save the world was to spend more money than they could afford to educate the young people.

Questions by the ordinary public on the feasibility of some of the proposals were shunted to one side, and the questioner made to feel his queries were out of order, his lack of education being the excuse to degrade his protests.

But the educators outsmarted themselves, for a new generation has grown up, almost as well-educated as the educators themselves. And this new generation can recognize the fallacies and the foibles perpetrated on a long-suffering and gullible public.

Recognizing these, the public is beginning to deny the educators complete right, title and interest to tax funds.

WITNESS what happened to Proposition 8, sponsored by the top educational organization of the state, the California Teachers Association, defeated by a three-to-one vote.

Witness what happened to Proposition 1, sponsored not only by educators, but also by top state officials, defeated.

Witness what happened to a good many local requests for tax increases, one of them being in the state capital city, refused passage.

The voters of the state are getting smart and turning against educational frills, needless expenses, over-sold administration which as well is over-staffed, idiotic busing of children to fulfill the impractical desires of wild-eyed anti-segregationists, and all manner of costly procedures which could well be done without.

THIS IS NOT to say that the public has turned against education itself, which it never will do ,but it is beginning to recognize that there are two sides to the educational coin; one that the educators want and demand, and the other that the taxpayers can afford.

There will be ways and means for the legislature to give education reasonable support, probably without the necessity for an increase in taxes.

There has been a marked increase in a tendency for some professors to use the tools and techniques of the demagogue, the nihilist, or the politican, but to claim the protection devised for the scholar. — Lewis B. Mayhew (Stanford University professor).

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Cambodia Move Military Success

Disregarding the political polemics of the entry of the United Station into Cambodia it is becoming increasingly evident that the operation is an outstanding military success.

An open flank is an anathema to the military. It has to be denied to the enemy and this takes manpower and firepower. Elimination of the open flank permits the troops protecting it to be used elsewhere or, as in the case in Vietnam, to be withdrawn entirely . . .

The success of a military operation is directly related to its logistic support. A breakdown in the logistic system from any cause reduces the troops ability and will to fight. An enemy's logistic bases are always a prime military objective . . .

The operation of the South Vietnamese Army in Cambodia gives rise to hope that it is an improving military force. Probably it is too early to determine just how effective a fighting force it is but undoubtedly engaging in successful offensive operations will have a salutary impact upon its future morale.

Turning points in the course of a war often go unrecognized at the time. History may well record that we have now reached such a turning point. Victories in this war have been few and far between. Now that we have such a victory it deserves a rousing round of applause in an otherwise long, frustrating and costly military operation.

Commissions Not Necessarily Expert

May I make a few comments regarding the column written by George Nevin with respect to the relationship between the Mill Valley City Council and the various city commissions.

Commissions are advisory bodies and commission members are not necessarily more "expert" in their particular Commission responsibility than city council members. Commissions may advise and recommend but there is no reason for the city council to blindly "rubber stamp" any commission recommendation.

It may be reasonably assumed that city council members are intelligent, have an "ear to the ground", and are aware of factors not necessarily considered by a commission which will effect the thinking of the council and their ultimate decision for which they and not the commission are responsible.

The basic issue at the Mill Valley City Council meeting wherein the Vietnam war was discussed was not the war itself and its effects, but whether or not a local governing body should speak for all the people within its local area of responsibility on national and international issues. . .

Perhaps the greatest danger to our democratic form of government is the tendency of too many people not to express their feelings so that the efforts of a few people gifted with superior abilities of rhetoric and prose are assumed to represent the feelings of all the people.

Place For Youth —If Youth Learns

One of the major tenants upon which the American Way of Life was built, dating back to the earliest settlers in this country, was the old "yankee hustle" that turned on the youth of our country to build for themselves and others that way of life that promoted dreams into realities.

Is it possible the technological advances, and speudo sociological approach to problems of the day have drained off that individuality earlier inherant in our youth that spawned this country's greatness?

The only absolutely limited value in this life is "time". To drift, through days, months, years, putting off any sense of direction, "doing your thing" seems to be severely compounding the fractures of youth, promoting extreme frustrations not as common in earlier days as today. It is a matter of the young people wanting a lot out of life, but unwilling to pay the price, as in earlier times, by doing their homework with direction, building on understanding of the past, and thus earning the right to exercise the options of "doing one's thing" . . .

If the youth of America wish to call the turns in their country they have to join forces with those who take advantage of educational values, social environmental conditioning, and those things offered at a point in time of their youth worth familiarizing themselves. It's hard work, which is why it is so important to lay the groundwork when you're young.

J. Walter Blair of Mill Valley defeated incumbent Vera L. Schultz and George H. Ludy of Inverness defeated incumbent James A. Marshall of Tomales for seats on the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Marin County's population showed a 70 per cent gain in 10 years, reaching 145,545, announced James C. Hammons, census supervisor, First Congressional District.

20 YEARS AGO

June 8, 1950

North Marin Water District directors filed condemnation proceedings to obtain a 640-acre ranch near Burdell School along Novato Creek for a dam site.

TRY AND STOP ME

What's the cause of all the decorations, Mrs. Monahan?" asked Mrs. Hogan. "It's me boy Pat," explained Mrs. Monahan. "He's comin' home this very night. They sent him up for 10 years, but he got two years off for good behavior."

"Faith," approved Mrs. Hogan, "and what a comfort it must be to you to have a fine boy like that!"

An elementary school teacher, carrying over 100 examination papers in her hand, tripped on the doorsill. As she fell to her knees, the papers scattered in all directions. She began to gather them up one by one, then turned angrily to her class of 30 and asked,

"Isn't anybody going to give me a hand?"

Immediately all 30 devoted students burst into sustained applause.

THE DRUMMONDS

Right To Freedom Of Majority Basis Of Ohio University Suit

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Haven't the nonviolent, including students, got some civil rights, too? They have, and it's time something adequate be done to protect them.

Remember that school desegreation began and was won in the courts. One-man, one-vote began and was won in the courts.

And now a group of students at Ohio State University known as Students for Majority Rights are taking a new test case to the courts and it may well turn out to be another landmark judicial victory.

THE PURPOSE of the suit, brought by a senior in journalism and eight others, is to affirm the right of the students to pursue their education "free of intimidation and violence."

To give the suit some bite, the nine are asking $1 million in damages and an injunction barring further disruption by the defendants, who include one professor, one non-student and seven students.

Here it is — a valuable and timely test.

ONE MIGHT ASSUME that the rights of the majority would be automatically assured. But we have seen that they aren't. And there's a reason.

The reason is that traditionally we have been long on protecting the rights of the minority and short on protecting the rights of the majority.

The very premise of the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and freedom of assembly is that they are needed primarily to protect the rights of the minority from being denied by the power of the majority.

But the pervasive violence of recent years — on the campuses and in the streets — shows that the need today is to secure the right of the majority to be free from intimidation and violence through the misuse of these rights on the part of a minority.

1 — In New York City, a mob of picketers surrounded a hotel to prevent people from entering to listen to Sec. of State Dean Rusk. Thus they were misusing the guarantee of the right of free assembly to deprive others of the right of free assembly. But shouldn't free assembly be protected for the majority?

2 — At Columbia University, students invited the New York state director of Selective Service to address them on student aspects of the draft, but others disrupted the meeting. Shouldn't the majority who want to listen have the right safeguarded against those who want to prevent them from listening?

3 — At the University of Wisconsin, two members of President Johnson's cabinet were jeered so raucously by antiwar protesters that they were unable to finish their addresses. Instead of deploring this denial of the right of free speech and free assembly, Sen. Eugene McCarthy remarked: "The President's spokesmen can find other places to expound their views." What disdain for the Bill of Rights that one who is elected to defend the Constitution should imply that its protection need not apply to the college campuses!

4 — This year many colleges have had to throw away weeks of education and to terminate the spring semester ahead of schedule because of violence, destruction of buildings and threats by militant minorities. This is why the test suit brought by the Ohio State students is so timely and so crucial.

IT IS CRUCIAL because as the Milton Eisenhower Commission on the causes of violence discovered, there is very little law providing for the protection of the constitutional rights of the many when they are jeopardized by the few.

The purpose of the Ohio State suit is not to curtail one whit the constitutional rights of the minority, but only to insure equal protection of the law to those students who want to pursue their education free of intimidation and violence.

It seems to us that these Students for Majority Rights have started something.

Too Late, Senate Tries To Regain Decision Power

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Very, very late, perhaps too late to matter, the Senate has decided to retrieve its vanishing role in the decision to make war.

As it is want to do, the Senate has grumbled and griped greatly but has never come to grips with the erosion of its powers.

But the Vietnam war in general and the Cambodian incursion specifically has finally forced the Senate into at least trying to reassert its authority.

THE SO-CALLED Cooper-Church amendment, which cuts off funds for the retention of U.S. troops in Cambodia after July 1, is a first step.

It will be followed by the so-called antiwar amendment. This proposal would choke off money for military operations in Southeast Asia by the end of the year, leaving just enough to bring U. S. troops home by July 1, 1971.

The proposals are negative and symbolic.

Symbolic because, despite strong support in the Senate, they have no chance in the House. Negative because they are a retreat to the only possible recourse left to the Congress—the power of the purse.

WHAT POSES an even greater dilemma is the realization by a good many senators that — regardless of what the constitution says — the power to make war can no longer be vested in Congress.

The founding fathers, in writing the Constitution, could not visualize the day when a president would just not have the time to come to Congress.

As Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., put it, "If there are circumstances, extreme circumstances where American lives or interests are threatened and it's necessary to make some move, it may just not be possible to come to Congress."

In the nuclear age, Dole said, decisions must be made in minutes, or hours, or a few days.

"Sometimes we are very lengthy in the discussions," Dole said. "The war could be over before we get around to a declaration."

THE REPUBLICAN senator conceded that Congress' power to declare war before action is taken may be "fairly near the age of obsolescence."

In scouting for an alternative, Dole suggested some arrangement —similar to the one President Franklin D. Roosevelt had on the Manhattan Project —where key congressional leaders are brought into deliberations at the earliest moment.

"I think this relationship may be necessary," Dole said. "I mean just as a matter to protect American interests.

"We don't give up our rights under the constitution," he added. "But we go one step further. We make certain that in any event that the American people and the American interests are protected."

UNDOUBTEDLY, the Senate would not consider this an ideal situation.

It would be, however, an advance over the staging of the Cambodian incursion when apparently the enemy knew before congressional leaders that the U. S. would strike.

Mountanos's Victory Impressive; Assessor Can't Please School Boards

Sheriff Lou Mountanos' resounding victory last week is believed to be the biggest total vote ever received by any county official, opposed or unopposed.

The sheriff's 52,217 vote total, as compared with his opponent's 7,675, was all the more remarkable because of the troubled times and the mounting drug problem.

A fearful or angry public, dissatisfied with growing violence and drug traffic, could have vented its ire against a less efficient chief law enforcement officer.

The sheriff's victory was, of course, no surprise. In fact, there were very few surprises.

PETER BEHR in the Republican state Senate race and Arnold Baptiste in the North Marin supervisor contest won by bigger margins than expected. Supervisor John McInnis edged Paul Zucker by a comfortable 2,500. For his first try in politics and on short notice, Zucker made a good showing.

In the 12-way judge race, predicted leader Jack Blaine came in fourth, with Ernest Zunino and Robert Smallman winning the runoff positions.

THE TOP HALF dozen put up effective campaigns through signs and advertisements. The consensus around here is that the decisive factor could have been the good, old-fashioned doorbell ringing by the top two. The determined Smallman is reported to have worn out four pairs of shoes pounding the pavement.

Among county propositions, the loss of the low-rent housing measure was a mild surprise, considering the wide backing it received from public agencies and major organizations. This, together with passage of the sewer bonds in San Rafael prompted one Civic Center wag to mutter:

"I guess they expect the elderly and the low-income families to live inside the sewers!"

THE COUNTY assessor always seems to get it in the neck, even though he doesn't set tax rates or the size of various budgets.

A couple of weeks ago, at a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education, Assessor Bert Broemmel was castigated for coming out with his property revaluations (more than one-half the properties got raises in assessed value) just before the election. School tax and bond elections would suffer because of it, one school board member declared.

It's a case of damned if you do and damned if you don't, explained Broemmel. Before 1968, he used to announce reassessments late in July or in August. It was the school officials who insisted they wanted early assessments so that they could start working on their district budgets. They told Broemmel in effect: "You're too slow!" So the assessor dutifully proceeded to come out with reassessments in May. So now he gets clobbered with the complaint: "You came out too fast!"

IN THE ANNUAL management-employee tug-of-war over county employee salaries and benefits, the forces representing management seem to keep dwindling in size, while the opposition keeps growing.

The county's top negotiator, Administrator Alan Bruce, must be feeling a bit lonely, with only two of his top lieutenants on his "side." His other aides, Mike Chrystal and Tim Jackson, are about to be gobbled up by a new bargaining unit to be called the "mid-management unit" of the Marin County Employees Association.

To Violently Militant Youth, Violence Is Still Unreality

A few years ago my house was a gathering place for a number of university students. Although it flattered me to believe they came to dissect ideas and probe into philosophical forests, I suspect the refrigerator probably played more than a casual part in drawing them around my table. Nonetheless, they were a fine group of young men, interested in the world they lived in and keenly intrigued with understanding and divining it.

Though they were intelligent, articulate students, well on their way to becoming educated in the finest sense of the word, all were hung up by a serious handicap — their ideas were almost completely unrelated to the world in which they lived.

THEY CAME from sound, solid, middle-class families, right out of the heart of American suburbia. None had ever had to work. All had their own cars. And all accepted the fruits of the American cornucopia as their birthright.

Crime was a statistic, and sordidness came to life for them through titillating discussions of Tennessee Williams' plays. Violence, they agreed, did exist, but strangely, they could visualize it only in a distant and detached way. And as for death — death was as remote as Alpha Centauri.

Max, the tall one from Stanford, was attacked one evening by a group of toughs who pulled their car alongside and piled out to give him a thorough thumping, leaving him on the sidewalk. He had given them no provocation. They had done it for kicks. Max wasn't seriously hurt but his intellectual premises had taken a severe beating. Several times during that summer he brought up the incident. To him it was a puzzlement, a mystery, and to understand it, words were necessary. I'm convinced this simple event made a significant advance in Max's maturity and put him a giant step ahead of his buddies.

RECENTLY I WITNESSED at close hand one of the militant imbroglios in Berkeley at the University of California's Sather Gate. I came out of the tear gas with one towering impression — the naivete of the ragtag participants. Girls screamed obscenities between sips of Coke. Everywhere there was the heavy-sweet smell of pot. I even saw babies carried about on young men's backs, papoose style.

For over an hour the police had been ordering them to disperse. Following each call through the loudspeaker, the crowd brayed back angrily. When the police formed a line and advanced to clear the area, the hirsute horde fell away shouting insults and throwing bricks, bottles — anything.

It was all a grim Kafkaesque game, a curious blending of reality and unreality, a macabre game played with the police.

THROUGH SOME SORT of Alice-in-Wonderland reasoning, it was the role of the police to take whatever abuse these hooligans dished out. When the police retaliated by taking their sticks to them, it was against the rules. As for shooting — unthinkable! — just as death is unthinkable for most of our achingly young.

The impression I got was that these young anthropoids had not yet understood the harsh reality they have already gleaned intellectually — that violence begets violence.

I'm not, of course, talking about their leaders, the hard core militants. Here we have an altogether different breed of cat. The others are followers, the dupes. They are the innocents, the ones who know of violence only as an abstract word and believe that death comes only to the other fellow. They are the terribly young, the ones who come to maturity the hard way.

If at all.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS
This choice location, on Terrace Ave., offers the rare opportunity of owning a 4-bdrm., 2-bath home with lovely grounds and mature trees plus a gigantic outdoor deck and a patio, all designed to blend in with the beautiful natural resawn cedar exterior. The kitchen is all electric and features custom cabinet work. All windows and patio doors are aluminum and recently installed. The large master bdrm. features beam ceiling and a dressing room with patio doors opening out to the large outdoor deck. You will wonder why the ridiculously low price. The reason is that the remodeled kitchen, 1 bath and some of the trim and painting is not completed. However we have an estimate for completion or do it yourself. You cannot lose either way. Owner moving to east coast and must sell immediately. Don't miss this rare opportunity. Only $33,950.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS
This choice location, on Terrace Ave., offers the rare opportunity of owning a 4-bdrm., 2-bath home with lovely grounds and mature trees plus a gigantic outdoor deck and a patio, all designed to blend in with the beautiful natural resawn cedar exterior. The kitchen is all electric and features custom cabinet work. All windows and patio doors are aluminum and recently installed. The large master bdrm. features beam ceiling and a dressing room with patio doors opening out to the large outdoor deck. You will wonder why the ridiculously low price. The reason is that the remodeled kitchen, 1 bath and some of the trim and painting is not completed. However we have an estimate for completion or do it yourself. You cannot lose either way. Owner moving to east coast and must sell immediately. Don't miss this rare opportunity. Only $33,950.

Undersea Living Test Is Over

HONOLULU (AP) — Six men testing an undersea living chamber have been returned to the surface more than two days beyond their scheduled 68 hours on the ocean floor off the Oahu Island coast.

The underwater stay 516 feet below the surface was prolonged by the failure of a valve in one of the chamber's two ballast tanks.

Officials of the privately owned Makai Test Range said the men would have to spend the next week decompressing before they could leave the 200-ton habitat Aegir, which has a main chamber 50 feet long and 9 feet in diameter.

The Aegir was brought to the surface Sunday by pumping air from the surface tender Holokai into the undersea vessel's ballast tanks.

Car Hits Divider; Driver Injured

A 57-year-old San Rafael man was treated for multiple face cuts Saturday after his car ripped a 50-foot hole in the divider fence on Highway 101 near the Greenbrae offramp.

Treated was Frank Valentine Simon of 257 North San Pedro Road.

Undersea Living Test Is Over

HONOLULU (AP) — Six men testing an undersea living chamber have been returned to the surface more than two days beyond their scheduled 68 hours on the ocean floor off the Oahu Island coast.

The underwater stay 516 feet below the surface was prolonged by the failure of a valve in one of the chamber's two ballast tanks.

Officials of the privately owned Makai Test Range said the men would have to spend the next week decompressing before they could leave the 200-ton habitat Aegir, which has a main chamber 50 feet long and 9 feet in diameter.

The Aegir was brought to the surface Sunday by pumping air from the surface tender Holokai into the undersea vessel's ballast tanks.

Car Hits Divider; Driver Injured

A 57-year-old San Rafael man was treated for multiple face cuts Saturday after his car ripped a 50-foot hole in the divider fence on Highway 101 near the Greenbrae offramp.

Treated was Frank Valentine Simon of 257 North San Pedro Road.

The California Highway Patrol said Simon's car left the northbound lanes about 2:25 a.m.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 7:30 p.m. — "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" presents "The Water Planet," a behind-the-scenes look at how and why Captain Cousteau and the men of the Calypso have made careers of oceanographic research. Rod Sterling narrates.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8:30 p.m. — Laurence Olivier, Jennifer Jones, Miriam Hopkins and Eddie Albert star in the romantic movie, "Carrie," an adaptation of Theodore Dreiser's novel, "Sister Carrie."

KRON (4), 9 p.m. — "NBC Monday Night at the Movies" offers the underworld melodrama, "I Walk Alone," starring Burt Lancaster, Lizabeth Scott, Kirk Douglas and Wendell Corey.

KQED (9), 9 p.m. — "NET Journal" presents "A House in the Jungle," a study of social and political problems in Indonesia, as seen through the experiences of a poor Japanese family.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 10:30 p.m. — "The Kid Next Door Smokes Pot," a half-hour in the ABC "Now" series program, examines how a medium-size community meets the problem when the use of drugs by its young people becomes too obvious to ignore.

Busy Agenda Ahead For Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will meet as directors of the Marin County Transit District at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow and then go into closed session to instruct the county team negotiating employee work contracts for 1970-71.

New agreements have already been reached with the Marin County Employees Association and with the California Nurses Association. They will get a 5 per cent raise on July 1 and an additional $5 per month county contribution to employee insurance. These agreements are expected to be approved by the supervisors in open session at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The supervisors will sit as the transit board to consider the 1970-71 budget of $196,338, the majority of which — $123,189 — is earmarked for payment to the Golden Gate Bridge District as benefits to Marin that will come from the bridge district's operation of a bus system.

The supervisors will also be asked to combine the county agricultural commissioner's office and the job of sealer of weights and measures into a single department. County Administrator Alan Bruce has recommended the action to the board.

Other items on the agenda include:

PLANNING COMMISSION — Appointment of a successor to Michael Praszker, who resigned from the Marin County Planning Commission.

BOARD OF EDUCATION — Proposed transfer of fiscal responsibility for the county school superintendent's office from the county supervisors to the county board of education.

ZUCKER — County administrator's recommendation that County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker be fired. This is the first afternoon item.

VIETNAM — A request by Anne West of San Anselmo to put on the November ballot a proposition asking the President and Congress to get out of Southeast Asia by next June.

FLOOD CONTROL — A hearing to set up a subzone in the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone to include only the unincorporated areas.

JANITORIAL CONTRACT — A proposal to specify minimum wages when the county calls for bids on cleaning of county buildings so that nonunion firms will not have an advantage over the union firms.

Soyuz 9 Finishes 100th Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cosmonauts Andrian Nikolayev and Vitaly Sevastyanov completed their 100th orbit of the earth today in the seventh day of their flight aboard the spaceship Soyuz 9.

A short official report said the cosmonauts retired as usual this morning "after completing their regular working day in outer space."

They have been carrying out their program of medical and biological observations on the effects of extended periods in space.

"The Cosmonauts retain a high capacity for work," the progress report said. It said during the day they reported various visual observations of the earth, includisg the location of forest fires in Africa.

Soyuz 9 has broken the Soviet record for flight duration but has another week to go before it reaches the U.S. record. How long the flight is to last has not been disclosed.

An article in Pravda today emphasized the value of manned space flights over automated satellites.

"No electronic computer or automatic device can replace man fully in carrying out a number of assignments in space," said the Soviet Communist party newspaper. "This is because space crews are entrusted with the more subtle, creative tasks to solve for which it is necessary to take into account numerous factors often conflicting in nature."

Soviet scientists have questioned the value of America's manned moon shots, suggesting that automatic devices could accomplish the same purpose without the great human risks. But they have not produced an unmanned spacecraft that could land and take off from the moon, let alone bring back materials for study on earth. And while they questioned the manned moon shots they did not drop their own program of sendng up men for experiments and tests while orbiting the earth.

Trouble For Skyjack Talk

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 17-year-old Marine Corps recruit, who allegedly told a fellow airline passenger he was a runaway juvenile and was going to hijack the aircraft, was taken into custody Sunday by police.

Officers said George Thomas Anthony of Allentown, Pa., boarded Trans World Airlines flight 15 for San Francisco here early Sunday and reportedly made the remarks to an Army colonel.

The colonel reported the conversation and Anthony was taken from the plane. The flight was delayed about five minutes. Officers said Anthony was stationed at the San Diego Marine Corps depot and probably would be turned over to Marine officials.

$10,000 Blaze, No Injury In Larkspur

A fire of undetermined origin caused about $10,000 damage at the Tamalpais Retirement Residence, 501 Via Casitas, Larkspur, Friday.

The fire, which started about 10 a.m., gutted an apartmeent occupied by Mrs. Elizabeth Shearer, 74. There were no injuries, according to Larkspur Fire Chief William C. Shurtz, who ordered the evacuation of about 250 people in the building.

TV PREVIEW

The Emmy Awards Got A Dull Show

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Emmy Awards, sponsored as usual by such significant show business contributors as a fried chicken company and a cigarette firm, were presented on ABC-TV Sunday night.

One thing, though, about this particular prizegiving ceremony of the television industry: It wasn't dull. When it was bad — for instance, in Patty Duke's embarrassingly pretentious acceptance speech — it was so awful that it was fascinating.

And when it was good — chiefly through the hosting efforts of Bill Cosby in Hollywood and Dick Cavett in New York — it provided some worthwhile amusement. They are very cool characters, Cosby and Cavett, and they brought just the right contemporary attitude.

In fact, they present a splendid irony for those who think in stereotypes. For Cosby, a black humorist, rarely dwells on social messages, preferring to let his understated cool say it all as he deals with universal nonsense. On the other hand, Cavett, a white comedian, is more likely to have a pointed social edge in his talk.

Miss Duke stopped the show — absolutely dead — in accepting an Emmy for her performance in the video movie "My Sweet Charlie." She seemed to think she was Sarah Bernhardt or something. Spacing her words out with great pompous slowness, she was at first pure camp, then unintentionally hilarious and finally embarrassing.

It has been said that one trouble with youth is that it doesn't know how to accept victory gracefully. And this was the problem early in the show when such acting winners as Karen Valentine of "Room 222", James Brolin of "Marcus Welby, M.D." and Gail Fisher of "Mannix" gave the program all the style of "The Dating Game."

None was properly prepared, and their remarks were so immature as to make one cringe. On the other hand, such veterans as Anne Bancroft and Peter Ustinov, who appeared in prize-winning specials, and Robert Young, star of "Marcus Welby, M.D." radiated the dignity of complete professionals who are up to any occasion.

In a special award, the television academy's board of trustees gave Emmys to the heads of the three network news departments, making verbally clear this was a vote of confidence despite some recent criticism of video journalists. At another point in the show, Vice President Agnew was seen in an excerpt as a news critic.

Another unusual award went to the 3-M Co. a sponsor cited for upgrading television taste. You can imagine that they'll just love that over at Xerox. At any rate, it certainly is swell to know video is being upgraded, and who's doing it besides the fried chicken company and cigarette firm that sponsored the Emmys.

Well, anyway, presenter-astronaut Charles Conrad mispronounced the name of a top American government figure who had narrated a documentary, and Cavett explained to the audience: "reading isn't required in space." Conrad, who got a big introductory hand from the audience, took the needling with good humor.

Naturally there were many nonsensical awards, as there always are. And of course some canceled series, like "My World, and Welcome To It," were honored too late to save them. Personally, I liked one particular Cavett line about the video year: "We've seen two revolting families using a can of Right Guard."

Horse Show Dates Listed

Busy Agenda Ahead For Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will meet as directors of the Marin County Transit District at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow and then go into closed session to instruct the county team negotiating employee work contracts for 1970-71.

New agreements have already been reached with the Marin County Employees Association and with the California Nurses Association. They will get a 5 per cent raise on July 1 and an additional $5 per month county contribution to employee insurance. These agreements are expected to be approved by the supervisors in open session at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The supervisors will sit as the transit board to consider the 1970-71 budget of $196,338, the majority of which — $123,189 — is earmarked for payment to the Golden Gate Bridge District as benefits to Marin that will come from the bridge district's operation of a bus system.

The supervisors will also be asked to combine the county agricultural commissioner's office and the job of sealer of weights and measures into a single department. County Administrator Alan Bruce has recommended the action to the board.

Other items on the agenda include:

PLANNING COMMISSION — Appointment of a successor to Michael Praszker, who resigned from the Marin County Planning Commission.

BOARD OF EDUCATION — Proposed transfer of fiscal responsibility for the county school superintendent's office from the county supervisors to the county board of education.

ZUCKER — County administrator's recommendation that County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker be fired. This is the first afternoon item.

VIETNAM — A request by Anne West of San Anselmo to put on the November ballot a proposition asking the President and Congress to get out of Southeast Asia by next June.

FLOOD CONTROL — A hearing to set up a subzone in the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone to include only the unincorporated areas.

JANITORIAL CONTRACT — A proposal to specify minimum wages when the county calls for bids on cleaning of county buildings so that nonunion firms will not have an advantage over the union firms.

BUILDING INSPECTOR — Public Works Director Donald R. Frost will ask for clarification on the status of the chief building inspector. One section of the county code makes the chief building inspector responsible to Frost while another section makes the building inspector responsible to the supervisors.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 7:30 p.m. — "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" presents "The Water Planet," a behind-the-scenes look at how and why Captain Cousteau and the men of the Calypso have made careers of oceanographic research. Rod Sterling narrates.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8:30 p.m. — Laurence Olivier, Jennifer Jones, Miriam Hopkins and Eddie Albert star in the romantic movie, "Carrie," an adaptation of Theodore Dreiser's novel, "Sister Carrie."

KRON (4), 9 p.m. — "NBC Monday Night at the Movies" offers the underworld melodrama, "I Walk Alone," starring Burt Lancaster, Lizabeth Scott, Kirk Douglas and Wendell Corey.

KQED (9), 9 p.m. — "NET Journal" presents "A House in the Jungle," a study of social and political problems in Indonesia, as seen through the experiences of a poor Japanese family.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 10:30 p.m. — "The Kid Next Door Smokes Pot," a half-hour in the ABC "Now" series program, examines how a medium-size community meets the problem when the use of drugs by its young people becomes too obvious to ignore.

Soyuz 9 Finishes 100th Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cosmonauts Andrian Nikolayev and Vitaly Sevastyanov completed their 100th orbit of the earth today in the seventh day of their flight aboard the spaceship Soyuz 9.

A short official report said the cosmonauts retired as usual this morning "after completing their regular working day in outer space."

They have been carrying out their program of medical and biological observations on the effects of extended periods in space.

"The Cosmonauts retain a high capacity for work," the progress report said. It said during the day they reported various visual observations of the earth, includisg the location of forest fires in Africa.

Soyuz 9 has broken the Soviet record for flight duration but has another week to go before it reaches the U.S. record. How long the flight is to last has not been disclosed.

An article in Pravda today emphasized the value of manned space flights over automated satellites.

"No electronic computer or automatic device can replace man fully in carrying out a number of assignments in space," said the Soviet Communist party newspaper. "This is because space crews are entrusted with the more subtle, creative tasks to solve for which it is necessary to take into account numerous factors often conflicting in nature."

Soviet scientists have questioned the value of America's manned moon shots, suggesting that automatic devices could accomplish the same purpose without the great human risks. But they have not produced an unmanned spacecraft that could land and take off from the moon, let alone bring back materials for study on earth. And while they questioned the manned moon shots they did not drop their own program of sendng up men for experiments and tests while orbiting the earth.

Trouble For Skyjack Talk

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 17-year-old Marine Corps recruit, who allegedly told a fellow airline passenger he was a runaway juvenile and was going to hijack the aircraft, was taken into custody Sunday by police.

Officers said George Thomas Anthony of Allentown, Pa., boarded Trans World Airlines flight 15 for San Francisco here early Sunday and reportedly made the remarks to an Army colonel.

The colonel reported the conversation and Anthony was taken from the plane. The flight was delayed about five minutes. Officers said Anthony was stationed at the San Diego Marine Corps depot and probably would be turned over to Marine officials.

$10,000 Blaze, No Injury In Larkspur

A fire of undetermined origin caused about $10,000 damage at the Tamalpais Retirement Residence, 501 Via Casitas, Larkspur, Friday.

The fire, which started about 10 a.m., gutted an apartmeent occupied by Mrs. Elizabeth Shearer, 74. There were no injuries, according to Larkspur Fire Chief William C. Shurtz, who ordered the evacuation of about 250 people in the building.

TV PREVIEW

The Emmy Awards Got A Dull Show

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) -- The Emmy Awards, sponsored as usual by such significant show business contributors as a fried chicken company and a cigarette firm, were presented on ABC-TV Sunday night.

One thing, though, about this particular prizegiving ceremony of the television industry: It wasn't dull. When it was bad — for instance, in Patty Duke's embarrassingly pretentious acceptance speech — it was so awful that it was fascinating.

And when it was good — chiefly through the hosting efforts of Bill Cosby in Hollywood and Dick Cavett in New York — it provided some worthwhile amusement. They are very cool characters, Cosby and Cavett, and they brought just the right contemporary attitude.

In fact, they present a splendid irony for those who think in stereotypes. For Cosby, a black humorist, rarely dwells on social messages, preferring to let his understated cool say it all as he deals with universal nonsense. On the other hand, Cavett, a white comedian, is more likely to have a pointed social edge in his talk.

Miss Duke stopped the show — absolutely dead — in accepting an Emmy for her performance in the video movie "My Sweet Charlie." She seemed to think she was Sarah Bernhardt or something. Spacing her words out with great pompous slowness, she was at first pure camp, then unintentionally hilarious and finally embarrassing.

It has been said that one trouble with youth is that it doesn't know how to accept victory gracefully. And this was the problem early in the show when such acting winners as Karen Valentine of "Room 222", James Brolin of "Marcus Welby, M.D." and Gail Fisher of "Mannix" gave the program all the style of "The Dating Game."

None was properly prepared, and their remarks were so immature as to make one cringe. On the other hand, such veterans as Anne Bancroft and Peter Ustinov, who appeared in prize-winning specials, and Robert Young, star of "Marcus Welby, M.D." radiated the dignity of complete professionals who are up to any occasion.

In a special award, the television academy's board of trustees gave Emmys to the heads of the three network news departments, making verbally clear this was a vote of confidence despite some recent criticism of video journalists. At another point in the show, Vice President Agnew was seen in an excerpt as a news critic.

Another unusual award went to the 3-M Co. a sponsor cited for upgrading television taste. You can imagine that they'll just love that over at Xerox. At any rate, it certainly is swell to know video is being upgraded, and who's doing it besides the fried chicken company and cigarette firm that sponsored the Emmys.

Well, anyway, presenter-astronaut Charles Conrad mispronounced the name of a top American government figure who had narrated a documentary, and Cavett explained to the audience: "reading isn't required in space." Conrad, who got a big introductory hand from the audience, took the needling with good humor.

Naturally there were many nonsensical awards, as there always are. And of course some canceled series, like "My World, and Welcome To It," were honored too late to save them. Personally, I liked one particular Cavett line about the video year: "We've seen two revolting families using a can of Right Guard."

Horse Show Dates Listed

The 12th annual Golden Gate Arabian Horse Show for the benefit of St. iVncent's School for Boys in Marinwood will be held June 25-28 at the Santa Rosa fairgrounds.

Rudi Gets There Just In Time

Homer Wins It For A's

OAKLAND (AP) — One person the Oakland A's want to be sure they take along on a nine-game road trip starting Tuesday night in Cleveland is outfielder Joe Rudi.

Rudi spent almost all day Sunday as a Marine reserve truck driver at Alameda Naval Air Station. But he was released from duty soon enough to hustle to nearby Oakland Coliseum and hit a three-run pinch homer in the ninth inning to beat the Detroit Tigers 5-2.

PACKED

"My bag was already packed for the road trip," Rudi said. "The equipment man went to the dugout and asked the manager if I should get in uniform, and he said I should."

Joe reported to the bench in the ninth with Detroit leading 2-1. Frank Fernande homered to tie the score. Then Rick Monday walked and Dick Green got aboard on an error.

That set the stage for Rudi's heroics. He almost didn't get a chance to hit his dramatic homer.

"I was supposed to sacrifice to ge the runner to third base," he said. Rudi popped the first pitch foul behind the plate. It fell inches beyond the reach of Tiger catcher Bill Breehan. Rudi bunted foul again, then was given the "hit" sign.

OFF LOLICH

He wacked a low curve ball by Detroit pitcher Mickey Lolich into the left field stands to give Oakland its 11th victory in 16 games.

"It was the biggest homer I ever hit," the excited Rudi said.

Manager John McNamara indicated Rudi will be in the starting lineup against the Indians Tuesday night.

He had taken over in the outfield for slump-ridden Reggie Jackson a week ago. Jackson started both Saturday and Sunday games but did not hit well enough to win the job back.

Paul Lindblad, 2-0, the fifth Oakland pitcher of the game, was the winner, although he pitched to only one batter.

EVENS OUT

"You get a few like that, and there are other times when you pitch several innings and don't have anything to show for it," Lindblad said.

Lolich, 6-6, had given up only an unearned run and six hits before the ninth inning.

Jim Hunter, John Odom and Chuck Dobson will be the Oakland pitchers in the series with Cleveland.

The A's dropped two out of three games to the Indians in Oakland Coliseum here last week. This will be the first venture into Cleveland this year.

WORLD CUP SOCCER

At Halfway Point

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The ninth World Cup Soccer championships have reached the halfway stage with only Peru and West Germany definitely set for the quarter-finals.

At the other end of the scale, with 16 of the scheduled 32 matches played, Bulgaria, Morocco and El Salvador have been eliminated although each has one remaining match.

And in the unofficial battle between Europe and South America, the Latins are way ahead with Mexicon, Brazil and Uruguay leading their groups and Peru even with West Germany in the remaining group.

Each of the 16 competing nations have now played two games but only three—Brazil, Peru and West Germany—have collected the maximum four points.

With three points are Mexico and Russia in Group One, Uruguay and Italy in Group Two. In Group Three, reigning champions England and Rumania trail Brazil with two points each.

Belgium has two points in Group One, Sweden and Israel one apiece in Group Two, while the four countries yet to get a point are Czechoslovakia, El Salvador, Bulgaria and Morocco.

The final eight round-robin games in the four separate groups will be played Wednesday and Thursday.

In Sunday's games, Brazil downed England 1-0, Mexico whipped El Salvador 4-1, Israel and Sweden played a 1-1 tie and West Germany upended Bulgaria 5-2.

The most interesting situation is at the top of Group Four where Peru and West Germany have the same number of points and same goal difference of four goals.

They meet at Leon Wednesday to see who finishes first—very conscious that the loser will almost certainly meet Brazil in the quarter-final.

Brazil went to the top of Group Three with Sunday's triumph over England. The reigning champions now have to beat Czechoslovakia at Guadalajara Thursday to ensure a quarter-final spot.

In Mexico City, everything should depend on the Group One meeting between Mexico and Belgium in front of 107,000 partisan fans in the Aztec Stadium Thursday.

Russia, which produced the top display of power shooting in their 4-1 defeat of Belgium Saturday, should easily defeat El Salvador Wednesday and finish with five points.

General feeling here is that by Thursday night the eight quarter-finalists will be Italy, Uruguay, Mexico, Russia, Brazil, England, West Germany and Peru.

CUBS WIN HOMER DERBY

It's Game Of Long Ball

CHICAGO (AP) — Everytime there's a home run flurry in baseball, the explanation, usually by the pitchers, is that the ball has been juiced up.

For a refreshing change Sunday, the hitters were given credit when the Chicago Cubs defeated the San Francisco Giants 8-4 in a game which featured eight home runs — five by the Cubs.

San Francisco, clinging to fourth place in the National League West with a 25-30 mark, takes today off before opening an eight-game home stand Tuesday night with the first of a pair against Pittsburgh.

'NO CHEAPIES'

"There weren't any cheapies out there today," said Charlie Fox, manager of the Giants. "Those balls were all hit and would have gone out even without a favoring wind."

"I don't know if the ball is livelier," said Cub Manager Leo Durocher, "But I don't think any records were broken."

The eight home runs fell well short of the record of 11 shared by both the National and American Leagues.

The Cubs and New York Mets pounded out 11 in 1967 and the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers clubbed an American League total of 11 in one game in 1950.

Although home runs dominated the game, it was a broken bat single by Billy Williams that broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh inning that sent the Cubs spinning to victory and kept them four games ahead of Pittsburgh in the National League East.

Willie Mays slammed his 13th homer of the season and the 613th of his career to put the Giants ahead in the third. Willie also collected three singles and now needs only 25 more hits to reach the 3,000 mark.

Dick Dietz made it 2-0 for the Giants with his 11th homer in the fourth.

Johnny Callison opened the home half of the fourth with his seventh homer and Williams connected for No. 16 on the very next pitch. Before the inning was over, Jack Hiatt hit his first of the season to put the Cubs ahead.

PINCH HOMER

The Cubs picked up a run in the fifth but the Giants tied it in the seventh on Alan Gallagher's pinch homer, his first in the majors, and a run-scoring single by Mays.

After Williams had broken the tie with his broken bat single, Jim Hickman slugged his 12th of the season and Cleo James added another run for the Cubs in the eighth with his second homer of the year.

Winning Begets Winning, Says Happy Dick Lotz

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Winning, says Dick Lotz, begets winning.

"It was awfully important to me, winning at Alameda," he said. "I started getting paired with tour winners and I could see what they did, how they did it, and convinced myself I could play as well as they did.

"Then at Monsanto, well, that gave me confidence.

"It gave me the winning attitude."

MONSANTO

The 27-year-old Lotz, a pleasant, thoughtful, soft-spoken young Californian, was a virtual unknown until he won the $150,000 Monsanto Open golf tournament two months ago.

He added the title in the Kemper Open to that crown Sunday, became only the third double winner on the pro golf tour this year and vaulted into second place on the money winning list at almost $106,000.

He came from one stroke off the pace with a one-under-par 71 for 278, 10 under par on the 7,231-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course, and overhauled faltering Lou Graham, the leader through the second and ttird rounds.

'DONATED IT'

"I just donated it," said Graham, who struggled home with a 74 for 280. He was tied at that figure, two strokes off the pace, with Tom Weiskopf, who had a sparkling 66, and Larry Hinson and Grier Jones, who had 72s.

Dan Sikes, 70, Bob Lunn, 71, Steve Reid, 73, and Lionel Hebert, 74, were tied at 281. Rod Funseth, 70, was alone at 282 and Arnold Palmer, who had a final 71, topped the group at 283.

"I didn't think a 71 would do it," said Lotz, now in his seventh year on the tour. "I'm just glad nobody behind me shot a really hot round."

They didn't. The grinding pressure of the chase for $30,000 took its toll—even Lotz a little.

He went in front to stay with a 55-foot monster putt on the 11th hole, then three-putted the 13th. But he bounced back with a 12-foot birdie putt on the 14th, then bogeyed the 16th from a trap.

PARRED IN

"I guess I was choking a little," he said. But Graham also bogeyed and the lead remained at two strokes. Lotz parred in. He had moved into a share of the lead with a 15-noot birdie putt on the ninth hole.

Lotz said he had started the year with an ambition—to win a major tournament (the Alameda was a satellite event.)

"When I won at Monsanto I told my wife, 'Well, I've won my tournament. What now'?. I guess I'll have to win another one."

He has.

What now?

STATE TRACK-FIELD MEET

Los Altos Prep Steals The Show

BERKELEY (AP) — One national record and three meet records fell in the 52nd California state high school track meet, but it was all Rick Brown's show.

The 5-foot-10 runner, who led Los Altos to an easy team victory, won the hearts of the 13,000 fans at the University of California's Edwards Stadium by winning three events within a two-hour period Saturday.

"It came off okay," Brown said later in classic understatement.

Brown became the first athlete in the meet's history to win both the 440 and 880, and he became the first triple winner when he anchored the Knights' mile relay team to a 3:15.6 victory.

Brown, who plans to attend Cal in the fall, won the 440 in 47.8, the 880 in 1:50.6 and ran a 47.8 relay leg.

The Knights scored enough points, 20, in those three events to win the meet, since runner up Santa Ana totaled 19. Jim Andrew got two points for Los Altos with a fourth place finish in the 440.

Chris Adams scored Los Altos' other nine points and accounted for the national record. He bettered his own pending mark of 201 feet in the discus with a toss of 201-3. He was third in the shot put with 61-7½.

"I knew I had a good one and I had a good idea it was over 200," he said.

Adams, who will go to Cal with Brown, praised the triple-winner and his coach, Leo Long.

"Rick has been a great inspiration through the year. He gets a good race and everyone responds. Coach Long has been great," he said.

The other meet records besides the discus, were high jump of 1 feet, ¼ inch by Jerry Culp of Oceanside and an 8:55.6 two-mile performance by Ron Johnson of West Torrance.

RECORD

Culp topped the 7-0 record set two years ago by Reynaldo Brown of Compton and said he couldn't have done it without little Randy Fulkerson of Sante Fe pushing him.

Fulkerson, 5-foot-7½, went 6-10 to claim second place.

"I enjoyed the competition," Culp said. "Whenever someone goes over 6-10 with me, I get pushed. I was scared."

Another individual star was Santa Ana's Jackie White. He won the 220 in 21.5, anchored his 440 relay team to a 41.5 victory and was second to Bonita's Allan Carter in the 100.

Behind Los Altos and Santa Ana in team scoring were Castlemont of Oakland with 15 points and Morningside of Inglewood with 13. Los Altos, in Santa Clara County, became the first Northern California school to win the state title since Edison of Fresno did it in 1963.

Two Marin Swimmers Win

Drake High School sophomore Robin Bachrach and 12-year-old, Novatan Ann Haley each won a gold medal yesterday in the Pacific Association, Amateur Athletic Union's Northern California Junior Olympics Short Course Swimming Championships at DeAnza Junior College in Cupertino.

Miss Bachrach, of Fairfax, swimming for Dolphins of Marin, won the girls' age 15-17 200-yard individual medley in 2 minutes, 15.8 seconds and also scored second places in the 100 and 200-yard fly events.

Miss Haley, meanwhile, posted her best time in winning the 200 breaststroke in 1:13.7 and placed second in the 50 breast. She swims for the Novato Granauts.

More than 600 youngsters competed in the two day event. San Rafael and Marin Aquatics, which recently merged as one club for the first time, failed to win a title but picked up a win by Julie Waters in the backstroke for girls 9-10. Waters also placed sixth in the 100 I.M.

Other Marin swimmers to place:

DOLPHINS OF MARIN

Dennis Glass, age 15-17, fourth 100 fly, fifth 200 breast.

SAN RAFAEL-MARIN

Dodgers Draft Dewey Forry

Forry, an outfielder who hit .387 for the Trojans this season, was chosen during the major league player draft last Thursday in New York.

Information concerning the round in which he was chosen was not available, according to the Dodger organization.

SUYDERHOUD SETS WORLD SKI RECORD

Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo has added a second world record to his collection of water ski awards.

Competing in the Will's Internationals at Ruislip Lido, near London, the 20-year-old Sonoma State College junior yesterday established a world record in slalom, making it past two buoys with 35 feet off his 75-foot tow rope. He made it through the entire course with 32 feet off the rope.

Prior to this year, records were not kept in slalom events. Mike already has the world record ski jump, 162 feet. He jumped 149 feet yesterday to win that event, and came in third in tricks.

Among the international stars Mike defeated in slalom yesterday was Victor Palomo of Spain, the world slalom champion.

DeYoung Named All-Star Bowler

Terry DeYoung of Novato was honored by the San Francisco bowling writers Saturday night by being named to the S.F. All-Star Bowling team.

DeYoung, 20, was one of six bowlers named to the team, the others Ted Hendrickson, Bill Baioni, Don Reeser, Les Barrett and Leon Aragon.

WORLD CUP SOCCER

At Halfway Point

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The ninth World Cup Soccer championships have reached the halfway stage with only Peru and West Germany definitely set for the quarter-finals.

At the other end of the scale, with 16 of the scheduled 32 matches played, Bulgaria, Morocco and El Salvador have been eliminated although each has one remaining match.

And in the unofficial battle between Europe and South America, the Latins are way ahead with Mexicon, Brazil and Uruguay leading their groups and Peru even with West Germany in the remaining group.

Each of the 16 competing nations have now played two games but only three—Brazil, Peru and West Germany—have collected the maximum four points.

With three points are Mexico and Russia in Group One, Uruguay and Italy in Group Two. In Group Three, reigning champions England and Rumania trail Brazil with two points each.

Belgium has two points in Group One, Sweden and Israel one apiece in Group Two, while the four countries yet to get a point are Czechoslovakia, El Salvador, Bulgaria and Morocco.

The final eight round-robin games in the four separate groups will be played Wednesday and Thursday.

In Sunday's games, Brazil downed England 1-0, Mexico whipped El Salvador 4-1, Israel and Sweden played a 1-1 tie and West Germany upended Bulgaria 5-2.

The most interesting situation is at the top of Group Four where Peru and West Germany have the same number of points and same goal difference of four goals.

They meet at Leon Wednesday to see who finishes first—very conscious that the loser will almost certainly meet Brazil in the quarter-final.

Brazil went to the top of Group Three with Sunday's triumph over England. The reigning champions now have to beat Czechoslovakia at Guadalajara Thursday to ensure a quarter-final spot.

In Mexico City, everything should depend on the Group One meeting between Mexico and Belgium in front of 107,000 partisan fans in the Aztec Stadium Thursday.

Russia, which produced the top display of power shooting in their 4-1 defeat of Belgium Saturday, should easily defeat El Salvador Wednesday and finish with five points.

General feeling here is that by Thursday night the eight quarter-finalists will be Italy, Uruguay, Mexico, Russia, Brazil, England, West Germany and Peru.

Winning Begets Winning, Says Happy Dick Lotz

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Winning, says Dick Lotz, begets winning.

"It was awfully important to me, winning at Alameda," he said. "I started getting paired with tour winners and I could see what they did, how they did it, and convinced myself I could play as well as they did.

"Then at Monsanto, well, that gave me confidence.

"It gave me the winning attitude."

MONSANTO

The 27-year-old Lotz, a pleasant, thoughtful, soft-spoken young Californian, was a virtual unknown until he won the $150,000 Monsanto Open golf tournament two months ago.

He added the title in the Kemper Open to that crown Sunday, became only the third double winner on the pro golf tour this year and vaulted into second place on the money winning list at almost $106,000.

He came from one stroke off the pace with a one-under-par 71 for 278, 10 under par on the 7,231-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course, and overhauled faltering Lou Graham, the leader through the second and ttird rounds.

'DONATED IT'

"I just donated it," said Graham, who struggled home with a 74 for 280. He was tied at that figure, two strokes off the pace, with Tom Weiskopf, who had a sparkling 66, and Larry Hinson and Grier Jones, who had 72s.

Dan Sikes, 70, Bob Lunn, 71, Steve Reid, 73, and Lionel Hebert, 74, were tied at 281. Rod Funseth, 70, was alone at 282 and Arnold Palmer, who had a final 71, topped the group at 283.

"I didn't think a 71 would do it," said Lotz, now in his seventh year on the tour. "I'm just glad nobody behind me shot a really hot round."

They didn't. The grinding pressure of the chase for $30,000 took its toll—even Lotz a little.

He went in front to stay with a 55-foot monster putt on the 11th hole, then three-putted the 13th. But he bounced back with a 12-foot birdie putt on the 14th, then bogeyed the 16th from a trap.

PARRED IN

"I guess I was choking a little," he said. But Graham also bogeyed and the lead remained at two strokes. Lotz parred in. He had moved into a share of the lead with a 15-noot birdie putt on the ninth hole.

Lotz said he had started the year with an ambition—to win a major tournament (the Alameda was a satellite event.)

"When I won at Monsanto I told my wife, 'Well, I've won my tournament. What now'?. I guess I'll have to win another one."

He has.

What now?

Rudi Gets There Just In Time

Homer Wins It For A's

OAKLAND (AP) — One person the Oakland A's want to be sure they take along on a nine-game road trip starting Tuesday night in Cleveland is outfielder Joe Rudi.

Rudi spent almost all day Sunday as a Marine reserve truck driver at Alameda Naval Air Station. But he was released from duty soon enough to hustle to nearby Oakland Coliseum and hit a three-run pinch homer in the ninth inning to beat the Detroit Tigers 5-2.

PACKED

"My bag was already packed for the road trip," Rudi said. "The equipment man went to the dugout and asked the manager if I should get in uniform, and he said I should."

Joe reported to the bench in the ninth with Detroit leading 2-1. Frank Fernande homered to tie the score. Then Rick Monday walked and Dick Green got aboard on an error.

That set the stage for Rudi's heroics. He almost didn't get a chance to hit his dramatic homer.

"I was supposed to sacrifice to ge the runner to third base," he said. Rudi popped the first pitch foul behind the plate. It fell inches beyond the reach of Tiger catcher Bill Breehan. Rudi bunted foul again, then was given the "hit" sign.

OFF LOLICH

He wacked a low curve ball by Detroit pitcher Mickey Lolich into the left field stands to give Oakland its 11th victory in 16 games.

"It was the biggest homer I ever hit," the excited Rudi said.

Manager John McNamara indicated Rudi will be in the starting lineup against the Indians Tuesday night.

He had taken over in the outfield for slump-ridden Reggie Jackson a week ago. Jackson started both Saturday and Sunday games but did not hit well enough to win the job back.

Paul Lindblad, 2-0, the fifth Oakland pitcher of the game, was the winner, although he pitched to only one batter.

EVENS OUT

"You get a few like that, and there are other times when you pitch several innings and don't have anything to show for it," Lindblad said.

Lolich, 6-6, had given up only an unearned run and six hits before the ninth inning.

Jim Hunter, John Odom and Chuck Dobson will be the Oakland pitchers in the series with Cleveland.

The A's dropped two out of three games to the Indians in Oakland Coliseum here last week. This will be the first venture into Cleveland this year.

CUBS WIN HOMER DERBY

It's Game Of Long Ball

CHICAGO (AP) — Everytime there's a home run flurry in baseball, the explanation, usually by the pitchers, is that the ball has been juiced up.

For a refreshing change Sunday, the hitters were given credit when the Chicago Cubs defeated the San Francisco Giants 8-4 in a game which featured eight home runs — five by the Cubs.

San Francisco, clinging to fourth place in the National League West with a 25-30 mark, takes today off before opening an eight-game home stand Tuesday night with the first of a pair against Pittsburgh.

'NO CHEAPIES'

"There weren't any cheapies out there today," said Charlie Fox, manager of the Giants. "Those balls were all hit and would have gone out even without a favoring wind."

"I don't know if the ball is livelier," said Cub Manager Leo Durocher, "But I don't think any records were broken."

The eight home runs fell well short of the record of 11 shared by both the National and American Leagues.

The Cubs and New York Mets pounded out 11 in 1967 and the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers clubbed an American League total of 11 in one game in 1950.

Although home runs dominated the game, it was a broken bat single by Billy Williams that broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh inning that sent the Cubs spinning to victory and kept them four games ahead of Pittsburgh in the National League East.

Willie Mays slammed his 13th homer of the season and the 613th of his career to put the Giants ahead in the third. Willie also collected three singles and now needs only 25 more hits to reach the 3,000 mark.

Dick Dietz made it 2-0 for the Giants with his 11th homer in the fourth.

Johnny Callison opened the home half of the fourth with his seventh homer and Williams connected for No. 16 on the very next pitch. Before the inning was over, Jack Hiatt hit his first of the season to put the Cubs ahead.

PINCH HOMER

The Cubs picked up a run in the fifth but the Giants tied it in the seventh on Alan Gallagher's pinch homer, his first in the majors, and a run-scoring single by Mays.

After Williams had broken the tie with his broken bat single, Jim Hickman slugged his 12th of the season and Cleo James added another run for the Cubs in the eighth with his second homer of the year.

STATE TRACK-FIELD MEET

Los Altos Prep Steals The Show

BERKELEY (AP) — One national record and three meet records fell in the 52nd California state high school track meet, but it was all Rick Brown's show.

The 5-foot-10 runner, who led Los Altos to an easy team victory, won the hearts of the 13,000 fans at the University of California's Edwards Stadium by winning three events within a two-hour period Saturday.

"It came off okay," Brown said later in classic understatement.

Brown became the first athlete in the meet's history to win both the 440 and 880, and he became the first triple winner when he anchored the Knights' mile relay team to a 3:15.6 victory.

Brown, who plans to attend Cal in the fall, won the 440 in 47.8, the 880 in 1:50.6 and ran a 47.8 relay leg.

The Knights scored enough points, 20, in those three events to win the meet, since runner up Santa Ana totaled 19. Jim Andrew got two points for Los Altos with a fourth place finish in the 440.

Chris Adams scored Los Altos' other nine points and accounted for the national record. He bettered his own pending mark of 201 feet in the discus with a toss of 201-3. He was third in the shot put with 61-7½.

"I knew I had a good one and I had a good idea it was over 200," he said.

Adams, who will go to Cal with Brown, praised the triple-winner and his coach, Leo Long.

"Rick has been a great inspiration through the year. He gets a good race and everyone responds. Coach Long has been great," he said.

The other meet records besides the discus, were high jump of 1 feet, ¼ inch by Jerry Culp of Oceanside and an 8:55.6 two-mile performance by Ron Johnson of West Torrance.

RECORD

Culp topped the 7-0 record set two years ago by Reynaldo Brown of Compton and said he couldn't have done it without little Randy Fulkerson of Sante Fe pushing him.

Fulkerson, 5-foot-7½, went 6-10 to claim second place.

"I enjoyed the competition," Culp said. "Whenever someone goes over 6-10 with me, I get pushed. I was scared."

Another individual star was Santa Ana's Jackie White. He won the 220 in 21.5, anchored his 440 relay team to a 41.5 victory and was second to Bonita's Allan Carter in the 100.

Behind Los Altos and Santa Ana in team scoring were Castlemont of Oakland with 15 points and Morningside of Inglewood with 13. Los Altos, in Santa Clara County, became the first Northern California school to win the state title since Edison of Fresno did it in 1963.

Brush With Death Before Munsey's Hydroplane Win

It was in the second elimination heat of the day Sunday. As 48,000 persons lined the Potomac, Munsey's Detroit-based Myr Sheet Metal blasted around a turn just behind Billy Schumacher's Parco O-Ring Miss, the eventual second-place boat in the regatta.

The Schumacher's boat soared over on her side and forced Munsey to swerve.

Schumacher recovered from the swerve and went on to edge out Munsey in that heat.

By the final heat three boats still were in contention, Myr Parco and Leif Borgersen in Notre Dame.

Munsey won a 150-mile - an-hour dash to the first turn and clung to a 100-yard lead at the end. Schumacher was second and Borgersen, his bat ailing, was fifth and last.

That gave Munsey 400 points, for a first-place total of 1,100. Schumacher was 100 points behind in second, and Borgersen took third with 927.

DiMaggio League Begins

The Italian Club defeated Novato, 10-3 yesterday in an opening day game of the Marin County Joe DiMaggio baseball league.

Gene Frey, the third of four pitchers who combined for a no hitter, was credited with the win.

Italian Club third baseman Bob Brown went three for four to lead both clubs in hitting.

Ron Mahoney pitched Holiday Magic to a 2-1 win over Terra Linda, and Healdsburg beat San Francisco, 1-0 in other games.

Toby's Truckers meet the Mill Valley Chiefs in a game tonight at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley.

Matt Eling Wins Soap Box Derby

Jeff Davis finished second and Danny Tolson third. The 21 cars all were brightly painted and adorned with names of their sponsors, mostly local merchants.

Kurt Poser in Car No. 88 provided the biggest thrill of the day when he lost control of his vehicle, hit a stop sign and mailbox and came out of it without a scratch. His car, however, could not continue.

TRANSAMERICA

Parnelli Jones Wins Again

MANSFIELD, Ohio AP — Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., conquered the ruggid Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course near here Sunday for his third Trans-America Sedan Championship series win in four starts.

George Follmer of Arcadia, Calif., who won last weekend, crossed the finish line a half-second behind Jones as the Mustang team continued to dominate the series, leading with 36 points, Javeline second at 16.

Jones averaged 83.118 miles per hour over the 180 miles. Follmer turned in the fastest lap of 1:41.14 on the 2.4-mile course, or 85.207 m.p.h.

Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., the early leader in a Roger Penski-prepare Javelin, finished third, 1:08.4 behind Jones.

Fourth place was taken by Maurice Carter of Hamilton, Ontario, in an independent Camaro. Sam Posey of Sharon, Conn., finished fifth in a Challenger.

Swede Savage of Santa Ana, Calif., driving a Barracuda, had just taken the lead after Jones made a pit stop when his engine blew on the 63rd lap.

Also failing to finish were Ed Leslie of Monterrey, Calif., and his boss, Jim Hall of Midland, Tex.

Rounding out the top ten finishers were Warren Agor of Pittsford, N.Y.; Larry Bock of South Bend, Ind.; Paul Nichter of South Wales, N.Y.; Vince Gimondo of Orlando, Fla., and Tony DeLorenzo of Troy, Mich., all driving Camaros.

Brush With Death Before Munsey's Hydroplane Win

It was in the second elimination heat of the day Sunday. As 48,000 persons lined the Potomac, Munsey's Detroit-based Myr Sheet Metal blasted around a turn just behind Billy Schumacher's Parco O-Ring Miss, the eventual second-place boat in the regatta.

The Schumacher's boat soared over on her side and forced Munsey to swerve.

Schumacher recovered from the swerve and went on to edge out Munsey in that heat.

By the final heat three boats still were in contention, Myr Parco and Leif Borgersen in Notre Dame.

Munsey won a 150-mile - an-hour dash to the first turn and clung to a 100-yard lead at the end. Schumacher was second and Borgersen, his bat ailing, was fifth and last.

That gave Munsey 400 points, for a first-place total of 1,100. Schumacher was 100 points behind in second, and Borgersen took third with 927.

Matt Eling Wins Soap Box Derby

Jeff Davis finished second and Danny Tolson third. The 21 cars all were brightly painted and adorned with names of their sponsors, mostly local merchants.

Kurt Poser in Car No. 88 provided the biggest thrill of the day when he lost control of his vehicle, hit a stop sign and mailbox and came out of it without a scratch. His car, however, could not continue.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

PANAMA — Ismael Laguna, 135, Panama, stopped Ishimatsu Suzuki, 135, Japan, 13:: Laguna retained world lightweight championship.

LOS ANGELES — Mike Quarry, 173 ¾, Bellflower, Calif., outpointed Eddie Avoth, 177, Cardiff, Wales, 10.

TRANSAMERICA

Parnelli Jones Wins Again

MANSFIELD, Ohio AP — Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., conquered the ruggid Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course near here Sunday for his third Trans-America Sedan Championship series win in four starts.

George Follmer of Arcadia, Calif., who won last weekend, crossed the finish line a half-second behind Jones as the Mustang team continued to dominate the series, leading with 36 points, Javeline second at 16.

Jones averaged 83.118 miles per hour over the 180 miles. Follmer turned in the fastest lap of 1:41.14 on the 2.4-mile course, or 85.207 m.p.h.

Fourth place was taken by Maurice Carter of Hamilton, Ontario, in an independent Camaro. Sam Posey of Sharon, Conn., finished fifth in a Challenger.

Swede Savage of Santa Ana, Calif., driving a Barracuda, had just taken the lead after Jones made a pit stop when his engine blew on the 63rd lap.

Also failing to finish were Ed Leslie of Monterrey, Calif., and his boss, Jim Hall of Midland, Tex.

Rounding out the top ten finishers were Warren Agor of Pittsford, N.Y.; Larry Bock of South Bend, Ind.; Paul Nichter of South Wales, N.Y.; Vince Gimondo of Orlando, Fla., and Tony DeLorenzo of Troy, Mich., all driving Camaros.

Expos Pay Heed To Mauch's Talk

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Gene Mauch, the thinking man's manager, called a clubhouse meeting Friday night, his Montreal Expos weren't contemplating much of anything . . . except maybe suicide.

The Expos had lost 11 straight games when they sneaked into Atlanta to begin a three-games series with the red-hot Braves.

When the Expos skipped town Sunday, following a 10-1 rout for a series sweep, it was the five teams trailing the runaway Cincinnati Reds in the National League West who were left for dead.

The Reds poured it on the New York Mets 10-2 and opened a nine-game bulge over Atlanta. Los Angeles, beaten by Pittsburgh 3-1, is 9½ games back. In other NL action, the Chicago Cubs slugged San Francisco 8-4, St. Louis rallied to beat San Diego 10-7 and Philadelphia drubbed Houston 10-3.

A.L. SCORES

In the American League, Baltimore edged Milwaukee 7-6, the Chicago White Sox nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 in 12 innings, Minnesota outlasted Washington 10-9 in 11, Cleveland downed California 6-4, Oakland clubbed Detroit 5-2 and Boston swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 7-4 and 5-2.

"We expected to be splattered on the wall," said pitcher Carl Morton of Mauch's get-together, perhaps remembering the manager's famous spare rib-barbecue sauce performance in Houston while his Philadelphia Phillies were in the process of blowing the 1964 flag.

"But Gene just talked baseball to us," Morton continued. "He told us to play aggressively and that we could win if we thought we could win, but; that we would keep losing if we thought we would lose. He relaxed the whole team. You could tell the difference as soon as we left the clubhouse."

HOME RUNS

Bob Bailey socked two homers and Coco Laboy one as the Expos lashed out 15 hits in support of Morton's 10-hit pitching. The Braves' only run was unearned as the rookie right-hander boosted his record to 5-3. Morton, an ex-outfielder in the Braves' farm system, helped his own cause with two singles.

Not only did the Expos batter the Atlanta pitching for 25 runs and 33 hits in the series, but their own hurlers limited Rico Carty to two hits in 11 trips, dropping his average to .420.

Cincinnati rookie Wayne Simpson breezed to his eighth victory in nine decisions as Bench drilled a three-run homer, May a solo shot and Perez a two-run triple. The Mets lost their fifth straight game and slid to fourth place in the NL East.

BIG TRIPLE

The Pirates turned back the Dodgers on little Freddie Patek's two-run triple in the fifth and big Bob Veale's four-hit pitching. Patek's triple broke a scoreless tie and followed a single by Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen's double. Patek later scored on a single by Matty Alou.

The Cardinals climbed past the Mets into third place with a seven-run explosion in the seventh inning. Trailing 7-1, the Cards got two in the sixth on Ted Simmons' first major league homer.

Kissinger Loses In Tennis Semis

Earl Kissinger of Tiburon lost to Stan Maloney in the semifinals of the men's 60 singles in the Blossom Hill Tennis Club tournament yesterday at Los Gatos.

Kissinger, the No. 2 seed, lost in straight sets, 6-0, 16-14.

Trump Card Played Perfectly In Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer John Jacobs lost his ace for the Belmont Stakes, but he still had a trump card and John L. Rotz played it perfectly.

The ace—Personality—missed Saturday's Belmont because of a cough, but the trump card—High Echelon—won the pot from nine rivals for Jacobs and his mother, Ethel, who owns the two colts.

"I lost my ace but had a lot of faith in High Echelon," Jacobs said after High Echelon vindicated that faith by beating Thomas F. Fleming's Needles N Pens by three-quarters of a length after a perfect ride by Rotz.

High Echelon, winless in nine previous starts, not only picked up the winning knack from his Preakness-winning stablemate, he also apparently contracted Personality's ailment.

Personality, who followed his Wood Memorial victory with a disappointing eighth in the Kentucky Derby but then won the Preakness and Jersey Derby, developed a nasal discharge Wednesday and then a cough Thursday night. Jacobs entered him in the Belmont Friday morning, then declared him out later in the day.

High Echelon showed no signs of a cold until Sunday when Jacobs said he noticed a slight nasal discharge and added, "this is the way Personality started."

Jacobs said he plans to rest both halves of his 1-2 punch, pointing them for the Monmouth Invitational Aug. 8.

Even before Personality was withdrawn from the Belmont, some observors felt the 1½ miles of the Belmont would favor the late-closing high Echelon who finished third in the 1¼-mile Kentucky Derby and fourth in each of the 1 3-16-mile Preakness and the 1⅛-mile Jersey Derby.

And, although he considers Personality his ace, Jacobs said—even before Personality was withdrawn—that if High Echelon won the Belmont, "I wouldn't be surprised."

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Getting the ball to turn in toward the pins at the finish is all the hook that is necessary. To do this simply set your thumb a little to the left and make a normal follow-through. It isn't necessary to do any wrist-twisting to make your ball hook.

Two Shutouts For Novato '9'

Dave Judnick and Dennis Bueler, rivals at Novato and San Marin high schools during the prep season, now are teammates on the Novato Junior American Legion team and pitching up a storm in the Northern California Summer League.

Each pitched a four-hit shutout over the weekend, Judnick stopping Dixon at Dixon on Saturday, 6-0, and Bueler blanking Vallejo 5-0 yesterday at Novato.

Judnick struck out 15 batters and was backed by nine hits, including a triple, double and run-batted in by Tom Zechlin. Jeff Pond drove in two runs and John Kidder, Jack Burnam and Dee Fedrick one each.

Yesterday, white Bueler was striking out 11, Novato collected 11 safeties including a home run by Kidder, three hits in three at-bats by Zechlin and two hits each by Kidder and Fedrick.

Novato, now 3-1 won-lost in league, hosts Vacaville next Saturday at Novato High School, 5 p.m. and then goes to Napa Sunday for a 1 p.m. tilt.

Expos Pay Heed To Mauch's Talk

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Gene Mauch, the thinking man's manager, called a clubhouse meeting Friday night, his Montreal Expos weren't contemplating much of anything . . . except maybe suicide.

The Expos had lost 11 straight games when they sneaked into Atlanta to begin a three-games series with the red-hot Braves.

When the Expos skipped town Sunday, following a 10-1 rout for a series sweep, it was the five teams trailing the runaway Cincinnati Reds in the National League West who were left for dead.

The Reds poured it on the New York Mets 10-2 and opened a nine-game bulge over Atlanta. Los Angeles, beaten by Pittsburgh 3-1, is 9½ games back. In other NL action, the Chicago Cubs slugged San Francisco 8-4, St. Louis rallied to beat San Diego 10-7 and Philadelphia drubbed Houston 10-3.

A.L. SCORES

In the American League, Baltimore edged Milwaukee 7-6, the Chicago White Sox nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 in 12 innings, Minnesota outlasted Washington 10-9 in 11, Cleveland downed California 6-4, Oakland clubbed Detroit 5-2 and Boston swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 7-4 and 5-2.

"We expected to be splattered on the wall," said pitcher Carl Morton of Mauch's get-together, perhaps remembering the manager's famous spare rib-barbecue sauce performance in Houston while his Philadelphia Phillies were in the process of blowing the 1964 flag.

"But Gene just talked baseball to us," Morton continued. "He told us to play aggressively and that we could win if we thought we could win, but; that we would keep losing if we thought we would lose. He relaxed the whole team. You could tell the difference as soon as we left the clubhouse."

HOME RUNS

Bob Bailey socked two homers and Coco Laboy one as the Expos lashed out 15 hits in support of Morton's 10-hit pitching. The Braves' only run was unearned as the rookie right-hander boosted his record to 5-3. Morton, an ex-outfielder in the Braves' farm system, helped his own cause with two singles.

Not only did the Expos batter the Atlanta pitching for 25 runs and 33 hits in the series, but their own hurlers limited Rico Carty to two hits in 11 trips, dropping his average to .420.

Cincinnati rookie Wayne Simpson breezed to his eighth victory in nine decisions as Bench drilled a three-run homer, May a solo shot and Perez a two-run triple. The Mets lost their fifth straight game and slid to fourth place in the NL East.

BIG TRIPLE

The Pirates turned back the Dodgers on little Freddie Patek's two-run triple in the fifth and big Bob Veale's four-hit pitching. Patek's triple broke a scoreless tie and followed a single by Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen's double. Patek later scored on a single by Matty Alou.

The Cardinals climbed past the Mets into third place with a seven-run explosion in the seventh inning. Trailing 7-1, the Cards got two in the sixth on Ted Simmons' first major league homer.

Trump Card Played Perfectly In Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer John Jacobs lost his ace for the Belmont Stakes, but he still had a trump card and John L. Rotz played it perfectly.

The ace—Personality—missed Saturday's Belmont because of a cough, but the trump card—High Echelon—won the pot from nine rivals for Jacobs and his mother, Ethel, who owns the two colts.

"I lost my ace but had a lot of faith in High Echelon," Jacobs said after High Echelon vindicated that faith by beating Thomas F. Fleming's Needles N Pens by three-quarters of a length after a perfect ride by Rotz.

High Echelon, winless in nine previous starts, not only picked up the winning knack from his Preakness-winning stablemate, he also apparently contracted Personality's ailment.

Personality, who followed his Wood Memorial victory with a disappointing eighth in the Kentucky Derby but then won the Preakness and Jersey Derby, developed a nasal discharge Wednesday and then a cough Thursday night. Jacobs entered him in the Belmont Friday morning, then declared him out later in the day.

High Echelon showed no signs of a cold until Sunday when Jacobs said he noticed a slight nasal discharge and added, "this is the way Personality started."

Jacobs said he plans to rest both halves of his 1-2 punch, pointing them for the Monmouth Invitational Aug. 8.

Even before Personality was withdrawn from the Belmont, some observors felt the 1½ miles of the Belmont would favor the late-closing high Echelon who finished third in the 1¼-mile Kentucky Derby and fourth in each of the 1 3-16-mile Preakness and the 1⅛-mile Jersey Derby.

And, although he considers Personality his ace, Jacobs said—even before Personality was withdrawn—that if High Echelon won the Belmont, "I wouldn't be surprised."

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Getting the ball to turn in toward the pins at the finish is all the hook that is necessary. To do this simply set your thumb a little to the left and make a normal follow-through. It isn't necessary to do any wrist-twisting to make your ball hook.

Two Shutouts For Novato '9'

Dave Judnick and Dennis Bueler, rivals at Novato and San Marin high schools during the prep season, now are teammates on the Novato Junior American Legion team and pitching up a storm in the Northern California Summer League.

Each pitched a four-hit shutout over the weekend, Judnick stopping Dixon at Dixon on Saturday, 6-0, and Bueler blanking Vallejo 5-0 yesterday at Novato.

Judnick struck out 15 batters and was backed by nine hits, including a triple, double and run-batted in by Tom Zechlin. Jeff Pond drove in two runs and John Kidder, Jack Burnam and Dee Fedrick one each.

Yesterday, white Bueler was striking out 11, Novato collected 11 safeties including a home run by Kidder, three hits in three at-bats by Zechlin and two hits each by Kidder and Fedrick.

Novato, now 3-1 won-lost in league, hosts Vacaville next Saturday at Novato High School, 5 p.m. and then goes to Napa Sunday for a 1 p.m. tilt.

Japanese Stock Show Big Promise

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Can you tell me something about Canon, a Japanese stock? — P.C.

A. Canon Inc. is one of Japan's foremost camera manufacturers, producing models to suit a wide range of users. It also makes photographic accessories and supplies. A recent innovation is its diversification into office equipment — desktop calculators and electrostatic copiers. Calculator sales skyrocketed during 1969, showing a jump of 273 per cent for six months ending Dec. 31 over the like period in 1968. Office equipment items in 1970 are expected to generate 50 per cent of Canon's total sales, but since the company reports semianually — June and December — this projection cannot be checked for another month or so.

Although sales for the year 1969 did not reach the company's target of $100 million, Canon's growth has been strong since Japan's camera industry as a whole recovered from overexpansion five years ago. Industry leaders now project an annual growth rate of 15 to 20 per cent. Company directors also believe that sales of cameras, calculators and copiers will be boosted by their Expo '70 exhibits. Export markets generate 50 to 60 per cent of consolidated net sales and roughly half of this flows back from U.S. buyers.

These projections could be substantially reduced by any deepening of the recessive conditions affecting the U.S. economy at this time. Canon trades over-the-counter through American Dispository Receipts, each one representing 25 shares of common stock and trading around 22. The uptrend in earnings is expected to continue. Make sure that your broker has access to regular reports and other information on the company.

As possible information sources I suggest one of the Japanese investment firms located in New York City which took part in underwriting Canon's issue of convertible debentures in May, 1969. They are Yamaichi Securities, 111 Broadway; Daiwa Securities, 26 Broadway; Nikko Securities, 1 Chase Manhattan Plaza, and Nomura Securities, 61 Broadway.

Blue Chips Enable Higher Stock Closing

NEW YOR K(UPI)—Strength in the blue chips enabled the stock market to close slightly higher today in a rather quiet trading session.

Turnover slowed to around 8 million shares from 12,450,000 shares Friday.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, the blue chip barometer, was up 5.20 at 700.23 near the bell after being ahead by about 12 points at the halfway mark.

Oils, chemicals and electronics showed scattered strength, while other stock groups generally traded in both directions.

Among the most active stocks were Commonwealth Oil Refining, Ling-Temco, Xerox, North American Rockwell and Amerada Hess. The computer producing subsidiary of Xerox announced it has laid off several hundred employes and cancelled plans to construct a complex at Culver City, Calif.

Before the close, Ling-Temco was up around 1 1-2 on 69,700 shares, North American Rockwell was 5-8 h ighe r on 60,800 shares and Amerada Hess preferred was up 7-8 on 60,700 shares. Xerox was down 1-4 on 65,200 shares and then closed off 2 at 78 3-4.

Fabrics Plant Set In North Caroling

REDLANDS, (BW) — J.P. Stevens & Co., Inc., will build a fabrics plant in Wallace, N.C., to be completed and in full operation by early 1971, it was announced Thursday (June 4).

Aside from its hosiery knitting plant here, Stevens has three hosiery knitting plants in North Carolina and Virginia.

TO HOUSE MAJOR FOOD BROKERAGE FIRM — This two-story building, on which construction should start at 2640 Bridgeway, Sausalito in July, will be the new home of Maillard and Schmidell, headquartered in San Francisco since 1897. W. B. Clausen of San Rafael is the engineer. Landscape designers are Katy and Paul Steinmetz of San Rafael. Real estate broker Robert H. Greene is the lease agent.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Maillard And Schmiedell Will Move Into Marin Headquarters

Most recent case of a major firm proposing a removal from San Francisco to Marin County in the current trend away from high do w n t o w n rentals and congested traffic is Maillard and Schmiedell, one of the country's leading food brokers.

Established in 1897 and headquartered for the past 10 years at 601 Montgomery Street, the company now maintains nine offices in the western states and a national payroll of some 350 employees. Before the end of the year both headquarters and the San Francisco regional office will be moved to 2640 Bridgeway, Sausalito, a c r o s s from the new Whiskey Springs apartment development.

In a building specially designed to suit its needs, the firm will take up occupancy in the 5.5-acre Marin F r e e h o l d e r s commercial and industrial complex on a lease e x e c u t e d through San Rafael real estate broker Robert H. Greene.

The lease represents something of a plum for Greene, as the new building (to be started next month) will enable him to wind up development of the c o m p l e x which started four years ago and will have seven buildings containing 115,000 square feet. Completion of the new building is being planned for November.

It will have 26,000 square feet, of which Maillard and Schmiedell will take 10,000. Chem-Corp Engineering Co., already in the complex will take 6,000. And another 5,000 square feet for a retail store on the ground floor and 5,000 square feet of office on the second floor will be put up for lease.

The names M a i l l a r d and Schmiedell both have strong ground roots in Marin County. Former San Francisco police commissioner John W. Maillard III, who is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the company, was born here — as was his brother Congressman William S. Maillard. Another brother, James, is secretary-treasurer of the company and also a San Francisco supervisor. Co-founder of the firm, the late E d w a r d G. Schmiedell, was a resident of Ross for 62 years.

o In addition, two other officers of the company, vice presidents fFrank Huntington and Richard Gotterdam are both residents of Kentfield and several department managers and other employees live in Marin.

The Sausalito office, with a staff of about 70, will be completely modern and contain its own computer equipment.

DR. H. E. KLUKSDAHL of San Rafael has been appointed to a senior research associate at Chevron Research Co., Richmond. He joined the company in 1960 and has been involved in a variety of exploratory studies in the process development division where he will continue his present work.

Pearson

JOHN R. PEARSON of San Anselmo has been promoted to vice president in the national division at Bank of California's San Francsco head office. He joined the bank's management training program in 1964, was named assistant cashier at San Mateo in 1965 and became assistant vice president in the national division two years ago.

A NEW San Francisco firm, Brown Heidt Associates, offering environmental planning and design service, has been organized by Thomas E. Brown, an architect living in Sausalito, and David Heidt, a landscape architect living in Mill Valley. Both principals were former senior associates with Lawrence Halprin Associates, San Francisco. Their office is located at 605 Washington Street, San Francisco.

New Product Designed For Water Pollution

LOS ANGELES (BW) — A new product designed to control municipal water pollution has been demonstrated for the first time.

Developed by Sweco, Inc., of Los Angeles, the wastewater concentrator employs a new mechanical screening principle to reduce pollution caused by overflow from combined storm and sanitary sewage systems during periods of heavy rainfall. This product removes most of the pollutants which usually by-pass the normal treatment plants.

The wastewater concentrator was demonstrated for newsmen and sanitary engineers at Portland, Ore., Sullivan Gulch Pump Station in conjunction with a symposium on storm — sanitary pollution control.

Howard W. Wright Jr., president of Sweco, said as much as one-third of sewage solids settle to the bottom of large combined sewers during dry periods.. In periods of heavy rain, these pollutants flow into streams, lakes, rivers and coastal waters without treatment because the treatment plant cannot handle the hydraulic flow which is several times that of dry periods.

The wastewater concentrator is capable of relieving a combined sewage system of its hydraulic overload during storm periods.

The unit, seven feet in diameter and six feet high, utilizes 18 removable panel screens on a revolving screen cage. A combination of high velocity influent flow and centrifugal force cause approximately 90 to 95 per cent of a hydraulic flow of 3 million gallons per day to pass through the 105 micron screens.

T h e remaining concentrate containing 99 per cent of the floatable and settleable solids is discharged separately into the hydraulically relieved sewage system and sent on to the sewage plant for treatment.

More than 35 million persons in the United States live in cities which have single sewage systems handlng both sanitary waste and stormwater overflow. Government sources have estimated that it would require as much as $50 billion to construct separate sewage systems.

In one metropolitan city construction of separate systems would cost $100 million, Wright said. Cost of a Sweco system to process this volumn of storm overflow would be approximately $2 million, he said.

Japanese Stock Show Big Promise

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Can you tell me something about Canon, a Japanese stock? — P.C.

A. Canon Inc. is one of Japan's foremost camera manufacturers, producing models to suit a wide range of users. It also makes photographic accessories and supplies. A recent innovation is its diversification into office equipment — desktop calculators and electrostatic copiers. Calculator sales skyrocketed during 1969, showing a jump of 273 per cent for six months ending Dec. 31 over the like period in 1968. Office equipment items in 1970 are expected to generate 50 per cent of Canon's total sales, but since the company reports semianually — June and December — this projection cannot be checked for another month or so.

Although sales for the year 1969 did not reach the company's target of $100 million, Canon's growth has been strong since Japan's camera industry as a whole recovered from overexpansion five years ago. Industry leaders now project an annual growth rate of 15 to 20 per cent. Company directors also believe that sales of cameras, calculators and copiers will be boosted by their Expo '70 exhibits. Export markets generate 50 to 60 per cent of consolidated net sales and roughly half of this flows back from U.S. buyers.

These projections could be substantially reduced by any deepening of the recessive conditions affecting the U.S. economy at this time. Canon trades over-the-counter through American Dispository Receipts, each one representing 25 shares of common stock and trading around 22. The uptrend in earnings is expected to continue. Make sure that your broker has access to regular reports and other information on the company.

As possible information sources I suggest one of the Japanese investment firms located in New York City which took part in underwriting Canon's issue of convertible debentures in May, 1969. They are Yamaichi Securities, 111 Broadway; Daiwa Securities, 26 Broadway; Nikko Securities, 1 Chase Manhattan Plaza, and Nomura Securities, 61 Broadway.

Blue Chips Enable Higher Stock Closing

NEW YOR K(UPI)—Strength in the blue chips enabled the stock market to close slightly higher today in a rather quiet trading session.

Turnover slowed to around 8 million shares from 12,450,000 shares Friday.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, the blue chip barometer, was up 5.20 at 700.23 near the bell after being ahead by about 12 points at the halfway mark.

Oils, chemicals and electronics showed scattered strength, while other stock groups generally traded in both directions.

Among the most active stocks were Commonwealth Oil Refining, Ling-Temco, Xerox, North American Rockwell and Amerada Hess. The computer producing subsidiary of Xerox announced it has laid off several hundred employes and cancelled plans to construct a complex at Culver City, Calif.

Before the close, Ling-Temco was up around 1 1-2 on 69,700 shares, North American Rockwell was 5-8 h ighe r on 60,300 shares and Amerada Hess preferred was up 7-8 on 60,700 shares. Xerox was down 1-4 on 65,200 shares and then closed off 2 at 78 3-4.

Fabrics Plant Set In North Caroling

REDLANDS, (BW) — J.P. Stevens & Co., Inc., will build a fabrics plant in Wallace, N.C., to be completed and in full operation by early 1971, it was announced Thursday (June 4).

Aside from its hosiery knitting plant here, Stevens has three hosiery knitting plants in North Carolina and Virginia.

TO HOUSE MAJOR FOOD BROKERAGE FIRM — This two-story building, on which construction should start at 2640 Bridgeway, Sausalito in July, will be the new home of Maillard and Schmidell, headquartered in San Francisco since 1897. W. B. Clausen of San Rafael is the engineer. Landscape designers are Katy and Paul Steinmetz of San Rafael. Real estate broker Robert H. Greene is the lease agent.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Maillard And Schmiedell Will Move Into Marin Headquarters

Most recent case of a major firm proposing a removal from San Francisco to Marin County in the current trend away from high do w n t o w n rentals and congested traffic is Maillard and Schmiedell, one of the country's leading food brokers.

Established in 1897 and headquartered for the past 10 years at 601 Montgomery Street, the company now maintains nine offices in the western states and a national payroll of some 350 employees. Before the end of the year both headquarters and the San Francisco regional office will be moved to 2640 Bridgeway, Sausalito, a c r o s s from the new Whiskey Springs apartment development.

In a building specially designed to suit its needs, the firm will take up occupancy in the 5.5-acre Marin F r e e h o l d e r s commercial and industrial complex on a lease e x e c u t e d through San Rafael real estate broker Robert H. Greene.

The lease represents something of a plum for Greene, as the new building (to be started next month) will enable him to wind up development of the c o m p l e x which started four years ago and will have seven buildings containing 115,000 square feet. Completion of the new building is being planned for November.

It wll have 26,000 square feet, of which Maillard and Schmiedell will take 10,000. Chem-Corp Engineering Co., already in the complex will take 6,000. And another 5,000 square feet for a retail store on the ground floor and 5,000 square feet of office on the second floor will be put up for lease.

The names M a i l l a r d and Schmiedell both have strong ground roots in Marin County. Former San Francisco police commissioner John W. Maillard III, who is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the company, was born here — as was his brother Congressman William S. Maillard. Another brother, James, is secretary-treasurer of the company and also a San Francisco supervisor. Co-founder of the firm, the late E d w a r d G. Schmiedell, was a resident of Ross for 62 years.

o In addition, two other officers of the company, vice presidents fFrank Huntington and Richard Gotterdam are both residents of Kentfield and several department managers and other employees live in Marin.

The Sausalito office, with a staff of about 70, will be completely modern and contain its own computer equipment.

DR. H. E. KLUKSDAHL of San Rafael has been appointed to a senior research associate at Chevron Research Co., Richmond. He joined the company in 1960 and has been involved in a variety of exploratory studies in the process development division where he will continue his present work.

Klunksdahl Pearson

JOHN R. PEARSON of San Anselmo has been promoted to vice president in the national division at Bank of California's San Francsco head office. He joined the bank's management training program in 1964, was named assistant cashier at San Mateo in 1965 and became assistant vice president in the national division two years ago.

A NEW San Francisco firm, Brown Heidt Associates, offering environmental planning and design service, has been organized by Thomas E. Brown, an architect living in Sausalito, and David Heidt, a landscape architect living in Mill Valley. Both principals were former senior associates with Lawrence Halprin Associates, San Francisco. Their office is located at 605 Washington Street, San Francisco.

New Product Designed For Water Pollution

LOS ANGELES (BW) — A new product designed to control municipal water pollution has been demonstrated for the first time.

Developed by Sweco, Inc., of Los Angeles, the wastewater concentrator employs a new mechanical screening principle to reduce pollution caused by overflow from combined storm and sanitary sewage systems during periods of heavy rainfall. This product removes most of the pollutants which usually by-pass the normal treatment plants.

The wastewater concentrator was demonstrated for newsmen and sanitary engineers at Portland, Ore., Sullivan Gulch Pump Station in conjunction with a symposium on storm — sanitary pollution control.

Howard W. Wright Jr., president of Sweco, said as much as one-third of sewage solids settle to the bottom of large combined sewers during dry periods.. In periods of heavy rain, these pollutants flow into streams, lakes, rivers and coastal waters without treatment because the treatment plant cannot handle the hydraulic flow which is several times that of dry periods.

The wastewater concentrator is capable of relieving a combined sewage system of its hydraulic overload during storm periods.

The unit, seven feet in diameter and six feet high, utilizes 18 removable panel screens on a revolving screen cage. A combination of high velocity influent flow and centrifugal force cause approximately 90 to 95 per cent of a hydraulic flow of 3 million gallons per day to pass through the 105 micron screens.

The remaining concentrate containing 99 per cent of the floatable and settleable solids is discharged separately into the hydraulically relieved sewage system and sent on to the sewage plant for treatment.

More than 35 million persons in the United States live in cities which have single sewage systems handling both sanitary waste and stormwater overflow. Government sources have estimated that it would require as much as $50 billion to construct separate sewage systems.

In one metropolitan city construction of separate systems would cost $100 million, Wright said. Cost of a Sweco system to process this volumn of storm overflow would be approximately $2 million, he said.

PARKLIKE? — Charred trunks, seared branches and foliage stand amid a tangle of strewn timber on the Rhigetti Ranch. A Marin conservationist told a convention of foresters Saturday that he thought the area should look like a park when the loggers were through. A tour of the scene of recent logging, scheduled Saturday for the visiting lumbermen was cancelled by attorneys for the logging firm.

Money-For-Troops Pact Is Revealed

U.S. Gives Thailand $200 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has released testimony disclosing a secret money-for-troops agreement between the United States and Thailand under which Bangkok sent 10,000 men to Vietnam in exchange for $200 million.

The pact, according to an extensively censored summary of hearings seven months ago, was signed on the ambassadorial level Nov. 9, 1967.

Although existence of the accord was denied at the time, Thailand announced Nov. 14, 1967, it was meeting a Saigon request and sending a division of volunteers to fight in South Vietnam.

NOTE TO ROGERS

Missouri Democrat Stuart Symington, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that held the hearings, coupled disclosure of the agreement Sunday with a letter to Secretary of State William P. Rogers asking for details of American aid to Thailand in exchange for sending troops to Cambodia as well as to South Vietnam.

Symington wrote to Rogers that "facts supplied the subcommittee by officials of your department—previously kept secret from the American public—clearly show the U.S. not only encouraged the Thais to send forces to Vietnam but also paid a very large amount in dollars—in excess of $200 million—for their training, equipment and individual allowances."

CLOSED HEARINGE

The testimony during a week of closed hearings last November indicated the United States would cover the cost of training, equipping and overseas allowances for a Thai division in South Vietnam. This included providing logistic support and mustering-out bonus for the soldiers.

The aid provided a Thai lieutenant general with $450 a month in allowances over his $370 monthly base pay. A Thai private got $39 a month extra from the United States over his base pay of $26 a month.

Besides such aid, the United States also agreed to send Bangkok a battery of Hawk antiaircraft missiles and to increase the military assistance program by about $30 million during fiscal 1968 and 1969 to speed the modernization of Thailand armed forces at home.

INTO CAMBODIA

Bangkok announced last week it was sending volunteers to Cambodia, along with other announcement said at the time, sistance, to be paid for, at least in part, by a U.S. military aid program.

'A REAL PRO'

Demo Praises Finch's Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says Elliot Richardson will have no trouble being confirmed as President Nixon's secretary of Health, Education and Welfare—and he has praised the switch that is sending Robert H. Finch to the White House high command.

"I'm very happy that a real pro is going to be in the White House very close to the President," Mansfield said after Nixon announced Finch is leaving HEW to become a counsellor to the President.

To head that vast and troubled agency, save for the Pentagon the biggest in government, Nixon chose Richardson, undersecretary of State and a man with a reputation as a top administrator.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Finch would tremendously strengthen the White House staff "and open new channels of communication and cooperation between the President, the Congress and the country."

Javits said Richardson "is a splendid public servant and should be able to head this vital, complex department admirably well."

Richardson, 49, is a former lieutenant governor and attorney general of Massachusetts. He served as an assistant HEW secretary during the Eisenhower administration and was named the top State Department official under Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

"Richardson is an excellent choice for HEW, but a loss to the State Department," Mansfield said.

He said he foresaw no controversy over confirmation. "I can't see them raising any objection to a man who had done a good job at State and has been a good right hand for Rogers there," Mansfield said.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Richardson's appointment "assures a continuation of dynamic leadership of the highest competence. I believe in Elliot Richardson. He will do a fine job."

Richardson skirted newsmen's questions about the future of HEW at a news conferance Sunday. "I don't have any thoughts about it anyway," he said, adding that it would be "imprudent and premature" to talk about it.

He said he felt qualified for the job on the basis of his past experience.

One Senate dissenter to the administration move — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said Finch had been demoted.

"I hate to see Bob Finch go, to be demoted this way," said Yarborough, chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. "I see in this hard days ahead for health and education programs."

Finch himself said of his new job "it's a higher calling, but a lower salary."

A counsellor to the President receives $42,500 a year; a Cabinet secretary $60,000.

Finch had faced administrative problems and public controversy at HEW, and there had been speculation he might leave the government entirely.

"I welcome his willingness to continue his service as a close friend and adviser to the President," said Scott. "His compa-

'ABOUT FALLING APART'

Planning Director Bemoaning Budget

Girls in the county planning department are so overworked that without a new Xerox copying machine and an IBM typewriter, the present operations will fall apart, Acting Director Albert Solnit declared today at a meeting of the Marin County Planning Commission.

"We've managed to survive by having the girls work nights," said Solnit. With labor saving machines like the Xerox copies, Solnit said the department can operate, but the administrator has deleted the new machines by cutting back on the office equipment rental budget.

"What we have here is an Ebeneezer Scrooge type of budget when we need computerized operations," said Solnit. "It would not be an overstatement to say we are just falling apart."

The planning department's request of $426,990 was recommended cut to $398,100 by the county administrator.

Solnit said the administrator wants to delete a senior typist, who is now in the staff, and fill the vacant position of a transcriber typist. "It's ridiculous to demoralize the clerical workers by saying somebody on the staff is going to be canned when we have a position vacant." The difference in pay between a senior typist and a transcriber typist is only about $49 per month, said Solnit.

Chairman Walter F. Freitas and Jack G. Nixon said they do not have enough information on the planning department budget and on the overall needs of the county to vote intelligently on the administrator's recommended cutbacks.

But Hugh Dougherty and Margaret Azevedo disagreed. "I'm surprised to hear you say that the planning commission doesn't have the knowledge to make recommendations on the planning department budget," said Mrs. Azevedo. "If we don't, I don't know who does."

Dougherty said the planning commissioners are certainly as well qualified as the county administrator or the county supervisors to make recommendations on the planning department budget.

Since the budget hearing before the board of supervisors is set for June 19 and will come before the next regular planning commission meeting, Freitas appointed a four-man committee to study the budget and make recommendations to the

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—Arab guerrillas said today they kidnaped and later released the first secretary at the U. S. Embassy in Amman, Morris Draper.

A statement by the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) said its members seized Draper as hostage for the release of guerrillas held by Jordanian authorities.

A PFLP spokesman later told UPI, "We are sending him back now. We are letting him go on orders of PASC (the guerrilla-coordination body, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command.)"

The spokesman refused to say where Draper was at that moment.

The U. S. embassy in Amman refused immediate comment.

(In Washington, the State Department said that as of noon EDT today Draper had not returned to the embassy at Amman.)

Draper has been in Amman since June, 1968.

The abduction came in the wake of clashes Sunday in which guerrillas claimed 104 persons were killed or captured.

A statement by the PFLP "Central Committee for the Peoples Militia" said originally Draper would not be released until specific demands were met.

These included dismissal of "undesirable" Jordan Army and political leaders including the commander-in-chief of the Jordan army, Sherif Nasser Bin Jamil, King Hussein's uncle.

Draper was assigned to Amman in 1968 and is head of the political section of the embassy there. He speaks French and Arabic. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California.

According to the report Draper has been missing since about 9 p.m., Amman time, Sunday. He was going to a dinner party at a Jordanian home in Amman and never arrived there.

Others at the party, reports to the State Department said, spoke of having been stopped at Fedayeen check points en route to the dinner and U.S. officials assumed that Draper had also been stopped by the Fedayeen but. instead of being passed through had been held.

Divergent Views On Marin Logging

By MICHAEL A. SMITH

The smoldering Righetti Ranch logging controversy in West Marin flared again briefly Saturday when professional foresters were told that the logging operation was both satisfactory and unsatisfactory.

Paul Zinke, Proefssor of Forestry at the University of California at Berkeley, told approximately 200 members of the Northern California Section of the Society of American Foresters: "From a professional forester's viewpoint, it was the best operation I have seen in the redwoods. But, as a member of the Sierra Club I found it repugnant."

The double edged comment came on the second day of a two-day gathering of the foresters in Marin.

The foresters, meeting at the Audubon Canyon Ranch, had been scheduled to tour the Righetti Ranch logging operation, but attorneys for Matthews Humbert and Walker Timber Co. of Coos Bay, Oregon, notified the foresters that the tour would have to be cancelled.

The reason given was that many of the foresters might be called in the future to testify in court as to the condition of the property. At present, litigation is pending on whether extra silt dumped into Bolinas Lagoon this spring was caused directly by logging operations on the Righetti property.

John Calahan of the California Forestry Protection Association, said that he had found logging practices at the ranch "reasonably acceptable by forestry standards."

Howard Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, sia dhtat the Righetti controversy was "really water under the bridge for the time being. But what we want to know," he continued, "is what about the next logger? I for one would like to have an ordinance on the books restricting logging operations in Marin County, an ordinance written by and enforced by Marin County residents."

Gregg pointed out that what happened at the Righetti Ranch should not be allowed to happen to other forested areas of Marin. "This is a tourist area. We just don't have time to wait for 40-to-60 year yccles", he said referring to the time for timber to mature and cover the scars of logging.

Instead, he suggested leaving a 300-foot wide corridor along a 3 mile stretch of the Bolinas Ridge running through the Righetti property for use as a hiking trail.

"I really think that when the loggers get done it should look like a park," Gregg concluded.

That may be the wish of the Marin Conservation League, but a tour of the ranch property by the Independent-Journal later Saturday afternoon revealed, besides the usual dustry roads for logging trucks, piles of slash and burned logs, acres where standing trees were no longer green, but brown, burned-out, upright monuments to a forest of the past.

Argentine Junta Ousts President

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—the commanders of Argentina's armed forces today announced they have ousted President-Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, the military man they put in power nearly four years ago.

"This junta of commanders-in-chief (of the army, navy and air force) has resolved to resume immediately the political power in the Argentine Republic," a communique said.

It added: "Consequently, it (the junta) invites Lt. Gen. Ongania to resign the post he has held until this date by mandate of this junta."

Cambodian Troops Overrun Red Units

PHNOM Penh (UPI)—Cambodian troops have driven North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces out of the outskirts of the city of Siem Reap and its ancient city of Angkor Wat, ancient city of Zangkor Wat, military spokesmen said today.

Military officials said government forces had also recaptured the town of Kompong Thom, 65 miles north of Phnom Penh.

An official spokesman said the Cambodian troops counterattacked Sunday and retook Siem Reap airport, which had been in Communist hands since Friday night, then ousted Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops from barracks on the outskirts of Siem Reap.

Cambodian commanders today poured reinforcements into the Siam Reap Airport and the city itself to consolidate the government hold.

Siem Reap, 150 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, is the gateway to the Ninth Century ruins of Angkor Wat and Angkor Thom, visited by thousands of tourists annually.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese spokesmen said a 5,000-man South Vietnamese task force had finished a drive to clear the east bank of the Mekong River but was remaining inside Cambodia to link up with government marines operating nearby. The U. S. Command in Saigon reported today that a helicopter gunship of the 1st Air Cavalry Division Sunday accidentally opened fire into allied troops in the Cambodian Fish Hook region killing two South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding 17, one of them an American adviser.

Last Thursday, four Allied troops including two Americans, were killed when a 101st Airborne Division gunship strafed ground forces near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The U. S. command said today U. S. troop strength in Vietnam was at its lowest level in more than three years with 425,450 U. S. servicemen in the war zone, down 2,600 from the previous week and the lowest since the week ending March 31, 1967, when there were 420,900 men on duty there.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Admits Cover

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency uses the U.S. foreign aid program as a cover for its operations in Laos, admits U.S. foreign aid chief John A. Hannah.

"Certainly, our preference is to get rid of this kind of operation," Hannah said Sunday, adding that Laos is the only place where the program is used in such a way.

Hannah, administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development, said he was sure President Nixon would recommend soon that Congress sever intelligence work from overseas economic assistance.

Hannah was questioned on the Metromedia radio program "Profile."

Third Party Talk

"If there is an issue in 1972 comparable to that of the war in 1968, and if neither Democratic nor Republican party takes a clear position, it is almost certain that a third party of some strength and substance will emerge," the senator said in an article in the New York Times magazine Sunday.

Attend Mass

CAMBADOS, Spain (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle, former head of the French state, and his wife heard mass Sunday at the Nation Inn's chapel before leaving to resume their tour of Spain.

De Gaulle, 79, received a bronze bust of himself from the mayor, Joaquin Fole. The sculpture was made by a local artist, J. Penede.

Remaining Neutral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Swedish Prime iMnister Olaf Palme says his country remains neutral no matter how critical it may be of U.S. military operations in Indochina.

"We have not taken one side or the other," he said Sunday. "Neutrality, which we pursue consistently, does not prevent us from having our opinions."

Palme was questioned on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press."

He said Sweden sheltered 400 U.S. military deserters to help "people in distress" and not to take a side.

"It was difficult to take up the issue of Vietnam mainly because we were so closely attached to the United States in the first place," he said.

To Keep 'Guests'

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Switzerland's voters, all of them men, have firmly rejected a proposal to evict more than 300,000 foreign "guest workers" from the country.

Nineteen of Switzerland's 25 cantons and half cantons voted 645,588-557,714 Sunday on the proposal, which the government warned would imperil the Swiss economy because it is heavily dependent on foreign labor. Fourteen of the 19 districts voted against the proposal and only five in favor of it.

James Schwarzenbach, the sole independent member of the federal parliament, had put forward the idea, backed by his action committee against "overforeignization of people and homeland."

Hit Long Hairs

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Police rounded up more than 400 long-haired youths Sunday night and forced them to have their hair cut.

The Formosa Provincial Assembly passed a law banning long hair and "hippie-like dress" last August. Officials said Sunday's sweep was the start of a crackdown on long hair and beards that will include foreigners on the island as well as Formosans.

Police said most of the arrested youths were on dates when they were nabbed. Each was fined the equivalent of $3 and charged 12½ cents for his haircut. Second offenders will be jailed for three days, police said.

$272,700 In Jewels Reported Stolen

NIMES, France (UPI)—Six pieces of jewelry designed by cubist painter Georges Braque worth $272,700 were stolen from Nimes Museum, police said Sunday.

The stolen pieces were part of a museum exhibition insured for $2.7 million. Police said the only clue was an auto jack handle left by the thieves.

Novelist Forster Is Dead At 91

LONDON (UPI)—E. M. Forster, whose novel "A Passage to India," became a classic in his lifetime, died Sunday. He was 91.

Friends said the cause of death was believed to have been a stroke. Forster died in Coventry where he had been staying with friends while recovering from a heart attack.

Forster had little use for orthodox morality. "I do not believe in belief," he once said. "I distrust great men. If I had to choose between betraying my country and betraying my friend, I hope I should have the guts to betray my country."

A shy, slightly built man with an elfish grin, Forster wrote only five novels. The first was "Where Angels Fear to Tread" in 1905. "A passage to India," published in 1924, was his last fiction work.

He also wrote 36 short stories, a biography, two volumes of collected essays and a handful of other writing.

Critics, who early disagreed on the value of Forster's work, later came to regard him as one of Britain's greatest novelists.

Born in London Jan. 1, 1879, Edward Morgan Forster traveled widely to continental Europe, Egypt and the Orient. It was in India in 1921—at the age of 42—that he found what he called "peace, happiness and an inspiration to write."

He spent six months in India as private secretary to an Indian ruler for whom he had a strong private attachment. He completed "A Passage To India" three years after returning to England.

A theme of separateness runs throughout the novel, the human barriers that cut people off from each other. It hits at British imperialism and the conflict between the Indian people and the privileged class of English governors.

Forster said the book "caused people to think of the link between India and Britain and to doubt if that link was altogether of a healthy nature."

Near A Decision

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — R. Sargent Shriver says he will decide this week whether to run for governor of Maryland.

Shriver, who is married to the former Eunice Kennedy and retired recently as U.S. ambassador to Paris, told a news conference before the West Virginia Democratic party's annual Jefferson Day dinner Saturday:

"I haven't made any final decision . . . but I probably will next week."

The incumbent governor of Maryland, also a Democrat, is Marvin Mandel.

$30 Million Safeguard Hike Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today recommended $365.8 million in construction money for the next year of the embattled Safeguard antiballistic missile program.

It is $30 million more than has been appropriated for the past three fiscal years and is for use during the year starting July 1. It is separate from weapons procurement money, which amounts to hundreds of millions more dollars.

The Safeguard money was included in a $1.99 billion military construction bill sent to the House floor for consideration later this week. This is $435.7 million more than was provided for the current year but $137.7 million less than was requested.

Critics of the Safeguard program contend it is unneeded, too costly and is goading the Soviets into a renewed arms race.

More Fires, Arrests At Isla Vista

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Young demonstrators set small fires at an oft-besieged bank and larger trash fires in surrounding streets early today in the Isla Vista campus community of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Officers riding in trucks and on foot swept back and forth through the square-mile community and threw scores of tear gas canisters to disperse small groups of youths. The protesters pelted the officers with rocks and other missiles, then fled and regrouped on other streets.

By 3 a.m. most of the demonstrators had dispersed on their own. A squad of about 100 officers holding hard plastic riot shields made a final sweep of the streets. Then most of the officers left.

Sheriff's Capt. Joel Honey said about 15 gasoline bombs were confiscated but he did not elaborate on the circumstances.

For the fourth straight night Sunday, a crowd of chanting youths surged to the Bank of America branch, target of repeated attacks since February by youths who said they were protesting the establishment. About 250 sheriffs deputies and state highway patrol officers dispersed the crowd of about 800 young people and quickly put out small fires on the roof and in the lobby of the one-story prefabricated bank. Damage was minimal.

The original branch building was burned down by protestors last winter.

The youths broke up into smaller groups and began hit-and-run tactics, setting fires in the streets with trash and lumber—even furniture dragged from their apartments near the bank. A car also was burned.

Deputies reported 29 arrests Sunday night and early today. As with 32 arrests through Saturday, most were for failure to disperse and violation of a dusk-to-dawn curfew in force since Saturday night.

Chavez, Big Melon Grower Reach Pact

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UPI)—Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Organizing Committee and a major Imperial County melon grower reached agreement in a secret weekend meeting halting a $30,000-a-day melon picking strike by field workers.

The agreement, ironed out during a private seven-hour peace talk Saturday, marked the first time an Imperial Valley grower had agreed to a workers' vote on union representation. It also marked the first negotiations between an Imperial grower and the AFL-CIO union.

The union pledged to withhold for one year further attempts to unionize workers of the Abatti Brothers Produce Co., should the union lose the vote.

Abatti, whose firm accounts for about 10 per cent of the valley's $11 million-a-year melon crop, signed an agreement with Chavez' younger brother, Manuel, which calls for a contract if his workers vote to be represented by the union.

when 200 workers left their jobs at the Abatti field and UFWOC pickets appeared. Picketing was halted Friday by a superior court restraining order, but only 15 workers returned to the fields. Abatti was losing $30,000 a day because of the strike, since melons, unlike grapes, cannot be stored for any length of time. Ripe melons will rot if left in the fields after three days.

Also during the weekend, some 4,000 members and supporters of a Mexican-American youth group called Mecha rallied at Indio, Calif., at the National Date Festival fairgrounds. The young persons began arriving in the Coachella Valley Friday and held speeches, a barbecue and a dance at the fairgrounds during the weekend.

A spokesman for the group said they had planned an all-out effort to halt picking and packing of Coachella Valley table grapes.

Police reported no incidents during the weekend. The Desert Grape League had asked for national and state protection from the militant youths.

Concern Over Quake

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope paul VI said Sunday no one is too far away to aid the victims of last week's killer earthquakes in Peru. The Pope told tourists and pilgrims during his regular Sunday blessing he was praying for the victims and had sent a special blessing to them.

Indian Tribe Takes Over Camp Again

They claim the land belongs to them and is held illegally by Pacific Gas & Electric Co., the world's largest utility firm. Of the 34 arrested, 19 remained in Shasta County Jail at Redding on trespassing charges, while 15 posted bail bond of $315 each.

At a tribal council at Hat Creek, 50 miles southeast of Big Bend, the Indians approved a motion to try again to occupy Lassen National Park just south of Hat Creek. On Friday, the Indians were turned back at the park gate by rangers and sheriff's deputies. They then switched plans and occupied the PG&E campground 10 miles southeast of here and roughly 270 miles northeast of San Francisco.

"Clip and Save"

Every girl should know how to re-fuse.

If you should find yourself power-less, and your neighbors are too, it's probably a local power equipment failure. Call us and we'll restore service.

If the power is off in your house only, it's probably a blown fuse or an open circuit breaker. You may have too many appliances on one circuit or outlet. Unplug a few. Or it could be a short-circuit, so check for damaged cords and loose plugs.

If your lights are still off, check your main switch.

If it is the fuse type, the switch should be turned "off" before you replace a fuse.

Replace any fuse that has a smoked-up window or melted metal strip. (Make sure new fuse is the same amperage as the old one—no more, no less.)

If you have circuit breakers, follow the instructions on the panel. Many homes have both fuses and circuit breakers.

If your electricity is off for any period, don't open your refrigerator or freezer, so frozen foods will stay frozen longer. If the food starts to thaw, add dry ice.

Still in the dark? Call us.

LITTLE PEOPLE'S PLANT IN

Four members of the ecology club at Henry C. Hall school are dwarfed by trees in Larkspur's Dolliver Park as the plant flowers, ferns and ivy as part of a park beautification project. They were among 40 students who participated in the project Saturday. The plants — all native to redwood forests — were donated by Marin businesses. The project will continue throughout the summer with the city repainting and a resident adding a mural to the restrooms, another resident building a redwood bridge, and the city installing a new merry-go-round.

Peru Tragedy Stuns U.S. Pilots

ABOARD A USAF C130 OVER PERU (AP) — A grandstand view of death and destruction swept beneath a big U.S. C130 cargo plane as it dropped supplies to survivors of earthquake-torn North Central Peru Sunday.

"Unbelievable," said the pilot, Capt. Bill Hudspeth, a Vietnam veteran, as he guided the big Hercules up the 80-mile Huaylas Canyon. "Worse than anything I have seen in my life."

Hudspeth shook his head in disbelief as the transport passed over what was left of Huraz, once a city of 50,000 at the southern entrance to the canyon, 180 miles north of Lima. Half the buildings had crumbled. Not a single roof remained intact.

The government says the earthquake a week ago may have killed 30,000 or more people; a United Nations observer says the count more likely will exceed 50,000. An estimated 100,000 more are homeless, injured or both.

Hudspeth reached for the throttle and headed his giant craft 21 miles up the gorge to Anta, the target of the airdrop. Anta, a village of about 2,000 was devastated, but by some freak of terrain enough of the town's tiny airstrip was spared from avalanches that hurtled down the 18,000-foot Andes to leave it still useable by small aircraft.

A quarter ton of sleeping bags, blankets and food rations was packed in plastic-wrapped survival kits and stapled into 12 large crates. The back bay of the plane lifted open as Anta came into view and the crates were shoved out, two at a time, as the Hercules made six passes over the runway.

Carhuaz, another town of about 10,000 people, came into view as the plane pulled out of its last drop run. "Incredible, unbelievable," was all the crew could say as they looked down on the shambles.

A few miles further up the canyon was Yungay, which used to be home for some 33,000 people. All that could be seen of it were the tops of four palm trees where the town square had been and a statue of Christ, with arms outstretched, which marked the hilltop cemetery.

A slide of rocks and mud two to three miles wide had hurtled clear across both banks of the Santa River at the bottom of the canyon, buried Yungay and smashed against a mountain ledge on the other side. Only about 2,500 residents of Yungay are believed to have survived.

The C130s fly twice a day, dropping supplies over the canyon then picking up survivors at the evacuation center in Chimbote. They are brought there by helicopters and vintage C47s that can just manage to land and take off at Anta.

More than half of Chimbote, a thriving industrial port of 80,000 people is gone. Its fishmeal processing plant is partly ruined. Engineers estimated it will take many months to get Peru's only steel plant there to operate again.

But the undamaged airfield has been turned into headquarters for planes and rescue teams from fourteen nations.

The air drops into Anta are part of a multimillion dollar U.S. relief effort. In addition to more than $1 million spent on the drops during the first week after the quake, the United States has pledged $10 million to help rebuild the shattered areas.

A big American Chinook helicopter was going into service between Chimbote and the Huaylas Canyon today, and a second Chinook was to arrive in Lima later in the day. Another 14 helicopters are due Thursday aboard the carrier Guam, now in the Panama Canal zone picking up 150 huge tents and as many crates of cereal and other food as can be loaded.

Two 100-bed field hospitals with medical teams also were expected later today. Many of those who survived the quake with injuries are dying as their wounds become gangrenous.

Crews of the big C130s that carry supplies from Lima to Anta, then ferry injured survivors from Chimbote to hospitals in Lima, report many of the injured have little chance of living after a week of exposure without food and medical attention.

Cuba has flown five planeloads of supplies from Havana although the Peruvian government broke off diplomatic relations with the Castro government along with other members of the Organization of American States. One of the American C130s was to carry a consignment of medicine and other goods from Cuba to Huaylas Canyon today.

Officer Struck, Suspect Held In Sonoma Jail

Raymond D. Miner, 19, of Santa Rosa, was arrested on suspicion of assault on an officer after Petaluma Police Sgt. Jimmy J. Matthews said he was nearly struck while trying to make an arrest.

Sgt. Matthews and two other officers said they had investigated a complaint of a loud party at 506 West Street Saturday at 12:24 a.m. and were attempting to arrest a young man for disturbing the peace when a crowd formed.

Matthews said a group of 10 or 12 persons from the party streamed into the street to attempt to stop the arrest by jeering the officers. He said the group attempted to restrain Miner, but he broke loose and attempted to strike the officer in the left eye.

Miner was booked into the Sonoma County Jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

HILL COMES DOWN, DIVERTS RIVER

The Yakima River was diverted yesterday afternoon when the hill above the old Ellensburg-Cle Elum highway, U.S. 10, about 6½ miles west of Ellensburg gave way, sending tons of earth across the roadway and into the river. No one was injured in the slide. (AP Wirephoto)

called on Rogers for fuller disclosures—how much will it cost and which government can initiate the withdrawal of Thai forces from Cambodia.

The role of Thailand in other Southeast Asian nations, and the part played by the United States, has been a going controversy in the Senate for several years.

On Nov. 14, less than a week after the secret U.S.-Thai agreement was reached, Bangkok announced it would send a division of volunteers to South Vietnam at the request of the Saigon government.

"IS COMPELLED"

"Thailand is compelled," the announcement said at the time, "to join forces with South Vietnam and other free world allies in halting the Communist danger while it is still at a distance from our homeland."

The full complement of Thai troops didn't reach South Vietnam until February 1969, but has been maintained at about division strength since.

Published reports in late 1967 that Washington and Bangkok had reached a secret accord for exchanging money and other aid for Thai troops were denied on both sides.

Thai officials said the reports were "malicious and scandalous" and allegations that the United States was sending Hawk missiles to Thailand as part of a troop exchange were lies.

In December 1968, Thai Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachord said, "That's not true at all," when asked if the United States gave money to pay for Thai troops in Vietnam.

CONTINGENCY PLAN

Related to the troop-money exchange has been a controversy over a so-called contingency plan under which the United States has agreed to help defend Thailand from aggression.

The Nixon administration, as the previous Johnson administration had done, maintains the 1967 agreement does not extend U.S. commitments in Thailand past the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization pact—the basis for all U.S. involvement in the area.

Senate criticism of this agreement and the refusal of the administration to disclose details of the accord, led to passage of an amendment prohibiting the use of U.S. ground forces in Thailand and neighboring Laos.

Tent For Crusade To Be Considered

A request by Rev. Tod W. Ewald of Holy Innocents' Episcopal Parish to erect a tent in Corte Madera Center for an evangelical crusade Sept. 13-26 will be considered by the town planning commission today at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

Also on the agenda are two applications for free-standing signs, one by the Copper Penny Restaurant, 71 Casa Buena Drive, and the other by Motorcycles Unlimited, 5768 Paradise Drive.

'Customers' Damage 40 New, Used Autos

Four San Rafael auto dealers and one in Novato suffered damage to about 40 new and used cars Saturday by men and women posing as customers.

Larry Dervin, owner of Dervin Ford of Novato, said today 15 men and five women swarmed into his agency Saturday about 11:30 a.m., asking to have new cars demonstrated.

While Dervin's salesmen pointed out new car features to some of the "customers," Dervin said, others began milling arond new autos parked on the outside lot.

After the "customers" left, Dervin said, his salesmen found 21 new cars with exteriors sprayed with paint, nine cars with slashed tires, and eight of the 30 cars with full length scratches along their sides.

When salesmen returned to the showroom after surveying the damage, Dervin added, they found the floor's carpeting soaked with water. Investigation revealed someone using the restroom adjacent to the main showroom had stopped the wash basin's drain and left the water running.

Dervin could give no explanation for the vandalism, but said one "customer" told salesmen she wouldn't purchase a car from the agency because it advertised in the Independent-Journal.

In San Rafael, dealers told police variations of the same story.

Annex Motors of 535 Francisco Boulevard told police about 12 persons entered the agency at noon and climbed in and out of autos parked on the used car lot.

William H. Beedle, sales manager, reported he knew something was amiss when that many people arrived.

While some of the group kept salesmen talking, others continued to prowl around the cars. When the crowd left, 12 sets of keys were found missing, a Porsche's seat slashed, and the wiring cut in several autos.

Collins Buick of 502 Francisco Boulevard said salesmen discovered two convertible tops and several tires slashed at its lot. The agency told police only one man had been seen in the lot prior to discovering the vandalism at 11:30 a.m. The damage occurred at about 11:30 a.m.

Felton Volkswagen at 601 Francisco Boulevard reported a seat slashed in one vehicle at about 11:10 a.m. Salesmen reported seeing two men in the lot prior to discovering the damage.

Marin Dodge at 1075 Francisco Boulevard told police two men entered the showroom about 11 a.m., told salesmen they were not interested in purchasing but rather were just looking. When the men left, salesmen found the front seats of two new autos slashed, police reported.

Selection Of Engineer Due

The Ross Town Council will appoint a town engineer to replace the late Philip B. Lygren when it meets Thursday at 8 p.m. at town hall.

The council also will adopt a commemorative resolution to be forwarded to Lygren's family.

Also on the agenda is further consideration of a request by the Ross School Parent-Teacher Association for a $900 subsidy for an after-school community recreation program.

The council considered the subsidy May 14 but referred it to its finance committee because of a lack of funds.

Petaluma Budget Talks On Tonight

The Petaluma City Council will begin deliberations on the 1970-71 budget today at 7:30 p.m.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer last week presented a preliminary budget of $3,119,473 which included a tax rate increase of 22 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Merchant Group To Meet Tonight

The Sausalito Businessmen's Association, a new merchant group, will hold an organizational meeting today at 8 p.m. in the Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, according to Robert D. Bauerle, acting president.

He said the group will elect permanent officers and make further plans to fight a city parking ban on Bridgeway, between Princess and Anchor streets.

TV Set Stolen

sion, understanding and his integrity are enormous assets to the administration."

Finch joins a White House staff hierarchy which has drawn complaints among some Republican senators who have been saying privately they have trouble getting through the staff to the President.

H. R. Haldeman, the chief of staff, and John D. Ehrlichman, an assistant to the President and top man in the domestic affairs field, are rated as the most powerful among Nixon's aides.

"This may break through the Berlin wall," said one Senate Republican aide, whose boss has complained bitterly but off the record about communications problems with the White House.

Finch, who resigned as lieutenant governor of California to enter the Cabinet, has been a close friend of Nixon for more than 20 years.

"I regret losing him at HEW, but I need him here," Nixon said at the White House Saturday.

Nixon said Finch now will fill a major advisory role, counseling him on domestic matters and also on some foreign policy areas.

supervisors. On the committee will be Nixon, as chairman, and Dougherty, Mrs. Azevedo, and John F. West.

The commissioners also asked Solnit to see if the budget hearing can be changed from June 19 to June 22. Since June 22 is the next regular meeting of the planning commission, commissioners could leave a part of the agenda open so that they can attend the supervisors' budget hearing en masse on June 22.

Park Is Due Consideration

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider a use permit for a public park to be built at 1005 Canal Street when it meets tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

A nonprofit corporation, R.E.C., hopes to use volunteer help to develop the 6,-100-square-foot minipark and then deed it to the city as a public improvement.

Also on the agenda is consideration of a site plan for a Sears and Roebuck Co. department store in the Northgate Shopping Center. Plans for a seasonal sales building and an auto service building also will be considered.

Pay Increase To Be Studied

San Anselmo City Council will consider a 6 per cent across-the-board pay increase for city employees tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The pay hike has been included in Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel's proposed $1,365,475 budget for 1970-71.

Other items on the agenda are appointments to the citys' design review committee, Marin County Economic Opportunity Council and city parks and recreation commission, and consideration of the county's request for continued cost sharing in its animal control program.

Parks-Recreation Meeting Canceled

Tomorrow's meeting of the Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission has been canceled because a Little League parents' meeting is scheduled for the same time.

No new date has been set for the meeting.

OBITUARIES

Joseph Jensen Dies At 70

Funeral for Joseph Jensen, a retired bakery company salesman, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Greenbrae. Interment will follow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Jensen, 70, died Friday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Niba, Denmark, he had lived in California and in Marin for 17 years. He lived with his wife, Arlyne I. Jensen, at 202 Railroad Avenue, Woodacre.

He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Bakery Wagon Drivers and Salesmen's Union Local 484 of San Francisco and he was a high priest in the San Rafael ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

In addition to his wife, Jensen is survived by two sons, David R. Jensen of Novato and Richard Gaisford of Murray, Utah; two sisters, Marie Poppe of Forest Knolls and Anna Petersen of El Verano, and six grandchildren.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the building fund of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, in care of Bishop Edward Nimer, 8 Alasdair Court, San Rafael.

JESSIE BILDERBACK

Funeral for Jessie Bilderback, a 39-year resident of Marin, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be at 2 p.m. in Boonville, Mendocino County.

Mrs. Bilderback, 84, died Saturday following a long illness at the home of her son, Robert W. Bilderback, 8 Greenwood Avenue, San Rafael.

A native of Oak Mills, Kan., she and her late husband, Leslie, came to California and Marin County in 1931. He was in the contracting business.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Bilderback is survived by a step-daughter, Kathryn J. Slattery of San Francisco, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

MADELINE GANO

Private graveside service for Madeline (Mimi) Gano, 18, Fairfax, will be held at the Sutter City Cemetery in Sutter County.

Miss Gano died unexpectedly Friday in Sao Paulo, Brazil, where she had been visiting the Stanley Aylesworth family for the last month. She had been expected to return home yesterday.

She was born in Maryland, while her father, Cmdr. (ret.) Paul Gano, was stationed in Virginia and lived in many cities across the country before moving with her parents to San Francisco five years ago. The family moved to 121 San Gabriel Drive two years ago.

She attended Bishop's School in La Jolla and was a graduate of the Drew School in San Francisco. She was a debutante in 1969 bowing at both the Marin and San Francisco cotillions.

NONA FARLEY

Mrs. Farley was born and reared in Mayetta, Kan., but moved to Petaluma as a young woman. In 1921 she married the late William Farley who operated a ranch and was a livestock dealer in West Marin until his retirement in 1948. She had lived in Santa Rosa since 1948.

She is survived by two sons, Howard Farley of Santa Rosa and Gerald Farley of Ironside, Ore.; two brothers and a sister in Kansas, and a grandchild.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Petaluma. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

HOWARD JACOBSEN

Funeral for Howard R. Jacobsen, 65, of Cotati, a retired tavern owner, was held today at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Inurnment was at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Jacobsen died Friday in a Santa Rosa Hospital after a long illness. A native of Parker, Colo., he lived in Nevada before moving to Southern Sonoma in 1926.

For many years he owned and operated the Buckhorn Tavern in Petaluma and later owned and operated the Eight Ball Tavern and Apartments in Cotati.

Jacobsen, who retired for several years, lived at 590 West Cotati Avenue.

He is survived by his wife, Mildred; a daughter, Kathleen Jacobsen of San Rafael and two sisters, Mabel Petersen of Petaluma and Lucille Newton of Napa.

Contributions may be made to the Campfire Girls or Boy Scouts.

THELMA WHITTINGTON

Funeral was today for Thelma A. Whittington of Mill Valley, who retired in 1967 after teaching kindergarten at Manzanita School in Marin City 15 years.

Mrs. Whittington, of 8 Laurel Street, died Friday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 68.

A native of El Paso, Tex., she was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles and began her teaching career at a state demonstration school in Cucamonga, San Bernardino County.

After working as director of adult education at Oxnard, Ventura County, Mrs. Whittington moved to Mill Valley with her late husband, William, a civil engineer with the U.S. Coast Guard, in 1941.

She returned to teaching in 1951, heading a special class at Manzanita School for one year. She then taught kindergarten until her retirement.

She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, Mill Valley Chapter 219; the California Retired Teachers Association, and the National Teachers Association.

Mrs. Whittington is survived by two sons, Richard, of Mill Valley, and David E., of Placerville, El Dorado County; a daughter, Ruth E. Whittington, of San Anselmo; a sister, Merl Stiles of Costa Mesa, Orange County; a brother, Roy St. John of San Gabriel, Los Angeles County; and six grandchildren.

Burial will be in Inglewood. Contributions to Hanna Boys Center, Sonoma, or a favorite charity are preferred.

GLENN G. CLARK

Funeral for Glenn Goundry Clark, 87, of 655 Canyon Road, Novato, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Redwoody Chapel Funeral Home. He died in a local hospital Saturday following a short illness.

A native of Wisconsin, he moved to Chicago where he headed the photography department of Marshall Field Department Store. He came to San Francisco in 1933 and worked as a machinist, part time at the Naval Shipyard during World War II. He was a mortuary assistant in Son Francisco until ill health caused his retirement in 1962. He had lived in Novato for the past three years.

Private interment will follow.

SWIMMING IS DUCK SOUP FOR SOME YOUNGSTERS

Marin's Civic Center lagoon, used for all kinds of aquatic instruction, is just the place to teach one's ducklings to swim, this proud parent has decided. Canoe lessons are the thing many a weekend on the lagoon, but this family had it all to itself Saturday. (Independent-Journal photo)

Display Of Original Folios Due

The works are part of the Folger Library in Washington, D.C. The exhibit will be in conjunction with the opening of the Marin Shakespeare Festival next month at Forest Meadows Theater at Dominican College, San Rafael.

Two early copies of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Merry Wives of Windsor" will be included in the exhibit. Some of the works are said to be in Shakespeare's handwriting and others are early reproductions of his work.

The festival troupe will appear in San Francisco July 17 at the Stonestown Shopping Center, July 3 at noon in Union Square, and July 5 at 6 p.m. at the San Francisco Jewish Center, 3200 California Street.

The festival will participate in November in the "Music of The Spheres," a program written for the Morrison Planetarium in San Francisco.

A special performance of "The Tempest' will be given at 2 p.m. Aug. 9 at Stern Grove in San Francisco, and a performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 3 at the Redwood Empire Arena in Santa Rosa.

White House Will Extend Tour Hours

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today it is extending Saturday visiting hours for tourists for two hours —from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.—from now until Sept. 5.

Normal Saturday visiting hours are from 10 a.m. to noon. The added hours will last through the summer to accommodate Washington vacationers. The regular schedule will be resumed on Sept. 12.

Criminal Investigator Paul Kirk Dies at 68

BERKELEY Calif. (AP) — Dr. Paul Kirk, pioneer in scientific criminal investigation who also functioned as a biochemist in development of the first atomic bomb, is dead at 68 after a brief illness.

Internationally known in the criminology field, Kirk founded the University of California criminalistics department in 1954 and later established police laboratories in Chicago and St. Louis.

After helping with the initial atomic bomb, he was chief of microchemical research at the Atomic Energy Commission's Hanford, Wash — nuclear laboratories.

As a criminology expert, he testified as a defense witness in the wife-murder trial of the late Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard in Cleveland in 1955.

Kirk died in Kaiser Hospital Friday.

Survivors include his widow, Reba, and two daughters, Mary Janke of Sacramento Calif., and Mrs. Anita Kaplan of Cleveland.

Pair Arrested On Pot Probe

Two Petalumans were arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana last night when police found two marijuana plants growing in their apartment.

Arrested were Doris Mae Callahan, 26, and Royce P. Lee, 24, both of 695 Petaluma Boulevard North. Police said they found the plants when they went to the apartment to investigate a report of loud noises.

They were booked into the Sonoma County Jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Nixon Fact Team Wings To Cambodia

White House communications director Herb Klein said he and Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania made the trip and met with Lon Nol and U.S. Charge d'Affaires Lloyd M. Rives. He declined to reveal what the discussion involved.

Sources said the meeting was held at Shafer's initiative, but they said they did not know whether he carried any special message from Nixon or whether any official policies were discussed.

The fact-finding group left this afternoon for Hawaii after a four-day visit to Vietnam and Cambodia.

Klein said the group would begin assembling their findings in Hawaii and present their report to Nixon later in the week.

The visitors arrived Thursday night and spent Friday attending briefings in Saigon. On Saturday, they visited pacified hamlets in the Mekong Delta and a district town in southeast Cambodia. They spent Sunday with American troops in Cambodia and at camps in South Vietnam.

In addition to Klein and Shafer, the group included Sens. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H.; George Murphy, R-Calif.; John Tower, R-Tex., and Howard Cannon, D-Nev.; Reps. Melvin Price, D-Ill.; William G. Bray, R-Ind.; G. William Whitehurst, R-Va., and O. C. Fisher, D-Tex.; Govs. John A. Love, R-Colo., and Robert E. McNair, D-S.C., and White House presidential counselor Bryce N. Harlow.

Klein said the members had not yet had a chance to examine all the facts they had gathered during the visit but they were pleased to have had an opportunity to speak with American and South Vietnamese leaders and with American GIs.

Israel, Syria Stage Big Frontier Fight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli and Syrian artillery pounded each other across the cease-fire line today while Israeli planes attacked Syrian positions along the entire frontier, the Israeli military command announced.

Eleven Israeli soldiers were wounded, a spokesman said.

The planes carried out a two-hour sortie, during which they hit Syrian gunposts from Khisfine in the south to the northern sector of the occupied Golan Heights, he added.

The spokesman accused the Syrians of unleashing artillery fire at Israeli forces at Nahal Gesher and Rafid in the central heights.

Israeli tanks and artillery "silenced the sources of fire," he said.

The planes then wheeled in on bombing runs against Syrian artillery positions and returned safely, he said. The Syrians claimed they bagged two Israeli planes.

About an hour later, the planes began hammering Syrian gun positions in the Khisfine, Rafid, Uneitra and northern Golan areas. The two-hour air strike ended "after the objectives were hit," he said.

He claimed the Syrians opened fire on Israeli troops several times Sunday and today, and noted that "in their announcements they admitted taking the initiative in these activities."

Earlier, three Israeli soldiers on the southern Golan Heights were wounded by shots fired from Jordanian territory across the Yarmuk River toward El Hamma the spokesman said.

A spokesman in Damascus claimed the Israeli settlement of Nahal Gesher was destroyed by Syrian artillery.

The spokesman said tanks and planes were involved in the fighting, apparently the heaviest in a series of clashes that flared June 1 after a 10-day lull. There was no immediate report of casualties.

Ninety minutes after the fighting began, the Syrian spokesman said, "the enemy threw in his air force...to bomb our positions." He added that Syrian antiaircraft batteries sent up a heavy barrage against the intruders.

Israeli planes pounded Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal for the eighth straight day Sunday and hit at suspected guerrilla bases in southern Lebanon. And in Jordan, fighting erupted between Palestinian guerrillas and Jordanian troops.

All Israeli planes returned safely from the air raids, according to the Israelis, although a Cairo spokesman claimed Egyptian antiaircraft fire downed an Israeli Skyhawk.

It was the third straight day of almost incessant bombing along the canal in line with Israel's new policy of "continuous military activity" against Egypt.

The raids against suspected guerrilla hideouts along the slopes of Mt. Hermon in Lebanon were in retaliation for two days of commando attacks, on the border town of Kiryat Shmona, a Tel Aviv spokesman said.

In the Jordanian town of Zerka, a pitched battle broke out between Palestinian guerrilla and Jordanian troops and then spread to Amman, the capital, 10 miles to the south. Today both areas were reported quiet.

Israeli Jet Sales Still Undecided

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers says he expects the United States will decide "fairly soon" whether to sell more jet warplanes to Israel.

"I wouldn't want to put a time limit on it." he said Sunday. "I would think it would be before a few weeks."

"It's in our best interest to be sure Israel survives as a nation," he added. "That's been our policy and it will continue to be our policy. So we have to take whatever action we think is necessary to give them the assurance that they need that their independence and sovereignty is going to continue.

"At the same time, we have to do it in a balanced and measured way so that we don't signal to the Arabs that we are so behind Israel that we will support them no matter what they do.

"The reason for that is we want to keep the door open for negotiations. And we think it is just possible, just possible that you could get negotiations started. It is just possible that this could result in a settlement somewhere along the line."

Minipark To Be Considered

A request for a use permit to allow development of a minipark at 1005 Canal Street will be considered tomorrow when the San Rafael Planning Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

The park site, owned by Robert Greene, contains 6,100 square feet. Greene hopes to develop the site with volunteer labor and materials and then deed it to the city.

Also on the agenda will be consideration of a request from the W. J. Purdy Co. to use 15 acres between Point San Pedro Road near Sea Way and Bay Way to dispose of 12,000 cubic yards of dredge fill.

Court To Decide On Housing Issue

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether voters may exercise a veto over the construction of public housing in their community.

The court will examine this controversial issue next term, a brief announcement said. The hearing was granted on an appeal by the city council of San Jose.

Low-rent housing built with federal aid was blocked in Marin County last Tuesday when voters defeated a county housing measure.

No more low-rent public housing units can be built beyond the 500 already approved unless Marin voters approve the housing in a subsequent election or if the Supreme Court upholds a ruling of federal court in San Francisco.

Last April a federal court in San Francisco struck down an amendment to the California constitution that prohibited most state-financed public housing unless a majority of the residents of the city or town approved.

The amendment, Article 34, was put to a test beginning in 1966 when the city council of San Jose voted 6 to 1 for public housing in the city. Under the amendment, a special municipal election was held in 1968 and 57,896 votes were cast for public housing and 68,527 against it. As a result the council and the public housing were blocked.

A group of San Jose welfare recipients then attacked the amendment and won last April's ruling.

In other actions today, the court:

—Ruled 5 to 2 for the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad in a tangled dispute over union picketing at the Moncrief Yard outside Jacksonville, Fla.

—Held that the foreign registering of a ship does not exempt the owner from paying damages to seamen injured in U.S. waters.

—Dismissed the appeal of a Maryland man who complained he was given a harsher sentence after winning a new trial on a robbery charge.

—Decided today to rule next term on a modified state loyalty oath requiring teachers and employes to swear support of the U.S. Constitution and to disclaim belief in overthrow of the government.

The announcement that a Florida case will be heard next fall or winter came as the Court sat for the last time in more than a year as an eight-man bench. Justice Harry G. Blackmun will be sworn in as the ninth member Tuesday.

—Appointed Federal Appeals Judge Albert B. Maris as a special master in the Justice Department's offshore land suit against 13 Atlantic states stretching from Maine to Florida. The federal government is contending that the states should have no jurisdiction over any offshore areas beyond the traditional three-mile limit.

Court Date Set On Marijuana

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Five men arrested in Mill Valley last month after selling about 180 pounds of marijuana to narcotics agents are scheduled to appear for arraignment in U. S. District Court June 18.

Indicted Friday for possession and sale of marijuana were Eric F. Millican of Long Beach, John A. Papia of Mill Valley, Thomas N. Hammer and Sheldon Levy of San Francisco and Ramon Bouchayer of Larkspur.

Bouchayer had been booked under his stage name, Raymond A. Laurent.

A sixth man, Michael McGuire of Southern California, who turned himself in after the arrest of the others is not being prosecuted now, a federal narcotics agents said today.

Certificates For World Travel

Vaccination certificates for international travel may now be validated at the county department of public health office at the Civic Center, as well as at the department's office at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Hours at the Civic Center office are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the Grand Avenue office is open from 12 to 5 p.m.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, noted there is now a $1 charge for each certificate validated.

The certificates are required to reenter the United States after travel abroad.

Funds At $700 To Fence Miwok Mound

A recently formed group aiming to preserve an Indian mound in Marinwood has raised almost $700, but will need $1,500 just to fence in the Miwok remains.

Donald R. Thieler, president protem of the Miwok Archaeological Preserve Committee of Marin, said the fence money is within reach and the group will have a public meeting from 9 a.m. to noon June 20 at Miller Creek School in Marinwood to explain plans for the mount.

Thieler said $331 has been contributed privately and at least another $360 from the sale of tickets for donuts at Hunt's Donuts in Terra Linda. However, he said he expects the group will net $1,000 from the sales by Thursday.

Although no meat has been put on the bones of the group's plan, the group decided at a Thursday meeting on some general things to explain at the June 20 meeting.

The group composed of citizens, scientists and educators from within the Dixie School District will recommend a style of fence, outline the development of the fenced area to tell the archaeological story, suggest ways to develop the whole area for nature and Indian study, and explain plants for a museum on the site, according to Thieler.

The committee doesn't have the authority to accomplish these aims, Thieler said. Actually setting up an archaeological preserve would require action by the Marinwood Community Services District and the Dixie School District. He said his group is only an advisor to them.

Protection of the mound against indiscriminate digging and vandalism and fostering appreciation of Marin Indian life and the methods of learning about it more is the goal of the group, Thieler said.

Each dollar ticket sold buys a dollar's worth of donuts, and the committee gets 50 cents, Thieler said, adding that he was optimistic about selling 2,000 tickets donated by the Marin Civic Center Lions Club — which got them free from Hunt's Donuts.

Thieler asked that the location of the mound — one of the less ravaged Miwok sites in Marin — be withheld to prevent further vandalism and "pot hunting."

Draft Refusal Charge Denied

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Leland H. Jones of Corte Madera pleaded innocent Friday in U.S. District Court to a charge that he refused induction into the Army March 17 in Oakland.

The case was continued to June 24 for setting of a trial date.

Jones faces a maximum penalty for draft refusal of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Eight Stage Skyjack Of Czech Plane

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI) — Eight hijackers, including two married couples, used guns to force the pilot of a Czechoslovak State Airlines plane to land in Nuernberg today, Bavarian Border police said.

Police said the Ilyushin 14 airliner of Czechoslovakia's CSA airline was flying a domestic route from Karlovy Vary Karlsbad to Prague when the hijackers forced the pilot to alter course.

The hijackers, who also had a 2-year-old child with them, were armed with five pistols, a knife and brass knuckles, police said.

The crew did not resist the hijackers' demands and there were no incidents on board the aircraft, they said.

Twenty-five police surrounded the plane as it came to rest on the airport apron, they said. The hijackers left the plane and surrendered without resistance.

Police said the hijackers were held at the airport for initial questioning, but none of them appeared to understand German.

The aircraft was scheduled to return from Nuernberg to Czechoslovakia at 1:30 p.m., the spokesman said.

Water Board Will Study Wastes In Bolinas Lagoon

I-J Special Report

HAYWARD — The Regional Water Quality Control Board is expected tomorrow to take further steps to halt the discharge of untreated wastes into Bolinas Lagoon.

The board, meeting at 10 a.m. in the Alameda County Public Works Building at 399 Elmhurst Street, is scheduled to require the Bolinas Community Public Utility District to meet stiff discharge standards.

Board staff has reported that the district is violating a discharge ban imposed last fall and that the situation first came to light in 1961.

The PUD and the Stinson Beach County Water District say they are forming an assessment district for future treatment of sewage in the two communities.

Also at tomorrow's meeting, the board is to discuss amendments to its water quality plan for San Francisco Bay.

Development Master Plan Is Due Study

Changes in the master plan for San Marin East will be considered by the Novato Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The area to be considered for changes from present recreational and business zoning to business and professional and residential lies on both sides of San Marin Drive west of Highway 101. It is owned by Standard Growth Properties.

The commission will also discuss plans for a 92-unit apartment development on South Novato Boulevard across from Fire Station No. 2. The plan was submitted by Allan Steinau.

Other items to go before the commission include plans for a pizza hut for the northwest corner of Machin and DeLong avenues for Ben Ostlind and a use permit for a Dolphin Club child day care center at 1900 Novato Boulevard for Willard F. Petersen.

Talks Set On Park System

The future of the Novato park system will be discussed by the city's parks and recreation commission when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

A $2.9 million park bond issue and $600,000 recreation center bond measure were defeated at the primary election. The commission must decide on means to complete Pioneer Memorial Park and to start work on Novato Creek Park.

Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, will present the final park budget to the commission before it goes to the ciyt council tomorrow night.

85 Students Due Seminary Degrees

Eighty-five students from 33 states and six foreign countries will be candidates for degrees in the 99th annual commencement at San Francisco Theological Seminary at 10 a.m. next Saturday in Baird Hall Court at the San Anselmo school.

The class is the second largest in the seminary's history. Ceremonies have been changed by the class, replacing the usual commencement speaker with seven representatives of the seminary who will tell their own visions of the ministry.

Speakers will be Rev. Howard L. Rice of the department of ministries; Rev. Francis Gebbes, adjunct professor in the Level III program; Richard M. Gray, seminary trustee; Peter T. Wyckoff, Clyde E. Griffith and Elizabeth Sykes, students in the Level III program, and Thomas B. Robb, candidate for a doctorate of theology degree.

Music will be provided by a guitar choir from Redwoods Presbyterian Church of Larkspur and the seminary singers.

Twenty advanced degrees will be given, and 51 candidates will receive master of divinity degrees as graduates of the Level III program. These will be the first master of divinity degrees awarded by the seminary.

The seminary fellowship will be awarded to Constantino V. Riccardi of Altadena, Los Angeles County; the fellowship for the pastoral ministry to Robert W. Bennett Jr., Santa Monica, and the alumni fellowship to James A. Thompson, Des Moines, Iowa.

New Jobs For Young Officers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has disclosed two young Navy officers have been switched to different jobs because they were associated with Concerned Officer Movement (COM) an antiwar group.

Lt. Gordon Kerr of Alexandria, Va., and Lt. James Pahura of Medina, N. Y., will serve as "intelligence analysts" instead of as "intelligence briefing officers," a Pentagon spokesman said Saturday.

"It was the opinion of their superior officer that their association with the COM was inconsistent with their duties involving the briefing of senior officers," the spokesman said

Principals To Give Year-End Reports

The four principals of the Kentfield School District will present their year-end reports when the district board meets at 8 p.m. today in the library of Wolfe Grade School. They will summarize the 1969-70 year and make suggestions for 1970-71.

The board also will hold a closed meeting to discuss "employment, appointment or dismissal" of a certificated employee. Supt. Anthony G. Bacich declined to specify whether hiring or dismissal was to be discussed.

Inmate Dies After Gulping Wire Hook

A San Quentin State Prison inmate who apparently tried to fish something out of his stomach with a wire hook died at the prison hospital yesterday, prison officials reported today.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Raymond S. Rivera, 33, of Santa Cruz, was admitted to the hospital May 30 with a wire protruding from his mouth. The wire cut the esophagus in several places, Park said.

What the convicted rapist was after was unknown to Park today, but he said Rivera was seen swallowing something during a routine search following a visit May 30.

Park said it was probably a narcotic.

Rivera was committed to San Quentin in 1962 for three years to life for four counts of rape. He was paroled in 1967, but was returned in 1968 for parole violation, the associate warden said.

An autopsy will be performed at the prison, Park said.

Tax Increase To Be Studied

The Lagunitas School District board will discuss the effect of a 90-cent tax increase on the 1970-71 budget today at 7:30 p.m. at San Geronimo Valley School.

Voters, last Tuesday, approved raising the tax limit from $2.65 to $3.55 per $100 assessed valuation. The board had maintained the increase was necessary to maintain the existing level of educational programs in the district.

The board will also be given a report on the district's drug abuse education program and on the natural science education resource program at the meeting.

Car Takes Out Part Of Fence

A car careening down Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross at an estimated 50 to 60 miles an hour today wiped out 25 feet of fencing at 2 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Ross police reported a car driven by Richard D. Hinkle, 33, of San Francisco left 155 feet of skid marks while crossing the center line, jumping a curb and flattening the fence of Mark H. Harman at 12:30 a.m.

Hinkle was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of drunken driving. He was held in lieu of $450 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2:30 p.m. today.

Fringe Benefits To Be Discussed By Dixie Panel

Representatives of teaching and nonteaching staffs of the Dixie School District will meet with the district board tomorrow at 8 p.m .to discuss fringe benefits.

The district has one of the oldest fringe benefit packages in the county, according to Supt. Clifford W. Campbell.

Campbell said the staff will present a proposal to the board for increasing benefits.

The board will also discuss proposed policies concerning religion in the schools and the U.S. flag.

Campbell said the religion policy merely clarifies for teachers U.S. Supreme Court rulings on religion in the schools, and the flag policy puts in writing, to comply with state law, the present policy of saluting the flag each morning.

Aluminum Rowboat Is Reported Stolen

An aluminum rowboat valued at $300 was stolen between May 21 and 31 from its mooring at the Brazil Ranch, Dillons Beach.

The boat's owner, Ronald E. Towery of Pleasanton, told sheriff's deputies the thief hacksawed a lock to steal the 13-foot boat.

'HARD HATTERS' PARADE, FIGHT ON DAY OFF

Sporadic violence marked Hard Hat parade by more than 20,000 persons Sunday in St. Louis. Several were injured as anti-demonstrators and the marchers, mostly construction workers, fought along the parade route. The demonstration in support of the Nixon policy in Southeast Asia fell short of the 175,000 turnout that had been predicted. (UPI Telephoto)

Novato. Budget Due Eyeing By City Council

A budget of approixmately $2 million will be presented to the Novato City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, who is still working on final details of the budget, said he expected it to be higher than the current $1.9 million current spending program.

The council will set dates for budget hearings.

Other items to go before the council include setting a public hearing on improvement of Ignacio Boulevard, an agreement with the state Division of Highways on San Marin Drive and Reichert Avenue, improvements on Cherry Street and an appeal by Young Brothers mobile home sales on planning commission denial of a sign.

Legality Of Rent Strikes On Agenda

Realtor Larry Shepherd of Berkeley will talk on landlord-/tenant relationships when the Marin County Board of Realtors meets tomorrow at 8 a.m. at the Corte Madera Lions Club.

Shepherd will report on legislation affecting the legality of rent strikes such as the one being conducted in Berkeley.

Nixon Asks $1.5 Billion To Ease School Desegregation Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration asked Congress today to provide $1.5 billion over the next two years to help school systems desegregate. A spokesman said the measure would deal for the first time with de facto segregation.

However, administration officials asked that funds for busing of students not be included in the special legislation designed to ease the desegregation transition of local school districts.

Robert H. Finch, who has stepped down as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to become one of President Nixon's counselors, told a House subcommittee studying the plan:

"In this bill, the federal goernment for the first time is establishing a policy to deal with de facto segregation." De facto refers to segregation resulting from housing patterns.

"This administration," Finch said, "is committing federal dollars to help those dstricts eliminating both de facto and de jure (by law) segregation and trying to overcome the education disadvantages stemming from racial separation in their schools."

The program, being supplemented by a presidential task force headed by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, is concentrated on helping school districts under court order or HEW pressure to desegregate.

In its prepared testimony, HEW asked for a restriction "to preclude the support of transportation services where the intent is solely to establish racial balance" in a school.

Financial aid during the two years beginning July 1 would go to school districts with three special needs:

—Those under court order to desegregate or those which are desegregating under plans approved by HEW. (The administration estimates that 861 school districts with 5.5 million children are eligible in this category.)

—Those wth one or more predominantly block schools. (About 10,360 schools in 1,840 districts would be eligible under this heading.)

—Those in which more than half of all school children are black. ("Districts in this category, with heavy concentrations of minority students, would be eligible for funds to meet the costs of additional interracial educational projects or, in exceptional circumstances where such programs are not practicable, demonstration compensatory programs," the HEW statement said.)

Nominating Report On Panel's Agenda

Directors of the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council will hear a report from its nominating committee on filling seven board vacancies Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Room 254 at Civic Center.

Four of the openings are to be filled by members of the Marin Health Facilities Planning Board, which merged with the Comprehensive Health Planning Council last week.

Injuries Minor In Auto Crash

Two drivers suffered pains in a two-car collision along Shoreline Highway, north of the Marin County heliport, Saturday afternoon, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Walter Joseph Miller, 34, of 1000 Ignacio Boulevard, Ignacio, collided with a car driven by Beulah W. Lund, 48, of 318 Ross Drive, Tamalpais Valley, at 4:20 p.m.

Miller, who suffered a sore neck, and Mrs. Lund, who suffered a sore shoulder, refused hospitalization, officers reported.

Vote Tally At Last In Fresno

FRESNO (AP) — After being reprogrammed, computers finally have produced results of the primary in Fresno County.

The $1 million system had been expected to process ballots within three hours of the poll closing Tuesday night.

But gremlins intervened and it wasn't until Saturday night that veteran Assemblyman George Zenovich learned he had won the Democratic nomination in the 16th State Senate District to contend in November with Republican Earl S. Smittcamp of Clovis, who was unopposed.

P. J. Camaroda of Fresno was the Democratic winner in the 32nd Assembly district, and Kenneth L. Maddy of Fresno was the Republican choice.

Fresno County results in major statewide races were:

For Republican senator — George Murphy 15,196; Norton Simon 13,993. Democratic senator — John V. Tunney 21,359; George Brown 14,928, and Kenneth Hahn 3,352.

Alaska To Siberia Air Route Opened

MOSCOW (UPI)—An Alaskan airlines Boeing 707 with 130 passengers arrived today in Khabarovsk from Anchorage to open an air route linking Alaska with Siberia, the news agency Tass said.

American tourists will be taken from Khabarovsk to other Soviet cities by Russian airlines. The new Alaska airlines route was established under a recent agreement with the Soviet air authority.

Joint Use Of Hamilton To Be Aired

A proposal by San Rafael engineer Winfield O. Salter for a comprehensive study of the joint military-civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base will be discussed by the Marin County Aviation Commission tomorrow night.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Salter, who lives at 545 Heather Way, heads an informal group of engineers and developers interested in commercial aviation. He contends that a plan should be developed for an industrial park-airport complex at Hamilton, outlining what the county wants to promote and permit.

In addition to plans for joint use of Hamilton facilities, the county should have a plan ready to implement if and when the military air base is discontinued, said Salter.

The commission will also discuss the county airport budget for 1970-71, which County Administrator Alan Bruce wants to trim from $50,123 to $35,123.

San Anselmo Mayor In Magazine

San Anselmo Mayor James F. Reed has the distinction of being included in an article entitled "Bad Names" in the July issue of Esquire magazine.

The article features descendants and relatives of such historical names as Jesse James, Gregory Rasputin, Benito Mussolini and Pancho Villa.

Reed is a descendant of survivors of the Donner-Reed party.

His great-great-grandparents and their children were among the group of pioneers who, en route to California in 1846, became stranded in an unusually early winter storm in the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Faced with cold and starvation, the group eventually resorted to cannibalism.

The magazine says 47 of the 87 members of the party survived, including the entire Reed family.

Reed is called by the magazine a "witty and charming raconteur" and "the man who often comes to dinner in San Anselmo and only occasionally may get funny little looks."

TV Cable Franchise To Be Studied

The Fairfax City Council will again discuss the city's franchise with Clear View cable television at its meeting at 8 p.m. today.

The council last month received a written offer from the cable company for renegotiation of the franchise contract but postponed action on the offer.

An appeal by Councilman Robert R. Souza of a planning commission decision will also be considered by the council.

Souza said he attended the planning commission meeting at which a conditional zoning permit was granted for the construction of a house in an area of Fairfax reached by private road.

Souza said he is appealing because he thinks the permit is in violation of two city ordinances.

The council will also consider a resolution suggested by Mayor Frank J. Egger that two trees be planted for every one the city removes.

Correct Builders

The Independent-Journal erred Saturday in a caption under a photograph of the launching of a sailboat built by sixth grade students at Santa Margarita School in Terra Linda. The boat was built by three sixth grade classes at the school, not by three students, as reported in Saturday I-J.

Today is Monday, June 8, the 159th day of 1970 with 206 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1928 a Schenectady, N.Y., station began a regular schedule of television programs three times a week.

In 1965 American astronauts Ed White and Jim McDivitt completed their Gemini journey. They traveled 1,609,684 miles in 62 orbits of the earth.

In 1969 President Nixon announced that 25,000 American servicemen would be withdrawn from Vietnam by Aug. 31. Also on that day film star Robert Taylor died of cancer at the age of 57.

A thought for the day: American writer Henry David Thoreau said, "There is no odor so bad as that which arises from goodness tainted."

Parish Will Graduate 35 At Mount Carmel

Thirty-five Our Lady of Mount Carmel Parochial School eighth graders graduated yesterday during a Mass at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Mill Valley.

Rev. Thomas Burns, associate pastor of Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato, will deliver the homily and Rev. John J. Cunningham, pastor of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, will hand out diplomas.

Sometimes Crystal Ball Is Needed To Help In Guesswork

"You columnists are missing a good bet," a fan points out. "You should manufacture and sell crystal balls to help us when we have to guess. I'd buy one myself, and I might even get a few extra just in case one worked better on red than on black suits. Just last night, for instance, I needed help on the red kings."

THIRD CLUB

East took the first two clubs and led a third club, my correspondent reports. South ruffed with an honor, drew two rounds of trumps and then had to guess which red king was in favorable position.

"Since I didn't have a crystal ball, I guessed wrong," South admits. "I tried a finesse with the queen of diamonds. Later, I had to lose a heart trick, and that was the end of my contract. I'd have been all right if I had discarded the queen of diamonds on the last club in order to play for the king of hearts to be in favorable position."

MIGHT DO BUSINESS

Our correspondent's suggestion is a good one, and we might do business with him some year. Until we find the right manufacturer, however, this column will have to take the place of guesswork.

South should play for both kings instead of just one. After drawing two rounds of trumps he should cash the last club in order to discard a heart. Then he should take the ace of hearts and lead a heart toward dummy's queen.

HEART ACTION

As the cards lie, West would have to put up the king of hearts and lead another heart. South would discard the queen of diamonds on dummy's queen of hearts, assuring the contract.

If the king of hearts happened to be in the East hand, the play for hearts wouldn't work. East would return a diamond (or South could get to dummy with a trump to lead a diamond), and the contract would then depend on the diamond finesse. South would make his game if either red king were in favorable position.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player bids one spade.

You hold:
♠- 5 2
♥- K 10 6 3
♦- K 10 8 4 2
♣- 3 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER, Bid two hearts.

You count six points for the two kings and one point for each doubleton, easily enough for a raise of partner's suit.

Saturday Dinner Parties Planned

By MOLLY MARIN

Several Tiburon and Belvedere hostesses will give dinner parties prior to the Belvedere Nursery School's fund-raising evening, "Bring Your Friends to School," Saturday at the old school building on Cove Road.

Mrs. Richard Otter, president of the nursery school's board of trustees, will prepare dinner for Messrs. and Mmes. William Hambrecht, Fred Rose, Frank Greene and Dick Smith; all parents of children who will be attending the new school next fall.

Beverly and Robert Bastian will entertain couples who helped build the first school in 1950. They are Justice and Mrs. Richard Sims, Mrs. Virginia Collbran, Messrs. and Mmes. Ralph Noah, Richard Finnie, Russell Keil, E. G. Weed, John Bridgman, W. H. Brooke and MacBoyle Lewis.

Dinner will be served at the F. J. Dreyfous home to some of her committee and their spouses, who have helped with the authentic decoration of a Victorian doll house to be offered at the Marin Art and Garden Show in July. Invited are Messrs. and Mmes. Lawrence Green, Mark Mullins, Robert O. Valentine, Charles McDaneld, Stewart Barns, Cameron Baker and Robert Kahn.

MR. AND Mrs. George Moore of Rohnert Park will celebrate their 51st wedding anniversary June 22. The reception mentioned in this column on May 30 was held last year in honor of the Moores golden anniversary.

MRS. JAMES M. McKinnon of Sleepy Hollow became the bride of James Norman McLachlan of Winnipeg in a ceremony the afternoon of May 30 at St. Stephen's Church in Vancouver, B. C. Her daughter, Vicki McKinnon, was her mother's honor attendant and Margot McLachlan was the bridesmaid.

John Sigurdsen of Vancouver served as best man and the ushers were James and Guy McLachlan. The bride's son, Bruce McKinnon, gave her in marriage.

The couple are living in Vancouver.

BLANCHE LEWIS, third grade teacher at Homestead School, will be honored at a tea tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in the library of the school.

Friends, colleagues and parents of former students are invited to attend.

Mrs. Lewis, who has taught third grade at the school for many years, is leaving to teach remedial reading at Park School in Mill Valley.

LIVING IN Limestone, Me., are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Steele, who were married May 11 at the chapel at Laring Air Force Base in Maine.

The bride is the former Mrs. Noella LeClere of New Brunswick, Canada. She is the mother of Lynn, Sylvia and Denise LeClere.

Dan is the son of Mrs. Emily Steele of San Anselmo and Danley A. Steele of Australia. His sisters are Mrs. Larry Zlaczewski and Mrs. William Hart, both of Napa, and Ruth Steele of San Anselmo.

THEIR 10-DAY cruise to Hawaii, Oahu and Kauai will be a fond farewell to the Pacific by Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Everett Jr.

STEPPING OUT in fashions they made following classes in sewing with knits are Mrs. E. E. Peterson, left, in a gray polyester knit crepe dress and Mrs. Fielder Nordstrom, who is wearing a rust-brown acrylic jump suit with short overskirt that she designed. The setting is the Nordstrom home in Novato.

READY FOR a dip in the pool at the Fielder Nordstrom home in Novato are Brenda Fauss and her mother, Mrs. Byron Fauss of Petaluma wearing bathing suits made with knit material. The swim suits can be made in two hours at a cost of $6 to $7.

Learning To Sew With Knits

By DOROTHY NEWELL

"Beginning sewers can learn to sew with knits just as easily as more experienced seamstresses," sayd Mrs. Richard Winterhalder who teaches classes in the special techniques used in sewing with knits.

A Petaluman who with her husband owns a Novato fabric shop, Mrs. Winterhalder has taught over 200 women to sew with the manmade fibers such as polyester, orlon and acrylic as well as single and double knits of cotton and wool.

"The beauty of sewing with knits is the speed with which they go together. T-shirts and pants can be made in 45 minutes, alpaca sweaters in two and one-half hours and swimsuits in two hours.

Mrs. Winterhalder stresses that knits are comfortable to wear and finishing seams and hems is not necessary as there is no raveling. Instead of gathering and easing a sleeve to fit an armhole, for instance, the armhole is stretched to fit the sleeve.

Patterns are designed to be used only with knits, not woven fabrics, however, other patterns can be used with the knits. Soap is used as a marker to prevent grease marks on the material.

Basic patterns are used and in sewing with knits, the pattern can be adjusted for a person with a figure problem, Jean said. "We teach creativity in the class and if someone admires a garment in a newspaper or magazine, in most cases it can be copied with only a few minor adjustments to the basic pattern."

Special sewing machines are not required but a zigzag is needed when making a swim suit or lingerie — (girdles, brassieres and negligees are all made in the class.)

Only ⅞ yard of material is needed for a size 14, 16 or 18 swimsuit which can be made for $6 or $7. A great savings compared to swim suits bought at retail even if knits are more expensive than woven fabrics. But most knits are wider than the woven. For the children, a boys suit with a fake-fly front takes only 15 minutes to make.

Mrs. Fielder Wordstrom, an accomplished seamstress before taking the course, said she likes to sew with knits because they are so comfortable to wear working in her garden.

Recently, Mrs. E. E. Peterson and Mrs. Byron Fauss and daughter, 6, of Petaluma and Mrs. Winterhalder were guests at the Nordstrom home in Novato and modeled some of the garments they had made.

Studded Chokers

Donald Brooks, who believes in coordinating fabric and jewelry colors for his midi outfits, says he likes the choker, something done in real pearls, studded with lapis or jade. Victor Joris, one of the very first American designers to show the maxi lengths, plans to show cultured pearl dog collars and chokers in colored stones in his fall collection.

MRS. NORDSTROM, left, checks a pattern for slacks in the sewing room of her home with Mrs. Richard Winterhalder, who teaches classes in sewing with knits. Mrs. Nordstrom is wearing an acrylic two-piece suit she made and Mrs. Winterhalder is wearing a polyester slack suit. Mrs. Nordstrom said the suit she is wearing took a little longer to make because the stripes had to be matched. On the sewing machine are a pair of shorts Mrs. Nordstrom made in 45 minutes.

Together During Childbirth

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — "Giving birth is one of the great moments in a woman's--and a couple's–life. By encouraging 'family-centered maternity' we give the husband and wife a chance to be together during labor and delivery, " says Elisabeth D. Bing, who has taught thousands of parents the Lamaze method of prepared childbirth.

Prepared childbirth, pays extensive dividends physically, psychologically and emotionally, believes the Berlin-born physiotherapist who helped pioneer the Lamaze method in this country during the past decade. She still lectures extensively on the technique, which she teaches at Flower Fifth Avenue Hospital here and privately.

Because Mrs. Bing received so many enthusiastic letters from couples she has taught, she felt she should share them. The result is a book, "The Adventure of Birth: Experiences in the Lamaze Method of Prepared Childbirth," which she edited. It is a compilation of 40 first-person accounts by mothers and fathers describing the excitement of actively participating in the birth of their child.

"Educating the husband and wife and letting them work together does something for the whole family relationship you can't put in statistics," she says, enthusiasm for her "cause" showing in her soft voice. "It won't save a bad marriage but it makes a good marriage even more meaningful.

"It's better for the baby too," she adds. "Through correct training and actual participation of the mother we can reduce the amount of medication that would otherwise be used in labor. We're concerned about the condition of the fetus and it's safer to give the least amount than the maximum amount of medication."

"Natural" childbirth, she feels, is a bad term because people think it means primitive childbirth, without medication and just suffering through. Often medication is needed and it is provided.

"We don't promise painless childbirth, but reduce pain by the techniques used," explains Mrs. Bing, who authored an earlier book, "Six Lessons for an Easier Childbirth," and who cofounded The American Society for Psychoprophylaxis in Obstetrics.

ASPO, as it is known, is a nonprofit educational institution set up in 1960 to provide information, and to train and accredit teachers in the Lamaze method. Initially used in Europe in the 1950s by the late Dr. Fernand Lamaze, it differs from the "natural" childbirth advocated by the late Dr. Grantly Read. But, Mrs. Bing says, "there is no animosity between us at all. Both aim at the same goal—better obstetrical conditions and making childbirth a better experience.

"Read says having a baby is a normal physical process and shouldn't hurt; that ignorance, tension and fear cause pain which wouldn't exist if the woman is taught to relax," Mrs. Bing explains. "Lamaze says labor is a situation of stress that's likely to be painful, so let's do something about the pain."

This is done to a large extent by breathing techniques which the woman in labor synchronizes with contractions. The intense disciplinary training is given in a six-week course starting about the seventh month of pregnancy. In the weekly sessions, attended if possible by the husband, the physiological and anatomical changes during pregnancy, labor and delivery are explained.

Then come the breathing techniques used in labor and delivery—three different kinds:

—Slow, deliberate chest breathing, six to nine breaths a minute

—As contractions get stronger a shift into shallow, faster panting-like breaths in 4-4 rhythm.

—Still another rhythm six short pants and a blow.

In addition to alleviating the pain through proper breathing there's a psychological factor, since the focal point is on the mechanics of technique rather than on exploring pain.

Though ideally husband and wife should work as a team, with the husband giving commands and breathing along with his wife if she falters, it's possible to use the method without him, since nurses familiar with the procedure can give support.

"But even if a husband isn't enthusiastic at first, in spite of himself he usually gets involved and afterwards can't stop talking about the experience," Mrs. Bing points out. "We get couples back for refresher courses when they have their second and third child."

Availability of the Lamaze method is almost nationwide now, and ASPO has 16 chapters and 26 affiliates.

Mrs. Bing's businessman husband, Fred M. Bing, is "terribly involved in my work and awfully good about doing the dishes when I have to dash off to a lecture." They have ason, Peter, 15, for whose birth she used the Read method which she had studied and taught before becoming interested in Lamaze's technique.

Why Not NOW? for Summer!

Miss Eileen Feather, Nation's Leading Figure Authority

Each woman's figure problem and her results will vary. That's why Eileen Feather has a special personalized program for every woman. For example: If you are 5' 5" tall and you have a 27" waist, 40" hips and 22" thighs—you have a figure problem. But if your waist comes down to 24", you have a better figure . . . and if your hips come down to 36" it's even better yet. Put them all together and you have a perfectly lovely figure . . . and this is exactly what Eileen Feather's SUMMER MAGIC PROGRAM is designed to do.

Have a perfectly lovely figure this summer!

So if you're going to have a perfect figure someday, why not let it be now, for summer!

LOOK AT THE CALENDAR TODAY IS JUNE 8th

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Why Should Cleaning Needs Be Taxed When Food Isn't?

DEAR HELEN:

I am a housewife with three children and a budget that never quite makes it. Huge grocery bills are bad enough, but the last straw is that little charge tacked on the end and labeled tax — this for soap, detergent, cleaning needs, bleach, etc. They don't tax food because it's essential to life. If cleanliness isn't essential too, then I wasn't brought up properly.

Isn't it time we women complained? — MRS. H. H. FROM A SALES TAX STATE

DEAR MRS. H.:

If enough of you housewives sent letters of complaint to your Governor as well as the legislator from your district, you might get action. — H.

P.S. It has been estimated that the average American wage earner works from January 1 to May 9 just to pay his state, federal, local — and hidden — taxes.

P.P.S.: Okay, wise guys: Going to work on May 10 isn't the answer. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When I first went out with my future husband I told him a few silly things about other fellows trying to get fresh with me. He knows nothing serious ever happened.

Well, it's 25 years and three children later, and my husband still nags me about these fellows. Even our children get disgusted. He keeps promising he won't bring the subject up again, but he always does. It's getting worse.

I am a good and true person and have never given him cause for jealousy. How can I make him forget a past that never was? — SADIE

DEAR SADIE:

Your husband evidently doesn't want to believe "Sadie was a lady." Whether he is feeding his jealousy or his fantasies, I don't know, but he could find out with the help of a counselor.

When he explores the real reasons for his obsession — insecurity, titillation, perhaps a little of both — he'll be on the way to a cure. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

As you say, much of what the women's liberation movement stands for is needed, but why must the groups that are open for us to join be so far-out?

I don't wish to burn my bra or picket beauty contests. I wish to protest the slavery of marriage, the treatment of women as sexual objects, the archaic divorce laws which hurt men as well as women, the inequality of pay for equal jobs, and our general second-classdom.

Isn't there a sane, sensible women's lib club that we moderate liberals could join? Something that would allow us to express our feelings and still remain married to reactionary husbands? — LIB WITHOUT LIP

DEAR LIB:

How about introducing a lib study group into your local woman's club? Perhaps you quiet libs can teach the "lippy" ones it's better to persuade men than fight 'em. — H.

(Marin County has a chapter of National Organization for Women which "acts to change the conditions which prevent women from developing to their full human potential.")

DEAR HELEN:

With all the ruckus against the mid-calf skirt, why are the designers still pushing them? Their fall showings are filled with midis, while stores and streets are filled with minis. Isn't this going to hurt sales? What woman in her right senses will buy a new dress when she figures it may be out of style by fall? Why can't we choose our own length (which for me is at the top of the knee), with everything from mini to maxi to choose from — DISGUSTED

DEAR DIS:

Why indeed? And we could if women weren't sheep! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Show Laces

Shoe laces figure in the fall and winter fashion scene. Only what shoe laces! They're attached at the back of the shoe — at the counter of the heel — and then are wrapped criss-cross fashion up the leg, tying, fore or aft, at the knee.

Flammable Fabrics Standards Are Low

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Government officials are beginning to feel the heat from critics of delays in putting tougher regulations into effect on fabric flammability.

For almost three years, Federal agencies have had the authority to extend present minimum standards for clothing to such products as curtains, blankets and bedding. But they have not done so.

For the same period of time, the same agencies have had the authority to tighten up present standards which are so low that only the sheerest fabrics fail to pass. This, too, has not happened.

Only in recent months has the Commerce Department, which is in charge of setting standards, started to get serious about the matter by proposing standards for rugs. But they are so weak that major manufacturers say their products already exceed them.

During the same time, the Federal Trade Commission has had the authority to crack down on products that exceed limits of flammability theoretically in effect since 1953. Not until recent months has the FTC sought to apply the law forcefully and extensively.

The failure of government agencies to protect the public better was told in detail last week in a special study made for the National Commission on Product Safety, which goes out of existence June 30.

Further evidence is being added at continuing hearings of the Senate Consumer Subcommittee, which has called Federal officials on the carpet to find out why so little has been done.

Congress itself shares much of the blame because of its failure to supply the necessary funds for administering the 1967 amendments to the Flammable Fabrics Act. The same lack of funds has crippled other pieces of consumer legislation, notably the "Truth-in-Packaging" law.

The net result is that American consumers still must take their chances and sometimes expose their children to unreasonable hazards. An estimated 150,000 people continue to be injured each year, including 4,000 fatally, when clothing or home furnishings catch fire.

Yet almost all of these items would meet present low standards. Proof of that was supplied by the Commerce Department two years ago when it tested 117 garments recovered from fire victims. Every garment passed the test.

In Great Britain, children's nightgowns have had to meet strict requirements of fire-resistance since 1967. The most commonly used chemical process used there is also available but scarcely used in this country. In fact, it was first developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Meanwhile, one thing consumers can do is to be more selective when purchasing potentially flammable items.

Among the basic fibers, wool is the most resistant to flames. Among the synthetics, glass and modacrylics are the best. Nylon, polyester and acrylic are usually less flammable than cotton and rayon, which are the most flammable of all. Tightly woven fabrics are better than loosely woven ones.

One way for consumers to get better protection is by inquiring about flammability at the store. Not much is going to be done until the public itself speaks up more than it has done to date.

Lynn E. Gomberg Is Bride Of Bruce McCarl

Lynn Elizabeth Gomberg became the bride of Bruce Alan McCarl at a post-graduation ceremony in Boulder, Colo., on May 30.

Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Gomberg of Tiburon, received a degree from the University of Colorado three days before the wedding, as did the bridegroom.

Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle E. McCarl, Baltimore, Md.

Maid of honor was Shari Horowitz of San Francisco. The best man was Michael Henderson of Boulder.

After a wedding trip in the Pacific Northwest and Canada, the newlyweds will settle in Pennsylvania, where Bruce is enrolled for graduate study at Pennsylvania State University continuing his major in business.

Scribbling On The Walls Allowed At This Nursery School Party

The "old" Belvedere Nursery School on Cove Road in Belvedere will be the scene of a fund-raising party Saturday, from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Proceeds will be used to build a new school on its site ,to open next September.

Cocktails, dancing, games and graffiti (scribbling on the walls which are soon to be torn down) are part of the fun planned by co-chairmen Mrs. Harry Brownson and Mrs. Gardner Baldwin. "Bring your Friends to School" is the theme for the dance which will circulate from indoor playrooms to the school's patio. Children's art will decorate the walls.

THE GREENOAKS Unit of Marin Foundation Friends of Arequipa will have a luncheon and silent auction Wednesday at 11:30 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Lauren Tuttle.

THE LAST meeting until September for the Femineers will be luncheon at Tiburon Tommies restaurant in Tiburon Wednesday at 11:30 a.m., followed by bridge and dominoes. Mrs. Samuel Seifert of Mill Valley is reservations chairman.

THE SLEEPY Hollow Nursery School will hold its annual spring picnic at Lake Lagunitas for the families of children currently enrolled. Hot dogs, hand-cranked ice cream and cupcakes prepared by pre-schoolers will be on the menu.

A nature walk is also planned. Mrs. Loel Labbertson is chairman.

THE HOME of the president of the Sleepy Hollow Guild of Sunny Hills, Mrs. Robert Toneff, will be the setting for a tea and silent auction tomorrow from noon to 3 p.m.

MRS. DIANNE Feinstein, president of the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, will speak on "San Francisco in the '70's — A Time and Place for Urban Solutions" at the 13th annual meeting of the Women's Division of the Jewish Welfare Federation of San Francisco, Marin County of the Peninsula tomorrow.

Nahum Gutman, an Israeli artist, will also be a special guest at the luncheon meeting to be held in the Pavilion Room of the Fairmont Hotel.

WOMEN OF the Mill Valley Tennis Club will hold their Ladies' Crazy Tennis Tournament tomorrow. This annual event is open to members and is a highlight of the spring schedule.

Mrs. Thomas Kearney is chairman for the tennis games, which will be followed by a luncheon.

Their son, Ken and his wife, Mary Lu, will be studying for the bar examinations at the family home this summer. Ken will be graduated from Hastings School of the Law and Mary Lu from Bolt Hall Law School this month.

THE DAN HAUSERMANS of Belvedere are very busy this week as they move their household and five of their children to their new home in Lake Tahoe and also plan the Edwardian-style wedding of their daughter, Julia, on June 21, to be held at the Mission on the University of Santa Clara Campus.

Virginia Lynn Brown Is Wed To John Dalton

Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Virginia Lynne Brown and John C. Dalton. A reception in the church hall followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug G. Brown of Greenbrae are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dalton of Oakland.

Leslie Gaddy of San Francisco was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mmes. Gordon Brown of Fairfax, Charles Kenney of Concord and Ed King of Studio City.

Ernest Dalton of Chico was his brother's best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Larry Storms of San Jose, Charles Kenney of Concord and John's brother-in-law, Robert Bechtle of Berkeley.

Virginia is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. She attended College of Marin and prior to her marriage was employed by Ross Valley Medical Center in Greenbrae.

John was graduated from Watsonville High School and California State Polytechnic College. He is employed by the U.S. Government as a civil engineer in Morgan Hill. He is also the brother of Mrs. Robert Bechtle and Stuart Dalton of Chicago.

Following a wedding trip to Montana and Canada the couple will live in Gilroy.

Vows Said At St. Anselm's

St. Anselm's Catholic Church in San Anselmo was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Cathleen Carole Colapietro and Steven Scahill.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carle Colapietro, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scahill of Fairfax.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. John Machado of San Rafael as maid of honor and bridesmaids, Mrs. John Mello of Mountain View and Carleen and Caren Colapietro of San Anselmo.

Thomas Scahill was his brother's best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Tony Iacopi, Ronald Whittemore and Ronald Paolini, all of San Anselmo.

A reception at Carpenter's Hall followed the ceremony.

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School, the bride is employed by Pacific Telephone in Mill Valley. Mrs. Ruth Brogdon of Mill Valley is her grandmother.

Steven was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School. He is employed by a data processing firm in San Francisco.

Virginia Langford, D.A. Madden Marry

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Langford of Melbourne, Australia, had as her matron of honor Mrs. Charles English of San Rafael. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ignacio Navarro of San Rafael and Mrs. Harper Buck of Tiburon.

Best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. William Madden of Sonoma, was Irwin Rotchy of San Rafael. Ushers were the brother of the bridegroom, John Madden of Sonoma and Ignacio Navarro of San Rafael.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Tiburon Tommie's in Tiburon. The couple will live in Mill Valley.

Educated at a private school in Melbourne, the bride was employed as a typist there before she came to San Francisco last February. She has a brother, Peter Langford, in Melbourne.

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School and Santa Rosa Junior College, the bridegroom is manager of the Rathskeller Restaurant in San Francisco. He has another brother, William Madden of Sonoma.

Follow Rules

Since you must rely on instructions from the manufacturer, then why not follow the rules throughout the life of the garments. Tags and labels, carefully preserved and referred to when the garment needs washing or drycleaning, are worth their weight in gold, say the experts.

Campaign Spending Is Scrutinized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional candidates reported less than one-fifth of their campaign spending to the federal government in 1968, a task force estimated today.

It recommended a new strict requirement to report all election-time spending and proposed new machinery to police federal elections.

It also said there should be no limits on spending or individual contributions, recommended tax credits for political contributions and urged that broadcasters be required to sell reasonable amounts of time to candidates.

The report came from a panel on congressional campaign finances set up by the Twentieth Century Fund, a New York-based foundation.

It estimated more than $50 million was spent in 1968 campaigns for Senate and House seats, but said that only $8.48 million had been reported under federal disclosure requirements.

Because of "the weakness of federal and state laws, some candidates spend more than $1 million in their campaigns without reporting anything to the public," the task force said.

It said Congress should create a permanent, bipartisan commission with broad powers to regulate election campaigns for federal office.

The task force also proposed establishment of a special committee of Congress to investigate spending during the 1970 campaign. It said that panel should assemble and publish information about 1970 spending while the campaigns are in progress.

Former Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, a Republican from Missouri, headed the task force; Neal Staebler, a former House member and the Democratic national tis, a Republican from Michigan, was vice chairman.

It said a law requiring full public disclosure of all campaign financing would be "the key to achieving honest, fair and competitive campaigns."

The task force also proposed:

—A tax credit of up to $25 for political contributions, a step designed to encourage small donors.

—A requirement that broadcasters sell reasonable amounts of time to congressional candidates, and a tax deduction system to encourage sale of the time at discount rates.

—A simple, universal system to promote total voter registration.

Resignation To Be Studied

Directors of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council are scheduled Wednesday to consider the resignation of Robert Kramer, the antipoverty agency's administrative assistant.

Kramer told the Independent-Journal he is leaving his $10,800-a-year post to enter community work that would bring him in closer touch with people. His present job entails handling of fiscal matters.

The board, meeting at 8 p.m. at the Southern Marin Target Area office at 630 Drake Avenue, Marin City, also will discuss implementation of an emergency food program.

Seven To Get Diplomas

Seven eighth graders will be graduated from Clairbourn Marin School at 8 p.m. Thursday at the school in San Rafael.

Addressing the graduates at the First Congregational Church, 8 North San Pedro Road, where the school is located, will be headmaster of Clairbourn Bay Area Schools, William Holford. He will speak on "The Three R's — Reason-Responsibilit-Respect."

Diplomas will be distributed by Laurene Jensen, director of Clairbourn Marin, and Elizabeth Schaefer, director of Clairbourn Peninsula.

The students will sing "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands."

MUSIC REVIEWS

Chorus And Soloists Display High Standards

High standards of the College of Marin Music Department were demonstrated further last night in the concert of the Community Chorus and Collegiate Chorale directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff in the Fine Arts Theater.

Two demanding works in florid style — Handel's "Ode on St. Cecilia's Day" and Haydn's "Nelson Mass" — were performed by some 130 voices, four soloists and a professional orchestra that included some of Marin's top musicians among the 20 instrumentalists plus organist.

Accompaniment by the orchestra, instead of Wolff's usual practice of playing the organ himself as the only accompaniment while also directing, freed him to devote full attention to developing potentialities of the singers and niceties of the scores.

Balance was so good that the choral fabric was seamless in its four parts, and unanimity in internal phrasing was the best I have heard in the college's chorale concerts.

Major attacks and releases were, as usual, razor sharp.

A tremendous momentum carried the chorus to electrifying climaxes, yet there was plenty of variety in dynamics.

All of this was most evident in the "Nelson Mass," which formed the second half of the program, for only in the final ensemble of the ode did the chorus have an opportunity to be heard at full capacity. Attention was focused on the two soloists for the most part in this work paying homage to Cecilia, the patron saint of music.

Soloists were soprano Marian Marsh, who handled the vocally taxing high tessitura beautifully, and Paul Raabe, a new talent to me, who proved to have a strong, flexible lyric tenor of pleasing timbre, though a few notes were insecure.

Top vocal honors in fact went to Miss Marsh, because she had by far the most of the solo passages in both works and her voice had the power necessary to soar above the chorus at top volume.

Her control of long-sustained notes was remarkable.

Joining Miss March and Raabe as soloists and in quartet for the "Nelson Mass" were Arlene White, whose mellow warm contralto I had heard before, and a singer new to me, Daniel Elias. His bass was strong and of a rich musical quality.

The tonal blend in the quartet was attractive but the balance not always perfect since Miss March's voice was occasionally predominant and Miss White's not quite strong enough at times.

Arthur Hills was the organist whose competent playing was perhaps a bit subdued, but made a subtle contribution to the orchestral sonority. — MPS.

College Band Displays Finest Of Playing In Stimulating Program

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

Thanks to very interesting programming and excellent performance, the College of Marin Community Band's spring concert Saturday night was the best I have heard by this group composed of some 65 students and Marin adults.

Whatever the reason — unusually fine musicians or extra hard work or both — John H. Myers brought the ensemble to a new peak of achievement in this concert acclaimed by a large audience in the Fine Arts theater.

Highlight of the evening was the dramatic "La Fiesta Mexicana" by H. Owen Reed. Written while he was in Mexico in 1948-49, the work evoked with stunning effect, because of its brilliant orchestration, all the flamboyant pageantry and religious fervor of a Mexican festival. Its difficulties tested the capacity of every performer, but the band's very strong percussion section was an important key to its success.

Similarly stirring, though in a much lighter vein because of its rhythmic swing, was a suit from the ballet "Pineapple Poll" consisting of music George Mackerras put together from tunes by Arthur Sullivan. It was indeed a "ballet for band" in an arrangement by W. J. Duthoit.

Of special interest because it was unusual music well performed — and conducted by a woman — was the "Toccata Marziale" by Vaughan Williams. Marjorie L. Scheffler, a Novato public school music teacher, conducted with a smooth, vigorous beat, but used the left hand hardly at all to produce finer shadings.

Apparently programmed to show the skill of trombonist David Murray, another music teacher, the concerto for trombone and band by Rimsky-Korsakov was disappointing. Whether he was nervous, having difficulties with his instrument, or for some other reason, his playing was uneven and technique not up to handling some pasages.

For novelty "The Train Ride" depicting a child's idea of such a ride for Prokofieff's "Winter Holiday" was delightful. In Mussorgsky's "Scherzo" the band's flute section was outstanding.

Of course any band concert is not complete without marches, and three were played with proper zest.

In the opening "Fortinbras" march some Shostakovich's incidental music for "Hamlet". I was especially aware of the fine tuba-baritone deep brass playing.

The other marches were "The Sousa-like "Mount Healthy" march by "Gus Beans" actually Henry Fillmore, and the "Nationay Fencibles" march by Sousa himself.

Kenneth Aflord's "Holyrood" march was a stirring encore.

Rec Commission On New Schedule

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission will not meet tonight because of its summer schedule of one meeting per month rather than two.

The next regular meeting will be June 22 at 8 p.m. in the board room of the Mill Valley Public Library, 375 Throckmorton Avenue.

Concert Set By Stage Band

"Exploration in Sound," a program of music featuring the San Rafael High School Stage Band, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at the high school auditorium.

It will be a repeat performance of the concert presented previously. Proceeds will begin a fund to buy a stage band drum set and other equipment.

Movies of the school's marching band's recent performance in Disneyland will be shown.

STUDENTS SAY IT ALL—THANKS

A smiling student body (left) at Larkspur-Corte Madera School in Larkspur presents a banner proclaiming "Thanks" to the school's two custodians during "Appreciate the Custodian Day." Friday's festivities included a candlelit lunch with champagne (center) for Richard DoDele, lighting candle, and Gary LaJannette, looking on with gusto. Sponsored by the students and the Parent-Teacher Association, the appreciation day ended with three six grade students holding the short end of the brooms as the two janitors were given the afternoon off. Claire Fogley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fogley of 3235 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, was chosen as alternate for the week-long experience in government.

Mishaps Hurt Four On Main Highways

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in two accidents on Marin highways yesterday, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said his car failed to make a curve on San Geronimo Valley Drive just east of eMadow Way and hit a power pole at 1:30 p.m. A passenger, Linda Leonera, 18, of 78 Toyon Drive, Fairfax, was treated for bruises and cuts on both arms.

David B. Crispell, 22, a sailor stationed on the USS Ranger at Alameda, was treated at Marin General Hospital for undisclosed wrist inpuries after his motorcycle skidded on a patch of loose gravel on Shoreline Highway near Muir Beach overlook and hit a guardrail at 1:25 p.m., officers said.

A passenger, Rusty A. Weers, 22, of Alameda, was treated for bruises of both knees.

Gallinas Creek Sewage Plans Gain Approval

Plans for an 18-inch sewage force main across Gallinas Creek proposed by the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District has drawn no objection from state agencies, an Army Corps of Engineers spokesman said today.

To gain final approval of the permit from the Army, the sanitary district must agree to about 20 conditions including no pollution, no variance from announced plans, compliance with all regulations and proper maintenance, he said.

The corps must approve the main because it crosses the north fork of Gallinas Creek approximately 400 feet upstream from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad bridge near Gallinas Village, the spokesman said.

He added that no objection was received from the public.

Two Arrested For Burglary

Two men were held in lieu of $1,250 bail apiece to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on suspicion of burglarizing a Mill Valley house.

Arrested Saturday and booked into Marin County Jail were Steven Joseph O'Brien, 21, of 1171 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, and Robert Donzill Price, 18, of 72 Cole Drive, Marin City.

Police said the two were caught at 9:28 p.m. inside the Robert H. Bradley residence, 28 Vasco Drive. The house had been ransacked according to police, but nothing appeared to be missing. A third man fled when officers arrived.

Dispute Stalls Search For Body

A Kentucky youth was reported drowned in the Petaluma River late Saturday afternoon, but a jurisdictional dispute apparently has hampered the search for his body.

Police said they believe Neval Skaggs Jr. of Jefferstown, Ky., drowned when a small boat capsized in the river below the Union Oil Co. dock at 5 p.m.

Companions of the youth told police at 5:45 p.m. that their 14-foot homemade boat was being towed in the river when it overturned.

Four youths in the boat managed to cling to the side, they said, but Skaggs, who could not swim, slipped away. Thomas Basch, 17, of 4335 Bodega Avenue, Petaluma, told police that many dives were made to save Skaggs, but all failed.

Police said Roy Graham of Petaluma, a reserve officer in the Marin County Sheriff's department, assisted with his boat in a 90-minute search.

Police Capt. Henry Eslick said evidence was found that a body had washed up on the east bank, but had drifted away again.

The search was not continued yesterday and Eslick said the department had no plans to do so today. The Coast Guard was called, he said, but refused to send a search team until the body had been approximately located.

Eslick said that since the drowning was the result of a boating accident, that the Coast Guard should retrieve the body.

U.S. Copters Will Aid In Quake Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials have announced the aircraft carrier USS Guam will arrive off the coast of Peru Tuesday night or early Wednesday with a fleet of 15 helicopters to aid earthquake relief efforts.

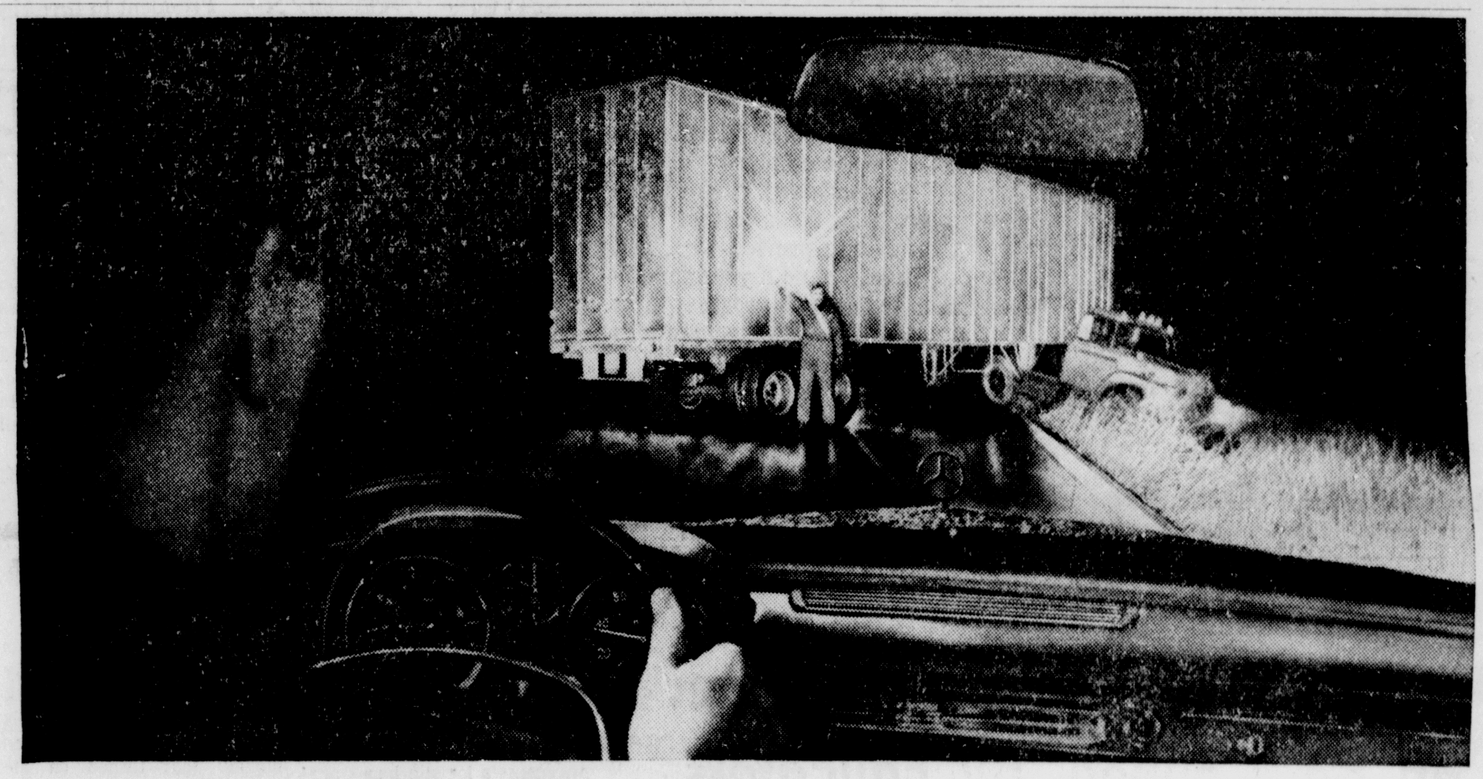
The carrier and helicopters are being sent, despite tense diplomatic relations with Peru over offshore fishing boat seizures, to ease transportation and communication bottlenecks that have developed because of earthquake damage.

Talmadge Turns Dove On Vietnam

ATLANTA (UPI)—Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., once a hawk on Vietnam, said Sunday the withdrawal of U.S. troops should be stepped up with the goal of having "all of them out by the end of the year."

Talmadge said the United States is "overcommitted militarily, economically and politically throughout the world.

"The burdens of trying to carry on a war alone in Southeast Asia are too great on the country, too disruptive and too costly," he said.



"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Just over a rise you find a trailer truck sprawled in your path. There is only one thing between you and a 20-ton roadblock. Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes better resist fade.

It's a stubborn attitude. And an expensive one.

When you've got to stop

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

But don't stop here

There's more to a Mercedes-Benz than just stopping. After all, the joy is in the driving.

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

We believe that a 70-mile-an-hour expressway is no place to play with your steering wheel.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Notice that every seam has been filled and smoothed, like the finish of fine china.

Slam a door. It sounds like a vault's.

Reach under the dash. Not a wire to be felt.

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

Something For Graduating Classes To Think About

This is Graduation Week.

At high school and college graduation exercises in Marin and Sonoma counties, the young people receiving diplomas will hear many speeches about the problems facing the world — which they, presumably, are expected to solve.

THEY ARE UNLIKELY to hear the sort of address which was delivered at a commencement program last year by Eric A. Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University.

Noting that commencement was a time of pride for the graduates, President Walker commented that "no one has more pride in your accomplishment than the older generation." Then he told the graduates:

"IF YOU of the graduating class will look over into the bleachers to your left or right, I will re-introduce you to representatives of some of the most remarkable people ever to walk the earth. People you might want to thank on your graduation day. These are people you already know — your parents and grandparents . . .

"These . . .are the people who have given you a healthier world than they found. And because of this you no longer have to fear epidemics of flu, typhus, diptheria, smallpox, scarlet fever, measles or mumps that they knew in their youth. And the dreaded polio is no longer a medical factor. . .

"LET ME REMIND YOU that these remarkable people lived through history's greatest depression. Many of these people know what it is to be poor, what it is to be hungry and cold. And because of this, they determined that it would not happen to you, that you would have a better life . . .

"Because they gave you the best, you are the tallest, healthiest, brightest, and probably best looking generation to inhabit the land.

"And because they were materialistic, you will work fewer hours, learn more, have more leisure time, travel to more distant places, and have more of a chance to follow your life's ambition.

"THESE ARE ALSO the people who fought man's grisliest war. They are the people who defeated the tyranny of Hitler, and who, when it was all over, had the compassion to spend billions of dollars to help their former enemies to rebuild their homelands. And these are the people who had the sense to begin the United Nations.

"It was representatives of these two generations who, through the highest court in the land, fought racial discrimination at every turn to begin a new era in civil rights.

"They built thousands of high schools, trained and hired tens of thousands of better teachers, and at the same time made higher education a very real possibility for millions of youngsters — where once it was only the dream of a wealthy few.

"And they made a start — although a late one — in healing the scars of the earth and in fighting pollution and the destruction of our natural environment."

THESE TWO GENERATIONS, he noted, have had some failures.

"But," he concluded, "they made more progress by the sweat of their brows than in any previous era, and don't you forget it. And if your generation can make as much progress in as many areas as these two generations have, you should be able to solve a good many of the world's remaining ills."

We commend President Walker's observations to this week's graduates of schools and colleges in Marin and Sonoma counties.

An Educated Public No Longer Can Be 'Conned' By Educators

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — If the June 2 primary proved anything at all, or emphasized a point, it was that the forces of education are growing more and more in disfavor with the public.

Education originally built its high priority for the lion's share of the taxpayers' money many years ago, when the bulk of the taxpayers were not so well educated as the educators.

NOT BEING "educated," the taxpayers were subject to "con" jobs by the educators, who adopted a supercilious attitude toward the people who paid the bills, and convinced them that the way to save the world was to spend more money than they could afford to educate the young people.

Questions by the ordinary public on the feasibility of some of the proposals were shunted to one side, and the questioner made to feel his queries were out of order, his lack of education being the excuse to degrade his protests.

But the educators outsmarted themselves, for a new generation has grown up, almost as well-educated as the educators themselves. And this new generation can recognize the fallacies and the foibles perpetrated on a long-suffering and gullible public.

Recognizing these, the public is beginning to deny the educators complete right, title and interest to tax funds.

WITNESS what happened to Proposition 8, sponsored by the top educational organization of the state, the California Teachers Association, defeated by a three-to-one vote.

Witness what happened to Proposition 1, sponsored not only by educators, but also by top state officials, defeated.

Witness what happened to a good many local requests for tax increases, one of them being in the state capital city, refused passage.

The voters of the state are getting smart and turning against educational frills, needless expenses, over-sold administration which as well is over-staffed, idiotic busing of children to fulfill the impractical desires of wild-eyed anti-segregationists, and all manner of costly procedures which could well be done without.

THIS IS NOT to say that the public has turned against education itself, which it never will do ,but it is beginning to recognize that there are two sides to the educational coin; one that the educators want and demand, and the other that the taxpayers can afford.

There will be ways and means for the legislature to give education reasonable support, probably without the necessity for an increase in taxes.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

The Ku Klux Klan said for years that only white teachers could teach white children. Some black students must be having nervous breakdowns when they now echo the KKK and say only blacks can teach blacks. — Bayard Rustin.

The thing that makes a number of individuals a society rather than a population or a crowd is the presence of shared attitudes, habits and values, a shared conception of the enterprise of which they are all a part, shared views of why it is worthwhile for the enterprise to continue and to flourish. — Francis Keppel.

A person who uses statistics does not thereby automatically become a scientist, any more than a person who uses a stethoscope automatically becomes a doctor. — Banesh Hoffmann.

There has been a marked increase in a tendency for some professors to use the tools and techniques of the demagogue, the nihilist, or the politican, but to claim the protection devised for the scholar. — Lewis B. Mayhew (Stanford University professor).

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Cambodia Move Military Success

Disregarding the political polemics of the entry of the United Station into Cambodia it is becoming increasingly evident that the operation is an outstanding military success.

An open flank is an anathema to the military. It has to be denied to the enemy and this takes manpower and firepower. Elimination of the open flank permits the troops protecting it to be used elsewhere or, as in the case in Vietnam, to be withdrawn entirely . . .

The success of a military operation is directly related to its logistic support. A breakdown in the logistic system from any cause reduces the troops ability and will to fight. An enemy's logistic bases are always a prime military objective . . .

The operation of the South Vietnamese Army in Cambodia gives rise to hope that it is an improving military force. Probably it is too early to determine just how effective a fighting force it is but undoubtedly engaging in successful offensive operations will have a salutary impact upon its future morale.

Turning points in the course of a war often go unrecognized at the time. History may well record that we have now reached such a turning point. Victories in this war have been few and far between. Now that we have such a victory it deserves a rousing round of applause in an otherwise long, frustrating and costly military operation.

Commissions Not Necessarily Expert

May I make a few comments regarding the column written by George Nevin with respect to the relationship between the Mill Valley City Council and the various city commissions.

Commissions are advisory bodies and commission members are not necessarily more "expert" in their particular Commission responsibility than city council members. Commissions may advise and recommend but there is no reason for the city council to blindly "rubber stamp" any commission recommendation.

It may be reasonably assumed that city council members are intelligent, have an "ear to the ground", and are aware of factors not necessarily considered by a commission which will effect the thinking of the council and their ultimate decision for which they and not the commission are responsible.

The basic issue at the Mill Valley City Council meeting wherein the Vietnam war was discussed was not the war itself and its effects, but whether or not a local governing body should speak for all the people within its local area of responsibility on national and international issues. . .

Perhaps the greatest danger to our democratic form of government is the tendency of too many people not to express their feelings so that the efforts of a few people gifted with superior abilities of rhetoric and prose are assumed to represent the feelings of all the people.

Place For Youth —If Youth Learns

One of the major tenants upon which the American Way of Life was built, dating back to the earliest settlers in this country, was the old "yankee hustle" that turned on the youth of our country to build for themselves and others that way of life that promoted dreams into realities.

Is it possible the technological advances, and speudo sociological approach to problems of the day have drained off that individuality earlier inherant in our youth that spawned this country's greatness?

The only absolutely limited value in this life is "time". To drift, through days, months, years, putting off any sense of direction, "doing your thing" seems to be severely compounding the fractures of youth, promoting extreme frustrations not as common in earlier days as today. It is a matter of the young people wanting a lot out of life, but unwilling to pay the price, as in earlier times, by doing their homework with direction, building on understanding of the past, and thus earning the right to exercise the options of "doing one's thing" . . .

If the youth of America wish to call the turns in their country they have to join forces with those who take advantage of educational values, social environmental conditioning, and those things offered at a point in time of their youth worth familiarizing themselves. It's hard work, which is why it is so important to lay the groundwork when you're young.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

June 8, 1960

J. Walter Blair of Mill Valley defeated incumbent Vera L. Schultz and George H. Ludy of Inverness defeated incumbent James A. Marshall of Tomales for seats on the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Marin County's population showed a 70 per cent gain in 10 years, reaching 145,545, announced James C. Hammons, census supervisor, First Congressional District.

20 YEARS AGO

June 8, 1950

North Marin Water District directors filed condemnation proceedings to obtain a 640-acre ranch near Burdell School along Novato Creek for a dam site.

Police Commissioner Sylvester McAtec urged an end to factional bickering about the Sausalito Police Department.

Thanks For Help On Sewer Bonds

I wish to take this opportunity on behalf of the City of San Rafael, and specifically the Department of Public Works, to thank you for the Independent-Journal's aid and assistance in the successful passage of Measure "B", the sanitary sewer bond measure, which was approved in yesterday's (June 2) election.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

What's the cause of all the decorations, Mrs. Monahan?" asked Mrs. Hogan. "It's me boy Pat," explained Mrs. Monahan. "He's comin' home this very night. They sent him up for 10 years, but he got two years off for good behavior."

"Faith," approved Mrs. Hogan, "and what a comfort it must be to you to have a fine boy like that!"

An elementary school teacher, carrying over 100 examination papers in her hand, tripped on the doorsill. As she fell to her knees, the papers scattered in all directions. She began to gather them up one by one, then turned angrily to her class of 30 and asked,

"Isn't anybody going to give me a hand?"

Immediately all 30 devoted students burst into sustained applause.

THE DRUMMONDS

Right To Freedom Of Majority Basis Of Ohio University Suit

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Haven't the nonviolent, including students, got some civil rights, too? They have, and it's time something adequate be done to protect them.

Remember that school desegreation began and was won in the courts. One-man, one-vote began and was won in the courts.

And now a group of students at Ohio State University known as Students for Majority Rights are taking a new test case to the courts and it may well turn out to be another landmark judicial victory.

THE PURPOSE of the suit, brought by a senior in journalism and eight others, is to affirm the right of the students to pursue their education "free of intimidation and violence."

To give the suit some bite, the nine are asking $1 million in damages and an injunction barring further disruption by the defendants, who include one professor, one non-student and seven students.

Here it is — a valuable and timely test.

ONE MIGHT ASSUME that the rights of the majority would be automatically assured. But we have seen that they aren't. And there's a reason.

The reason is that traditionally we have been long on protecting the rights of the minority and short on protecting the rights of the majority.

The very premise of the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and freedom of assembly is that they are needed primarily to protect the rights of the minority from being denied by the power of the majority.

But the pervasive violence of recent years — on the campuses and in the streets — shows that the need today is to secure the right of the majority to be free from intimidation and violence through the misuse of these rights on the part of a minority.

HERE ARE SOME concrete example of the way the constitutional rights of the majority have been damaged and denied by the minority:

1 — In New York City, a mob of picketers surrounded a hotel to prevent people from entering to listen to Sec. of State Dean Rusk. Thus they were misusing the guarantee of the right of free assembly to deprive others of the right of free assembly. But shouldn't free assembly be protected for the majority?

2 — At Columbia University, students invited the New York state director of Selective Service to address them on student aspects of the draft, but others disrupted the meeting. Shouldn't the majority who want to listen have the right safeguarded against those who want to prevent them from listening?

3 — At the University of Wisconsin, two members of President Johnson's cabinet were jeered so raucously by antiwar protesters that they were unable to finish their addresses. Instead of deploring this denial of the right of free speech and free assembly, Sen. Eugene McCarthy remarked: "The President's spokesmen can find other places to expound their views." What disdain for the Bill of Rights that one who is elected to defend the Constitution should imply that its protection need not apply to the college campuses!

4 — This year many colleges have had to throw away weeks of education and to terminate the spring semester ahead of schedule because of violence, destruction of buildings and threats by militant minorities. This is why the test suit brought by the Ohio State students is so timely and so crucial.

IT IS CRUCIAL because as the Milton Eisenhower Commission on the causes of violence discovered, there is very little law providing for the protection of the constitutional rights of the many when they are jeopardized by the few.

The purpose of the Ohio State suit is not to curtail one whit the constitutional rights of the minority, but only to insure equal protection of the law to those students who want to pursue their education free of intimidation and violence.

It seems to us that these Students for Majority Rights have started something.

Too Late, Senate Tries To Regain Decision Power

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Very, very late, perhaps too late to matter, the Senate has decided to retrieve its vanishing role in the decision to make war.

As it is want to do, the Senate has grumbled and griped greatly but has never come to grips with the erosion of its powers.

But the Vietnam war in general and the Cambodian incursion specifically has finally forced the Senate into at least trying to reassert its authority.

THE SO-CALLED Cooper-Church amendment, which cuts off funds for the retention of U.S. troops in Cambodia after July 1, is a first step.

It will be followed by the so-called antiwar amendment. This proposal would choke off money for military operations in Southeast Asia by the end of the year, leaving just enough to bring U. S. troops home by July 1, 1971.

The proposals are negative and symbolic.

Symbolic because, despite strong support in the Senate, they have no chance in the House. Negative because they are a retreat to the only possible recourse left to the Congress—the power of the purse.

WHAT POSES an even greater dilemma is the realization by a good many senators that — regardless of what the constitution says — the power to make war can no longer be vested in Congress.

The founding fathers, in writing the Constitution, could not visualize the day when a president would just not have the time to come to Congress.

As Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., put it, "If there are circumstances, extreme circumstances where American lives or interests are threatened and it's necessary to make some move, it may just not be possible to come to Congress."

In the nuclear age, Dole said, decisions must be made in minutes, or hours, or a few days.

"Sometimes we are very lengthy in the discussions," Dole said. "The war could be over before we get around to a declaration."

THE REPUBLICAN senator conceded that Congress' power to declare war before action is taken may be "fairly near the age of obsolescence."

In scouting for an alternative, Dole suggested some arrangement —similar to the one President Franklin D. Roosevelt had on the Manhattan Project —where key congressional leaders are brought into deliberations at the earliest moment.

"I think this relationship may be necessary," Dole said. "I mean just as a matter to protect American interests.

"We don't give up our rights under the constitution," he added. "But we go one step further. We make certain that in any event that the American people and the American interests are protected."

UNDOUBTEDLY, the Senate would not consider this an ideal situation.

It would be, however, an advance over the staging of the Cambodian incursion when apparently the enemy knew before congressional leaders that the U. S. would strike.

Mountanos's Victory Impressive; Assessor Can't Please School Boards

Sheriff Lou Mountanos' resounding victory last week is believed to be the biggest total vote ever received by any county official, opposed or unopposed.

The sheriff's 52,217 vote total, as compared with his opponent's 7,675, was all the more remarkable because of the troubled times and the mounting drug problem.

A fearful or angry public, dissatisfied with growing violence and drug traffic, could have vented its ire against a less efficient chief law enforcement officer.

The sheriff's victory was, of course, no surprise. In fact, there were very few surprises.

PETER BEHR in the Republican state Senate race and Arnold Baptiste in the North Marin supervisor contest won by bigger margins than expected. Supervisor John McInnis edged Paul Zucker by a comfortable 2,500. For his first try in politics and on short notice, Zucker made a good showing.

In the 12-way judge race, predicted leader Jack Blaine came in fourth, with Ernest Zunino and Robert Smallman winning the runoff positions.

THE TOP HALF dozen put up effective campaigns through signs and advertisements. The consensus around here is that the decisive factor could have been the good, old-fashioned doorbell ringing by the top two. The determined Smallman is reported to have worn out four pairs of shoes pounding the pavement.

Among county propositions, the loss of the low-rent housing measure was a mild surprise, considering the wide backing it received from public agencies and major organizations. This, together with passage of the sewer bonds in San Rafael prompted one Civic Center wag to mutter:

"I guess they expect the elderly and the low-income families to live inside the sewers!"

THE COUNTY assessor always seems to get it in the neck, even though he doesn't set tax rates or the size of various budgets.

A couple of weeks ago, at a meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education, Assessor Bert Broemmel was castigated for coming out with his property revaluations (more than one-half the properties got raises in assessed value) just before the election. School tax and bond elections would suffer because of it, one school board member declared.

It's a case of damned if you do and damned if you don't, explained Broemmel. Before 1968, he used to announce reassessments late in July or in August. It was the school officials who insisted they wanted early assessments so that they could start working on their district budgets. They told Broemmel in effect: "You're too slow!" So the assessor dutifully proceeded to come out with reassessments in May. So now he gets clobbered with the complaint: "You came out too fast!"

IN THE ANNUAL management-employee tug-of-war over county employee salaries and benefits, the forces representing management seem to keep dwindling in size, while the opposition keeps growing.

The county's top negotiator, Administrator Alan Bruce, must be feeling a bit lonely, with only two of his top lieutenants on his "side." His other aides, Mike Chrystal and Tim Jackson, are about to be gobbled up by a new bargaining unit to be called the "mid-management unit" of the Marin County Employees Association.

To Violently Militant Youth, Violence Is Still Unreality

A few years ago my house was a gathering place for a number of university students. Although it flattered me to believe they came to dissect ideas and probe into philosophical forests, I suspect the refrigerator probably played more than a casual part in drawing them around my table. Nonetheless, they were a fine group of young men, interested in the world they lived in and keenly intrigued with understanding and divining it.

Though they were intelligent, articulate students, well on their way to becoming educated in the finest sense of the word, all were hung up by a serious handicap — their ideas were almost completely unrelated to the world in which they lived.

THEY CAME from sound, solid, middle-class families, right out of the heart of American suburbia. None had ever had to work. All had their own cars. And all accepted the fruits of the American cornucopia as their birthright.

Crime was a statistic, and sordidness came to life for them through titillating discussions of Tennessee Williams' plays. Violence, they agreed, did exist, but strangely, they could visualize it only in a distant and detached way. And as for death — death was as remote as Alpha Centauri.

Max, the tall one from Stanford, was attacked one evening by a group of toughs who pulled their car alongside and piled out to give him a thorough thumping, leaving him on the sidewalk. He had given them no provocation. They had done it for kicks. Max wasn't seriously hurt but his intellectual premises had taken a severe beating. Several times during that summer he brought up the incident. To him it was a puzzlement, a mystery, and to understand it, words were necessary. I'm convinced this simple event made a significant advance in Max's maturity and put him a giant step ahead of his buddies.

RECENTLY I WITNESSED at close hand one of the militant imbroglios in Berkeley at the University of California's Sather Gate. I came out of the tear gas with one towering impression — the naivete of the ragtag participants. Girls screamed obscenities between sips of Coke. Everywhere there was the heavy-sweet smell of pot. I even saw babies carried about on young men's backs, papoose style.

For over an hour the police had been ordering them to disperse. Following each call through the loudspeaker, the crowd brayed back angrily. When the police formed a line and advanced to clear the area, the hirsute horde fell away shouting insults and throwing bricks, bottles — any thing.

It was all a grim Kafkaesque game, a curious blending of reality and unreality, a macabre game played with the police.

THROUGH SOME SORT of Alice-in-Wonderland reasoning, it was the role of the police to take whatever abuse these hooligans dished out. When the police retaliated by taking their sticks to them, it was against the rules. As for shooting — unthinkable! — just as death is unthinkable for most of our achingly young.

The impression I got was that these young anthropoids had not yet understood the harsh reality they have already gleaned intellectually — that violence begets violence.

I'm not, of course, talking about their leaders, the hard core militants. Here we have an altogether different breed of cat. The others are followers, the dupes. They are the innocents, the ones who know of violence only as an abstract word and believe that death comes only to the other fellow. They are the terribly young, the ones who come to maturity the hard way.

If at all.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS
This choice location, on Terrace Ave., offers the rare opportunity of owning a 4-bdrm., 2-bath home with lovely grounds and mature trees plus a gigantic outdoor deck and a patio, all designed to blend in with the beautiful natural resawn cedar exterior. The kitchen is all electric and features custom cabinet work. All windows and patio doors are aluminum and recently installed. The large master bdrm. features beam ceiling and a dressing room with patio doors opening out to the large outdoor deck. You will wonder why the ridiculously low price. The reason is that the remodeled kitchen, 1 bath and some of the trim and painting is not completed. However we have an estimate for completion or do it yourself. You cannot lose either way. Owner moving to east coast and must sell immediately. Don't miss this rare opportunity. Only $33,950.

Undersea Living Test Is Over

HONOLULU (AP) — Six men testing an undersea living chamber have been returned to the surface more than two days beyond their scheduled 68 hours on the ocean floor off the Oahu Island coast.

The underwater stay 516 feet below the surface was prolonged by the failure of a valve in one of the chamber's two ballast tanks.

Officials of the privately owned Makai Test Range said the men would have to spend the next week decompressing before they could leave the 200-ton habitat Aegir, which has a main chamber 50 feet long and 9 feet in diameter.

The Aegir was brought to the surface Sunday by pumping air from the surface tender Holokai into the undersea vessel's ballast tanks.

Car Hits Divider; Driver Injured

A 57-year-old San Rafael man was treated for multiple face cuts Saturday after his car ripped a 50-foot hole in the divider fence on Highway 101 near the Greenbrae offramp.

Treated was Frank Valentine Simon of 257 North San Pedro Road.

The California Highway Patrol said Simon's car left the northbound lanes about 2:25 a.m.

Busy Agenda Ahead For Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will meet as directors of the Marin County Transit District at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow and then go into closed session to instruct the county team negotiating employee work contracts for 1970-71.

New agreements have already been reached with the Marin County Employees Association and with the California Nurses Association. They will get a 5 per cent raise on July 1 and an additional $5 per month county contribution to employee insurance. These agreements are expected to be approved by the supervisors in open session at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The supervisors will sit as the transit board to consider the 1970-71 budget of $196,338, the majority of which — $123,189 — is earmarked for payment to the Golden Gate Bridge District as benefits to Marin that will come from the bridge district's operation of a bus system.

The supervisors will also be asked to combine the county agricultural commissioner's office and the job of sealer of weights and measures into a single department. County Administrator Alan Bruce has recommended the action to the board.

Other items on the agenda include:

PLANNING COMMISSION — Appointment of a successor to Michael Praszker, who resigned from the Marin County Planning Commission.

BOARD OF EDUCATION — Proposed transfer of fiscal responsibility for the county school superintendent's office from the county supervisors to the county board of education.

ZUCKER — County administrator's recommendation that County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker be fired. This is the first afternoon item.

VIETNAM — A request by Anne West of San Anselmo to put on the November ballot a proposition asking the President and Congress to get out of Southeast Asia by next June.

FLOOD CONTROL — A hearing to set up a subzone in the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone to include only the unincorporated areas.

JANITORIAL CONTRACT — A proposal to specify minimum wages when the county calls for bids on cleaning of county buildings so that nonunion firms will not have an advantage over the union firms.

BUILDING INSPECTOR — Public Works Director Donald R. Frost will ask for clarification on the status of the chief building inspector. One section of the county code makes the chief building inspector responsible to Frost while another section makes the building inspector responsible to the supervisors.

Soyuz 9 Finishes 100th Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cosmonauts Andrian Nikolayev and Vitaly Sevastyanov completed their 100th orbit of the earth today in the seventh day of their flight aboard the spaceship Soyuz 9.

A short official report said the cosmonauts retired as usual this morning "after completing their regular working day in outer space."

They have been carrying out their program of medical and biological observations on the effects of extended periods in space.

"The Cosmonauts retain a high capacity for work," the progress report said. It said during the day they reported various visual observations of the earth, includisg the location of forest fires in Africa.

Soyuz 9 has broken the Soviet record for flight duration but has another week to go before it reaches the U.S. record. How long the flight is to last has not been disclosed.

An article in Pravda today emphasized the value of manned space flights over automated satellites.

"No electronic computer or automatic device can replace man fully in carrying out a number of assignments in space," said the Soviet Communist party newspaper. "This is because space crews are entrusted with the more subtle, creative tasks to solve for which it is necessary to take into account numerous factors often conflicting in nature."

Soviet scientists have questioned the value of America's manned moon shots, suggesting that automatic devices could accomplish the same purpose without the great human risks. But they have not produced an unmanned spacecraft that could land and take off from the moon, let alone bring back materials for study on earth. And while they questioned the manned moon shots they did not drop their own program of sendng up men for experiments and tests while orbiting the earth.

Trouble For Skyjack Talk

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 17-year-old Marine Corps recruit, who allegedly told a fellow airline passenger he was a runaway juvenile and was going to hijack the aircraft, was taken into custody Sunday by police.

Officers said George Thomas Anthony of Allentown, Pa., boarded Trans World Airlines flight 15 for San Francisco here early Sunday and reportedly made the remarks to an Army colonel.

The colonel reported the conversation and Anthony was taken from the plane. The flight was delayed about five minutes. Officers said Anthony was stationed at the San Diego Marine Corps depot and probably would be turned over to Marine officials.

$10,000 Blaze, No Injury In Larkspur

The fire, which started about 10 a.m., gutted an apartmeent occupied by Mrs. Elizabeth Shearer, 74. There were no injuries, according to Larkspur Fire Chief William C. Shurtz, who ordered the evacuation of about 250 people in the building.

TV PREVIEW

The Emmy Awards Got A Dull Show

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Emmy Awards, sponsored as usual by such significant show business contributors as a fried chicken company and a cigarette firm, were presented on ABC-TV Sunday night.

One thing, though, about this particular prizegiving ceremony of the television industry: It wasn't dull. When it was bad — for instance, in Patty Duke's embarrassingly pretentious acceptance speech — it was so awful that it was fascinating.

And when it was good — chiefly through the hosting efforts of Bill Cosby in Hollywood and Dick Cavett in New York — it provided some worthwhile amusement. They are very cool characters, Cosby and Cavett, and they brought just the right contemporary attitude.

In fact, they present a splendid irony for those who think in stereotypes. For Cosby, a black humorist, rarely dwells on social messages, preferring to let his understated cool say it all as he deals with universal nonsense. On the other hand, Cavett, a white comedian, is more likely to have a pointed social edge in his talk.

Miss Duke stopped the show — absolutely dead — in accepting an Emmy for her performance in the video movie "My Sweet Charlie." She seemed to think she was Sarah Bernhardt or something. Spacing her words out with great pompous slowness, she was at first pure camp, then unintentionally hilarious and finally embarrassing.

It has been said that one trouble with youth is that it doesn't know how to accept victory gracefully. And this was the problem early in the show when such acting winners as Karen Valentine of "Room 222", James Brolin of "Marcus Welby, M.D." and Gail Fisher of "Mannix" gave the program all the style of "The Dating Game."

None was properly prepared, and their remarks were so immature as to make one cringe. On the other hand, such veterans as Anne Bancroft and Peter Ustinov, who appeared in prize-winning specials, and Robert Young, star of "Marcus Welby, M.D." radiated the dignity of complete professionals who are up to any occasion.

In a special award, the television academy's board of trustees gave Emmys to the heads of the three network news departments, making verbally clear this was a vote of confidence despite some recent criticism of video journalists. At another point in the show, Vice President Agnew was seen in an excerpt as a news critic.

Another unusual award went to the 3-M Co. a sponsor cited for upgrading television taste. You can imagine that they'll just love that over at Xerox. At any rate, it certainly is swell to know video is being upgraded, and who's doing it besides the fried chicken company and cigarette firm that sponsored the Emmys.

Well, anyway, presenter-astronaut Charles Conrad mispronounced the name of a top American government figure who had narrated a documentary, and Cavett explained to the audience: "reading isn't required in space." Conrad, who got a big introductory hand from the audience, took the needling with good humor.

Naturally there were many nonsensical awards, as there always are. And of course some canceled series, like "My World, and Welcome To It," were honored too late to save them. Personally, I liked one particular Cavett line about the video year: "We've seen two revolting families using a can of Right Guard."

Rudi Gets There Just In Time

Homer Wins It For A's

OAKLAND (AP) — One person the Oakland A's want to be sure they take along on a nine-game road trip starting Tuesday night in Cleveland is outfielder Joe Rudi.

Rudi spent almost all day Sunday as a Marine reserve truck driver at Alameda Naval Air Station. But he was released from duty soon enough to hustle to nearby Oakland Coliseum and hit a three-run pinch homer in the ninth inning to beat the Detroit Tigers 5-2.

PACKED

"My bag was already packed for the road trip," Rudi said. "The equipment man went to the dugout and asked the manager if I should get in uniform, and he said I should."

Joe reported to the bench in the ninth with Detroit leading 2-1. Frank Fernande homered to tie the score. Then Rick Monday walked and Dick Green got aboard on an error.

That set the stage for Rudi's heroics. He almost didn't get a chance to hit his dramatic homer.

"I was supposed to sacrifice to ge the runner to third base," he said. Rudi popped the first pitch foul behind the plate. It fell inches beyond the reach of Tiger catcher Bill Breehan. Rudi bunted foul again, then was given the "hit" sign.

OFF LOLICH

He wacked a low curve ball by Detroit pitcher Mickey Lolich into the left field stands to give Oakland its 11th victory in 16 games.

"It was the biggest homer I ever hit," the excited Rudi said.

Manager John McNamara indicated Rudi will be in the starting lineup against the Indians Tuesday night.

He had taken over in the outfield for slump-ridden Reggie Jackson a week ago. Jackson started both Saturday and Sunday games but did not hit well enough to win the job back.

Paul Lindblad, 2-0, the fifth Oakland pitcher of the game, was the winner, although he pitched to only one batter.

EVENS OUT

"You get a few like that, and there are other times when you pitch several innings and don't have anything to show for it," Lindblad said.

Lolich, 6-6, had given up only an unearned run and six hits before the ninth inning.

Jim Hunter, John Odom and Chuck Dobson will be the Oakland pitchers in the series with Cleveland.

The A's dropped two out of three games to the Indians in Oakland Coliseum here last week. This will be the first venture into Cleveland this year.

WORLD CUP SOCCER

At Halfway Point

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The ninth World Cup Soccer championships have reached the halfway stage with only Peru and West Germany definitely set for the quarter-finals.

At the other end of the scale, with 16 of the scheduled 32 matches played, Bulgaria, Morocco and El Salvador have been eliminated although each has one remaining match.

And in the unofficial battle between Europe and South America, the Latins are way ahead with Mexicon, Brazil and Uruguay leading their groups and Peru even with West Germany in the remaining group.

Each of the 16 competing nations have now played two games but only three—Brazil, Peru and West Germany—have collected the maximum four points.

With three points are Mexico and Russia in Group One, Uruguay and Italy in Group Two. In Group Three, reigning champions England and Rumania trail Brazil with two points each.

Belgium has two points in Group One, Sweden and Israel one apiece in Group Two, while the four countries yet to get a point are Czechoslovakia, El Salvador, Bulgaria and Morocco.

The final eight round-robin games in the four separate groups will be played Wednesday and Thursday.

In Sunday's games, Brazil downed England 1-0, Mexico whipped El Salvador 4-1, Israel and Sweden played a 1-1 tie and West Germany upended Bulgaria 5-2.

The most interesting situation is at the top of Group Four where Peru and West Germany have the same number of points and same goal difference of four goals.

They meet at Leon Wednesday to see who finishes first—very conscious that the loser will almost certainly meet Brazil in the quarter-final.

Brazil went to the top of Group Three with Sunday's triumph over England. The reigning champions now have to beat Czechoslovakia at Guadalajara Thursday to ensure a quarter-final spot.

In Mexico City, everything should depend on the Group One meeting between Mexico and Belgium in front of 107,000 partisan fans in the Aztec Stadium Thursday.

Russia, which produced the top display of power shooting in their 4-1 defeat of Belgium Saturday, should easily defeat El Salvador Wednesday and finish with five points.

General feeling here is that by Thursday night the eight quarter-finalists will be Italy, Uruguay, Mexico, Russia, Brazil, England, West Germany and Peru.

CUBS WIN HOMER DERBY

It's Game Of Long Ball

CHICAGO (AP) — Everytime there's a home run flurry in baseball, the explanation, usually by the pitchers, is that the ball has been juiced up.

For a refreshing change Sunday, the hitters were given credit when the Chicago Cubs defeated the San Francisco Giants 8-4 in a game which featured eight home runs — five by the Cubs.

San Francisco, clinging to fourth place in the National League West with a 25-30 mark, takes today off before opening an eight-game home stand Tuesday night with the first of a pair against Pittsburgh.

'NO CHEAPIES'

"There weren't any cheapies out there today," said Charlie Fox, manager of the Giants. "Those balls were all hit and would have gone out even without a favoring wind."

"I don't know if the ball is livelier," said Cub Manager Leo Durocher, "But I don't think any records were broken."

The eight home runs fell well short of the record of 11 shared by both the National and American Leagues.

The Cubs and New York Mets pounded out 11 in 1967 and the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers clubbed an American League total of 11 in one game in 1950.

Although home runs dominated the game, it was a broken bat single by Billy Williams that broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh inning that sent the Cubs spinning to victory and kept them four games ahead of Pittsburgh in the National League East.

Willie Mays slammed his 13th homer of the season and the 613th of his career to put the Giants ahead in the third. Willie also collected three singles and now needs only 25 more hits to reach the 3,000 mark.

Dick Dietz made it 2-0 for the Giants with his 11th homer in the fourth.

Johnny Callison opened the home half of the fourth with his seventh homer and Williams connected for No. 16 on the very next pitch. Before the inning was over, Jack Hiatt hit his first of the season to put the Cubs ahead.

PINCH HOMER

The Cubs picked up a run in the fifth but the Giants tied it in the seventh on Alan Gallagher's pinch homer, his first in the majors, and a run-scoring single by Mays.

After Williams had broken the tie with his broken bat single, Jim Hickman slugged his 12th of the season and Cleo James added another run for the Cubs in the eighth with his second homer of the year.

Winning Begets Winning, Says Happy Dick Lotz

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Winning, says Dick Lotz, begets winning.

"It was awfully important to me, winning at Alameda," he said. "I started getting paired with tour winners and I could see what they did, how they did it, and convinced myself I could play as well as they did.

"Then at Monsanto, well, that gave me confidence.

"It gave me the winning attitude."

MONSANTO

The 27-year-old Lotz, a pleasant, thoughtful, soft-spoken young Californian, was a virtual unknown until he won the $150,000 Monsanto Open golf tournament two months ago.

He added the title in the Kemper Open to that crown Sunday, became only the third double winner on the pro golf tour this year and vaulted into second place on the money winning list at almost $106,000.

He came from one stroke off the pace with a one-under-par 71 for 278, 10 under par on the 7,231-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course, and overhauled faltering Lou Graham, the leader through the second and ttird rounds.

'DONATED IT'

"I just donated it," said Graham, who struggled home with a 74 for 280. He was tied at that figure, two strokes off the pace, with Tom Weiskopf, who had a sparkling 66, and Larry Hinson and Grier Jones, who had 72s.

Dan Sikes, 70, Bob Lunn, 71, Steve Reid, 73, and Lionel Hebert, 74, were tied at 281. Rod Funseth, 70, was alone at 282 and Arnold Palmer, who had a final 71, topped the group at 283.

"I didn't think a 71 would do it," said Lotz, now in his seventh year on the tour. "I'm just glad nobody behind me shot a really hot round."

They didn't. The grinding pressure of the chase for $30,000 took its toll—even Lotz a little.

He went in front to stay with a 55-foot monster putt on the 11th hole, then three-putted the 13th. But he bounced back with a 12-foot birdie putt on the 14th, then bogeyed the 16th from a trap.

PARRED IN

"I guess I was choking a little," he said. But Graham also bogeyed and the lead remained at two strokes. Lotz parred in. He had moved into a share of the lead with a 15-noot birdie putt on the ninth hole.

Lotz said he had started the year with an ambition—to win a major tournament (the Alameda was a satellite event.)

"When I won at Monsanto I told my wife, 'Well, I've won my tournament. What now'?. I guess I'll have to win another one."

He has.

What now?

STATE TRACK-FIELD MEET

Los Altos Prep Steals The Show

BERKELEY (AP) — One national record and three meet records fell in the 52nd California state high school track meet, but it was all Rick Brown's show.

The 5-foot-10 runner, who led Los Altos to an easy team victory, won the hearts of the 13,000 fans at the University of California's Edwards Stadium by winning three events within a two-hour period Saturday.

"It came off okay," Brown said later in classic understatement.

Brown became the first athlete in the meet's history to win both the 440 and 880, and he became the first triple winner when he anchored the Knights' mile relay team to a 3:15.6 victory.

Brown, who plans to attend Cal in the fall, won the 440 in 47.8, the 880 in 1:50.6 and ran a 47.8 relay leg.

The Knights scored enough points, 20, in those three events to win the meet, since runner up Santa Ana totaled 19. Jim Andrew got two points for Los Altos with a fourth place finish in the 440.

Chris Adams scored Los Altos' other nine points and accounted for the national record. He bettered his own pending mark of 201 feet in the discus with a toss of 201-3. He was third in the shot put with 61-7½.

"I knew I had a good one and I had a good idea it was over 200," he said.

Adams, who will go to Cal with Brown, praised the triple-winner and his coach, Leo Long.

"Rick has been a great inspiration through the year. He gets a good race and everyone responds. Coach Long has been great," he said.

The other meet records besides the discus, were high jump of 1 feet, ¼ inch by Jerry Culp of Oceanside and an 8:55.6 two-mile performance by Ron Johnson of West Torrance.

RECORD

Culp topped the 7-0 record set two years ago by Reynaldo Brown of Compton and said he couldn't have done it without little Randy Fulkerson of Sante Fe pushing him.

Fulkerson, 5-foot-7½, went 6-10 to claim second place.

"I enjoyed the competition," Culp said. "Whenever someone goes over 6-10 with me, I get pushed. I was scared."

Another individual star was Santa Ana's Jackie White. He won the 220 in 21.5, anchored his 440 relay team to a 41.5 victory and was second to Bonita's Allan Carter in the 100.

Behind Los Altos and Santa Ana in team scoring were Castlemont of Oakland with 15 points and Morningside of Inglewood with 13. Los Altos, in Santa Clara County, became the first Northern California school to win the state title since Edison of Fresno did it in 1963.

Two Marin Swimmers Win

Drake High School sophomore Robin Bachrach and 12-year-old, Novatan Ann Haley each won a gold medal yesterday in the Pacific Association, Amateur Athletic Union's Northern California Junior Olympics Short Course Swimming Championships at DeAnza Junior College in Cupertino.

Miss Bachrach, of Fairfax, swimming for Dolphins of Marin, won the girls' age 15-17 200-yard individual medley in 2 minutes, 15.8 seconds and also scored second places in the 100 and 200-yard fly events.

Miss Haley, meanwhile, posted her best time in winning the 200 breaststroke in 1:13.7 and placed second in the 50 breast. She swims for the Novato Granauts.

More than 600 youngsters competed in the two day event. San Rafael and Marin clubs, which recently combined as one club for the first time, failed to place but picked up by Julie Waters in the 10 and under girls 9-10. Waters also placed sixth in the 100 I.M.

Dodgers Draft Dewey Forry

Forry, an outfielder who hit .387 for the Trojans this season, was chosen during the major league player draft last Thursday in New York.

Information concerning the round in which he was chosen was not available, according to the Dodger organization.

SUYDERHOUD SETS WORLD SKI RECORD

Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo has added a second world record to his collection of water ski awards.

Competing in the Will's Internationals at Ruislip Lido, near London, the 20-year-old Sonoma State College junior yesterday established a world record in slalom, making it past two buoys with 35 feet off his 75-foot tow rope. He made it through the entire course with 32 feet off the rope.

Prior to this year, records were not kept in slalom events. Mike already has the world record ski jump, 162 feet. He jumped 149 feet yesterday to win that event, and came in third in tricks.

Among the international stars Mike defeated in slalom yesterday was Victor Palomo of Spain, the world slalom champion.

DeYoung Named All-Star Bowler

Terry DeYoung of Novato was honored by the San Francisco bowling writers Saturday night by being named to the S.F. All-Star Bowling team.

DeYoung, 20, was one of six bowlers named to the team, the others Ted Hendrickson, Bill Baioni, Don Reeser, Les Barrett and Leon Aragon.

Brush With Death Before Munsey's Hydroplane Win

It was in the second elimination heat of the day Sunday. As 48,000 persons lined the Potomac, Munsey's Detroit-based Myr Sheet Metal blasted around a turn just behind Billy Schumacher's Parco O-Ring Miss, the eventual second-place boat in the regatta.

The Schumacher's boat soared over on her side and forced Munsey to swerve.

Schumacher recovered from the swerve and went on to edge out Munsey in that heat.

By the final heat three boats still were in contention, Myr Parco and Leif Borgersen in Notre Dame.

Munsey won a 150-mile - an-hour dash to the first turn and clung to a 100-yard lead at the end. Schumacher was second and Borgersen, his bat ailing, was fifth and last.

That gave Munsey 400 points, for a first-place total of 1,100. Schumacher was 100 points behind in second, and Borgersen took third with 927.

Matt Eling Wins Soap Box Derby

Jeff Davis finished second and Danny Tolson third. The 21 cars all were brightly painted and adorned with names of their sponsors, mostly local merchants.

Kurt Poser in Car No. 88 provided the biggest thrill of the day when he lost control of his vehicle, hit a stop sign and mailbox and came out of it without a scratch. His car, however, could not continue.

Parnelli Jones Wins Again

MANSFIELD, Ohio AP — Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., conquered the ruggid Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course near here Sunday for his third Trans-America Sedan Championship series win in four starts.

George Follmer of Arcadia, Calif., who won last weekend, crossed the finish line a half-second behind Jones as the Mustang team continued to dominate the series, leading with 36 points, Javeline second at 16.

Jones averaged 83.118 miles per hour over the 180 miles. Follmer turned in the fastest lap of 1:41.14 on the 2.4-mile course, or 85.207 m.p.h.

Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., the early leader in a Roger Penski-prepare Javelin, finished third, 1:08.4 behind Jones.

Fourth place was taken by Maurice Carter of Hamilton, Ontario, in an independent Camaro. Sam Posey of Sharon, Conn., finished fifth in a Challenger.

Swede Savage of Santa Ana, Calif., driving a Barracuda, had just taken the lead after Jones made a pit stop when his engine blew on the 63rd lap.

Also failing to finish were Ed Leslie of Monterrey, Calif., and his boss, Jim Hall of Midland, Tex.

Rounding out the top ten finishers were Warren Agor of Pittsford, N.Y.; Larry Bock of South Bend, Ind.; Paul Nichter of South Wales, N.Y.; Vince Gimondo of Orlando, Fla., and Tony DeLorenzo of Troy, Mich., all driving Camaros.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Expos Pay Heed To Mauch's Talk

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Gene Mauch, the thinking man's manager, called a clubhouse meeting Friday night, his Montreal Expos weren't contemplating much of anything . . . except maybe suicide.

The Expos had lost 11 straight games when they sneaked into Atlanta to begin a three-games series with the red-hot Braves.

When the Expos skipped town Sunday, following a 10-1 rout for a series sweep, it was the five teams trailing the runaway Cincinnati Reds in the National League West who were left for dead.

The Reds poured it on the New York Mets 10-2 and opened a nine-game bulge over Atlanta. Los Angeles, beaten by Pittsburgh 3-1, is 9½ games back. In other NL action, the Chicago Cubs slugged San Francisco 8-4, St. Louis rallied to beat San Diego 10-7 and Philadelphia drubbed Houston 10-3.

A.L. SCORES

In the American League, Baltimore edged Milwaukee 7-6, the Chicago White Sox nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 in 12 innings, Minnesota outlasted Washington 10-9 in 11, Cleveland downed California 6-4, Oakland clubbed Detroit 5-2 and Boston swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 7-4 and 5-2.

"We expected to be splattered on the wall," said pitcher Carl Morton of Mauch's get-together, perhaps remembering the manager's famous spare rib-barbecue sauce performance in Houston while his Philadelphia Phillies were in the process of blowing the 1964 flag.

"But Gene just talked baseball to us," Morton continued. "He told us to play aggressively and that we could win if we thought we could win, but; that we would keep losing if we thought we would lose. He relaxed the whole team. You could tell the difference as soon as we left the clubhouse."

HOME RUNS

Bob Bailey socked two homers and Coco Laboy one as the Expos lashed out 15 hits in support of Morton's 10-hit pitching. The Braves' only run was unearned as the rookie right-hander boosted his record to 5-3. Morton, an ex-outfielder in the Braves' farm system, helped his own cause with two singles.

Not only did the Expos batter the Atlanta pitching for 25 runs and 33 hits in the series, but their own hurlers limited Rico Carty to two hits in 11 trips, dropping his average to .420.

Cincinnati rookie Wayne Simpson breezed to his eighth victory in nine decisions as Bench drilled a three-run homer, May a solo shot and Perez a two-run triple. The Mets lost their fifth straight game and slid to fourth place in the NL East.

BIG TRIPLE

The Pirates turned back the Dodgers on little Freddie Patek's two-run triple in the fifth and big Bob Veale's four-hit pitching. Patek's triple broke a scoreless tie and followed a single by Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen's double. Patek later scored on a single by Matty Alou.

The Cardinals climbed past the Mets into third place with a seven-run explosion in the seventh inning. Trailing 7-1, the Cards got two in the sixth on Ted Simmons' first major league homer.

Trump Card Played Perfectly In Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer John Jacobs lost his ace for the Belmont Stakes, but he still had a trump card and John L. Rotz played it perfectly.

The ace—Personality—missed Saturday's Belmont because of a cough, but the trump card—High Echelon—won the pot from nine rivals for Jacobs and his mother, Ethel, who owns the two colts.

"I lost my ace but had a lot of faith in High Echelon," Jacobs said after High Echelon vindicated that faith by beating Thomas F. Fleming's Needles N Pens by three-quarters of a length after a perfect ride by Rotz.

High Echelon, winless in nine previous starts, not only picked up the winning knack from his Preakness-winning stablemate, he also apparently contracted Personality's ailment.

Personality, who followed his Wood Memorial victory with a disappointing eighth in the Kentucky Derby but then won the Preakness and Jersey Derby, developed a nasal discharge Wednesday and then a cough Thursday night. Jacobs entered him in the Belmont Friday morning, then declared him out later in the day.

High Echelon showed no signs of a cold until Sunday when Jacobs said he noticed a slight nasal discharge and added, "this is the way Personality started."

Jacobs said he plans to rest both halves of his 1-2 punch, pointing them for the Monmouth Invitational Aug. 8.

Even before Personality was withdrawn from the Belmont, some observors felt the 1½ miles of the Belmont would favor the late-closing high Echelon who finished third in the 1¼-mile Kentucky Derby and fourth in each of the 1 3-16-mile Preakness and the 1⅛-mile Jersey Derby.

And, although he considers Personality his ace, Jacobs said—even before Personality was withdrawn—that if High Echelon won the Belmont, "I wouldn't be surprised."

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Getting the ball to turn in toward the pins at the finish is all the hook that is necessary. To do this simply set your thumb a little to the left and make a normal follow-through. It isn't necessary to do any wrist-twisting to make your ball hook.

Two Shutouts For Novato '9'

Dave Judnick and Dennis Bueler, rivals at Novato and San Marin high schools during the prep season, now are teammates on the Novato Junior American Legion team and pitching up a storm in the Northern California Summer League.

Each pitched a four-hit shutout over the weekend, Judnick stopping Dixon at Dixon on Saturday, 6-0, and Bueler blanking Vallejo 5-0 yesterday at Novato.

Judnick struck out 15 batters and was backed by nine hits, including a triple, double and run-batted in by Tom Zechlin. Jeff Pond drove in two runs and John Kidder, Jack Burnam and Dee Fedrick one each.

Yesterday, white Bueler was striking out 11, Novato collected 11 safeties including a home run by Kidder, three hits in three at-bats by Zechlin and two hits each by Kidder and Fedrick.

Novato, now 3-1 won-lost in league, hosts Vacaville next Saturday at Novato High School, 5 p.m. and then goes to Napa Sunday for a 1 p.m. tilt.

Japanese Stock Show Big Promise

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Can you tell me something about Canon, a Japanese stock? — P.C.

A. Canon Inc. is one of Japan's foremost camera manufacturers, producing models to suit a wide range of users. It also makes photographic accessories and supplies. A recent innovation is its diversification into office equipment — desktop calculators and electrostatic copiers. Calculator sales skyrocketed during 1969, showing a jump of 273 per cent for six months ending Dec. 31 over the like period in 1968. Office equipment items in 1970 are expected to generate 50 per cent of Canon's total sales, but since the company reports semianually — June and December — this projection cannot be checked for another month or so.

Although sales for the year 1969 did not reach the company's target of $100 million, Canon's growth has been strong since Japan's camera industry as a whole recovered from overexpansion five years ago. Industry leaders now project an annual growth rate of 15 to 20 per cent. Company directors also believe that sales of cameras, calculators and copiers will be boosted by their Expo '70 exhibits. Export markets generate 50 to 60 per cent of consolidated net sales and roughly half of this flows back from U.S. buyers.

These projections could be substantially reduced by any deepening of the recessive conditions affecting the U.S. economy at this time. Canon trades over-the-counter through American Dispository Receipts, each one representing 25 shares of common stock and trading around 22. The uptrend in earnings is expected to continue. Make sure that your broker has access to regular reports and other information on the company.

As possible information sources I suggest one of the Japanese investment firms located in New York City which took part in underwriting Canon's issue of convertible debentures in May, 1969. They are Yamaichi Securities, 111 Broadway; Daiwa Securities, 26 Broadway; Nikko Securities, 1 Chase Manhattan Plaza, and Nomura Securities, 61 Broadway.

Blue Chips Enable Higher Stock Closing

NEW YOR K(UPI)—Strength in the blue chips enabled the stock market to close slightly higher today in a rather quiet trading session.

Turnover slowed to around 8 million shares from 12,450,000 shares Friday.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, the blue chip barometer, was up 5.20 at 700.23 near the bell after being ahead by about 12 points at the halfway mark.

Oils, chemicals and electronics showed scattered strength, while other stock groups generally traded in both directions.

Among the most active stocks were Commonwealth Oil Refining, Ling-Temco, Xerox, North American Rockwell and Amerada Hess. The computer producing subsidiary of Xerox announced it has laid off several hundred employes and cancelled plans to construct a complex at Culver City, Calif.

Before the close, Ling-Temco was up around 1 1-2 on 69,700 shares, North American Rockwell was 5-8 h ighe r on 60,800 shares and Amerada Hess preferred was up 7-8 on 60,700 shares. Xerox was down 1-4 on 65,200 shares and then closed off 2 at 78 3-4.

Fabrics Plant Set In North Carolina

REDLANDS, (BW) — J.P. Stevens & Co., Inc., will build a fabrics plant in Wallace, N.C., to be completed and in full operation by early 1971, it was announced Thursday (June 4).

Aside from its hosiery knitting plant here, Stevens has three hosiery knitting plants in North Carolina and Virginia.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Maillard And Schmiedell Will Move Into Marin Headquarters

Most recent case of a major firm proposing a removal from San Francisco to Marin County in the current trend away from high do wntown rentals and congested traffic is Maillard and Schmiedell, one of the country's leading food brokers.

Established in 1897 and headquartered for the past 10 years at 601 Montgomery Street, the company now maintains nine offices in the western states and a national payroll of some 350 employees. Before the end of the year both headquarters and the San Francisco regional office will be moved to 2640 Bridgeway, Sausalito, a cross from the new Whiskey Springs apartment development.

In a building specially designed to suit its needs, the firm will take up occupancy in the 5.5-acre Marin Freeholders commercial and industrial complex on a lease executed through San Rafael real estate broker Robert H. Greene.

The lease represents something of a plum for Greene, as the new building (to be started next month) will enable him to wind up development of the complex which started four years ago and will have seven buildings containing 115,000 square feet. Completion of the new building is being planned for November.

It wll have 26,000 square feet, of which Maillard and Schmiedell will take 19,000. Chem-Corp Engineering Co., already in the complex will take 6,000. And another 5,000 square feet for a retail store on the ground floor and 5,000 square feet of office on the second floor will be put up for lease.

The names Maillard and Schmiedell both have strong ground roots in Marin County. Former San Francisco police commissioner John W. Maillard III, who is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the company, was born here — as was his brother Congressman William S. Maillard. Another brother, James, is secretary-treasurer of the company and also a San Francisco supervisor. Co-founder of the firm, the late Edward G. Schmiedell, was a resident of Ross for 62 years.

o In addition, two other officers of the company, vice presidents fFrank Huntington and Richard Gotterdam are both residents of Kentfield and several department managers and other employees live in Marin.

The Sausalito office, with a staff of about 70, will be completely modern and contain its own computer equipment.

DR. H. E. KLUKSDAHL of San Rafael has been appointed to a senior research associate at Chevron Research Co., Richmond. He joined the company in 1960 and has been involved in a variety of exploratory studies in the process development division where he will continue his present work.

Pearson

JOHN R. PEARSON of San Anselmo has been promoted to vice president in the national division at Bank of California's San Francsco head office. He joined the bank's management training program in 1964, was named assistant cashier at San Mateo in 1965 and became assistant vice president in the national division two years ago.

A NEW San Francisco firm, Brown Heidt Associates, offering environmental planning and design service, has been organized by Thomas E. Brown, an architect living in Sausalito, and David Heidt, a landscape architect living in Mill Valley. Both principals were former senior associates with Lawrence Halprin Associates, San Francisco. Their office is located at 605 Washington Street, San Francisco.

New Product Designed For Water Pollution

LOS ANGELES (BW) — A new product designed to control municipal water pollution has been demonstrated for the first time.

Developed by Sweco, Inc., of Los Angeles, the wastewater concentrator employs a new mechanical screening principle to reduce pollution caused by overflow from combined storm and sanitary sewage systems during periods of heavy rainfall. This product removes most of the pollutants which usually by-pass the normal treatment plants.

The wastewater concentrator was demonstrated for newsmen and sanitary engineers at Portland, Ore., Sullivan Gulch Pump Station in conjunction with a symposium on storm — sanitary pollution control.

Howard W. Wright Jr., president of Sweco, said as much as one-third of sewage solids settle to the bottom of large combined sewers during dry periods. In periods of heavy rain, these pollutants flow into streams, lakes, rivers and coastal waters without treatment because the treatment plant cannot handle the hydraulic flow which is several times that of dry periods.

The wastewater concentrator is capable of relieving a combined sewage system of its hydraulic overload during storm periods.

The unit, seven feet in diameter and six feet high, utilizes 18 removable panel screens on a revolving screen cage. A combination of high velocity influent flow and centrifugal force cause approximately 90 to 95 per cent of a hydraulic flow of 3 million gallons per day to pass through the 105 micron screens.

The remaining concentrate containing 99 per cent of the floatable and settleable solids is discharged separately into the hydraulically relieved sewage system and sent on to the sewage plant for treatment.

More than 35 million persons in the United States live in cities which have single sewage systems handlng both sanitary waste and stormwater overflow. Government sources have estimated that it would require as much as $50 billion to construct separate sewage systems.

In one metropolitan city construction of separate systems would cost $100 million, Wright said. Cost of a Sweco system to process this volumn of storm overflow would be approximately $2 million, he said.
